San Anselmo Citizenry Set For Town Meeting

San Anselmo citizenry tomorrow will flex its civic muscle as it launches its sixth annual town meeting at which will be aired the hopes and dreams of the community and — if the past is a clue to the future — some solutions to problems.

The San Anselmo Town meeting, oldest of such gatherings in Marin and originally known as the Congress for Community Progress, has long been a public forum through which residents have made their wishes known to city government.

Participants in the meeting tomorrow will have their choice of 14 discussion groups to bore in on the community's problems, ranging from parks and open space through coping with drug abuse, efficient city budgeting and better dog control.

Town meeting chairman Martin G. Blinder said the program in the Redwood High School little theater will begin at noon with a general meeting and orientation films. Two-hour discussion sessions for the 14 groups will begin at 12:45 p.m., followed by another general assembly at which "facilitators" — group leaders — will report on their panels' discussions and conclusions. A dinner-dance will end the day.

Group topics were chosen as the result of answers to a community survey in 1970 and a series of small discussion meetings earlier this year.

The town meeting, which needed only five discussion groups on civic problems in its second session in 1967, has through the years been a major influence on city government and other local agencies, as well as arousing citizens to participate in public affairs.

A total of 50 volunteers will lead the discussion groups or act as resource experts for tomorrow's panels, Blinder said. lmo

The drug abuse task force, assisted by Lt. Al Howenstein of the San Anselmo Police Department and James Kilty, director of drug education schools and the Catholic Social Services in Marin County, is expected to discuss establishing a drug prevention center for the city. Andy Andewiel and Gerald Wooliever will lead the group discussion.

Low and moderate-income housing will be discussed in a group led by John Najarian and Vernon Cox, with resource expertise supplied by Gerald J. Hood, manager of the Marin Housing Authority and Marion Kelley, member of the Citizens Committee on Zoning and Housing.

Hood has been seeking low cost housing in San Anselmo for more than 40 applicants and his task force might be able to hlep city officials determine their role. The San Anselmo Planning Commission has attempted to require contractors to provide some moderate cost housings in large developments, but has been blocked by City Council because of questions over the legality of such action.

Other workshop sessions will feature:

Parks and open space — led by Cappy Cline and Mrs. Michael Kelly; resource by Larry Husband, city parks and recreation commissioner.

Traffic and transportation — Facilitators, David Rohner and Don Martin; resource, Judy Ainsworth of the League of Women Voters of Central Marin.

Preservation of San Anselmo's unique character — led by Jack H. Olive and Laura Conn; resource, John West, county planning commissioner.

Protection of San Anselmo's environment — led by Thomas J. Peacock and Everett Farey.

Expanded children's day care care services — led by Sue Hulpke and Mimi Beall with resource aid from Joseph Denhart, children's centers director for the county school department and Sue Carpenter of the San Anselmo Welfare Rights Organization.

Improved library services — led by Carol Goltz and Mrs. T. Kremer; resource, Jacquelyn Mollenkopf.

Efficient use of school dollars —led by Keith McPherson and Mary Jane Chetelat; resources by San Anselmo School Dist. Supt. Kenneth Lowry and Trustee Eugene E. Jacks.

TEL Aviv (UPI)—Israeli military chiefs took Secretary of State William P. Rogers on an aerial tour over their fortress at Sharm el Sheikh in occupied Egypt today and the American diplomat declared:

"I have a much better understanding of the whole problem. I have a better understanding of the area."

The plane tour of Israeli installations came after Rogers conferred Thursday with Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir on avenues toward Middle East peace. A U.S. spokesman described the talks as "animated", indicating that Mrs. Meir and her aides were resisting Rogers' efforts to obtain some softening in Israel's stance on peace terms.

Rogers' second and final meeting with Prime Minister Golda Meir and her top cabinet aides got under way in her ivy-covered Tel Aviv office and promised to be a lengthy session, with the secretary pushing for a softening of Israel's peace stance.

The meeting was the final item on Rogers' official agenda before departing Saturday to conclude his Middle East peaceseeking swing.

"Any time you see something personally, you have a better idea of the whole problem," Rogers said after visiting Sharm el Sheikh. "Certainly from the standpoint of the terrain I have a much better idea."

Rogers was taken on the tour by the chief of staff of the Israeli armed forces, Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, and the intelligence chief, Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv. The group flew in Air Force 2, the silver and blue jetliner which serves as a backup to President Nixon's aircraft—Air Force 1.

Germany Opts For Flating The Mark

BONN (UPI)—The West German cabinet decided today to let the value of the deutschesmark float upward in a move to halt the flow of cheap dollars into the country.

Chancellor Willy Brandt conferred with his cabinet all day in urgent session to follow up the German decision on Wednesday to stop supporting the dollar with official purchases to keep up its value.

The cabinet laid down the instructions that Foreign Minister Walter Scheel and Economics Minister Karl Schiller will take to a European Common Market meeting Saturday in Brussels to seek joint action to meet the crisis. The plight of the dollar and the rush to buy gold has touched off one of the worst monetary crises in years.

"Did Schiller win the support of the cabinet?" Ahlers was asked. "Yes," Ahlers replied.

Ahlers said Brandt, at the cabinet meeting today, told Scheel and Schiller to get joint action by the six members of the Common Market—West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. But he made it clear Germany would act alone if France continued to balk.

Nation's Jobless Count Continued Climb In April

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Unemployment rose in April to 6.1 per cent of the work force and the jobless rate for Negro workers reached the highest point in more than seven years, the government said today.

The April increase from the 6.0 per cent rate in March put national joblessness just under a nine-year high of 6.2 per cent reached last December.

After holding steady at 9.4 per cent since December, joblessness for Negro workers rose to 10 per cent during April. This was the highest since January, 1964, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The increase in black unemployment resulted mainly from increased joblessness among adult women. The unemployment rate for white workers remained at 5.6 per cent.

Although the jobless rate moved upward, the BLS report said "the employment situation was essentially unchanged in April" because the 6.1 per cent unemployment rate was "not significantly different" from the 6 per cent figure in March.

The BLS said the number of jobless workers declined in April while total employment went up.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson issued a statement acknowledging the unemployment rise was a disappointment because he felt other economic indicators had been pointing toward a drop in joblessness.

Magee Takes Up Angela's Cause

San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee — whose latest-court appointed attorney thinks he may be suffering from "racial paranoia," — took the law into his own hands again yesterday, filing a legal petition on behalf of Angela Davis.

Magee, who has insisted for months that he should act as his own laywer, apprarently also doesn't think Miss Davis's staff of six attorneys are doing all they can.

He petitioned the State Court of Appeal to release her on a writ of habeas corpus, saying she was being "illegally confined and restrained of her liberty."

Magee, 32, and Miss Davis, 27, are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in connection with the Civic Center shoot-out last August in which Judge Harold J. Haley and three others were killed.

Magee, who files petitions in state and federal courts with monotonous regularity, contended in his latest writ that Miss Davis was indicted during a time when the state did not have jurisdiction since he had petitioned federal courts to take over the case.

He also contended that the indictment against her alleged only legal acts — her advocacy of freedom for the Soledad Brothers and her purchase of four guns used in the shoot-out.

Miss Davis, in an article published yesterday in a Sausalito magazine called "Black Scholar," referred to the shoot-out as an "insurrection."

She did not, however, implicate herself in the shooting.

In the longest writing she has sent out of Marin County Jail, Miss Davis said the gun battle was a catalyst that "forced broader sectors of the American public to become cognizant of the terror which reigns in this country's penal institutions."

Meanwhile, in a memorandum summing up his understanding of the case to which he was appointed Wednesday, Ernest L. Graves of Los Angeles raised several possible defenses for Magee.

Graves said that if the courts continued to rule that Magee is not competent to represent himself, he may be found not competent to stand trial.

Graves posed the question that if Magee continues to refuse to cooperate with court-appointed counsel because he sees himself the victim of a white conspiracy to murder him, would not that be "evidence of his present insanity or incapacity to . . . understand . . . the proceedings against him?

Analysis Of Money Crisis Sees U.S. Trade Deficit As Culprit

LONDON (UPI)—The western nations were plunged almost without warning this week into their sharpest economic crisis in years.

Its outcome still is uncertain.

But it has left American tourists in Europe suddenly short of cash for meals and hotel bills.

It could spark a major political as well as a money crisis.

It has threatened to topple the once "almighty dollar" from the dominant position it has enjoyed for a quarter century.

In the end, it could hit every American at home in the pocketbook.

Here are some of the questions it has raised and the best available answers:

Q: What has happened?

A: Five Western European nations—West Germany, Austria, Belgium, The Netherlands and Switzerland —suddenly stopped buying U.S. dollars Wednesday. Others closed foreign exchange markets and cut buying and selling of all foreign money to a bare minimum until they could see what will happen. Japan has indicated it also may take similar action soon.

Q: Why did they do so?

A: Because billions of unwanted dollars have flooded into West Germany and other European countries recently.

Despite Washington denials, there have been persistent rumors that the dollar — considered overvalued by many Europeans —might be devalued. Similar rumors have said the strong West German mark might be revalued upward. As a result of these rumors, bankers, businessmen and speculators have been rushing to sell dollars and buy marks in the hope of making a quick profit.

Q: What sparked the rumors?

A: Recent weakness of the dollar in European markets. In 1970 the U.S. foreign payments balance showed a deficit of $10.7 billion. In the first three months of 1971 alone the deficit hit $4 billion. This was largely due to heavy investment abroad by American businessmen, the cost of the Indochina War and of keeping 250,000 U.S. troops in Europe, and the U.S. foreign aid program.

The United States has financed this deficit largely by

Strawberry Cove Plan Is Rejected

Apartment Developer Loses Agency Round

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — A hotly disputed plan for 96 apartments on Strawberry Cove was rejected yesterday by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Developer Paul J. Broman's application for a permit got only two votes, with 15 commissioners opposing it. Permits require 13 votes.

Broman told the Independent-Journal he immediately will file an amended plan with BCDC, but the vote apparently sent his plan all the way back to the Marin County Planning Commission — where it started 17 hearings and two years ago, according to his count.

The chairman of BCDC, Melvin B. Lane of Menlo Park, said that commission rules require approval by the affected city or county before a new or substantially amended application can be considered.

Broman insisted that the only change he intended to make, to cantilever a public boardwalk instead of supporting it on pilings in the bay, was "just a construction detail" that the county planning department—

Marin County Transit Systems, heavily dosed with subsidies from the Golden Gate Bridge District and Marin County, is working on a plan to get federal funds for a West Marin service that would compete with its two benefactors.

The Marin City-based company drafted the plan in a "concept paper" that called for a two to three-year demonstration using 13 buses shuttling between Sausalito and Tiburon ferry terminals and Point Reyes National Seashore.

The plan, a copy of which the Independent-Journal obtained today, was drafted last month, and has been shown to state and federal officials — but never to bridge district or county officials.

In a possibly related step, a subsidiary of the company, Berkeley Charter Lines, applied last month to the Public Utilities Commission for a permit to extend its routes to Stinson Beach.

The county transit district, however, yesterday requested the PUC to withhold action on the application. The district's acting general manager, James B. Robertson, wrote the PUC that the application was "in direct conflict with plans by the Golden Gate Bridge District to operate a countywide bus system."

Under PUC rules, the application would have been granted without a public hearing if no protest had been received.

Robertson, asked about the "concept paper," told the Independent-Journal that "we have not been informed of this, nor do we know the intent of this."

The general manager of the bridge district, Dale W. Luehring, said the proposed federal grant never had been discussed with bridge officials. Such grants can be made only through public agencies, he said.

Noting that the district's own application for a grant to cover up to two thirds of its $10 million bus system pending in Washington, Luehring said "it would be extremely difficult to justify two operations."

Paul R. Kahn, vice president of Marin County Transit Systems, told the I-J that the dem-

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Author 'Going Into Hiding'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Erich Segal, the Yale University professor of classics who rose to fame and fortune by authoring "Love Story," says he has had it with the public life.

Segal

"I am going into hiding," Segal said yesterday.

Segal, 34, who has given lectures, appeared on television talk shows and had numerous magazine and newspaper articles written about him since the success of his book and a movie of the same title, said "I am returning to the scholarly life."

Segal said he was "sick of reading about Erich Segal, the monster" and of meeting airline stewardesses who slip him their apartment keys and believe love means "never having to say you are sorry."

Segal said he was leaving Yale "with the blessing of the university," at the end of the current semester.

12 Plane Deaths

COOLIDGE, Ariz. (UPI)—An Apache Airlines plane, described as "coughing and sputtering," crashed into a cotton field during an apparent emergency landing attempt Thursday, killing all 12 persons aboard.

"They didn't stand a chance," said Ramon Flores, who saw the two turbo-prop DeHavilland Dove strike a concrete irrigation ditch and its front portion disintegrate in flames as it careened 300 feet into the field.

Flores said the pilot, Ted Huntington, who took off about 20 minutes earlier from Tucson, appeared to be trying to make an emergency landing a half mile away at Coolidge Airport.

Fatal Air Crash

MANILA (UPI) — A single-engined plane crashed in Davao del Sur pripjovince in the Philippines' southern island of Mindanao shortly after take off Thursday, killing all four persons on board.

Guilty Verdicts

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Two United Mine Workers officials have been convicted of falsifying union records to raise funds for the 1969 re-election campaign of UMW president W.A. 'Tony' Boyle.

A U.S. District Court jury Thursday returned guilty verdicts against Michael Budzanoski, president of District 5, and John Seddon, district secretary-treasurer. The 16,000-member district covers southwest Pennsylvania and adjacent parts of Ohio and West Virginia.

If the conviction is upheld, Budzanoski and Seddon would be barred by federal labor laws from holding union office for five years. Appeals are expected to take up to 18 months.

Bill Advances On Education On VD

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly yesterday overwhelmingly passed a bill allowing schools to give venereal disease education classes without the permission of the parents.

The measure by Assemblywoman March K. Fong, D-Oakland, was sent to the Senate on a 50-8 vote.

Present law requires parental permission before a student can take a class in sex education. The Fong bill would exempt lectures on venereal disease prevention from the requirement.

Control Of Forest Fires Is Nearing

RESERVE, N.M. (UPI)—Firefighters appeared to be almost in control of blazes in national forests in New Mexico and Arizona today, but the fires already have destroyed more than 27,000 acres of lush timber.

"The winds are down and there's a good chance for rain," said Joseph Otero, superintendent of the Mescalero Indian Reservation where more than 22,000 acres of ponderosa pine have burned.

No Hope Seen

ST. JEAN VIANNEY, Que. (UPI)—Quebec officials gave up hope today of finding alive any of the more than two dozen persons still missing in one of the worst landslides in the province's history.

"It will be a miracle if any more persons are pulled out alive," a spokesman for the Quebec police said. "There is nothing there now but mud."

Police reported five bodies have been recovered, although coroner Dr. Richard Authier said he could account for only four. That would leave either 26 or 27 persons missing in the disaster area which late Tuesday night collapsed 300 feet into the earth along a one-mile stretch.

Mars Shot Set

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Engineers prepared a 113-foot rocket today for Saturday night's launching of the first of two one-ton television robots designed to attempt an unprecedented orbit around Mars.

Weather appears to be the only possible hitch. Forecasters predicted showers and scattered thundershowers for Saturday.

"I guess we're one of the few groups in Florida that hope it doesn't rain," launch director John J. Neilon said Thursday. Florida, particularly southern regions, is in the midst of a long drought.

McGovern Has New Draft Plan

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Sen. George McGovern wants to amend the draft laws to require the President and military leaders "to spend a reasonable amount of time in the front lines of combat."

The South Dakota Democrat, the only announced candidate for his party's 1972 presidential nomination, suggested four amendments Thursday to 1,000 cheering University of California students. He insisted they were quite serious.

"In all combat operations, the joint chiefs of staff, the President and other leaders be required to spend a reasonable amount of time in the front line of combat" was one of McGovern's proposals.

The senator said he is aware some the nation's leaders are hampered by infirmities of age, "but there are certain things even the elderly can do—like moving about in front of the troops in minesweepers."

Other amendments would limit the draft to those over 30, require a declaration of war by two-thirds of Congress before anyone can be sent into combat, and outlaw private profits from the development and manufacture of arms. McGovern said he would attempt to tack them on the Selective Service Bill if the draft is extended.

McGovern was hissed at times by SDS members carrying a placard reading: "Beware of imperialists in doves' clothing." He also got into a shouting match with some of the audience during the question and answer period.

Yorty To Return For Political Test

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mayor Sam Yorty, who is considering entering Democratic presidential primaries, will make another visit to New Hampshire later this month and go to Florida in June, it was announced today.

Sam Bretzfield, chairman of the Yorty for President Committee, said the mayor was encouraged by his reception in New Hampshire on April 26-27.

Admits Shot In Dynamite Truck Death

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI)—Bobby Lee Shuler admits it was a bullet from his rifle that caused a truck loaded with dynamite to explode on the highway last fall, killing the driver and blasting a 55-foot deep hole in the earth.

"I didn't mean to hurt anybody," Shuler said in court Thursday. "I didn't know it was loaded with dynamite." He said his motive was a labor dispute between Tri-State, a trucking Firm, and the Teamsters Union.

The defense afterward rested. After today's final arguments, a jury will decide whether the 29-year-old Joplin, Mo., man is guilty of second-degree murder for the death of truck driver John Galt, 48, of Oklahoma City.

Galt's truck was carrying 22 tons of dynamite last Sept. 30 on Interstate 44, 10 miles west of Springfield, when it exploded. Shock waves from the blast broke windows in downtown Springfield.

Shuler told the jury he had been drinking the night of Sept. 29 and previously had taken pot shots at other Tri-State trucks. Tri-State was being struck by the Teamsters Union. Shuler, a union member, said he was "a roving picket." Shuler said he fired two shots from an exit ramp at one truck and one at another.

U.S. Phantom Jets In Protective Act

SAIGON (UPI)—Two U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom fighterbombers knocked out three antiaircraft gun emplacements in North Vietnam today when the guns fired as the jets were flying over neighboring Laos, U.S. military spokesmen said.

The Phantoms used bombs, rockets and cannon fire in the 33rd "protective reaction" air strike in North Vietnam this year and the 40th since the U.S. command began announcing them following air raids May 2, 1970.

It was believed to be the 100th such "protective reaction" since the Nov. 1, 1968 halt in the strategic bombing of North Vietnam. Last May 27 a U.S. command spokesman had said there had been "about 60" such strikes before the May 2, 1970 raids.

The U.S. Command also announced today that an Air Force Phantom was shot down Thursday while on a bombing mission in the southern panhandle of Laos. The two crewmen escaped unhurt.

More than 3,000 U.S. Marines began stand-down from operational duty today in preparation for a return to the United States. This will trim the marine fighting force in Vietnam, once 87,000 strong, below the 10,000 mark, military spokesmen said in today's afternoon communique.

South Vietnamese troops today reported killing 47 Communists in scattered fighting Thursday around the Mekong River delta south of Saigon at a cost of three government soldiers killed and 20 wounded.

The Air Force Phantoms in today's "protective reaction" were bombing the Ho Chi Minh supply trail complex when North Vietnamese anti-aircraft guns in the Ban Karai pass, just across the border, opened fire.

The Phantoms wheeled eastward, using their ordnance to knock out two 57-millimeter gun positions and one 37-millimeter gun position, military spokesmen said. Neither plane was hit by ground fire.

Two formations of U.S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses dropped at least 180 tons of bombs onto the Ho Chi Minh trail in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

Military spokesmen said that since the start of allied operation Lam Son 720 around the A Shau Valley, B52's have dropped nearly 2,500 tons of bombs to prevent Communist moves to outflank the allied force.

Guerrilla Hunt

MANILA (UPI)—Philippine air force helicopters airdropped 1,000 army troopers into jungles in Isabela province in the northern Philippines Thursday following the killing of two army men and the wounding of another in a brief gunbattle between a communist hukbalahap guerrilla band and an army patrol.

GOV. REAGAN PAYS HEFTY ESTATE TAX

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan did not pay any state income tax this year but he paid more than $5,000 real estate taxes on property in Pacific Palisades, Los Angeles County tax records disclosed Thursday.

The records showed that Reagan and his wife Nancy paid $4,241.13 in taxes on a house assessed at $27,500. Since assessed valuations are pegged at 25 per cent of market value, this means the home has a market value of more than $110,000.

The governor also paid $804.30 in taxes on an adjoining lot with a market value of $26,000.

Text Of Reagan's Tax Remarks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Here is the full text of Gov. Ronald Reagan's statement Thursday on his California income tax status:

"It is difficult for me to understand or accept the necessity for the statement I am about to make.

"Having left an occupation in which my earnings each year were several times greater than the salary I receive in my present position it seemed self-evident I had not sought this office for any financial advantage nor has there been any.

"Day before yesterday a question was raised with regard to my tax liability for the year just past. You had an almost immediate and factual answer to that question without any attempt at evasion. Apparently that was not enough and some have attempted to make more of this situation than is warranted by the facts. Indeed, some have tried to intimate that somehow there was even a question of wrongdoing.

"With all the uproar that has followed I want the people of California to have the facts so there can be no doubt in anyone's mind.

"I have never avoided taxes or failed to pay an income tax owed in my entire adult life. For a number of years my annual tax was considerably more than my present gross earnings. With particular reference to the California income tax during the five years I have served as governor, I have paid state income taxes totaling $91,128.22.

"However, last year—a rather trying year for a number of people—investment losses in relation to earnings were such that while I still owed and paid a federal income tax I did not have a state tax liability. Frankly I hope it does not happen again—not that I enjoy paying taxes but because I do not enjoy losing money.

"Some of you have already noted in your stories that my tax reform proposal last year advocated a minimum state income tax. I still advocate such a measure. Senate Moscone was a leader in the opposition to such a reform.

"May I interject right here that it has come to my attention that Senator Moscone alerted some of you Tuesday morning prior to the press conference to be on the watch for a very interesting question that would be asked in that press conference concerning my tax status. He subsequently then greeted with great shock and horrified surprise the result of such a question.

"These last 48 hours have been an example of cheap partisan politics unparalleled in the years I have been here in the Capitol.

"It is time for the leadership of the majority party to actually display some leadership and get down to the business of offering solutions to the problems of tax reform, welfare reform and balancing the budget as well as holding the line on government costs and taxes. Phoney partisan politics will not hide the fact that this session of the legislature has accomplished very little and has avoided dealing with much of what the people have a right to expect."

Barb Founder Asks Dismissal Of Misdemeanor

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Max Scheer, founder of the Berkeley Barb, filed a petition Wednesday with the California Supreme Court asking dismissal of a misdemeanor obscenity charge against him.

American Civil Liberties Union attorneys filed the petition on Scheer's behalf. The petition sought prohibition of the Municipal Court of the Berkeley-Albany Judicial District from proceeding with the case.

Institute To Enter The Education Field

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—California Institute of Technology, noted as one of the nation's top scientific institutions, has decided to enter a new field—education.

The new course will be entitled "Educational Issues."

1,000 Expected To Join Hunger Walk

About 1,000 persons are expected to walk in the 20-mile Marin Walk Against Hunger through several Marin communities Sunday, according to Robert Morgan, the work coordinator.

The trek to raise funds for food for needy people will be held internationally in 400 separate walks, Morgan said. The local walkers will meet at 7:30 a.m. at Redwood High School in Larkspur. The walk is expected to continue through most of the day, said Morgan, a junior at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Walkers must have a sponsor, an individual or business, pledged to pay that walker a certain amount per mile walked.

Fifteen per cent of the money will go to the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation, a national organization which promotes walks and educational and self-help projects in this country and overseas.

Another 42.5 per cent will go the Marin Economic Opportunity Council's supplementary food program and 42.5 per cent will go to the Meals for Millions, which distributes high-protein food supplement. The proceeds from the alk in Marin will help feed starving families in Equador.

Walkers will go through the communities of Greenbrae, San Rafael, San Anselmo, Fairfax, Greenbrae and Ross.

The committee said there will be checkpoints and refreshment stops every few miles along the route and cars at the stops to pick up walkers who wish to stop.

Walk cards, needed before a person can join the walk, are available by calling 456-5382.

Since the hunger foundation was developed two years ago, more than 180 walks have been held in the world.

GOV. REAGAN PAYS HEFTY ESTATE TAX

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan did not pay any state income tax this year but he paid more than $5,000 real estate taxes on property in Pacific Palisades, Los Angeles County tax records disclosed Thursday.

The records showed that Reagan and his wife Nancy paid $4,241.13 in taxes on a house assessed at $27,500. Since assessed valuations are pegged at 25 per cent of market value, this means the home has a market value of more than $110,000.

The governor also paid $804.30 in taxes on an adjoining lot with a market value of $26,000.

Text Of Reagan's Tax Remarks

"It is difficult for me to understand or accept the necessity for the statement I am about to make.

"Having left an occupation in which my earnings each year were several times greater than the salary I receive in my present position it seemed self-evident I had not sought this office for any financial advantage nor has there been any.

"Day before yesterday a question was raised with regard to my tax liability for the year just past. You had an almost immediate and factual answer to that question without any attempt at evasion. Apparently that was not enough and some have attempted to make more of this situation than is warranted by the facts. Indeed, some have tried to intimate that somehow there was even a question of wrongdoing.

"With all the uproar that has followed I want the people of California to have the facts so there can be no doubt in anyone's mind.

"I have never avoided taxes or failed to pay an income tax owed in my entire adult life. For a number of years my annual tax was considerably more than my present gross earnings. With particular reference to the California income tax during the five years I have served as governor, I have paid state income taxes totaling $91,128.22.

"However, last year—a rather trying year for a number of people—investment losses in relation to earnings were such that while I still owed and paid a federal income tax I did not have a state tax liability. Frankly I hope it does not happen again—not that I enjoy paying taxes but because I do not enjoy losing money.

"Some of you have already noted in your stories that my tax reform proposal last year advocated a minimum state income tax. I still advocate such a measure. Senate Moscone was a leader in the opposition to such a reform.

"May I interject right here that it has come to my attention that Senator Moscone alerted some of you Tuesday morning prior to the press conference to be on the watch for a very interesting question that would be asked in that press conference concerning my tax status. He subsequently then greeted with great shock and horrified surprise the result of such a question.

"These last 48 hours have been an example of cheap partisan politics unparalleled in the years I have been here in the Capitol.

"It is time for the leadership of the majority party to actually display some leadership and get down to the business of offering solutions to the problems of tax reform, welfare reform and balancing the budget as well as holding the line on government costs and taxes. Phoney partisan politics will not hide the fact that this session of the legislature has accomplished very little and has avoided dealing with much of what the people have a right to expect."

Barb Founder Asks Dismissal Of Misdemeanor

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Max Scheer, founder of the Berkeley Barb, filed a petition Wednesday with the California Supreme Court asking dismissal of a misdemeanor obscenity charge against him.

American Civil Liberties Union attorneys filed the petition on Scheer's behalf. The petition sought prohibition of the Municipal Court of the Berkeley-Albany Judicial District from proceeding with the case.

$6.5 Million Budget For College Outlined

Marin Junior College District trustees last night got their first look at the proposed $6.5 million budget for 1971-72, an increase of almost $2 million over last year's budget.

Business Mgr. Norman Bird said the $6,496,536 budget is a "working" budget and includes all departmental requests. The board will begin paring the budget at 8 p.m. May 18 at the testing office.

Income is estimated at $8,323,557 with an additional $478,282 anticipated carry-over from this year for a total income of $8,801,839. This year's total income was $6,233,950.

Anticipated revenue from local taxes is expected to almost double from this year's $3,244,145 to $6,470,759 next year.

Bird explained the more than $3 million additional tax revenue will come from two new sources: voters in November authorized a 25 cent increase in the statutory maximum, raising it from 35 to 60 cents and an anticipated 24 cent tax rate for required local funds for state-approved construction projects. This provision is now pending under Senate Bill 691.

The largest increase in expenses this year is for equipment. Last year, $3,370 was spent; requests for $205,117 have been made for a wide variety of classroom equipment.

Major expenditures listed (with last year's in parentheses) are administration, $215,096 ($170,953); instruction, $4,191,086 ($3,574,374) — this includes teachers' salaries, $2,724,929 ($2,420,881); classified salaries, $476,237 (336,448); supplies, $295,627 (228,661); health services, $18,165 ($17,250);

Also, transportation, $21,304, ($18,998; plant operation, $158,440 ($146,964); plant maintenance, $241,275, ($158,026); fixed charges, $71,442 ($67,500).

adding to the estimated 35-50 billion worth of so-called "eurodollars'' already floating around Europe out of U.S. government control.

Until this week West Germany and other Western European countries have bought up further billions of these dollars in an effort to shore up the parity of the dollar. Now, with their reserves overloaded with dollars, they have refused to buy any more.

Q: What are these "Eurodollars?"

A: They are dollars held outside the United States by foreign banks and businessmen and by foreign branches of American banks and businesses. They accumulated over the years as a result of U.S. dollar investment abroad and chronic U.S. balance of payments deficits.

Q: Has the U.S. government itself done anything to shore up the dollar abroad?

A.: Yes, in recent months it has bought back an estimated $3 billion worth of "Eurodollars," partly for gold, partly for U.S. Treasury Bonds. It also has used taxes and other measures to try to limit U.S. dollar investment abroad.

Q: Why has the West German mark challenged the dollar as the world's strongest currency?
A: Because West German industry, rebuilt to a great extent with American help after World War II, has become the strongest in Europe. As a result, the mark has become one of the world's strongest currencies.

Q: What does the present crisis mean to Americans abroad?

A: It means that at the moment American tourists are finding European banks, travel agencies, hotels and stores reluctant to accept their dollar bills or travelers checks. If the crisis results in revaluation upwards of the mark and other "strong" European curriences, they will find their dollars buy less in Europe than before.

Q: What does it mean for Americans at home?

A: At the moment very little. But if the mark and other strong European currencies are revalued upwards, that will make goods imported from Europe — and possibly Japan — more expensive than now. On the other hand, it would help American exports.

ty arising from racial paranoia caused by Mr. Magee's being exposed to political and racistic propaganda.''

The case against Magee and Miss Davis, stalled for months mainly because Magee refuses to cooperate with attorneys appointed for him and because he has tried to get rid of every judge who has sat on the case, is set to resume Monday.

At that time arguments will be given whether Magee can use his one peremptory challenge of a judge against Alan A. Lindsay of Alameda County or whether he has already used it against an earlier judge.

Also an issue is if Magee is allowed to get rid of Lindsay, whether Miss Davis will still have a peremptory challenge of a judge left or whether the pair only has one.

Her attorneys tried unsuccessfully to challenge Judge Lindsay for cause, on the grounds he was racially prejudiced.

(Attorneys usually do not use the peremptory challenge at an early stage of proceedings but would save it for the trial itself.)

Miss Davis is still waiting to have motions heard which ask that the case against her be dismissed and that she be released on bail.

onstration still was "just at the concept level." He said it would be discussed this month by the Marin City-County Planning Council's transportation committee.

He said the idea had been discussed with various officials, including Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

He said there was "no connection" between the proposed demonstration and the PUC application.

"We weren't trying to sneak anything over on anybody,'' he said of the PUC application. He asserted that the bridge district was not going to serve West Marin recreational traffic.

But Luehring rebutted that he did "not know how Mr. Kahn knows what we are going to do.'' Luehring, citing the high cost of leaving idle the district's 152-bus fleet on weekends, said such West Marin recreational traffic definitely was expected to be provided by the district.

The "concept paper'' outlined no costs, but Kahn acknowledged the cost of the 13 buses would be about $600,000. The paper said that "matching funds, if needed, would have to be borne by the local bodies." It did not elaborate beyond proposing the demonstration be sponsored by the county and the Metropolitan Transportation Commission.

Paul Watt, executive officer of the commission, told the I-J he was aware of the proposed demonstration, and that he already had received correspondence on it from the administrator of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration. The letter from UMTA suggested procedures for applying for the federal grant.

Watt said he was "aware they (Marin Transit Systems) had discussed the idea with UMTA."

Cleanup Set By Almonte Club

The Almonte Improvement Club will sponsor a general cleanup of the clubhouse area on Lavender Lane and the bus stop on Almonte Boulevard tomorrow at 9:30 a.m.

The work, which will include pruning of trees and collection of litter, is in preparation for turning the area behind the clubhouse into a minipark.

Lunch will be provided for volunteers.

had approved.

But Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum said that the board of supervisors agreed informally Tuesday that the amended plan may require review by the county. The planning department had no authority to approve such an amendment to Broman's plan, Wornum declared.

Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest, in the audience for a hearing on county plans to fill an acre of the bay to widen San Pedro Road, told the I-J that it would be up to the supervisors to determine if Broman's amended plan was "just a condition of the old plan or a revision — and thus a new plan.'' If the supervisors decide the change constituted a new plan, then it automatically would be returned to the planning commission for new hearings, Forest said.

Wornum, the only supervisor to oppose the plan when it won final county approval last year, said he would seek to rezone the 6.5-acre parcel to a lower density. Noting its previous zoning would have allowed only 14 single-family homes, he said the number of apartments should be "somewhere between 96 and 14.''

Yesterday's vote had appeared certain three weeks ago when the commission staff recommended rejection of the plan. The staff argued that it would provide too little public access and that the project could be moved inland to make more room for the boardwalk.

Broman, in a one-hour defense of his plan, said that moving the apartments inland would "impair visual access from the road.'' He said that no other shoreline project in the nation offered "more generous public access.''

Noting that his plan provided a ribbon of public access around its entire perimeter, Broman said, "I really don't know how you go beyond 100 per cent access.''

Opponents of the project, he said, "will do anything short of buying the property.''

Yesterday's rejection was the second for apartments planned on the parcel. The commission, in November 1969, also turned down plans by the owner of the parcel, Leonard B. Fleischman. Broman has an option on the parcel.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, told commissioners that they were required to permit such projects only if public access were increased "to the maximum extent possible" Public access in Broman's plan met this condition only because there were too many apartments to allow any more public access, Behr said.

Commissioner Melville Owen of Kentfield, arguing the plan needed "a better balance between conservation and development,'' said that its rejection would not affect Broman's construction schedule because the Strawberry Recreation District already "has him tied up in court.'' The district contends that the public acquired rights to cross the property by using it unimpeded for many years.

In a brief hearing on the county's application to widen San Pedro Road from Loch Lomond to Peacock Gap, commissioners heard a suggestion from the Sierra Club that the project be moved inland to avoid the acre of fill, most of it opposite Main Drive.

The club spokesman, Dwight Steele of Tiburon, suggested that pilings instead of fill be used if the project cannot be moved inland. (Marin County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost told the I-J that pilings would add about $300,000 to the $1.4 million cost of the project.)

Donald A. MacMillan, president of the Glenwood Homeowners Association, said the project was needed, but that the association had taken no stand on the bay fill. He also favored pilings instead of fill.

Voting on the county application was scheduled tentatively on May 20.

In other business, the staff reported that commission offices were moving to 30 Van Ness Avenue.

Finian's Rainbow At Redwood High

Directed by music director J. D. Nichols, the musical comedy will be performed at the same time tomorrow and May 14 and 15.

The play, which was a hit on Broadway, involves an Irish couple's immigration to the United States with a crock of gold stolen from a leprechaun and his search to recover it.

The cast includes Nick Reid as Finian McLonergan, Laurie Hammersly as his wife Sharon, Robert Herrmann as Og the Leprechaun and Michael Kralka as Senator Rawkins.

Bid Taken For Miwok Valley Plan

The Old Adobe School District board in Petaluma said last night it intends to accept a bid of $650,000 for construction of Miwok Valley School if the state approves.

The board accepted the bid, from Colombini Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, at its meeting last night. Four other bids, ranging up to $749,800, were received.

Supt. Dean D. Magowan said a maximum of $697,596 had been allotted for the school under the state school building aid program.

The superintendent said it is hoped construction of the 14-classroom school, on St. Francis Drive, can start in a month, if the state Department of Education approves Colombini's bid.

The school ultimately will house 700 students.

The board also accepted a bid of $13,600 for sale of Lakeville School on Lakeville Highway but said it would ask the state for permission to reject the bid because it had decided to use the facility for storage purposes. The school was acquired in an annexation and is not needed for teaching purposes, Magowan said.

In other business, the board established the job of school psychologist and voted to hire Barbara Cochran for the position at an undetermined salary; accepted the resignations of teacher Wanda Ward and secretary Ruby Miller for personal reasons, and granted a year's leave of absence to counselor Barry Yagi to live in Japan.

fewer initial unemployment insurance claims. He said initial claims fell 9,400 to 248,500 during the week ended April 24. This was 17 per cent under a year earlier.

"We feel sure unemployment rates will shortly be coming down, but we are evidently now observing a pattern that has marked previous periods of economic resurgence after a slowdown—namely that a pickup in employment always follows by some months an improvement in other economic indicators," Hodgson said.

The number of unemployed persons dropped by 480,000 last month to just under 4.7 million, which was about average for April.

California's unemployment jumped three-tenths of a per cent last month to 7.4 per cent, the state Department of Human Resources reports.

In statistics released yesterday the agency said the unemployment rate for April represents "the general slack in the economy together with additional layoffs in the aerospace industry."

The total number of unemployed persons, however, dropped 81,000 to 595,000 and the number of persons working at some job climbed 51,000 to 7.99 million.

fly over occupied territory," Rogers told newsmen, underscoring the sensitivity of the situation in this tinderbox area of the world.

The plane flew slowly south from Tel Aviv to the Israeli port of Eilat on the Gulf of Aqaba and then south to Sharm el Sheikh on the southern end of the gulf. This was the area which provided the spark for the 1967 war in which Israel seized and occuied the Sinai Peninsula. Sharm el Sheikh overlooks the Strait of Tiran and the Egyptian fortress there blocked Israeli ships from approaching Eilat, Israel's only access to the Red Sea.

The late Egyptian President, Gamal Abdel Nasser, closed the strait in the early part of 1967 and the war followed in June. Israeli troops took the Sharm el Sheikh in the first hours of the war and Israel has vowed never to relinquish it.

The fact Rogers agreed to take a look at these regions in his own plane represented a compromise with Israeli officials, who wanted him to take Israeli transport and disembark at the locations to see them first hand.

Israel's hope, as expressed by Mrs. Meir, was that if Rogers saw the occupied territories and frontiers first-hand he might change his mind about calling for a withdrawal from them.

Rogers met for two hours and 20 minutes with Mrs. Meir and her closest cabinet aides in Jerusalem Thursday. His Israeli counterpart, Abba Eban, said "where the heart of the matter is concerned, we have only started the dialogue.''

The talks opened about six hours after Rogers departed from the office of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

$6.5 Million Budget For College Outlined

Marin Junior College District trustees last night got their first look at the proposed $6.5 million budget for 1971-72, an increase of almost $2 million over last year's budget.

Business Mgr. Norman Bird said the $6,496,536 budget is a "working" budget and includes all departmental requests. The board will begin paring the budget at 8 p.m. May 18 at the testing office.

Income is estimated at $8,323,557 with an additional $478,282 anticipated carry-over from this year for a total income of $8,801,839. This year's total income was $6,233,950.

Anticipated revenue from local taxes is expected to almost double from this year's $3,244,145 to $6,470,759 next year.

Bird explained the more than $3 million additional tax revenue will come from two new sources: voters in November authorized a 25 cent increase in the statutory maximum, raising it from 35 to 60 cents and an anticipated 24 cent tax rate for required local funds for state-approved construction projects. This provision is now pending under Senate Bill 691.

The largest increase in expenses this year is for equipment. Last year, $3,370 was spent; requests for $205,117 have been made for a wide variety of classroom equipment.

Major expenditures listed (with last year's in parentheses) are administration, $215,096 ($170,953); instruction, $4,191,086 ($3,574,374) — this includes teachers' salaries, $2,724,929 ($2,420,881); classified salaries, $476,237 (336,448); supplies, $295,627 (228,661); health services, $18,165 ($17,250);

Also, transportation, $21,304, ($18,998; plant operation, $158,440 ($146,964); plant maintenance, $241,275, ($158,026); fixed charges, $71,442 ($67,500).

adding to the estimated 35-50 billion worth of so-called "eurodollars'' already floating around Europe out of U.S. government control.

Until this week West Germany and other Western European countries have bought up further billions of these dollars in an effort to shore up the parity of the dollar. Now, with their reserves overloaded with dollars, they have refused to buy any more.

Q: What are these "Eurodollars?"

A: They are dollars held outside the United States by foreign banks and businessmen and by foreign branches of American banks and businesses. They accumulated over the years as a result of U.S. dollar investment abroad and chronic U.S. balance of payments deficits.

Q: Has the U.S. government itself done anything to shore up the dollar abroad?

A.: Yes, in recent months it has bought back an estimated $3 billion worth of "Eurodollars," partly for gold, partly for U.S. Treasury Bonds. It also has used taxes and other measures to try to limit U.S. dollar investment abroad.

Q: Why has the West German mark challenged the dollar as the world's strongest currency?

A: Because West German industry, rebuilt to a great extent with American help after World War II, has become the strongest in Europe. As a result, the mark has become one of the world's strongest currencies.

Q: What does the present crisis mean to Americans abroad?

A: It means that at the moment American tourists are finding European banks, travel agencies, hotels and stores reluctant to accept their dollar bills or travelers checks. If the crisis results in revaluation upwards of the mark and other "strong" European curriences, they will find their dollars buy less in Europe than before.

Q: What does it mean for Americans at home?

A: At the moment very little. But if the mark and other strong European currencies are revalued upwards, that will make goods imported from Europe — and possibly Japan — more expensive than now. On the other hand, it would help American exports.

The case against Magee and Miss Davis, stalled for months mainly because Magee refuses to cooperate with attorneys appointed for him and because he has tried to get rid of every judge who has sat on the case, is set to resume Monday.

At that time arguments will be given whether Magee can use his one peremptory challenge of a judge against Alan A. Lindsay of Alameda County or whether he has already used it against an earlier judge.

Also an issue is if Magee is allowed to get rid of Lindsay, whether Miss Davis will still have a peremptory challenge of a judge left or whether the pair only has one.

Her attorneys tried unsuccessfully to challenge Judge Lindsay for cause, on the grounds he was racially prejudiced.

(Attorneys usually do not use the peremptory challenge at an early stage of proceedings but would save it for the trial itself.)

Miss Davis is still waiting to have motions heard which ask that the case against her be dismissed and that she be released on bail.

TRANSIT

onstration still was "just at the concept level." He said it would be discussed this month by the Marin City-County Planning Council's transportation committee.

He said the idea had been discussed with various officials, including Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

He said there was "no connection" between the proposed demonstration and the PUC application.

"We weren't trying to sneak anything over on anybody," he said of the PUC application. He asserted that the bridge district was not going to serve West Marin recreational traffic.

But Luehring rebutted that he did "not know how Mr. Kahn knows what we are going to do." Luehring, citing the high cost of leaving idle the district's 152-bus fleet on weekends, said such West Marin recreational traffic definitely was expected to be provided by the district.

The "concept paper" outlined no costs, but Kahn acknowledged the cost of the 13 buses would be about $600,000. The paper said that "matching funds, if needed, would have to be borne by the local bodies." It did not elaborate beyond proposing the demonstration be sponsored by the county and the Metropolitan Transportation Commission.

Paul Watt, executive officer of the commission, told the I-J he was aware of the proposed demonstration, and that he already had received correspondence on it from the administrator of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration. The letter from UMTA suggested procedures for applying for the federal grant.

Watt said he was "aware they (Marin Transit Systems) had discussed the idea with UMTA."

Lunch will be provided for volunteers.

had approved.

But Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum said that the board of supervisors agreed informally Tuesday that the amended plan may require review by the county. The planning department had no authority to approve such an amendment to Broman's plan, Wornum declared.

Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest, in the audience for a hearing on county plans to fill an acre of the bay to widen San Pedro Road, told the I-J that it would be up to the supervisors to determine if Broman's amended plan was "just a condition of the old plan or a revision — and thus a new plan." If the supervisors decide the change constituted a new plan, then it automatically would be returned to the planning commission for new hearings, Forest said.

Wornum, the only supervisor to oppose the plan when it won final county approval last year, said he would seek to rezone the 6.5-acre parcel to a lower density. Noting its previous zoning would have allowed only 14 single-family homes, he said the number of apartments should be "somewhere between 96 and 14."

Yesterday's vote had appeared certain three weeks ago when the commission staff recommended rejection of the plan. The staff argued that it would provide too little public access and that the project could be moved inland to make more room for the boardwalk.

Broman, in a one-hour defense of his plan, said that moving the apartments inland would "impair visual access from the road." He said that no other shoreline project in the nation offered "more generous public access."

Noting that his plan provided a ribbon of public access around its entire perimeter, Broman said, "I really don't know how you go beyond 100 per cent access."

Opponents of the project, he said, "will do anything short of buying the property."

Yesterday's rejection was the second for apartments planned on the parcel. The commission, in November 1969, also turned down plans by the owner of the parcel, Leonard B. Fleischman. Broman has an option on the parcel.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, told commissioners that they were required to permit such projects only if public access were increased "to the maximum extent possible" Public access in Broman's plan met this condition only because there were too many apartments to allow any more public access, Behr said.

Commissioner Melville Owen of Kentfield, arguing the plan needed "a better balance between conservation and development," said that its rejection would not affect Broman's construction schedule because the Strawberry Recreation District already "has him tied up in court." The district contends that the public acquired rights to cross the property by using it unimpeded for many years.

In a brief hearing on the county's application to widen San Pedro Road from Loch Lomond to Peacock Gap, commissioners heard a suggestion from the Sierra Club that the project be moved inland to avoid the acre of fill, most of it opposite Main Drive.

The club spokesman, Dwight Steele of Tiburon, suggested that pilings instead of fill be used if the project cannot be moved inland. (Marin County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost told the I-J that pilings would add about $300,000 to the $1.4 million cost of the project.)

Donald A. MacMillan, president of the Glenwood Homeowners Association, said the project was needed, but that the association had taken no stand on the bay fill. He also favored pilings instead of fill.

Voting on the county application was scheduled tentatively on May 20.

In other business, the staff reported that commission offices were moving to 30 Van Ness Avenue.

Finian's Rainbow At Redwood High

Directed by music director J. D. Nichols, the musical comedy will be performed at the same time tomorrow and May 14 and 15.

The play, which was a hit on Broadway, involves an Irish couple's immigration to the United States with a crock of gold stolen from a leprechaun and his search to recover it.

The cast includes Nick Reid as Finian McLonergan, Laurie Hammersly as his wife Sharon, Robert Herrmann as Og the Leprechaun and Michael Kralka as Senator Rawkins.

Bid Taken For Miwok Valley Plan

The Old Adobe School District board in Petaluma said last night it intends to accept a bid of $650,000 for construction of Miwok Valley School if the state approves.

The board accepted the bid, from Colombini Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, at its meeting last night. Four other bids, ranging up to $749,800, were received.

Supt. Dean D. Magowan said a maximum of $697,596 had been allotted for the school under the state school building aid program.

The superintendent said it is hoped construction of the 14-classroom school, on St. Francis Drive, can start in a month, if the state Department of Education approves Colombini's bid.

The school ultimately will house 700 students.

The board also accepted a bid of $13,600 for sale of Lakeville School on Lakeville Highway but said it would ask the state for permission to reject the bid because it had decided to use the facility for storage purposes. The school was acquired in an annexation and is not needed for teaching purposes, Magowan said.

In other business, the board established the job of school psychologist and voted to hire Barbara Cochran for the position at an undetermined salary; accepted the resignations of teacher Wanda Ward and secretary Ruby Miller for personal reasons, and granted a year's leave of absence to counselor Barry Yagi to live in Japan.

fewer initial unemployment insurance claims. He said initial claims fell 9,400 to 248,500 during the week ended April 24. This was 17 per cent under a year earlier.

"We feel sure unemployment rates will shortly be coming down, but we are evidently now observing a pattern that has marked previous periods of economic resurgence after a slowdown—namely that a pickup in employment always follows by some months an improvement in other economic indicators," Hodgson said.

The number of unemployed persons dropped by 480,000 last month to just under 4.7 million, which was about average for April.

California's unemployment jumped three-tenths of a per cent last month to 7.4 per cent, the state Department of Human Resources reports.

In statistics released yesterday the agency said the unemployment rate for April represents "the general slack in the economy together with additional layoffs in the aerospace industry."

The total number of unemployed persons, however, dropped 81,000 to 595,000 and the number of persons working at some job climbed 51,000 to 7.99 million.

ROGERS

fly over occupied territory," Rogers told newsmen, underscoring the sensitivity of the situation in this tinderbox area of the world.

The plane flew slowly south from Tel Aviv to the Israeli port of Eilat on the Gulf of Aqaba and then south to Sharm el Sheikh on the southern end of the gulf. This was the area which provided the spark for the 1967 war in which Israel seized and occuied the Sinai Peninsula. Sharm el Sheikh overlooks the Strait of Tiran and the Egyptian fortress there blocked Israeli ships from approaching Eilat, Israel's only access to the Red Sea.

The late Egyptian President, Gamal Abdel Nasser, closed the strait in the early part of 1967 and the war followed in June. Israeli troops took the Sharm el Sheikh in the first hours of the war and Israel has vowed never to relinquish it.

The fact Rogers agreed to take a look at these regions in his own plane represented a compromise with Israeli officials, who wanted him to take Israeli transport and disembark at the locations to see them first hand.

Israel's hope, as expressed by Mrs. Meir, was that if Rogers saw the occupied territories and frontiers first-hand he might change his mind about calling for a withdrawal from them.

Rogers met for two hours and 20 minutes with Mrs. Meir and her closest cabinet aides in Jerusalem Thursday. His Israeli counterpart, Abba Eban, said "where the heart of the matter is concerned, we have only started the dialogue."

DEFIANT FIST — Charging the government was trying to "smear me and the antiwar movement," 19-year-old Leslie Bacon of Atherton, Calif., raised her fist when she left the Federal Courthouse yesterday in Seattle, where a grand jury has been questioning her for 10 days as a material witness in the March 1 bombing of the U.S. Capitol. (UPI Telephoto)

Bomb Witness: 'I Was Kidnapped'

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)— Antiwar activist Leslie Bacon, contending she had been "kidnaped" by the government and saying "I've had enough," refused Thursday to answer grand jury questions on radical activities.

Her attorneys said the 19-year-old blonde declined to respond to virtually all questions except those dealing with a plot to firebomb a bank in New York City Dec. 4.

Miss Bacon, who has been in federal custody for 10 days as a material witness in the bombing of the U.S. Capitol on March 1, was ordered earlier Thursday to answer questions about the bank plot.

She then issued her first public statement since her arrest —a 400-word, signed, notarized document in which she accused the government of trying "to smear me and the antiwar movement."

Her attorneys said they would go before the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals today in an effort to have Miss Bacon released from custody while she is questioned by the grand jury. U.S. District Judge George Boldt rejected a similar motion Thursday and kept her bail at $100,000.

The judge also ruled that Miss Bacon must answer questions concerning the thwarted bomb plot against First National Bank of New York because she previously had admitted participation in the early stages of planning. Boldt said she thus had negated her right to take the Fifth Amendment.

"At this point, I've had enough," she said a short time later. "Not knowing how far they will go to implicate me — to force me at least to face a charge and perhaps a trial even though never a conviction —I have decided to assert my rights under the First, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, and Ninth amendments to the Constitution.

"If they have a case against me, let them prove it without my help."

She said she would only answer questions the federal judge had ordered her to.

"When I was unexpectedly kidnaped in Washington, D.C., and spirited away from my friends to Seattle," her statement said, "My counsel and I were repeatedly assured by the U.S. attorney (1) that all they were interested in was information about the Capitol bombing, (2) that I, myself, was not suspected of having done anything illegal, and (3) that my appearance before the grand jury would be brief and uncomplicated.

"It was only on the basis of these understandings that I decided to answer questions, knowing that I had nothing to hide, rather than go to jail."

She said the government didn't need her testimony about the New York bank plot because an informer already had provided full details, including her participation "in some early discussions of those plans." She said a New York grand jury decided she was innocent "since I had abandoned participation." Six plotters were arrested outside the bank by waiting agents.

14-Year-Old Begins 30-Year Term For Rape

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (UPI) — Donald Lewis Curtis, 14, an eigth grade student from Forrest City, Ark., has begun serving a 30-year prison term for rape, the minimum sentence under Arkansas law.

The boy, a Negro, was convicted May 3 of raping a white woman in her late 30s. Prison officials said Thursday the boy spent his first day in an isolated cell. Otherwise, the official said, homosexual prisoners might attack him "as soon as he goes into the barracks."

"But we can't keep him segregated forever," the spokesman said.

The teen-ager also was convicted of burglary and theft and received concurrent 10-year terms.

"If it was just burglary or grand larceny, he would have been treated as a juvenile," said prosecutor Fletcher Long Jr. "But since we had a capital offense here, we couldn't just smile at it and turn it over to the juvenile authorities."

Long said he would work with the youth's lawyer to try to have him transferred to the Boys' Industrial School at Wrightsville, Ark.

DIFFERENT NOW — Sausalito residents from the "good old days" gather around a much smaller firehouse in a smaller Sausalito to celebrate the dedication of the fire station that was new in 1940. Tomorrow, many of the same residents and a host of newcomers will rededicate an expanded, remodeled firehouse completed earlier this year.

Sausalito To Fete Main Firehouse

Sausalito will turn back the clock and pull out all the stops tomorrow for an old-fashioned, rousing rededication of the city's main firehouse, 20 Caledonia Street.

The firehouse, which originally opened its doors in 1940 has been extensively remodeled and enlarged through a bond issue approved by voters in 1969.

The ceremonies will begin at 10 a.m. with a parade starting at Central School and traveling to the fire station. The Sixth Army Marching Band, directed by Dewey E. Hensley, will lead the way and play for later celebrations at the firehouse.

John E. Koenig, a Sausalito city councilman from 1956 to 1960 will serve as master of ceremonies, according to Mrs. Richard R. Phillips, general chairman for the event. And Col. Charles Bearchall of the Salvation Army will give the invocation.

Ernie Smith, a former radio sportscaster and 30-year Sausalito resident now living in Glen Ellen, Sonoma County, will give the dedication address. Smith, the first broadcaster on the West Coast to cover baseball games and the radio voice of the Stanford-California and Shrine football games for nearly 20 years, was a member of the U.S. Water Polo team which represented this country in the 1920 Olympic Games in Belgium.

The Sixth Army color guard will raise the station's new American flag, a banner presented by Sen. John Tunney and one which has flown over the nation's capitol. The Sausalito fire cadets will raise a California bear flag supplied by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

After a short concert by the Army band, winners of a children's poster coontest (the theme: "Our Brave Firemen") will be announced. And Mrs. Joseph D. McAleese, a member of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, will present Fire Chief Charles E. Masten with a scrapbook she has compiled documenting the history of the department. The Native Sons of the Golden West will present a bronze plaque to the station in honor of the rededication.

Those attending will receive souvenir programs — replicas of the issue of the Sausalito News printed on the day of the original dedication in 1940.

A tour of the addition to the firehouse will include a visit to the Memorabilia Room, compiled by Sausalito's unofficial historian, Fire Capt. Ralph K. Pedersen. Scouts in uniform will act as honor guards in the room which will contain photographs and displays dating from the earliest days of Sausalito firefighting.

Marin Artists To Western Society Posts

Larry Steelman of Larkspur has been installed as first vice president of the Western Society of Artists, and Esther Mae Riley of Mill Valley as treasurer.

Steelman was also named regional representative for Southern Marin County by the organization, which has 1,400 members in five western states.

Ray Radliff of San Rafael, a trustee and past president of the artists' society, was installing officer.

Bill Banning War Toys To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Thursday "shot" to the Senate a bill banning the sale of war toys such as bazookas and time bombs.

The measure by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, passed on a 41-22 vote—the bare minimum—after he jokingly threatened members with a toy bazooka.

Burton has carried similar bills during the past six years but they always died in committee before reaching the floor.

The law outlaws the sale of toys that simulate bombs and destructive devices such as grenades or other explosives.

Burton said included in the ban would be a toy time bomb that can be wound up and makes the sound of an explosion.

When Burton finally got the 41 votes needed for passage, he shot off the bazooka. Assemblyman Robert Badham, RNewport Beach, who was acting as speaker, said, "The measure is shot forthwith to the Senate."

The ban would apply to toy bazookas but not to machine guns or cap pistols. Also not included in the ban is a doll dressed as a soldier that contains a recording activated by pulling dog tags.

Guilty Verdict In Robbery Case

A Marin Superior Court jury deliberated about eight hours before finding two Marin City women guilty of second degree robbery Wednesday.

They are to return to the courtroom of Judge Henry J. Broderick May 26 for sentencing.

Hearing Due On Venue Change Plea

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The State Supreme Court Thursday granted a hearing on a motion for change of venue for John Linley Frazier, 24, accused slayer of five persons at a mountain mansion in Santa Cruz County last October. A trial date had not been set.

Deputy Public Defender James Jackson originally filed the motion with Superior Court Judge Charles Franich. It was denied and Jackson then filed an appeal with the State Court of Appeal on April 9, which turned the motion down without a hearing.

Jackson then carried the case to the Supreme Court. Jackson asks the change of venue on grounds of adverse publicity in Santa Cruz County.

The bodies of the victims were found floating in the swimming pool at the Ohta mansion last Oct. 19.

DIFFERENT NOW — Sausalito residents from the "good old days" gather around a much smaller firehouse in a smaller Sausalito to celebrate the dedication of the fire station that was new in 1940. Tomorrow, many of the same residents and a host of newcomers will rededicate an expanded, remodeled firehouse completed earlier this year.

Sausalito To Fete Main Firehouse

Sausalito will turn back the clock and pull out all the stops tomorrow for an old-fashioned, rousing rededication of the city's main firehouse, 20 Caledonia Street.

The firehouse, which originally opened its doors in 1940 has been extensively remodeled and enlarged through a bond issue approved by voters in 1969.

The ceremonies will begin at 10 a.m. with a parade starting at Central School and traveling to the fire station. The Sixth Army Marching Band, directed by Dewey E. Hensley, will lead the way and play for later celebrations at the firehouse.

John E. Koenig, a Sausalito city councilman from 1956 to 1960 will serve as master of ceremonies, according to Mrs. Richard R. Phillips, general chairman for the event. And Col. Charles Bearchall of the Salvation Army will give the invocation.

Ernie Smith, a former radio sportscaster and 30-year Sausalito resident now living in Glen Ellen, Sonoma County, will give the dedication address. Smith, the first broadcaster on the West Coast to cover baseball games and the radio voice of the Stanford-California and Shrine football games for nearly 20 years, was a member of the U.S. Water Polo team which represented this country in the 1920 Olympic Games in Belgium.

The Sixth Army color guard will raise the station's new American flag, a banner presented by Sen. John Tunney and one which has flown over the nation's capitol. The Sausalito fire cadets will raise a California bear flag supplied by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

After a short concert by the Army band, winners of a children's poster coontest (the theme: "Our Brave Firemen") will be announced. And Mrs. Joseph D. McAleese, a member of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, will present Fire Chief Charles E. Masten with a scrapbook she has compiled documenting the history of the department. The Native Sons of the Golden West will present a bronze plaque to the station in honor of the rededication.

Those attending will receive souvenir programs — replicas of the issue of the Sausalito News printed on the day of the original dedication in 1940.

A tour of the addition to the firehouse will include a visit to the Memorabilia Room, compiled by Sausalito's unofficial historian, Fire Capt. Ralph K. Pedersen. Scouts in uniform will act as honor guards in the room which will contain photographs and displays dating from the earliest days of Sausalito firefighting.

Magazine Raid Ruling Reversed

A Marin Municipal Court decision suppressing evidence from a 1969 sex magazine raid in San Rafael has been reversed by the Appellate Division of Marin Superior Court.

In an order filed yesterday, three superior court judges reversed the decision of former Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court who ruled invalid a search warrant used for a raid on a San Rafael warehouse where 46 allegedly obscene magazines were confiscated Christmas Eve, 1969.

Goldstein had ruled that the search warrant issued by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of superior court was too broad and did not adequately specify the matter to be seized.

When he made that ruling last May, Goldstein also criticized Judge Gardiner for accompanying San Rafael police and district attorney's investigators on the raid.

Goldstein's decision was appealed by the district attorney's office and yesterday overturned by Superior Court Judges E. Warren McGuire, Thomas F. Keating and Henry J. Broderick, sitting as the court's appellate division.

The appeal decision readmits more than half the evidence in the case against Donald Calvin Warnecke, 39, of Corte Madera, president of Sands Oak Book Distributing Co. and the firm's manager, Eddie Louis Burleson, 31, of San Francisco.

Their case has been pending in municipal court awaiting the appeal decision. Defense attorneys have until Wednesday to ask for a rehearing on the appeal or the case will be returned to municipal court for further proceedings.

The raiding party on the warehouse at 62 Belvedere Street took only one sample of each magazine and left behind thousands of magazines ready for distribution.

The publications bore such titles as "Pussy Willow," "Pleasure Partners," "Raunchy" and "Bush Whackers" and sold for $3 to $5.

Go Ahead Signal On Tot Lot

The San Marin Improvement Association decided last night to go ahead with development of a tot lot at Novato Creek Park even though the issue of an access road and parking lot at the park have not been settled.

The group voted to spend up to $3,000 for the playground, according to Mary Musante, press representative. She said that it is hoped the tot lot will be finished by July 1.

A committee was also appointed last night to work up an argument to be presented to the Novato City Council giving reasons why a variance should be granted eliminating off-street parking for the park.

The association opposes both the 20-space parking lot and access road into the park which have been approved by the city's park and recreation department. Mrs. Musante said that the association feels that if there is to be any road in the park, it should be a service road only and not open to the public.

'Hard-Nosed' Policy Adopted On College Of Marin Construction

Marin Junior College District trustees last night, by a one-vote margin, refused to extend the time limit for construction of the nearly-completed Harlan and Science centers at the College of Marin after hearing reports of faulty workmanship.

The extension refusal, in effect only a technicality, was seen by trustees who supported it as a more "hard-nosed" policy than the board had taken in the past with the contractors, S. J. Amoroso Construction Co.

Planning Director Dale Fleming complained that he and the building inspector "repeatedly" had notified the contractor and the architect about the inferior quality of work done at the new Harlan Center, but it still had not been corrected.

The center was opened for limited use April 3. At that time, it was discovered that the walls were not soundproof due to an ill-fitting ceiling, Fleming said.

The contractor, who was expected to have the work completed April 3, asked the trustees for a 45-day extension on work at Harlan Center because fixed laboratory equipment was not available and a 73-day extension on the Science Center because of a strike.

Trustee Charles W. Gray, however, questioned the advantage and legality of extending a contract a month after the completion date had passed.

Donald K. Felt, another board member, suggested the board refuse to extend the contract dates to show them "we mean business." He was supported in the 4-3 vote by Gray, Harry J. Moore and President Elizabeth M. Deedy.

Trustee Theodore C. Wellman, who voted to extend the dates, said he was "reluctant to second guess the administration" and its handling of negotiations with the contractor.

Because the board can, at any time, extend the contract date to completion, the refusal was looked at as a technicality by the board. Meanwhile it will withhold 10 per cent of the construction cost until work is corrected.

Oak Manor Annexation Hinges On Flood Funds

The outcome of proposals to annex Oak Manor to Fairfax may hinge on who would have to finance some $264,000 in flood control and drainage work for the area.

Councilman Frank J. Egger met with Oak Manor residents last night to outline pros and cons of the annexation in terms of taxes, services and other factors. C. F. (Curly) Stobbe, president of the Oak Manor Homeowners Association, said reaction among his neighbors was "very mixed."

Fairfax City Administrator Robert E. Crowe said today the Fairfax City Council may decide at its May 17 meeting whether to go ahead with annexation proposals, after obtaining more data on the drainage problem. Crowe said county flood control engineers have prepared a $264,000 plan to replace and enlarge the Oak Manor drainage system through Flood Control Zone 9-A, a subzone serving unincorporated portions of the Ross Valley.

"The city could not afford to do it," Crowe explained, if annexation meant that the county would no longer help on the project.

Stobbe said the Oak Manor homeowners would take no action until hearing from Fairfax officials.

Egger told the Oak Manor residents that, exclusive of the drainage problem, any additional taxes due to annexation would be almost exactly offset by savings in fire insurance bills. The residents would gain city police protection, fire services and street maintenance and lighting, Egger said.

A Shining Example, Texas-Style, Too

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—When a Texas governor leaves office, he literally locks the door and throws away the keys.

New locks are installed at once on all doors each time the administration changes. But even that security measure wasn't enough to satisfy the late W. Lee O'Daniel when he was governor from 1939 to 1941.

To protect his private office from outsiders, O'Daniel had an electric lock installed which he alone could operate from his desk.

Monagan Being Considered For Top UOP Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Republican leader Robert Monagan is under consideration for the presidency of the University of the Pacific in Stockton, it was reported today.

Monagan told members of his party that he was under consideration for the appointment during a closed meeting of Republicans involved in drawing strategy for the reapportionment this year of legislative and congressional districts, the San Jose Mercury reported.

The lawmaker from Tracy said he was among 80 candidates for the position. He said an offer of the job would be "intriguing."

Meters Painted By Petaluma Pranksters

Pranksters made life unsettling for downtown Petaluma shoppers yesterday when they spray-painted the windows of 60 city parking meters.

The city estimated damage to the meters, located in the vicinity of Kentucky and Keller streets, at $115. Police said the vandalism occurred Wednesday night or yesterday morning.

No Contest Plea Entered

James Stanley Eberhart, 29, of Corte Madera, has pleaded no contest in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of interfering with a lawful business.

Eberhart previously was charged with burglary and possession of stolen property in connection with the disappearance of $10,000 worth of waterbeds Feb. 23 from the warehouses of Aquarian Products in San Rafael.

The waterbeds were recovered the next day.

Magazine Raid Ruling Reversed

A Marin Municipal Court decision suppressing evidence from a 1969 sex magazine raid in San Rafael has been reversed by the Appellate Division of Marin Superior Court.

In an order filed yesterday, three superior court judges reversed the decision of former Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court who ruled invalid a search warrant used for a raid on a San Rafael warehouse where 46 allegedly obscene magazines were confiscated Christmas Eve, 1969.

Goldstein had ruled that the search warrant issued by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of superior court was too broad and did not adequately specify the matter to be seized.

When he made that ruling last May, Goldstein also criticized Judge Gardiner for accompanying San Rafael police and district attorney's investigators on the raid.

Goldstein's decision was appealed by the district attorney's office and yesterday overturned by Superior Court Judges E. Warren McGuire, Thomas F. Keating and Henry J. Broderick, sitting as the court's appellate division.

The appeal decision readmits more than half the evidence in the case against Donald Calvin Warnecke, 39, of Corte Madera, president of Sands Oak Book Distributing Co. and the firm's manager, Eddie Louis Burleson, 31, of San Francisco.

Their case has been pending in municipal court awaiting the appeal decision. Defense attorneys have until Wednesday to ask for a rehearing on the appeal or the case will be returned to municipal court for further proceedings.

The raiding party on the warehouse at 62 Belvedere Street took only one sample of each magazine and left behind thousands of magazines ready for distribution.

The publications bore such titles as "Pussy Willow," "Pleasure Partners," "Raunchy" and "Bush Whackers" and sold for $3 to $5.

Oak Manor Annexation Hinges On Flood Funds

The outcome of proposals to annex Oak Manor to Fairfax may hinge on who would have to finance some $264,000 in flood control and drainage work for the area.

Councilman Frank J. Egger met with Oak Manor residents last night to outline pros and cons of the annexation in terms of taxes, services and other factors. C. F. (Curly) Stobbe, president of the Oak Manor Homeowners Association, said reaction among his neighbors was "very mixed."

Fairfax City Administrator Robert E. Crowe said today the Fairfax City Council may decide at its May 17 meeting whether to go ahead with annexation proposals, after obtaining more data on the drainage problem. Crowe said county flood control engineers have prepared a $264,000 plan to replace and enlarge the Oak Manor drainage system through Flood Control Zone 9-A, a subzone serving unincorporated portions of the Ross Valley.

"The city could not afford to do it," Crowe explained, if annexation meant that the county would no longer help on the project.

Stobbe said the Oak Manor homeowners would take no action until hearing from Fairfax officials.

Egger told the Oak Manor residents that, exclusive of the drainage problem, any additional taxes due to annexation would be almost exactly offset by savings in fire insurance bills. The residents would gain city police protection, fire services and street maintenance and lighting, Egger said.

A Shining Example, Texas-Style, Too

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—When a Texas governor leaves office, he literally locks the door and throws away the keys.

New locks are installed at once on all doors each time the administration changes. But even that security measure wasn't enough to satisfy the late W. Lee O'Daniel when he was governor from 1939 to 1941.

To protect his private office from outsiders, O'Daniel had an electric lock installed which he alone could operate from his desk.

Go Ahead Signal On Tot Lot

The San Marin Improvement Association decided last night to go ahead with development of a tot lot at Novato Creek Park even though the issue of an access road and parking lot at the park have not been settled.

The group voted to spend up to $3,000 for the playground, according to Mary Musante, press representative. She said that it is hoped the tot lot will be finished by July 1.

A committee was also appointed last night to work up an argument to be presented to the Novato City Council giving reasons why a variance should be granted eliminating off-street parking for the park.

The association opposes both the 20-space parking lot and access road into the park which have been approved by the city's park and recreation department. Mrs. Musante said that the association feels that if there is to be any road in the park, it should be a service road only and not open to the public.

Monagan Being Considered For Top UOP Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Republican leader Robert Monagan is under consideration for the presidency of the University of the Pacific in Stockton, it was reported today.

Monagan told members of his party that he was under consideration for the appointment during a closed meeting of Republicans involved in drawing strategy for the reapportionment this year of legislative and congressional districts, the San Jose Mercury reported.

The lawmaker from Tracy said he was among 80 candidates for the position. He said an offer of the job would be "intriguing."

Meters Painted By Petaluma Pranksters

Pranksters made life unsettling for downtown Petaluma shoppers yesterday when they spray-painted the windows of 60 city parking meters.

The city estimated damage to the meters, located in the vicinity of Kentucky and Keller streets, at $115. Police said the vandalism occurred Wednesday night or yesterday morning.

'Hard-Nosed' Policy Adopted On College Of Marin Construction

Marin Junior College District trustees last night, by a one-vote margin, refused to extend the time limit for construction of the nearly-completed Harlan and Science centers at the College of Marin after hearing reports of faulty workmanship.

The extension refusal, in effect only a technicality, was seen by trustees who supported it as a more "hard-nosed" policy than the board had taken in the past with the contractors, S. J. Amoroso Construction Co.

Planning Director Dale Fleming complained that he and the building inspector "repeatedly" had notified the contractor and the architect about the inferior quality of work done at the new Harlan Center, but it still had not been corrected.

The center was opened for limited use April 3. At that time, it was discovered that the walls were not soundproof due to an ill-fitting ceiling, Fleming said.

The contractor, who was expected to have the work completed April 3, asked the trustees for a 45-day extension on work at Harlan Center because fixed laboratory equipment was not available and a 73-day extension on the Science Center because of a strike.

Trustee Charles W. Gray, however, questioned the advantage and legality of extending a contract a month after the completion date had passed.

Donald K. Felt, another board member, suggested the board refuse to extend the contract dates to show them "we mean business." He was supported in the 4-3 vote by Gray, Harry J. Moore and President Elizabeth M. Deedy.

Trustee Theodore C. Wellman, who voted to extend the dates, said he was "reluctant to second guess the administration" and its handling of negotiations with the contractor.

Because the board can, at any time, extend the contract date to completion, the refusal was looked at as a technicality by the board. Meanwhile it will withhold 10 per cent of the construction cost until work is corrected.

Eberhart previously was charged with burglary and possession of stolen property in connection with the disappearance of $10,000 worth of waterbeds Feb. 23 from the warehouses of Aquarian Products in San Rafael.

The waterbeds were recovered the next day.

BAD CHECKS — Det. Michael M. Manick of the Novato Police Department leafs through a batch of bad checks and hopes that merchants will tighten their check cashing policies.

Check Passers Dent The Profits

By FRANK FARRARA

Novato supermarkets would have to gross $469,200 to recuperate the profits lost from bad checks passed in the city this year through April 21.

Detective Michael M. Manick of the Novato Police Department made this point yesterday to indicate the magnitude of the bad check problem.

Bad checks totaling $4,926 were passed from Jan. 1 through April 21, most of them at supermarkets and ''this loss is right off the top," Manick told the Independent-Journal before yesterday's talk on the subject to the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

With supermarkets operating at about a one per cent profit margin, they would have to have $469,200 in sales to recover $4,926 in losses, he explained.

(There has been restitution of more than $500 and arrests made or warrants issued representing about $1,500, but Manick used the $4,926 total to illustrate his point.)

Manick urged that merchants institute tighter policies on check cashing, preferably as a group.

One bad check passer told Manick that he wouldn't even attempt to pass a check at a certain market because it was "tough," he said. If others were just as tough, it would cut losses, Manick predicted.

"I think it's important that merchants realize that check cashing is a courtesy, not a right a customer has. A lot are afraid to ask for identification, afraid it will result in a customer going to a competitor," he said.

Manick said merchants should be wary if the check casher is from out of town and the check from an out-of-town bank. "They cash a lot from Sonoma County and San Francisco," he said. "They should wonder why a guy would be buying groceries in Novato."

Bad check passers buy $3.75 in groceries and $25 in change," he said. "They don't want the loaf of bread and the bottle of milk. They want the cash."

Merchants shouldn't cash "two-party checks" — drawn by one person, cashed by another — including payroll checks because the passer isn't committing fraud, and police can't prosecute on a criminal basis, he said.

There should be a close check on identification, including a driver's license and major credit card, Manick advised. "A driver's license alone isn't the best, but it's better than nothing."

He also warned against cashing post-dated checks, with the comment that such a check was in effect a promissory note and police can't prosecute.

Merchants shouldn't hold bad checks for more than 30 days before turning them over to police, he said. "They hold them for up to six months, and by that time the people are gone. We have a warrant and no clue to their whereabouts."

Manick told wryly of notifying a local supermarket of a check passer, known to have insufficient funds, and yet "they cashed eight more in that market."

One protective method would be to cash checks covering only the amount of the purchase, another would be to have a system of taking the person's thumb print on the check, and a third to have a central check cashing area.

Manick suggested merchants as a group set up check cashing procedures and all adhere to it to reduce losses.

As for possibly losing a customer, he commented: "I don't resent being asked for identification. If a person is really resentful, I'd question his motives."

Bad check passers generally are "everyday nondescript persons" who operate on any day at any hour, and there isn't any bad check ring operating in Marin, he said.

"Some are narcotics addicts,'' and some pass the checks to support themselves, he said.

He told of one check passer who ''made $3,000 in three weeks in Marin," and of another who "took $800-plus out of Novato in three weeks."

One passer, using a temporary driver's license with a factitious name, opened a checking account of $50 at one bank and $50 at another, and passed $3,000 in checks.

The bad checks mainly are "personal checks with insufficient funds or account closed," Manick said.

Merchants should be more questioning, he contended and told of an incident where a 16-year-old girl passed a $100 "two-party" check, money she received for "an act of prostitution." The check was worthless.

Woman, 110, In Hospital For The First Time

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A 110-year-old woman, hospitalized for the first time after breaking her hip in a fall, is reported "making better progress than many patients half her age."

Mrs. Maria Olguin was hospitalized last week and hospital officials said Thursday she was "in remarkably fine condition and is making better progress than many patients half her age."

Mrs. Olguin, who speaks only Spanish, was born on a farm in the New Mexico territory and lived with her husband on farms in New Mexico and Texas.

Mrs. Olguin, who has 23 grandchildren, 50 great grandchildren and 14 great-great grandchildren, attributed her longevity to "a little something to drink, along with cottage cheese and strawberry jam before retiring."

10 Days Given In Boat Burning

Alfred Thomas Zimmer, 34, of San Francisco, has been sentenced to 10 days in Marin County Jail for setting his boat afire at Loch Lomond Yacht Harbor.

Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Municipal Court also placed Zimmer on probation for one year.

San Rafael police said Zimmer said he was angry at the boat he had just purchased when he threw a torch into it April 25.

Judge Menary also ordered Zimmer to make restitution for an undisclosed amount of damage to the pier at the yacht harbor.

One Day In Jail: Drunken Driving

Robert Eugene Pickens, 26, of San Rafael, has been sentenced to one day in jail and fined $200 for drunken driving and being in a place where marijuana was smoked.

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court also placed him on probation for one year.

Pickens originally was charged with possessing and being under the influence of marijuana, in addition to the drunken driving charge, but pleaded guilty to the reduced charge in March.

He was arrested Dec. 15 after he was seen driving erratically on Highway 101 in Mill Valley.

Mental Health Group Starts Member Drive

The Marin Association for Mental Health has launched its annual membership drive and fund appeal, stressing the need for expanded mental health programs by noting that the county has the second highest suicide rate in California — more than twice the national average.

Mrs. Axel W. Hoke, membership chairman, also cited Marin court reports that 40 per cent of felonies in the county are linked with drug abuse, including alcoholism.

"This indicates the constant need," she said, for mental health associations to educate the community in health priorities. The association's major goals for the coming year will be establishment of a neighborhood mental health clinic for Southern Marin and child day care centers in areas of need, Mrs. Hoke said. The association tries to serve mental health problems ranging from youngsters using drugs "to the alcoholic housewife to the desolate senior citizen," she said.

Membership dues range from $5 to $100 depending on the class. Donations may be sent to the Marin Association for Mental Health at 1368 Lincoln Avenue. San Rafael. Mrs. Hoke said the contributions are tax deductible.

New U.C. Boss Sees Biggest Problem—Money

BERKELEY (UPI)—Albert H. Bowker, the new chancellor of the University of California Berkeley campus, said today his biggest problem is going to be money.

"It is going to be difficult to maintain quality in a period of shrinking resources," Bowker said at a news conference during a two-day get-acquainted visit.

The 51-year-old educator heads the City College of New York and will take over at Berkeley Aug. 1 following the departure of Chancellor Roger Heyns.

"It is clear that public confidence needs to be restored," Bowker said, adding that he feels Berkeley "is a campus of great resources, faculty and students."

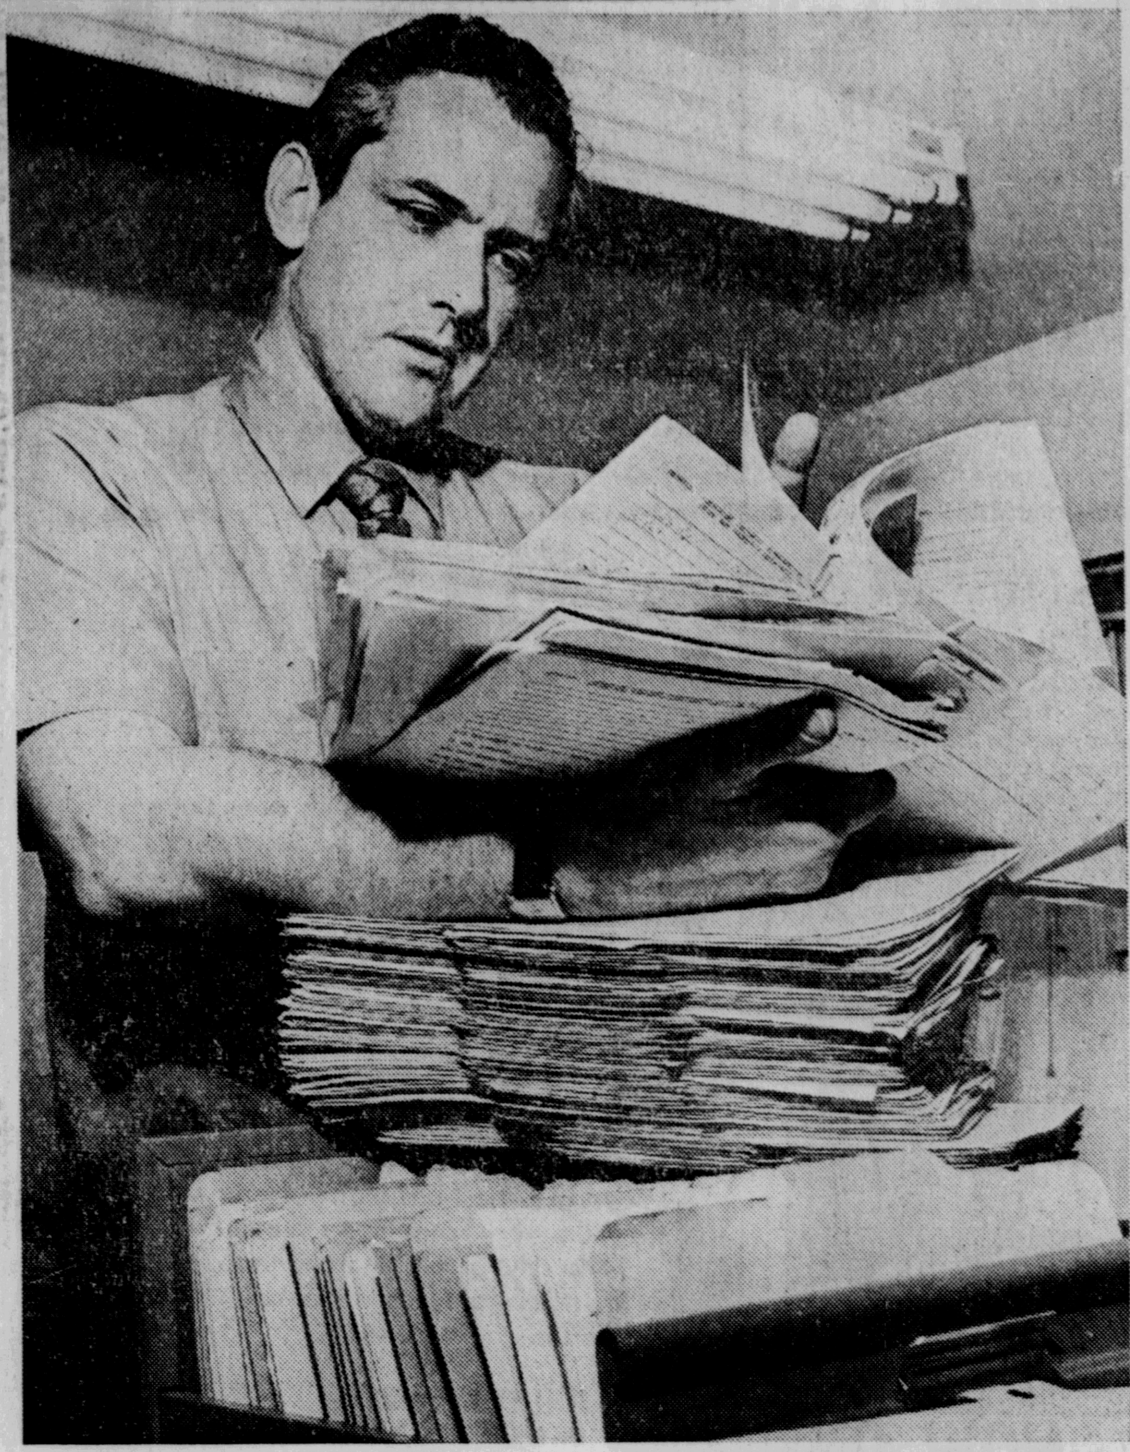
Check Passers Dent The Profits



BAD CHECKS — Det. Michael M. Manick of the Novato Police Department leafs through a batch of bad checks and hopes that merchants will tighten their check cashing policies.

(Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

By FRANK FARRARA

Novato supermarkets would have to gross $469,200 to recuperate the profits lost from bad checks passed in the city this year through April 21.

Detective Michael M. Manick of the Novato Police Department made this point yesterday to indicate the magnitude of the bad check problem.

Bad checks totaling $4,926 were passed from Jan. 1 through April 21, most of them at supermarkets and "this loss is right off the top," Manick told the Independent-Journal before yesterday's talk on the subject to the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

With supermarkets operating at about a one per cent profit margin, they would have to have $469,200 in sales to recover $4,926 in losses, he explained.

(There has been restitution of more than $500 and arrests made or warrants issued representing about $1,500, but Manick used the $4,926 total to illustrate his point.)

Manick urged that merchants institute tighter policies on check cashing, preferably as a group.

One bad check passer told Manick that he wouldn't even attempt to pass a check at a certain market because it was "tough," he said. If others were just as tough, it would cut losses, Manick predicted.

"I think it's important that merchants realize that check cashing is a courtesy, not a right a customer has. A lot are afraid to ask for identification, afraid it will result in a customer going to a competitor," he said.

Manick said merchants should be wary if the check casher is from out of town and the check from an out-of-town bank. "They cash a lot from Sonoma County and San Francisco," he said. "They should wonder why a guy would be buying groceries in Novato."

Bad check passers buy $3.75 in groceries and $25 in change," he said. "They don't want the loaf of bread and the bottle of milk. They want the cash."

Merchants shouldn't cash "two-party checks" — drawn by one person, cashed by another — including payroll checks because the passer isn't committing fraud, and police can't prosecute on a criminal basis, he said.

There should be a close check on identification, including a driver's license and major credit card, Manick advised. "A driver's license alone isn't the best, but it's better than nothing."

He also warned against cashing post-dated checks, with the comment that such a check was in effect a promissory note and police can't prosecute.

Merchants shouldn't hold bad checks for more than 30 days before turning them over to police, he said. "They hold them for up to six months, and by that time the people are gone. We have a warrant and no clue to their whereabouts."

Manick told wryly of notifying a local supermarket of a check passer, known to have insufficient funds, and yet "they cashed eight more in that market."

One protective method would be to cash checks covering only the amount of the purchase, another would be to have a system of taking the person's thumb print on the check, and a third to have a central check cashing area.

Manick suggested merchants as a group set up check cashing procedures and all adhere to it to reduce losses.

As for possibly losing a customer, he commented: "I don't resent being asked for identification. If a person is really resentful, I'd question his motives."

Bad check passers generally are "everyday nondescript persons" who operate on any day at any hour, and there isn't any bad check ring operating in Marin, he said.

"Some are narcotics addicts," and some pass the checks to support themselves, he said.

He told of one check passer who "made $3,000 in three weeks in Marin," and of another who "took $800-plus out of Novato in three weeks."

One passer, using a temporary driver's license with a factitious name, opened a checking account of $50 at one bank and $50 at another, and passed $3,000 in checks.

The bad checks mainly are "personal checks with insufficient funds or account closed," Manick said.

Merchants should be more questioning, he contended and told of an incident where a 16-year-old girl passed a $100 "two-party" check, money she received for "an act of prostitution." The check was worthless.

Woman, 110, In Hospital For The First Time

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A 110-year-old woman, hospitalized for the first time after breaking her hip in a fall, is reported "making better progress than many patients half her age."

Mrs. Maria Olguin was hospitalized last week and hospital officials said Thursday she was "in remarkably fine condition and is making better progress than many patients half her age."

Mrs. Olguin, who speaks only Spanish, was born on a farm in the New Mexico territory and lived with her husband on farms in New Mexico and Texas.

Mrs. Olguin, who has 23 grandchildren, 50 great grandchildren and 14 great-great grandchildren, attributed her longevity to "a little something to drink, along with cottage cheese and strawberry jam before retiring."

10 Days Given In Boat Burning

Alfred Thomas Zimmer, 34, of San Francisco, has been sentenced to 10 days in Marin County Jail for setting his boat afire at Loch Lomond Yacht Harbor.

Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Municipal Court also placed Zimmer on probation for one year.

San Rafael police said Zimmer said he was angry at the boat he had just purchased when he threw a torch into it April 25.

Judge Menary also ordered Zimmer to make restitution for an undisclosed amount of damage to the pier at the yacht harbor.

One Day In Jail: Drunken Driving

Robert Eugene Pickens, 26, of San Rafael, has been sentenced to one day in jail and fined $200 for drunken driving and being in a place where marijuana was smoked.

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court also placed him on probation for one year.

Pickens originally was charged with possessing and being under the influence of marijuana, in addition to the drunken driving charge, but pleaded guilty to the reduced charge in March.

He was arrested Dec. 15 after he was seen driving erratically on Highway 101 in Mill Valley.

Bids For Repair Work Low

Cost of repairing a bombed courtroom in the Marin Hall of Justice will be much lower than the $140,000 estimated by the architect.

Of seven bids opened at the Civic Center yesterday, Mayta and Jensen, Inc. of San Francisco presented the lowest offer of $85,300 to repair the courtroom of Judge Joseph G. Wilson, demolished by a bomb blast on Oct. 8 last year. The bids ranged to a high of $134,000.

Mayta and Jensen also submitted the lowest offer of $61,750 to complete an unfinished courtroom immediately to the south of the damaged courtroom. Bids on this job ranged to a high of $95,100.

"The bidding was quite competitive, and we're pleased with the results," said architect Aaron G. Green. He plans to present the bids to the Marin County Board of Supervisors next Tuesday.

A series of bids to put finishing touches on the veterans memorial auditorium will also go to the supervisors next Tuesday.

Westmont Engineering Co. of Los Angeles submitted the low bid of $66,850 to build an acoustical shell behind the auditorium stage. Highest bid was $114,440.

Zappetini and son of San Rafael turned in the low bid of $6,865 for miscellaneous metal work, and Cimino Electric of San Anselmo the low bid of $2,433 for miscellaneous electrical work for the auditorium.

Cyclist Hurt In Accident

David W. Mathew, a student at San Francisco State College, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a strained left knee.

Antipollution Agency For Bay Is Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Citing the potential to reclaim 200 million gallons of water daily, a state agency urged the legislature Thursday to create a regional agency to clean up the polluted waters of San Francisco Bay.

The state Water Resources Control Board recommended that the legislature take action this year to establish a permanent agency empowered to plan, operate and finance antipollution programs.

In its report, the board noted that cities and industries are discharging an estimated 800 million gallons of wastewater into the bay daily.

"Accumulated over just one year this volume would cover the entire surface of the bay to a depth of over three feet," the board said.

In a cover letter to Gov. Ronald Reagan and the legislature, board chairman Kerry W. Mulligan said the Bay Area water system "continues to suffer marked deterioration in quality ... and an areawide approach is needed."

The report contained no figures on the possible cost of setting up and operating a new agency to attack the pollution problem.

Mulligan said the agency would have the authority "to plan, finance, build and operate necessary facilities to treat, reclaim, where possible, and dispose of municipal and industrial wastewaters originating in the Bay Area."

One of the first assignments that would be given to the agency would be to prepare and adopt a water resource management plan by 1973.

The board said that, if possible, the agency should be coordinated with, or included in, a multi-purpose governmental agency for the area.

The report contained two alternate proposals for dealing with pollution, although the board recommended adoption of the initial plan.

The alternatives were:

—Creation of a permanent agency by voluntary action of local pollution control agencies under the County Sanitation District law, which would require change by the legislature to permit the formation of a district in two or more counties.

—Creation of a temporary agency by voluntary action of pollution control agencies that would remain in operation until a permanent agency was established.

In urging acceptance of its recommendations, the board warned that governmental arrangements are lacking at present for developing and carrying out a plan for reclamation of wastewaters.

"The combined total of all reclamation efforts in the Bay Area amount to considerably less than 1 per cent of the daily flow from municipal and industrial charges," the board said.

It also called for retention of the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board to "continue its role of establishing objectives and requiring compliance by wastewater dischargers."

The board also recommended the agency be given authority to issue bonds and stressed that revenue to finance its operations "would be obtained primarily from sources other than property taxes."

Burglary Suspicion: 3 Arrested

Three Marin County youths were arrested today on suspicion of burglarizing autos in Novato and other Marin cities, Novato police reported.

Booked into Marin Juvenile Hall were Gary Stephen Mehrtens, 17, of 412 Jewell Street, San Rafael; David Jones Wendell, 17, of 115 Sequoia, San Anselmo, and Terry Mark Cooter, 16, of 131 Woodside Drive, San Anselmo.

Officers said they arrested the youths at 2:30 a.m. after they observed them acting suspiciously in an apartment house parking lot at 199 Plano del Sol.

It the back of the youths' station wagon, officers said, they found tape recorders and tapes believed stolen from five autos in San Anselmo, San Rafael and Novato.

They said a .22 caliber pistol also was found and was traced to an auto burglarized yesterday in San Anselmo.

Evers told officers he was visiting friends at 28 Oak Avenue when the burglary occurred.

Salaries Due Hub Council Discussion

The San Anselmo City Council, meeting in closed session Monday at 8 p.m., will discuss with its negotiators employee salary requests including a 7.5 per cent pay hike asked by police officers.

The officers' association, in an open letter, which will be distributed tomorrow at the San Anselmo Town Meeting and at shopping centers, also has called for an increase in uniform allowance, creation of longevity pay and a life insurance program.

Their salary proposal would mean about $16,000 added to the city fiscal 1971-72 budget. The current police payroll is about $210,000 not including fringe benefits.

The letter notes that officers do not receive life insurance coverage from the city and requests a $10,000 policy for each man.

The letter also states the department has lost seven men to other departments during the last two years. It lists as one reason that an officer reaches the maximum salary rate in three and a half years.

Without longevity pay, it says, patrolmen may be lured to other departments "eager to hire experienced officers."

These requests, along with one asking the uniform allowance be increased from $150 to $200, have been forwarded to the city council "where they were rejected ..," the letter says.

On Tuesday, the officers plan to present their requests to the council in open session.

Armed Robbery Arrests Made

Four men and a woman were arrested at a Martinez home today in connection with a $7,000 armed robbery Monday in San Rafael.

Booked into Contra Costa County Jail were Judy Sherman, 23, Lowell M. Green, 21, Raymond L. Kennedy, 20, Edward W. Anderson, 20, all of Martinez and Donald E Crow, 36, of Concord.

They are charged with taking $4,000 in stereo equipment Monday evening from the apartment of James Emery Olah of 16 Ross Street, Apt. 3.

Police reported Olah was held at gunpoint after he let the men into his apartment to see the stereo equipment he had advertised in newspapers. Olah was bound with his hands and feet behind his back and a pillowcase over his head while two men wearing ski masks over their face ransacked his apartment for four hours, police said. Olah said his $3,000 car was also taken.

San Rafael police said Green and Kennedy were to be brought to Marin County Jail today on charges of armed robbery, auto theft, possession of stolen property and possession of a dangerous weapon.

Crow and Anderson, charged with the same offenses, await action on other charges, they reported. Crow is also charged with possession of a billy club and a loaded sawed off shotgun found by arresting officers in his car, police said. They said a bag of suspected marijuana was taken from Anderson.

Also arrested in the raid at the Martinez residence and charged with possession of marijuana were Gene E. Baugh, 27, Sharon L. Baugh, 17, and Bruce Villman, 47, all of Concord. Villman was later released pending a court appearance.

Martinez Police, the Contra Costa Vice Squad and San Rafael police detectives Charles S. Brobeck and Bart W. Stinson made the raid at 11:30 p.m. yesterday at the Martinez home on a tip received by Martinez police that the stolen car was in a garage at the residence. They reported making the drug arrests at that time.

At 1:30 a.m. today, police reported, a car with Green, Anderson, Miss Sherman and a 14-year-old juvenile inside arrived at the home and the three arrests were made without resistance. The juvenile was released.

Two other cars arrived at about 2 a.m., police reported. They said they found the billy club and sawed off shotgun on the back seat of Crow's vehicle.

Police reported they fought with Kennedy on the front lawn of the home and inside the home in a living-room before they were able to arrest him.

They reported recovering about $1,500 in stereo equipment and the car at the house.

New West Marin Court Clerk Picked

Nelda Oakley of Stinson Beach has been appointed clerk of the West Marin Justice Court, succeeding Stella Philipscheck of Inverness, who resigned.

Mrs. Oakley worked the past seven years in the Marin County sheriff's department, and in the Sausalito police department before that.

Mrs. Philipscheck had held the clerk's post since June 1966. According to Mrs. David R. Baty, wife of the court's judge, Mrs. Philipscheck no longer wished to work full time, but had no definite plans.

Judge Baty has closed his private law practice in San Rafael and, when not on the West Marin bench, spends much of his time on temporary appointments to other courts. He was hearing cases today in Concord Municipal Court in Contra Costa County, his wife said.

Closing Of Six Schools Ordered

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The city's Board of Education has ordered the closing of six schools that engineers say would be hazardous in an earthquake.

Although they will be open today, the schools are expected to close early next week.

They are Fairmont, Grant, Monroe, Argonne and Webster elementary schools and the main building at Polytechnic High School.

Board members also approved for the November ballot a $56 million bond issue to bring all 63 schools up to state standards. That move still needs approval by the Board of Supervisors.

House Costs Outpace Real Income

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Housing costs to owners and renters rose sharply in the last decade in Sonoma County, but the increase in real income didn't keep pace, according to a Sonoma County Planning Department report.

The report, submitted to the county planning commission yesterday, said rents rose 48.7 per cent and the cost of purchasing a single-family dwelling jumped 32.9 per cent. However, the report said, the county chamber of commerce placed the rise in real income over the past 10 years at only 19.4 per cent.

The figures were contained in the first of three documents aimed at providing the county with a so-called housing element to its general plan. While the first phase delved into general housing problems and goals, the other two reports will analyze demands more carefully and recommend changes to satisfy housing needs.

Yesterday's report, which was passed to the board of supervisors for a hearing Tuesday, also estimated as much as 25 per cent of county residents lived in housing that didn't really meet their needs and that a large influx of college students expected by 1980 would swell housing demands.

The first phase report must be approved by the supervisors in order that the county may continue to qualify for federal funds for general plan work.

Hub Fair Days Set For August 27, 28

The San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce yesterday set its Country Fair Days promotion for Aug. 27 and 28.

According to Ester Squire, chamber secretary, the annual chamber event was previously set for July but was changed because July is a popular vacation month.

Subdivision Dispute To Superior Court

Tiburon Planning Commissioner Allan N. Littman has taken his battle against subdivision of the long controversial Ralph C. Noah property in Tiburon to Marin Superior Court.

Littman, his wife, Caroline, who live at 100 Rolling Hills Road, and their neighbors, Herbert and Beverley Wenig of 65 Rolling Hills Road, have asked for a court order forcing the City of Tiburon to set aside its approval of a lot split and to hold a public hearing on the matter.

A petition filed in superior court maintains that the Littmans and Wenigs were denied equal protection under the law and due process when the city council refused to hold a public hearing on the lot split.

The petition repeats Littman's charge — made at a Tiburon council meeting April 26 — that the map for subdivision of Noah's property at 6 Rolling Hills Road, was signed by former Tiburon Planning Director Wayne E. Moody more than two weeks after Moody left office.

The superior court petition further asks that Noah's house be declared a nuisance and be made to conform to Tiburon zoning requirements. It seeks $10,000 damages from Tiburon, Noah and Tiburon City Engineer Ray M. Foreaker Jr. for "mental suffering and distress."

No hearing date on the petition has been set in superior court.

The Tiburon council approved the lot split April 20, and Noah plans to build another house on the split lot.

The house now on Noah's lot was attacked as a public nuisance in a petition filed three months ago. The city council has continued the matter over the months while conducting hearings on the charge.

Obstetricians Told Lean Days In The Future

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—America's obstetricians were told Thursday there may be unemployment in the profession in the years ahead.

For doctors who "have been shivering in pleasant horror" of ever-growing numbers of babies to deliver "it is time to get realistic," said Donald J. Bogue, director of the Community and Family Study Center in Chicago.

He addressed the final session of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists meeting.

The birth rate in the United States is declining so rapidly that the country will be at a "replacement" level in its population within 10 years, Bogue said.

Two ridiculous gimmicks of the 1940's.

Everyone laughed when they came out with the television.

But everyone really cracked up when we came out with the Volkswagen.

A car with its engine in the back? Its trunk in the front? And its radiator in neither the front nor the back?

It even looked like a joke.

But time marched on.

The television clicked.

The Volkswagen accelerated.

People liked the idea of a car that didn't drink gas like water. Or oil like water.

Or, for that matter, didn't even drink water.

Some strange people even liked the idea that it was strange looking.

In fact, Detroit car makers now like the idea of a VW so much that they decided to make their own.

But even with all those new small cars around, the fate of the bug is still secure.

This is the first year for all of the others.

We've had 23 years of re-runs.

Funds To Delay Bus Fleet

Operation of a new bus fleet by the Golden Gate Bridge District probably will be delayed by the prospect of federal funds.

The fleet, up to 132 new buses plus 20 leased from Greyhound Lines, is supposed to start operating by Dec. 1 of this year.

But a committee of district directors yesterday recommended seeking a 45-day delay in awarding the $5.8 million construction contract to General Motors Corp.

The finance-auditing committee made the recommendation after the district's Washington lobbyist said the Department of Transportation would decide by the end of this month whether the district could get capital grants.

The lobbyist, Richard J. Smart, repeated his predictions made last week that the district could get up to $20 million for its joint bus and ferry system, to cost a total of $30 million.

But the department would share only costs for which contracts still were pending, Smart said, thus the General Motors contract should be held up for the chance of qualifying for federal matching funds.

The GM bid, opened April 27, gave the district 30 days to act, but Bus Transit Mgr. Donald White said a 45-day extension probably could be secured from GM.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring could not estimate the effect of a 45-day delay on the start of bus operations. The effect would depend on what other production GM scheduled in the meantime, he said.

Old-Time Movies Set At Brown's Hall

Old-time movies will be shown at 7:30 p.m. May 15 and 28 at Brown's Hall in Mill Valley. The family theater parties will be sponsored by the Homestead Valley Community Association.

The first movie will be a Harold Lloyd film; the second, a Charlie Chase film. All ages are invited according to Nancy Steinkraus, chairman of the committee, who said there is a nominal fee for the showing.

Behr Describes Medi-Cal Plight

The horns of California's dilemma are "the fiscal bankruptcy of the state and the moral responsibility to support the truly needy," state Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, told the Marin Medical Society last night.

"Medi-Cal is a problem which is inextricably linked with welfare," which in turn "is inextricably linked with unemployment," said Behr. And both welfare and Medi-Cal are "open end programs with closed-end budgets."

Welfare and Medi-Cal costs have increased an average of 22 per cent a year for the last three years, he said, and will total $4.3 billion in the next fiscal year "if we don't do something about it."

The additional cost to counties is estimated at $115 million next year, said the senator.

He promptly qualified these figures, however, by saying that to get accurate figures on Medi-Cal costs is impossible because its "accounting system is simply incredibly inept."

Assembly Bill 949, embodying Gov. Ronald Reagan's program, is "an honest effort to control the rapid growth of the Medi-Cal program," he told the doctors.

The California Medical Association's own plan, which calls for a new 15-member Medi-Cal Authority and a prepayment plan operated by the association, will be carried by state Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Los Angeles, who has introduced a "spot bill" for that purpose. Behr did not say whether he favors the CMA approach over the governor's plan.

Federal legislation in the health care field also is of interest to the medical society, because of which a plan for a medical foundation that could qualify to provide service under any revision of the Medicare program "is No. 1 priority for this year," said Dr. C. Scott Strathairn, society president. He said a special membership meeting on the subject will be held sometime in June.

One Driver Hurt In Crash

One person was injured at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in a three-car accident at Fourth and H streets, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

Bonnie D. Costell, 24, of 20 Theresa Court, Novato, was treated at Marin General Hospital for neck and back strain.

She was the driver in a car involved in a collision with cars driven by Harold Chase, 18, of 541 Shasta Way, Mill Valley, and Harold P. Humphrey, 57, of 64 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo, according to police. All cars were east bound on Fourth, police reported.

Drunken Driving Up In W. Germany

BONN (UPI)—Traffic accidents increased in West Germany by an unusual 14.6 per cent during 1970, mainly as the result of excessive speeds and consumption of alcohol, transportation minister Georg Leber told parliament.

Leber told deputies about one-third of all fatal accidents could be traced directly to misuse of alcohol. For that reason, he recently started a national propaganda campaign to encourage anyone planning to go out on a party to take a taxi instead of his own car.

Funds To Delay Bus Fleet

Operation of a new bus fleet by the Golden Gate Bridge District probably will be delayed by the prospect of federal funds.

The fleet, up to 132 new buses plus 20 leased from Greyhound Lines, is supposed to start operating by Dec. 1 of this year.

But a committee of district directors yesterday recommended seeking a 45-day delay in awarding the $5.8 million construction contract to General Motors Corp.

The finance-auditing committee made the recommendation after the district's Washington lobbyist said the Department of Transportation would decide by the end of this month whether the district could get capital grants.

The lobbyist, Richard J. Smart, repeated his predictions made last week that the district could get up to $20 million for its joint bus and ferry system, to cost a total of $30 million.

But the department would share only costs for which contracts still were pending, Smart said, thus the General Motors contract should be held up for the chance of qualifying for federal matching funds.

The GM bid, opened April 27, gave the district 30 days to act, but Bus Transit Mgr. Donald White said a 45-day extension probably could be secured from GM.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring could not estimate the effect of a 45-day delay on the start of bus operations. The effect would depend on what other production GM scheduled in the meantime, he said.

Old-Time Movies Set At Brown's Hall

Old-time movies will be shown at 7:30 p.m. May 15 and 28 at Brown's Hall in Mill Valley. The family theater parties will be sponsored by the Homestead Valley Community Association.

The first movie will be a Harold Lloyd film; the second, a Charlie Chase film. All ages are invited according to Nancy Steinkraus, chairman of the committee, who said there is a nominal fee for the showing.

Behr Describes Medi-Cal Plight

The horns of California's dilemma are "the fiscal bankruptcy of the state and the moral responsibility to support the truly needy," state Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, told the Marin Medical Society last night.

"Medi-Cal is a problem which is inextricably linked with welfare," which in turn "is inextricably linked with unemployment," said Behr. And both welfare and Medi-Cal are "open end programs with closed-end budgets."

Welfare and Medi-Cal costs have increased an average of 22 per cent a year for the last three years, he said, and will total $4.3 billion in the next fiscal year "if we don't do something about it."

The additional cost to counties is estimated at $115 million next year, said the senator.

He promptly qualified these figures, however, by saying that to get accurate figures on Medi-Cal costs is impossible because its "accounting system is simply incredibly inept."

Assembly Bill 949, embodying Gov. Ronald Reagan's program, is "an honest effort to control the rapid growth of the Medi-Cal program," he told the doctors.

The California Medical Association's own plan, which calls for a new 15-member Medi-Cal Authority and a prepayment plan operated by the association, will be carried by state Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Los Angeles, who has introduced a "spot bill" for that purpose. Behr did not say whether he favors the CMA approach over the governor's plan.

Federal legislation in the health care field also is of interest to the medical society, because of which a plan for a medical foundation that could qualify to provide service under any revision of the Medicare program "is No. 1 priority for this year," said Dr. C. Scott Strathairn, society president. He said a special membership meeting on the subject will be held sometime in June.

One Driver Hurt In Crash

One person was injured at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in a three-car accident at Fourth and H streets, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

Bonnie D. Costell, 24, of 20 Theresa Court, Novato, was treated at Marin General Hospital for neck and back strain.

She was the driver in a car involved in a collision with cars driven by Harold Chase, 18, of 541 Shasta Way, Mill Valley, and Harold P. Humphrey, 57, of 64 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo, according to police. All cars were east bound on Fourth, police reported.

Drunken Driving Up In W. Germany

BONN (UPI)—Traffic accidents increased in West Germany by an unusual 14.6 per cent during 1970, mainly as the result of excessive speeds and consumption of alcohol, transportation minister Georg Leber told parliament.

Leber told deputies about one-third of all fatal accidents could be traced directly to misuse of alcohol. For that reason, he recently started a national propaganda campaign to encourage anyone planning to go out on a party to take a taxi instead of his own car.

Prize Will Be Given For Best Article On VD

The Marin Pharmaceutical Association will give $50 in prize money for the best articles on venereal disease written by Marin youth.

Paul M. Cohen, chairman of the Marin Youth Commission, announced the contest at a meeting of the youth commission Tuesday night. He said interested persons should contact the youth commission office in Room 163 at the Hall of Justice.

The Marin Youth Commission also:

PAKISTAN — Announced that Laurie Packard and and Carol McClure will contact high schools for a Pakistan disaster relief fund raising drive.

DELINQUENCY — Invited youth applicants for two vacancies on the Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission.

SPECIAL MEETING — Decided to meet at 5:30 p.m. next Tuesday at Boitano restaurant in Corte Madera to continue discussing reorganization of the youth commission. Commissioners want more youth representation on the 11-member commission, and a bigger youth voice in choosing youth representatives.

Police, Dissidents Spar In Eugene

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Militant demonstrators protesting the war hurled rocks at police, smashed windows and burned barricades Thursday night and early today on the University of Oregon campus and in downtown Eugene.

Nearly 100 officers finally sealed off a four-block area and then swept through it. One of those arrested reportedly was a newspaper reporter.

The 750 demonstrators had marched off campus following an evening rally, lighted a bonfire with construction barricades and blocked traffic for 10 minutes on a major downtown street before police arrived.

The demonstrators then moved into the Eugene Mall area, where they tossed rocks through windows on two stores and a military recruiting center. Police dispersed the crowd with pepper-fog —a substance like tear gas.

As the crowd headed back toward campus, windows were smashed in two stores and a bank. Demonstrators gathered in front of the ROTC buildings, hurling rocks through several windows. They also smashed spotlights in front of the building and on two state police cars.

Police fired tear gas cannisters into the crowd, and rocks were hurled back at the 100 state and city policemen and sheriff's deputies.

The crowd then appeared to break up, but early today about 250 persons gathered again outside the ROTC building. When Police Chief Dale Allen, who was heckled in an earlier attempt to reason with the protesters, urged them to break up, several persons threw stones at him.

Sheriff's deputies wielding clubs immediately charged into the crowd and drove it several blocks down the street. Police told bystanders to disperse or they would be arrested.

Crowds of 75 to 150 persons staged a number of hit-and-run nuisance disturbances during the day. Police used tear gas and physical force to clear them out of a draft office and chase them away from the county courthouse. It was the second straight day of antiway demonstrations in the city and at the university, which has an enrollment of about 14,000.

There were 36 persons arrested and six injured before police announced that order had been restored. Four of those hurt were policemen and two were protestors.

Man, Daughter Hurt In Crash

A Tiburon man and his daughter have been treated at Marin General Hospital for injuries suffered in a two-car collision at Solano and Paradise drives in Tiburon.

Edward Gibson, 50, of F-41, Hilarita Housing, was treated for back sprain while his daughter, Natalie, 8, suffered a bruised forehead and lower back sprain.

Tiburon sheriff's deputies said Gibson's pickup truck collided with a car driven by Vicente Almirantearena, 28, of 27 Woodland Avenue, Apt. 4, San Rafael, at 6:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Keyholes Vandalized

Vandals poured liquid solder into the key holes at offices of Volunteer Bureau of Marin and Boy Scouts of America sometime during the night Wednesday, police reported. The offices are located at 725 A Street in San Rafael. Damage was estimated at about $25.

New Protests Told But Probe Is Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Declaring that their "spring offensive" to shut down the nation's capital was just a "warmup," antiwar activists today began preparing a new round of protests this summer.

"If Richard Nixon thinks this week was hot," spokesman Rennie Davis said Thursday, "wait until next time; this was only a warmup."

Before the leaders of the May Day tribe and the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice met to plan a new round of activities, the justice department Thursday said it would empanel a grand jury to investigate a possible conspiracy to incite riots.

Deputy Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said the grand jury would be formed after Davis and John R. Froines appeared at a preliminary hearing May 12.

Davis, Froines and Abbie Hoffman, who was arrested in New York City, were the most frequent spokesmen for the 18 days of antiwar protests.

Hoffman said Thursday night in Newark, N.J., that the grand jury will indict up to 50 people.

Davis said demonstration leaders would reveal Saturday the preliminary plans for the summer protests —probably centered around July 4 —with final details to be worked out at a meeting in June, possibly at Madison, Wis.

The protesters, worn out by nearly 13,000 arrests and the maneuvers of 5,100 police and 10,000 federal troops, ended their efforts when a small band of demonstrators became lost in Rock Creek Park while trying to find the South Vietnamese Embassy. The final 4,000 troops left for their home bases.

Companion demonstrations that flared in at least eight cities and many college campuses Wednesday petered out except for isolated incidents at Boston, Madison, Wis., East Los Aangeles, Calif., and Eugene, Ore.

A quiet, three-hour standoff in Boston ended abruptly when police swept away 1,000 demonstrators in a charge with fists and clubs. About 50 students ended a two-day sit-in on the campus of Kent State University that forced officials to close a classroom- office building housing the ROTC.

Dr. Carl McIntire, a fundamentalist radio preacher, was broadcasting appeals for his supporters to join Saturday in a "Patriots' March for Victory." McIntire estimated a crowd of 100,000. Police said they were preparing for 25,000.

Meanwhile, a White House official says reports of innocent people being arrested along with antiwar demonstrators during the Washington protests were grossly exaggerated.

The official, who circulated both by automobile and helicopter throughtout the District of Columbia area during the height of the protests Monday and Tuesday, characterized the protests as widespread disobedience in which the demonstrators were setting fires, accosting women on the streets, and placing automobiles, bodies and other obstacles in traffic lanes.

He said President Nixon was "totally satisfied" with the way police and other law enforcement agencies reacted to the extraordinary circumstances.

An Especially Big Mother's Day Sunday

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Mother's Day is an especially big day of the year for Mrs. Rita Davidson of Novato. Her family consists of 13 children and three grandchilren, and 10 of them will celebrate the day in her honor Sunday around the family table.

Now divorced, Mrs. Davidson is proud that her two eldest sons, both Army helicopter pilots, volunteered to serve in Vietnam. A married daughter living in Texas will also miss the family gathering.

From a military family, Rita was born in New York City, and when the WAVES were organized in 1942, she was one of the first to join. She was stationed in Oklahoma when she met her former husband, S/M Sgt. Frank L. Davidson, who was then serving in the Navy. When the Army Air Force was formed, Sergeant Davidson became a member of the Air-Sea Rescue Squadron.

Their first child was born in Kansas and Mrs. Davidson laughingly says the doctor told her then that she possibly would have no more children. She added that every child they had was planned.

The family moved to Novato in 1954 and bought their present home. Calling Novato home, they first lived here until Sergeant Davidson was transferred to Newfoundland in 1963.

At that time, the family included 12 children and a German shepherd dog.

THE FAMILY bought a van-type bus and headed across country. Rita Davidson related the stories about the gas station operator who couldn't believe that that many children could be filing out of the bus, the motel-hotel operator in Washington, D.C., who first said he couldn't accommodate them but had them drive behind the building and go in a back door when he found out that they had two children still in diapers, and the "wonderful" motel operator in Fallon, Nev., who said if they had the courage to travel cross-country with that many children would $15 be too much to charge for the family of 14?

The youngest child, Teresa, now 6 years old, was born in Newfoundland.

It was while they were in Newfoundland, that Jim paid his own way to New York and joined the Army. Mrs. Davidson related that the New York newspapers wanted to interview him because it was at the time of the first draftcard burnings, but he didn't want to take the time. She says he now feels perhaps he should have taken that time. Jim was in the Cambodian invasion and has received the Purple Heart, two Silver Stars, a Bronze Star, Distinguished Flying Cross and commendation medals.

Steve has also received the Distinguished Flying Cross, Bronze Star and commendation medals. Both of them have been shot down several times, their mother said.

"I'm very patriotic," Mrs. Davidson says, "and when the flag goes by, or I hear the 'Star Spangled Banner,' I get chills. I feel that it is a privilege to serve our country."

Does she worry about her sons being in the war zones? She quotes her son Jim as saying, "Pick up your paper and see the number of accidents on Highway 101. I could be driving down the highway and some drunken driver could get me. I'm doing something good for my country."

THE FAMILY came back to Novato in 1968, traveling by trailer. "It was wonderful, for the first time there were no children in diapers," Mrs. Davidson said.

Now living with her in the modest home in Novato, are nine of the children. Five of them are students at Our Lady of Loretto School. Teresa is 6; Barbara, 8; John, 9; Suzanne, 11, and Cynthia, 12.

Alan, 14, is a student at Sinaloa Junior High School and Dennis, 15, Kathleen, 17, and Rosemary, 18, attend San Marin High School.

Two of her daughters are married. Mrs. Dale Horn lives in Las Vegas and Mrs. Lawrence Frederick lives in nederland, Tex. Mrs. Frederick and her husband and daughter, 3-year-old Christine, are visiting Mrs. Davidson this week.

WITH THE large family and only one car, it takes two trips to get the family to Mass on Sunday. And Mrs. Davidson, who works with communications as a telephone operator at Hamilton Air Force Base, tries to arrange her time to participate in the youngsters' activities. John and Alan are both involved in Little League baseball and Dennis plays on the lacrosse team with the Novato Recreation Department.

Kathleen and Rosemary are both working part-time, Kathleen with the county library and Rosemary with the county clerk's office. She will be working fulltime this summer. Mrs. Davidson said she didn't know what they would do without the new Marin transit bus.

"Please tell people how much we appreciate it," she said.

Rosemary doesn't drive, she said, so it would be impossible for her to work without transportation. The bus stops in front of San Marin High School and she goes directly to work, Mrs. Davidson said.

This active, blue-eyed woman, who weighs not much more than 100 pounds, is recording secretary of the Novato Business and Professional Women's Club, a member of Our Lady of Loretto Parish Guild since 1958, vice regent of Catholic Daughters of America and a member of Marin Parents Without Partners.

Inventing A World For Children

TWO SMILING faces, one on a doll with a beanbag body and the other on a little girl, resulted in the doll being put on the market. The girl is one of several hundred children observed every day by employees of the world's largest toy company at its plant in Hawthorne.

By JOAN LISETOR

Unsuspecting little children play in a room unaware that a team of psychologists, engineers and other highly trained persons are studying their reactions to toys behind oneway glass. The children's acceptance or rejection of the toys play a part in shaping the course of world events according to the philosophies of Dale Franklin, the toy development advisor for the largest manufacturer of toys in the world.

"I'm the world's oldest paid kid," said youthful-looking Franklin, who has been with the Mattel toy company for six years, as he spread toys around the I-J Women's Section office.

He says that as many as 350 children a day play in the room at the plant in Hawthorne, at least two at a time, and the room is usually bare except for the toys.

"The children are observed visually and vocally," the Louisiana-born Franklin explains, "and often what we thought would happen doesn't."

The ideas for toys often come from outside sources, Franklin explains. The ideal for one of Mattel's hottest items at the moment, a top that whizzes without a string, "just came in a brown envelope from a guy in Missouri."

"Most new toys are a basic idea with something new added to it," says Franklin. "The kids of today are more sophisticated and not happy with just a string and a bag."

It is not just television that has made them that way, he says. He believes that commercials on television rather than make a child want more, make him more discriminatory.

Franklin, who says he often sees and hears 100 ideas for new toys in a day, believes in creative play, toys that make it fun to learn, but he also stresses that a child should have toys he can just sit and have fun with.

Being involved in the earliest development of a toy, Franklin must also decide if it can be made durably at a reasonable price.

"There is no more expensive toy than the one that is not played with — even if it only costs 50 cents," says Franklin.

His firm has at its disposal every conceivable type of scientinst, says Franklin, who liked mechanical toys as a child. From these highly skilled persons come a wide variety of toys, but each parent must know his own child and buy toys that suit him.

Some Tips For Your Baby-Sitter

If you are worried about leaving your child or children with a baby-sitter on the basis that the child may be injured and the baby-sitter may not know what to do, the Council on Family Health has some suggestions.

The council, a nonprofit organization sponsored as a public service by manufacturers of medicines, advises that you prepare a list of first aid tips and leave it near the telephone along with emergency telephone numbers, including that of the doctor.

If a child is injured and bleeding, the council suggests that a clean cloth immediately be pressed directly over the wound. Advise the sitter, the council says, to bear down firmly, not relieving the pressure even if the dressing gets saturated — simply add more layers of cloth for at least 10 minutes.

Mrs. Karlovic Is Tot School Head

Mrs. Martin J. Karlovic of Novato has been elected President of the Novato Parents Nursery School.

MRS. MARTIN KARLOVIC
Heads Novato Nursery School

Sandra Karlovic says the organization's purpose is "to provide an atmosphere in which a child is accepted for himself. It is a place where parents learn to understand how children really are and to help each child develop in his own way, gradually learning the elementary demands and pleasures of group living, she explains.

The club is sponsoring a booklet for families, "Fun Places for Marin Families," available from members and local bookstores. The club plans to form an alumni association requested by past members. Mrs. Raymond Johnston is chairman. Also planned by the association is a wine-tasting and auction in October, Mrs. Karlovic says.

MRS. KARLOVIC and her husband, a division engineer for the western division, Southern Pacific, are the parents of Stephen, 10; Karen, 9 and Katherine, 4. They have lived in Marin County two years.

The new president was born in Little Rock, Ark., and was graduated from Henderson State College in Arkansas, in home economics. She taught third, fifth and sixth grades in Dallas, Tex., and Pine Bluff, Ark.

She is a member of the American Association of University Women, and served as a vice president of the Mesquite Branch in Dallas, Tex. She is also a member of Friends of St. Anthony, St. Anthony of Padua Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, taught catechism for five years and served as CCD coordinator this year.

HER HOBBIES and interests include reading, consumer education and collecting railroad memorabilia — particularly lighting devices, antique oil-burning switch lamps and oil-burning drawbridge clearance lights. She has in her collection an arcade lamp from the Third and Townsend station in San Francisco, circa 1915.

"I also have an old cotton belt rule book which includes a rule prohibiting the wearing of red clothing," Mrs. Karlovic said.

Officers serving with Mrs. Karlovic are Mmes. Robert Yates, vice president; Robert Ruzick, secretary; Richard Grosser, treasurer, and Jay Stryker, membership chairman.

Mrs. Davidson related that the New York newspapers wanted to interview him because it was at the time of the first draftcard burnings, but he didn't want to take the time. She says he now feels perhaps he should have taken that time. Jim was in the Cambodian invasion and has received the Purple Heart, two Silver Stars, a Bronze Star, Distinguished Flying Cross and commendation medals.

Steve has also received the Distinguished Flying Cross, Bronze Star and commendation medals. Both of them have been shot down several times, their mother said.

"I'm very patriotic," Mrs. Davidson says, "and when the flag goes by, or I hear the 'Star Spangled Banner,' I get chills. I feel that it is a privilege to serve our country."

Does she worry about her sons being in the war zones? She quotes her son Jim as saying, "Pick up your paper and see the number of accidents on Highway 101. I could be driving down the highway and some drunken driver could get me. I'm doing something good for my country."

THE FAMILY came back to Novato in 1968, traveling by trailer. "It was wonderful, for the first time there were no children in diapers," Mrs. Davidson said.

Now living with her in the modest home in Novato, are nine of the children. Five of them are students at Our Lady of Loretto School. Teresa is 6; Barbara, 8; John, 9; Suzanne, 11, and Cynthia, 12.

Alan, 14, is a student at Sinaloa Junior High School and Dennis, 15, Kathleen, 17, and Rosemary, 18, attend San Marin High School.

Two of her daughters are married. Mrs. Dale Horn lives in Las Vegas and Mrs. Lawrence Frederick lives in nederland, Tex. Mrs. Frederick and her husband and daughter, 3-year-old Christine, are visiting Mrs. Davidson this week.

WITH THE large family and only one car, it takes two trips to get the family to Mass on Sunday. And Mrs. Davidson, who works with communications as a telephone operator at Hamilton Air Force Base, tries to arrange her time to participate in the youngsters' activities. John and Alan are both involved in Little League baseball and Dennis plays on the lacrosse team with the Novato Recreation Department.

Kathleen and Rosemary are both working part-time, Kathleen with the county library and Rosemary with the county clerk's office. She will be working fulltime this summer. Mrs. Davidson said she didn't know what they would do without the new Marin transit bus.

"Please tell people how much we appreciate it," she said.

Rosemary doesn't drive, she said, so it would be impossible for her to work without transportation. The bus stops in front of San Marin High School and she goes directly to work, Mrs. Davidson said.

This active, blue-eyed woman, who weighs not much more than 100 pounds, is recording secretary of the Novato Business and Professional Women's Club, a member of Our Lady of Loretto Parish Guild since 1958, vice regent of Catholic Daughters of America and a member of Marin Parents Without Partners.

Inventing A World For Children

TWO SMILING faces, one on a doll with a beanbag body and the other on a little girl, resulted in the doll being put on the market. The girl is one of several hundred children observed every day by employees of the world's largest toy company at its plant in Hawthorne.

By JOAN LISETOR

Unsuspecting little children play in a room unaware that a team of psychologists, engineers and other highly trained persons are studying their reactions to toys behind oneway glass. The children's acceptance or rejection of the toys play a part in shaping the course of world events according to the philosophies of Dale Franklin, the toy development advisor for the largest manufacturer of toys in the world.

"I'm the world's oldest paid kid," said youthful-looking Franklin, who has been with the Mattel toy company for six years, as he spread toys around the I-J Women's Section office.

He says that as many as 350 children a day play in the room at the plant in Hawthorne, at least two at a time, and the room is usually bare except for the toys.

"The children are observed visually and vocally," the Louisiana-born Franklin explains, "and often what we thought would happen doesn't."

The ideas for toys often come from outside sources, Franklin explains. The ideal for one of Mattel's hottest items at the moment, a top that whizzes without a string, "just came in a brown envelope from a guy in Missouri."

"Most new toys are a basic idea with something new added to it," says Franklin. "The kids of today are more sophisticated and not happy with just a string and a bag."

It is not just television that has made them that way, he says. He believes that commercials on television rather than make a child want more, make him more discriminatory.

Franklin, who says he often sees and hears 100 ideas for new toys in a day, believes in creative play, toys that make it fun to learn, but he also stresses that a child should have toys he can just sit and have fun with.

Being involved in the earliest development of a toy, Franklin must also decide if it can be made durably at a reasonable price.

"There is no more expensive toy than the one that is not played with — even if it only costs 50 cents," says Franklin.

His firm has at its disposal every conceivable type of scientinst, says Franklin, who liked mechanical toys as a child. From these highly skilled persons come a wide variety of toys, but each parent must know his own child and buy toys that suit him.

Some Tips For Your Baby-Sitter

If you are worried about leaving your child or children with a baby-sitter on the basis that the child may be injured and the baby-sitter may not know what to do, the Council on Family Health has some suggestions.

The council, a nonprofit organization sponsored as a public service by manufacturers of medicines, advises that you prepare a list of first aid tips and leave it near the telephone along with emergency telephone numbers, including that of the doctor.

If a child is injured and bleeding, the council suggests that a clean cloth immediately be pressed directly over the wound. Advise the sitter, the council says, to bear down firmly, not relieving the pressure even if the dressing gets saturated — simply add more layers of cloth for at least 10 minutes.

Mrs. Karlovic Is Tot School Head

Mrs. Martin J. Karlovic of Novato has been elected President of the Novato Parents Nursery School.

MRS. MARTIN KARLOVIC
Heads Novato Nursery School

Sandra Karlovic says the organization's purpose is "to provide an atmosphere in which a child is accepted for himself. It is a place where parents learn to understand how children really are and to help each child develop in his own way, gradually learning the elementary demands and pleasures of group living, she explains.

The club is sponsoring a booklet for families, "Fun Places for Marin Families," available from members and local bookstores. The club plans to form an alumni association requested by past members. Mrs. Raymond Johnston is chairman. Also planned by the association is a wine-tasting and auction in October, Mrs. Karlovic says.

MRS. KARLOVIC and her husband, a division engineer for the western division, Southern Pacific, are the parents of Stephen, 10; Karen, 9 and Katherine, 4. They have lived in Marin County two years.

The new president was born in Little Rock, Ark., and was graduated from Henderson State College in Arkansas, in home economics. She taught third, fifth and sixth grades in Dallas, Tex., and Pine Bluff, Ark.

She is a member of the American Association of University Women, and served as a vice president of the Mesquite Branch in Dallas, Tex. She is also a member of Friends of St. Anthony, St. Anthony of Padua Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, taught catechism for five years and served as CCD coordinator this year.

HER HOBBIES and interests include reading, consumer education and collecting railroad memorabilia — particularly lighting devices, antique oil-burning switch lamps and oil-burning drawbridge clearance lights. She has in her collection an arcade lamp from the Third and Townsend station in San Francisco, circa 1915.

"I also have an old cotton belt rule book which includes a rule prohibiting the wearing of red clothing," Mrs. Karlovic said.

HELEN HELP US!

Gift From A Man Overseas Just Doesn't Quite Ring True

DEAR HELEN:

I met a girl in my modeling class who had on a ring just like mine. I thought mine was unique as my boy friend in the Army said he'd had an old man carve it — and it meant undying love.

It turned out HER boy friend also sent her this ring and from the same place. So we checked names. You guessed it. Same guy!

I wrote and asked him how many other rings he'd distributed, and he was honest. He said fellows overseas are very lonely, so to keep girls writing they say some pretty affectionate things. And besides, you feel like you're "in love" with all of them, being so far away and never knowing when you may get killed.

Then he said I was Number 1, but he was writing to four other girls, and he doesn't expect any of us to stay home and wait, but he hopes I'll be the one who's waiting at the airport for him when he gets home.

Should I believe him; show his letter to the other girl so she'll butt out; ask him to give me the names of all four so we can start a fan club, or date other guys? — ONE FIFTH OF A GIRL FRIEND

DEAR ONE FIFTH:

"No" to the first three questions, "Yes" to the fourth. — H.

P.S. But keep writing to him!

DEAR HELEN:

I sure feel for that girl who said if you're honest with parents — it's your neck.

My father is a third degree man. He thinks he is being tactful, but he's pretty obvious when he starts out talking football to my boy friends and ends up asking them if they've ever had a ticket for speeding, and have they smoked marijuana?

Well, when a guy is up against this kind of thing, smart ones know there's only one safe way to go: Lie! Not that I'd date a real wild guy but, after all, they're human.

However, Bud, the fellow I like best, is Honest (capital H.) He said, "Sure, Mr. B. . . , I've tried pot, and I took some uppers once to get me through finals, but I didn't like them . . ."

Whammo! I am not allowed to date this great guy. My dad considers anyone a dope fiend if he's even smelled the stuff. Bud doesn't smoke but, like almost every other student, he's tried pot.

Parents are always feeling sorry for themselves because their children don't tell them the truth. How can you confide in someone who uses your words against you? — D.B.

DEAR D.:

Good question. And one many parents should heed!

Early on, children learn to avoid trouble at home by telling uptight adults only what they want to hear.

It's a wise parent who listens without condemnation. He may hear more than he really wants to know, but that knowledge shouldn't frighten him, if communication leads to mutual trust and respect.

P.S.: NOTE FOR MR. B.: Bud leveled with you and that's a big compliment. If you can't tell the difference between a "dope fiend" and a reformed experimenter, you'd better invite him back for some more "honesty" sessions. You need them! — H.

Not Protein Alone

Protein foods are important to help build body tissues and to repair and maintain them. But, like the other necessary nutrients, protein cannot function by itself. The body also needs, every day, nutrients from a wide variety of other foods such as fruits and vegetables, breads and cereals, and milk and dairy foods.

"You'll know what toys to buy if you listen to what your child is saying," says Franklin. "If he is playing 'the mad scientist' it is obvious what type of toys he will enjoy, but if he is a passive child, not curious about what is inside, he will be happiest with toys that require no involvement. Let the child help buy his own toys.

"A child will simulate adult activities and play with replicas of the adult world in miniature. Toy trends are a reflection of the adult world."

As an example, he explains that the company that made erector sets began after the Depression when the country was beginning construction of new buildings. That company has since gone out of business, he said.

The current trend is educational and also a reflection of trends back to nature. Cuddling dolls are also making a comeback, he says.

Mattel has not made military toys in about 10 years, Franklin says, because the firm does not want to make toys that are injurious to children — or toys that will not sell.

What sells — and sells big — are Hot Wheels, model cars that run on plastic tracks. They sell, Franklin says, because children collect cars today as they always have.

"But today's child needs competition and interplay," he says.

With Hot Wheels he can either play alone or race a friend, he explains.

"Mattel's philosophy is that competition can be constructive and facing it in play situations makes it easier to face in real life," says Franklin. "Children need relaxation also, which is something parents sometimes forget."

Every toy that the firm puts on the market represents an input of hundreds of hours, Franklin says.

Why so much emphasis on toys?

"Nothing guarantees a frustrated adulthood more than a frustrated childhood," he says.

Newcomers Head Likes 'Exploring'

Judy Wilbur and her husband, a sales representative for Interlake, Inc., have lived in Sonoma County for 19 months. They have three sons, Christopher 9, David, 7, and Robert, 5.

Mrs. Wilbur says that the purpose of the Petaluma Newcomers Club is to welcome and bring together in friendly fellowship, women who are new to Petaluma and to stimulate their interest in the civic, moral and educational aspects of the community.

A variety of activities are planned for the coming year. Included are a candle shop and winery tour; a day at Candlestick Park, a day at the races at Golden Gate Fields, sponsorship of a local candidates night and an annual Christmas dinner dance.

A native of Salt Lake City, Utah, the new president is a graduate of Ogden High School and attended the University of Utah. Her other club memberships are Liberty Valley Women's Golf Association; Valley Little League Women's Auxiliary and the Petaluma Parents Cooperative Nursery School. Golf, bicycling and playing bridge are other interests.

Serving with Mrs. Wilbur on the board of directors are Mmes. James Pador, first vice president; Steven Webb, second vice president; Jackie Gates, recording secretary; Herbert Morris, corresponding secretary and David Weir, treasurer.

Society's Reversal Is Shown In A Saga Of Free Lemonade

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

The other day I observed a young man with long blond hair seated on the sidewalk at the intersection of a downtown street. He held a crayoned sign which read "free lemonade." Next to him on the ground was a gallon bottle of yellow liquid and a stack of paper cups.

More risible than the sight of this young man and his gift venture were the reactions of the passers-by. Many just smiled and shook their heads as if to say "Oh brother, what next?"

Comments varied as people turned down his offer and walked away.

"I wonder what's really in that bottle."

"He's probably flipped out on drugs and wants to 'turn on' the world — for free, no less!"

"He must be up to something!"

"Probably a nut house escapee."

"What's he doing down here?"

"Someone ought to call the police!"

"No way man!"

"Never poison me!"

Finally, I approached the young man and asked how his project was going and why he was giving away lemonade.

He answered that he simply wanted to give something to his fellow man and that he had purposely come to that section of the city because these were the people who needed to know that there were whites capable of "giving." Then he offered me a cup of his free drink.

Although I was somewhat sympathetic to his cause, if indeed, his mission was sincere, I had to admit that I did not have a taste for lemonade at that particular moment. Just like the majority of people observed, I was extremely skeptical.

It's interesting to note that there was a time when the word "free" (anything) would have emitted an immediate positive response. But, fortunately and/or unfortunately, most people, especially those with limited incomes have been "taken" so many times by the free come-on that they have swung to the other extreme and accepted the fact that in our society there is little or nothing that is actually free — you pay in one way or another.

Today the word "free" is almost an automatic turn off. No longer is it the enticement that it used to be. Even Madison Avenue has had to come up with some reverse psychology for selling goods. They now state that "It costs more because it does more" or "You get what you pay for."

Yes, the pendulum has swung to the other extreme. And even though there are many people who still would be very pleased to receive something for nothing (perhaps this is a part of our society's nature) most of us have become fairly calloused, and especially for consumer protection we have tended to rephrase an old saying — the best things in life are very probably not free."

"But today's child needs competition and interplay," he says.

With Hot Wheels he can either play alone or race a friend, he explains.

"Mattel's philosophy is that competition can be constructive and facing it in play situations makes it easier to face in real life," says Franklin. "Children need relaxation also, which is something parents sometimes forget."

Every toy that the firm puts on the market represents an input of hundreds of hours, Franklin says.

Why so much emphasis on toys?

"Nothing guarantees a frustrated adulthood more than a frustrated childhood," he says.

Newcomers Head Likes 'Exploring'

Judy Wilbur and her husband, a sales representative for Interlake, Inc., have lived in Sonoma County for 19 months. They have three sons, Christopher 9, David, 7, and Robert, 5.

Mrs. Wilbur says that the purpose of the Petaluma Newcomers Club is to welcome and bring together in friendly fellowship, women who are new to Petaluma and to stimulate their interest in the civic, moral and educational aspects of the community.

A variety of activities are planned for the coming year. Included are a candle shop and winery tour; a day at Candlestick Park, a day at the races at Golden Gate Fields, sponsorship of a local candidates night and an annual Christmas dinner dance.

A native of Salt Lake City, Utah, the new president is a graduate of Ogden High School and attended the University of Utah. Her other club memberships are Liberty Valley Women's Golf Association; Valley Little League Women's Auxiliary and the Petaluma Parents Cooperative Nursery School. Golf, bicycling and playing bridge are other interests.

Serving with Mrs. Wilbur on the board of directors are Mmes. James Pador, first vice president; Steven Webb, second vice president; Jackie Gates, recording secretary; Herbert Morris, corresponding secretary and David Weir, treasurer.

Society's Reversal Is Shown In A Saga Of Free Lemonade

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

The other day I observed a young man with long blond hair seated on the sidewalk at the intersection of a downtown street. He held a crayoned sign which read "free lemonade." Next to him on the ground was a gallon bottle of yellow liquid and a stack of paper cups.

More risible than the sight of this young man and his gift venture were the reactions of the passers-by. Many just smiled and shook their heads as if to say "Oh brother, what next?"

Comments varied as people turned down his offer and walked away.

"I wonder what's really in that bottle."

"He's probably flipped out on drugs and wants to 'turn on' the world — for free, no less!"

"He must be up to something!"

"Probably a nut house escapee."

"What's he doing down here?"

"Someone ought to call the police!"

"No way man!"

"Never poison me!"

Finally, I approached the young man and asked how his project was going and why he was giving away lemonade.

He answered that he simply wanted to give something to his fellow man and that he had purposely come to that section of the city because these were the people who needed to know that there were whites capable of "giving." Then he offered me a cup of his free drink.

Although I was somewhat sympathetic to his cause, if indeed, his mission was sincere, I had to admit that I did not have a taste for lemonade at that particular moment. Just like the majority of people observed, I was extremely skeptical.

It's interesting to note that there was a time when the word "free" (anything) would have emitted an immediate positive response. But, fortunately and/or unfortunately, most people, especially those with limited incomes have been "taken" so many times by the free come-on that they have swung to the other extreme and accepted the fact that in our society there is little or nothing that is actually free — you pay in one way or another.

Today the word "free" is almost an automatic turn off. No longer is it the enticement that it used to be. Even Madison Avenue has had to come up with some reverse psychology for selling goods. They now state that "It costs more because it does more" or "You get what you pay for."

Yes, the pendulum has swung to the other extreme. And even though there are many people who still would be very pleased to receive something for nothing (perhaps this is a part of our society's nature) most of us have become fairly calloused, and especially for consumer protection we have tended to rephrase an old saying — the best things in life are very probably not free."

Sculptor Cited For Unusual Head Gear

Sculptor Elaine Galen of Hampton, New Jersey, recently was cited for designing a "Jawbone Helmet" made out of stainless steel. The "adjustable sculpture" covers the entire face but for an eye slit and the jawbone.

Miss Galen, who received a Design in Steel Award, said the helmet was designed to be exhibited either as a static piece or worn. Wearing it, she said, extends the aesthetic responses beyond seeing or touching.

Knits Taking Fresh Look

Fashion is on a big knit-kick this season, and the look comes up fresh and new and full of energy.

As softly shaped as the simple tank top, knits get new dimension with stripes, jacquard and herringbone patterns, and silky looks. Even space dyes show up in knits.

The ribs — from the skinniest to the newer spaced rib — are still being served up as the hottest fashion item for spring and summer.

The spaced rib skirt or dress appears, and has great impact teamed with ribs or smooth textures.

Smooth cotton knit tops are headed for popularity in shirt and crew neck styles. A long-sleeve, V-neck version is seen at night with skirts or pants.

The close of another school year is fast approaching. And that makes it a time when administrators, teachers, students, parents and the public all look back to assess educational programs. The Independent-Journal Marin Magazine joins that trend tomorrow with two special reports — a study of Belvedere's unusual St. Stephen's Parish Day School, written by Becky Matson with photographs by Margy Rutledge, and a feature on Tamalpais High School's training classes in food services and the clothing industry, text and photos by Gil Pearson.

Then, in its popular series of profiles of prominent personalities of the area, the Saturday supplement tomorrow goes outside the boundaries of Marin County to cover a Southern Sonoman. Reporter Bonnie Bard has written a study of Thomas H. McGrath, the new Sonoma State College president. And finally there is Editor Don Keown's story of octogenarian Frank G. Bauman of Corte Madera, who at 88 has two hobbies — fishing, which is not surprising, and embroidery, which is most unusual and surprising.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

South Just Too Hungry; Should Halt Heart Collecting Sooner

Many years ago I decided never to point out that a bridge hand resembles life itself. It sounds so pompous to say "In bridge, as in life. . ." So I won't say anything about all the trouble we take to do exactly the wrong thing. Not a word.

THE FINESSE

South won the first trick with the ten of hearts, drew three rounds of trumps and then carefully ran the rest of the hearts in order to discard the ten of clubs from his hand. South heaved a sigh of satisfaction since now his slam depended only on winning either of two finesses.

Declarer tried the diamond finesse first, losing to the king. West shrugged his shoulders helplessly and returned a diamond. South had to win with the ace of diamonds, overtaking dummy's jack.

South next entered dummy with a trump and tried the club finesse. This lost also, and South was down one. South was not bitter. "If it were raining good luck," he remarked amiably, "I'd be caught with only a sieve in my hand."

North had a different opinion. "If it were raining luck," he grumbled, "you'd be asleep. Just as you were on this hand."

ONE TOO MANY

South threw his slam away when he cashed one heart too many. He should stop after taking three rounds of hearts (and three rounds of trumps).

Declarer then leads a club from dummy and tries a finesse with the queen. West wins with the king but cannot make a safe return. Either a club or a diamond gives declarer a free finesse for his 12th trick. South can then get to dummy with a trump to discard his only loser on dummy's last heart.

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Jack Weeks of Dallas has an idea he says would keep the eyes of space travelers on Texas day and night.

Weeks wants to circle the state's borders with sodium vapor lights. Another kind of high visibility marker would be installed for daytime identification, then astronauts could watch Texas day and night.

School Bond Issue Gets Riles' Nod

OAKLAND (UPI)—State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles endorses a May 18 Oakland School District bond issue, the "Yes on A" campaign said today.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"A New Leaf" — A delightful comedy about a penniless middleaged playboy who is forced to acquire a rich wife quickly. His choice is a botonist who has the social graces of a country hick. He has devious plans to get control of her money and that is when the fun begins.

"Out-Of-Towners" — Refreshingly funny spoof on the big city life is glimpsed through hilarious misadventures of a small city businessman who takes his wife with him for his final job interview in New York City.

"Tora, Tora, Tora" — Impressive dramatization of the attack on Pearl Harbor, seen from both the American and Japanese point of view. Excellent cast, amazing photography, well worth seeing.

"Wild Child" — Excellent semi-documentary based on case history about the problems of teaching an 11-year-old boy to live with people after living as an animal in the forest of France.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Butch Cassidy and the Sun Dance Kid" — A deft sophisticated comedy about two bandits. Imaginative camera work, wonderful score, witty performances. Very violent ending.

"Lawrence of Arabia" — Reissue of magnificent production telling the story of T. E. Lawrence, an English soldier who led the revolt of Bedouins against the Turks during World War I.

"Little Big Man" — Excellent tragicomic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by a 121-year-old ex-gunfighter. Very violent and bloody but unusual and entertaining. Some sex.

"Love Story" — Film is pure romantic escapism and an old fashioned simple love story. Acting is exceptional and some tasteless language mars an otherwise beautiful portrayal.

"Patton" — Excellent characterization by George C. Scott who portrays an indomitable spirit that could achieve its destiny only in wartime. Strong film makes use of violence and profanity.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Alice's Restaurant" — Episodic treatment of true life happening in a commune. Tells of uninhibited sex life and indulgence in "pot" harming only themselves, yet searching for happiness.

"Derby" — A documentary aout the roller derby, one of the roughest professional sports. Film deals with personal lives of the men and women who participate. Rating is due to foul language and love scenes. (Boxoffice Magazine).

"Woodstock" — A three-hour documentary film record of the three-day rock musical held in August 1969 with an audience of 500,000 young people. Love making, nudity and foul language abundant.

ADULTS ONLY

"Diary of a Mad Housewife" — Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage in New York. A good comedy with sex and dialogue that is very frank.

"Gimme Shelter" — Documentary of the free concert in Altamont with the "Rolling Stones" and the murder that occurred when Hell's Angels were hired to police the affair. The language used, violence, nudity and sex shown will make some people wince.

"I Love My Wife" — Stylish comedy about an empty life, told in terms of sex. A doctor whose wife has grown fat and boring, satisfies his desires indiscriminately and answers to no one. Frank sex scenes and cursing.

"Loving" — Quiet desperation of suburban life is artfully explored in this story of a commercial artist living on the brink of disaster. A lewd escapade at a party brings matters to a shocking conclusion. Extremely frank language and sex scenes.

"M.A.S.H" — Nothing escapes the mockery of this ribald blood soaked comedy of wartime Korea. Several scenes are as gruesome as they are funny. Sex, nudity and cursing make this a very adult satire.

"Owl and the Pussycat" — Racy adult comedy about a prostitute and a shy author. Some shocking obscenities and sex scenes.

Williams Play Set At Tam High

An "environmental theater" production of Tennessee William's "Camino Real," with action taking place all around the audience, will be staged today and tomorrow and next Thursday through May 15 at Tamalpais High School.

Seating is limited to 70 because the audience will sit in a plaza in front of a Latin American hotel.

The cast and production crew, directed by Daniel E. Caldwell, will nearly match the audience in size — 65 students and four teachers are required.

Assisting Caldwell will be four theater professionals: sound technician Daniel Duggan, makeup expert Paul Willis, set designer Jack DeGovia and actor-director Drew Eshleman.

The Williams play, which takes place between the Hotel Siete Mares and a skid row flophouse and gypsy encampment, is full of strange characters — Don Quixote, Sancho Panza, Kilroy, Casanova and Spanish ladies, among others.

Union Construction Hourly Wages Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Bureau of Labor Statistics said today the average hourly wages of union construction workers in larger urban areas rose 12.3 per cent during the 12 months ended April 1.

The increase is about twice the rate President Nixon has set as his suggested limit on building trades pay hikes for this year in order to keep inflation down.

Mill Valley Board Fires Off Angry Letter On Development

The Mill Valley School District board has sent an angry letter to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission complaining that the district has not been consulted in planning a large housing development.

The 624-unit development, to be called Madera Del Presidio, will be built on 73 acres of unincorporated land south of the Koch Luggage plant in Corte Madera.

The land now is in the Mill Valley School District, but could be annexed to the Reed School District — and be served by the nearby Granada School — or to the Larkspur-Corte Madera School District.

Both the Reed and Mill Valley boards last month complained to the agency formation commission, which must approve annexations, saying they had not been informed that a project was planned.

The boards asked the commission to take no action on the application until they had a chance to study the development, but commissioners approved the annexation to Corte Madera April 14.

"Despite our letter of April 13," the board's latest letter said, "we have never received any reply of any sort. . .

"We are completely unable to understand why our request is being so totally disregarded. We believe that failure to deal with problems of school sites and school planning can only be harmful to future residents. . ." of the project.

The letter concludes by renewing the request that no further action be taken on the application until the board has had time to review the plans, "which no agency of local government has even had the courtesy to forward to us."

Warner Odenthal, of the Orinda development firm of E. C. Harter and Odenthal Investment Co., said yesterday his company went before the three school boards last week to explain the project, about three weeks after the boards complained they weren't being consulted.

Cattle rustling is reported in Virginia.

Sebastopol Pair Hurt In Accident

Two Sebastopol men were treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for injuries sustained in a Larkspur auto accident.

The hospital said Edward Harris, 21, was treated at 12:45 a.m. for a bruised forehead and his companion, David Dexter, 20, was treated for a scalp cut.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"A New Leaf" — A delightful comedy about a penniless middleaged playboy who is forced to acquire a rich wife quickly. His choice is a botonist who has the social graces of a country hick. He has devious plans to get control of her money and that is when the fun begins.

"Out-Of-Towners" — Refreshingly funny spoof on the big city life is glimpsed through hilarious misadventures of a small city businessman who takes his wife with him for his final job interview in New York City.

"Tora, Tora, Tora" — Impressive dramatization of the attack on Pearl Harbor, seen from both the American and Japanese point of view. Excellent cast, amazing photography, well worth seeing.

"Wild Child" — Excellent semidocumentary based on case history about the problems of teaching an 11-year-old boy to live with people after living as an animal in the forest of France.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Butch Cassidy and the Sun Dance Kid" — A deft sophisticated comedy about two bandits. Imaginative camera work, wonderful score, witty performances. Very violent ending.

"Lawrence of Arabia" — Reissue of magnificent production telling the story of T. E. Lawrence, an English soldier who led the revolt of Bedouins against the Turks during World War I.

"Little Big Man" — Excellent tragicomic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by a 121-year-old ex-gunfighter. Very violent and bloody but unusual and entertaining. Some sex.

"Love Story" — Film is pure romantic escapism and an old fashioned simple love story. Acting is exceptional and some tasteless language mars an otherwise beautiful portrayal.

"Patton" — Excellent characterization by George C. Scott who portrays an indomitable spirit that could achieve its destiny only in wartime. Strong film makes use of violence and profanity.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Alice's Restaurant" — Episodic treatment of true life happening in a commune. Tells of uninhibited sex life and indulgence in "pot" harming only themselves, yet searching for happiness.

"Derby" — A documentary aout the roller derby, one of the roughest professional sports. Film deals with personal lives of the men and women who participate. Rating is due to foul language and love scenes. (Boxoffice Magazine).

"Woodstock" — A three-hour documentary film record of the three-day rock musical held in August 1969 with an audience of 500,000 young people. Love making, nudity and foul language abundant.

ADULTS ONLY

"Diary of a Mad Housewife" — Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage in New York. A good comedy with sex and dialogue that is very frank.

"Gimme Shelter" — Documentary of the free concert in Altamont with the "Rolling Stones" and the murder that occurred when Hell's Angels were hired to police the affair. The language used, violence, nudity and sex shown will make some people wince.

"I Love My Wife" — Stylish comedy about an empty life, told in terms of sex. A doctor whose wife has grown fat and boring, satisfies his desires indiscriminately and answers to no one. Frank sex scenes and cursing.

"Loving" — Quiet desperation of suburban life is artfully explored in this story of a commercial artist living on the brink of disaster. A lewd escapade at a party brings matters to a shocking conclusion. Extremely frank language and sex scenes.

"M.A.S.H" — Nothing escapes the mockery of this ribald blood soaked comedy of wartime Korea. Several scenes are as gruesome as they are funny. Sex, nudity and cursing make this a very adult satire.

"Owl and the Pussycat" — Racy adult comedy about a prostitute and a shy author. Some shocking obscenities and sex scenes.

Williams Play Set At Tam High

An "environmental theater" production of Tennessee William's "Camino Real," with action taking place all around the audience, will be staged today and tomorrow and next Thursday through May 15 at Tamalpais High School.

Seating is limited to 70 because the audience will sit in a plaza in front of a Latin American hotel.

The cast and production crew, directed by Daniel E. Caldwell, will nearly match the audience in size — 65 students and four teachers are required.

Assisting Caldwell will be four theater professionals: sound technician Daniel Duggan, makeup expert Paul Willis, set designer Jack DeGovia and actor-director Drew Eshleman.

The Williams play, which takes place between the Hotel Siete Mares and a skid row flophouse and gypsy encampment, is full of strange characters — Don Quixote, Sancho Panza, Kilroy, Casanova and Spanish ladies, among others.

Union Construction Hourly Wages Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Bureau of Labor Statistics said today the average hourly wages of union construction workers in larger urban areas rose 12.3 per cent during the 12 months ended April 1.

The increase is about twice the rate President Nixon has set as his suggested limit on building trades pay hikes for this year in order to keep inflation down.

Mill Valley Board Fires Off Angry Letter On Development

The Mill Valley School District board has sent an angry letter to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission complaining that the district has not been consulted in planning a large housing development.

The 624-unit development, to be called Madera Del Presidio, will be built on 73 acres of unincorporated land south of the Koch Luggage plant in Corte Madera.

The land now is in the Mill Valley School District, but could be annexed to the Reed School District — and be served by the nearby Granada School — or to the Larkspur-Corte Madera School District.

Both the Reed and Mill Valley boards last month complained to the agency formation commission, which must approve annexations, saying they had not been informed that a project was planned.

The boards asked the commission to take no action on the application until they had a chance to study the development, but commissioners approved the annexation to Corte Madera April 14.

"Despite our letter of April 13," the board's latest letter said, "we have never received any reply of any sort. . .

"We are completely unable to understand why our request is being so totally disregarded. We believe that failure to deal with problems of school sites and school planning can only be harmful to future residents. . ." of the project.

The letter concludes by renewing the request that no further action be taken on the application until the board has had time to review the plans, "which no agency of local government has even had the courtesy to forward to us."

Warner Odenthal, of the Orinda development firm of E. C. Harter and Odenthal Investment Co., said yesterday his company went before the three school boards last week to explain the project, about three weeks after the boards complained they weren't being consulted.

Cattle rustling is reported in Virginia.

Sebastopol Pair Hurt In Accident

Two Sebastopol men were treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for injuries sustained in a Larkspur auto accident.

The hospital said Edward Harris, 21, was treated at 12:45 a.m. for a bruised forehead and his companion, David Dexter, 20, was treated for a scalp cut.

Larkspur police had no details of the accident.

Seven Seas Chef with his carving

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Seven Seas In Sausalito Ranks High With Seafood Gastronomes

Northern Californians have always enjoyed their seafood, and restaurants specializing in this fare that serve it fresh and in a manner to pique both appetite and imagination invariably do well in business at almost any location.

People will travel for miles for a good seafood menu.

One of the places that gets them from all directions is the Seven Seas in Sausalito. Several long years ago Paul and Della De Moss changed it from a bar to a restaurant, listing such delectibles as bouillabaise (still a big favorite here), cioppino, Bluepoint oysters, Cherrystone clams, lobster, crab, prawns, petrali sole, clam chowder and a few other such items — and they have been hopping ever since.

The menu has grown over the years. There is more variety now than in those early days, but this has been in keeping with its natural growth and increased popularity.

And in those first years I believe Paul used to do the cooking himself, and he's skilled at it. But for a long time the Seven Seas food preparation has been in the hands of professional chefs.

Most recent is Karl Scheuermann, who earlier in his profession was a pastry chef. This has been the experience of many a successful kitchen master who takes his work seriously. As I recall, he's picked up a few awards along the way in fancy desserts, ice carvings and in seafood preparations.

Incidentally, a great item added to the last menu is Hawaiian mahi-mahi, pan-broiled, served with rice, toasted almonds and pineapple garnish. I had never been particularly sold on mahi-mahi before, but I am now.

The Seven Seas is a cosmopolitan place — which speaks well for the operation in itself. It takes all kinds of people to make a place popular.

Marin Dining And Wining

EARLY RESERVATIONS have been coming in at Marin restaurants for next Sunday dinners and it appears that the turn-out for Mother's Day this year will be another huge one.

Last year, Bernard's Executive Lounge in San Rafael had 94 advance reservations and then had to turn others down as saving table space was getting too complicated for the comparatively small and intimate dining room. The tally is mounting up for this year, too, so don't delay too long.

Chef Wally Price is preparing a special Mother's Day menu that features a complete turkey dinner at $3.95 and a complete roast beef dinner at $5.95. Service will be from 2 to 10 p.m.

ON THE OTHER SIDE of Fourth Street, Sal Iachino says he has already taken as many reservations for dinner at Romulus Restaurant as he can justify — so the best bet here now is to go there without one.

Service at Romulus will also start at 2 p.m. on Mother's Day. Special complete dinners in addition to the regular menu include roast chicken, fried prawns, roast leg of lamb, veal parmigiana, veal scallopini, top sirloin and prime rib. The chicken dinner is $3.50; prime rib and top sirloin dinners are $4.50. The rest are $3.95.

USUALLY CLOSED on Sundays, Lin Fa Gardens at Northgate will stay open this week for Mother's Day, serving a special dinner menu from 2 to 9 p.m. For one time only the following Monday will be a day of closing.

RUBINI'S in Fairfax starts its dinners Sunday at 4 p.m. with a special Mother's Day menu.

On display this month at Rubini's are paintings of Jean Vaccaro, who has exhibited here before, I believe, as well as at other places in Marin.

THE NEPTUNE FISH AND CHIPS restaurant at 175 Belvedere Street, San Rafael (in the Harbor Shopping Center) has been sold to Mrs. Velma Harden of Novato. Jerrold Hickok of Donald Geddes Realty handled the sale.

Mrs. Harden formerly managed the snack bar concession in the Marin County Disco stores and before that worked at Burge's Drive-In Restaurant at Igancio. She will keep the same name and is adding ham, turkey, hamburgers and some other items to the menu.

Hours are from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and she is also considering the idea of adding a breakfast menu.

THE LION'S SHARE on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile is featuring Jim Kweskin tonight and tomorrow night.

WHAT DO YOU CONSIDER an expensive dinner? $5? $6? $7? $10?

To an individual whose restaurant visits are very few and far between, it possibly comes as something of a shock to look at today's menu prices and compare them with their counterparts of the 40s, 50s and even the 60s.

But think things out. Aside from some value as a conversation topic, there is little to be gained by such comparisons in themselves. Today's dollar simply doesn't have the same purchasing power — anywhere you look. If any price comparisons are to be made on meals, they should also be accompanied by similar comparisons in food costs, and wages and overhead items. You can't justify one without the other.

To isolate one restaurant, let's take La Petite Auberge in San Rafael (which by no means is an isolated case). In our Dining and Wining Guide of 1962, its dinners were listed form $3 to $5 and a la carte $2.75 to $4.25. In our most recent dining guide of last February, complete dinners had moved up to $4.50 - $7 and a la carte to $3.75 - $6.

This represents an increase of 40 to 50 per cent in nine years.

Meanwhile, let's see what has happened to the food you buy in the market for home use. Take meat for instance — the most important item on restaurant menus. In May, 1962, lamb chops were being advertised rom 59 to 69 cents per pound. Today's advertised prices are $1.19 - $1.39 — up 100 per cent. T-bone steaks in 1962 were 89 - 99 cents per pound and today are advertised at $1.49 — up 65 per cent. Similarly, ground meat used to be 45 cents. Today the same thing is 89 cents or more — up 100 per cent. Round steak has gone up 75 per cent from 79 cents to $1.39 cents per pound; sirloin about 90 per cent, from 79 cents to $1.49 — and so on.

And by the way, what is your own income today, compared to your 1962 earnings?

Don't blame La Petite Auberge — or any other restaurant if menu prices go up again by the time our next dining guide is published. According to the Department of Agriculture, during 1971 food eaten away from home should increase in price at least another 2 or 3 per cent.

Two rolls of stamps, valued at $60, were taken in a burglary of an office at Three R. School, 3833 Redwood Highway, near San Rafael, last weekend, Marin County Sheriff's Office reported yesterday.

Seven Seas Chef with his carving

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Seven Seas In Sausalito Ranks High With Seafood Gastronomes

Northern Californians have always enjoyed their seafood, and restaurants specializing in this fare that serve it fresh and in a manner to pique both appetite and imagination invariably do well in business at almost any location.

People will travel for miles for a good seafood menu.

One of the places that gets them from all directions is the Seven Seas in Sausalito. Several long years ago Paul and Della De Moss changed it from a bar to a restaurant, listing such delectibles as bouillabaise (still a big favorite here), cioppino, Bluepoint oysters, Cherrystone clams, lobster, crab, prawns, petrali sole, clam chowder and a few other such items — and they have been hopping ever since.

The menu has grown over the years. There is more variety now than in those early days, but this has been in keeping with its natural growth and increased popularity.

And in those first years I believe Paul used to do the cooking himself, and he's skilled at it. But for a long time the Seven Seas food preparation has been in the hands of professional chefs.

Most recent is Karl Scheuermann, who earlier in his profession was a pastry chef. This has been the experience of many a successful kitchen master who takes his work seriously. As I recall, he's picked up a few awards along the way in fancy desserts, ice carvings and in seafood preparations.

Incidentally, a great item added to the last menu is Hawaiian mahi-mahi, pan-broiled, served with rice, toasted almonds and pineapple garnish. I had never been particularly sold on mahi-mahi before, but I am now.

The Seven Seas is a cosmopolitan place — which speaks well for the operation in itself. It takes all kinds of people to make a place popular.

Marin Dining And Wining

EARLY RESERVATIONS have been coming in at Marin restaurants for next Sunday dinners and it appears that the turn-out for Mother's Day this year will be another huge one.

Last year, Bernard's Executive Lounge in San Rafael had 94 advance reservations and then had to turn others down as saving table space was getting too complicated for the comparatively small and intimate dining room. The tally is mounting up for this year, too, so don't delay too long.

Chef Wally Price is preparing a special Mother's Day menu that features a complete turkey dinner at $3.95 and a complete roast beef dinner at $5.95. Service will be from 2 to 10 p.m.

ON THE OTHER SIDE of Fourth Street, Sal Iachino says he has already taken as many reservations for dinner at Romulus Restaurant as he can justify — so the best bet here now is to go there without one.

Service at Romulus will also start at 2 p.m. on Mother's Day. Special complete dinners in addition to the regular menu include roast chicken, fried prawns, roast leg of lamb, veal parmigiana, veal scallopini, top sirloin and prime rib. The chicken dinner is $3.50; prime rib and top sirloin dinners are $4.50. The rest are $3.95.

USUALLY CLOSED on Sundays, Lin Fa Gardens at Northgate will stay open this week for Mother's Day, serving a special dinner menu from 2 to 9 p.m. For one time only the following Monday will be a day of closing.

RUBINI'S in Fairfax starts its dinners Sunday at 4 p.m. with a special Mother's Day menu.

On display this month at Rubini's are paintings of Jean Vaccaro, who has exhibited here before, I believe, as well as at other places in Marin.

THE NEPTUNE FISH AND CHIPS restaurant at 175 Belvedere Street, San Rafael (in the Harbor Shopping Center) has been sold to Mrs. Velma Harden of Novato. Jerrold Hickok of Donald Geddes Realty handled the sale.

Mrs. Harden formerly managed the snack bar concession in the Marin County Disco stores and before that worked at Burge's Drive-In Restaurant at Igancio. She will keep the same name and is adding ham, turkey, hamburgers and some other items to the menu.

Hours are from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and she is also considering the idea of adding a breakfast menu.

THE LION'S SHARE on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile is featuring Jim Kweskin tonight and tomorrow night.

WHAT DO YOU CONSIDER an expensive dinner? $5? $6? $7? $10?

To an individual whose restaurant visits are very few and far between, it possibly comes as something of a shock to look at today's menu prices and compare them with their counterparts of the 40s, 50s and even the 60s.

But think things out. Aside from some value as a conversation topic, there is little to be gained by such comparisons in themselves. Today's dollar simply doesn't have the same purchasing power — anywhere you look. If any price comparisons are to be made on meals, they should also be accompanied by similar comparisons in food costs, and wages and overhead items. You can't justify one without the other.

To isolate one restaurant, let's take La Petite Auberge in San Rafael (which by no means is an isolated case). In our Dining and Wining Guide of 1962, its dinners were listed form $3 to $5 and a la carte $2.75 to $4.25. In our most recent dining guide of last February, complete dinners had moved up to $4.50 - $7 and a la carte to $3.75 - $6.

This represents an increase of 40 to 50 per cent in nine years.

Meanwhile, let's see what has happened to the food you buy in the market for home use. Take meat for instance — the most important item on restaurant menus. In May, 1962, lamb chops were being advertised rom 59 to 69 cents per pound. Today's advertised prices are $1.19 - $1.39 — up 100 per cent. T-bone steaks in 1962 were 89 - 99 cents per pound and today are advertised at $1.49 — up 65 per cent. Similarly, ground meat used to be 45 cents. Today the same thing is 89 cents or more — up 100 per cent. Round steak has gone up 75 per cent from 79 cents to $1.39 cents per pound; sirloin about 90 per cent, from 79 cents to $1.49 — and so on.

And by the way, what is your own income today, compared to your 1962 earnings?

Don't blame La Petite Auberge — or any other restaurant if menu prices go up again by the time our next dining guide is published. According to the Department of Agriculture, during 1971 food eaten away from home should increase in price at least another 2 or 3 per cent.

Plea To Transfer Fairs To Finance Department Is Made

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature were urged yesterday to transfer responsibility for fiscal supervision of the state's 76 local fairs to the state Department of Finance from the Department of Agriculture.

The recommendation headed a long list of suggestions by the economy-minded, bipartisan state Little Hoover Commission for making fairs more efficient and economical.

The commission, which suggested and then discarded a controversial proposal that the fairs be consolidated and merged, submitted its recommendations in a 129-page report to the governor and lawmakers.

The commission asserted that both the state Departments of Finance and Agriculture and the legislature itself doesn't now review fair programs "in any meaningful sense."

"Since the state's budgetary authority resides in the Department of Finance, it is logical that its budgetary expertise is in the budget division of that department," the commission said.

It recommended that the responsibility for fiscal supervision of the fairs be removed from the fairs and exposition division of the Department of Agriculture and given to the Finance Department.

The board, formally called the Commission on California State Government Organization and Economy, also recommended that a state subsidy to fairs set by statute be repealed and replaced with a criteria that would determine the actual needs of individual fairs.

Seventy-one fairs including Marin and Sonoma receive an automatic annual appropriation of $65,000 while five others receive a smaller subsidy.

The report said some fair managers have been ordered by their boards to seek the maximum $65,000 "even if it is not justified.

"The commission seriously questions whether these statutory appropriations, without annual justification of need, are still appropriate."

Each year the Los Angeles County Fair receives $250,000 from the state; the Grand National Livestock Show $250,000; the Great Western Livestock Show $125,000; the National Orange Show $150,000; and the Cloverdale Citrus Fair $30,000.

The commission also recommended that local fairs be given an incentive to increase use of their facilities offseason. It suggested tying state matching funds to the amount of year-round use a fair facility is given.

Additionally, the report suggested that fairs charge an "appropriate" admission fee as a condition of receiving state aid. Currently 10 of the 76 fairs operate a "free gate."

Compromise On Crossing To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly yesterday voted 55-7 approval to a compromise bill backed by Gov. Ronald Reagan to give residents in six San Francisco Bay Area counties a chance to vote on the proposed southern crossing bridge.

The measure by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, was sent to the Senate.

He reached a compromise with Reagan on the ballot measure after the governor vetoed an earlier bill requiring approval of the legislature before the bridge could be constructed.

The compromise places the question on the June 1971 ballot of whether to construct the bridge from San Francisco's India Basin to Alameda County.

The issue would be on the ballot in three counties which are in the Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) district—San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa—plus Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara.

The ballot question would read, "Shall the California Toll Bridge Authority be permitted to construct the southern crossing bridge without further specific approval by the California Legislature?"

Longtime Inmate Forges Check To Rejoin Friends

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—If Theodore Matousek is lucky, he won't have to worry about being evicted again for 20 years.

He had served 33 years for various offenses.

But freedom wasn't what he wanted, he told his parole officer several weeks ago. The parole officer said there was no way for Matousek to be sent back to prison unless he committed a crime.

So Matousek forged a $156 check.

A Common Pleas Court judge here Wednesday accepted Matousek's guilty plea, congratulated him on his 48th birthday that day and sentenced him to 1-20 years.

"His only real background, his only friends, are in prisons," explained his attorney, R. Kemp Lindsey.

"It certainly doesn't speak too highly of our 'correctional system' when something like this happens."

Plea To Transfer Fairs To Finance Department Is Made

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature were urged yesterday to transfer responsibility for fiscal supervision of the state's 76 local fairs to the state Department of Finance from the Department of Agriculture.

The recommendation headed a long list of suggestions by the economy-minded, bipartisan state Little Hoover Commission for making fairs more efficient and economical.

The commission, which suggested and then discarded a controversial proposal that the fairs be consolidated and merged, submitted its recommendations in a 129-page report to the governor and lawmakers.

The commission asserted that both the state Departments of Finance and Agriculture and the legislature itself doesn't now review fair programs "in any meaningful sense."

"Since the state's budgetary authority resides in the Department of Finance, it is logical that its budgetary expertise is in the budget division of that department," the commission said.

It recommended that the responsibility for fiscal supervision of the fairs be removed from the fairs and exposition division of the Department of Agriculture and given to the Finance Department.

The board, formally called the Commission on California State Government Organization and Economy, also recommended that a state subsidy to fairs set by statute be repealed and replaced with a criteria that would determine the actual needs of individual fairs.

Seventy-one fairs including Marin and Sonoma receive an automatic annual appropriation of $65,000 while five others receive a smaller subsidy.

The report said some fair managers have been ordered by their boards to seek the maximum $65,000 "even if it is not justified.

"The commission seriously questions whether these statutory appropriations, without annual justification of need, are still appropriate."

Each year the Los Angeles County Fair receives $250,000 from the state; the Grand National Livestock Show $250,000; the Great Western Livestock Show $125,000; the National Orange Show $150,000; and the Cloverdale Citrus Fair $30,000.

The commission also recommended that local fairs be given an incentive to increase use of their facilities offseason. It suggested tying state matching funds to the amount of year-round use a fair facility is given.

Additionally, the report suggested that fairs charge an "appropriate" admission fee as a condition of receiving state aid. Currently 10 of the 76 fairs operate a "free gate."

Compromise On Crossing To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly yesterday voted 55-7 approval to a compromise bill backed by Gov. Ronald Reagan to give residents in six San Francisco Bay Area counties a chance to vote on the proposed southern crossing bridge.

The measure by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, was sent to the Senate.

He reached a compromise with Reagan on the ballot measure after the governor vetoed an earlier bill requiring approval of the legislature before the bridge could be constructed.

The compromise places the question on the June 1971 ballot of whether to construct the bridge from San Francisco's India Basin to Alameda County.

The issue would be on the ballot in three counties which are in the Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) district—San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa—plus Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara.

The ballot question would read, "Shall the California Toll Bridge Authority be permitted to construct the southern crossing bridge without further specific approval by the California Legislature?"

Longtime Inmate Forges Check To Rejoin Friends

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—If Theodore Matousek is lucky, he won't have to worry about being evicted again for 20 years.

He had served 33 years for various offenses.

But freedom wasn't what he wanted, he told his parole officer several weeks ago. The parole officer said there was no way for Matousek to be sent back to prison unless he committed a crime.

So Matousek forged a $156 check.

A Common Pleas Court judge here Wednesday accepted Matousek's guilty plea, congratulated him on his 48th birthday that day and sentenced him to 1-20 years.

"His only real background, his only friends, are in prisons," explained his attorney, R. Kemp Lindsey.

"It certainly doesn't speak too highly of our 'correctional system' when something like this happens."

Quake Relief Logjam Broken

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Small Business Administrator Thomas S. Kleppe said yesterday that the agency has broken a logjan of applications for emergency loans to repair homes and businesses damaged in the Los Angeles earthquake of Feb. 9.

Kleppe told reporters that 8,628 loans totaling $41,375,875 had been approved and that additional loan applications were being processed at the rate of 200 a day.

The SBA head said applications were coming in at the average rate of 170 a day and that it was still assumed the total would reach the $240 million estimated earlier by the Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Quake Relief Logjam Broken

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Small Business Administrator Thomas S. Kleppe said yesterday that the agency has broken a logjan of applications for emergency loans to repair homes and businesses damaged in the Los Angeles earthquake of Feb. 9.

Kleppe told reporters that 8,628 loans totaling $41,375,875 had been approved and that additional loan applications were being processed at the rate of 200 a day.

The SBA head said applications were coming in at the average rate of 170 a day and that it was still assumed the total would reach the $240 million estimated earlier by the Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Bircher Sees Federal Plot For Dictatorship

By M. STREET BROOKS
(11th in a series of 24 raps)

Activities of young radicals are being financed by the federal government in a clever plot to win support for an eventual dictatorship, according to a John Birch Society member from Greenbrae.

Hugh O. Pessner, 54, owner of West Coast Timber Products in San Rafael, said radicals are being taught by a growing number of Communist professors on campuses throughout the country.

Pessner and his wife, Luella, and three children live at 90 Corte de Sabla in Greenbrae.

Despite his suspicion of the government and having been defeated in races for a state Senate seat and the Marin Junior College, District board, he believes one can 'work within the system'' to reverse "growing federal control."

"My basic viewpoint gives you nothing without first taking something — either your money or your liberty."

He said the government is funding the "revolution," often using poverty funds, as a clever method to win support for a dictatorship among members of the "silent majority."

"I believe that much of this OEO (Office of Economic Opportunity) funding is going to finance the revolution," he said. "The OEO provided shuttle buses to take people to the demonstration for Angela Davis at the Hall of Justice.

HUGH O. PESSNER

"Why were these buses being used? I think the taxpayers should be up in arms. They shouldn't allow their money to be used this way.

"We are financing the irresponsible everywhere."

Pessner said students are being indoctrinated more often today into "concepts of Socialism and Communism."

"There's no question," Pessner said, "more Communists are teaching today. Many of them are second generation Communists or Socialists.

"Leaders gather around them a nucleus of students interested in change because they (students) know something is wrong. They (students) want to make the world better, but they don't know what to do about it so they engage in violent activity.

They are being manipulated by forces wanting to instill collectivism.".

He said that violent student activities are "bringing about a dictatorship."

The federal government is helping to finance violent student activities, he said, in order to justify total federal control.

"The so-called silent majority is screaming for law and order and they ask for and are willing to give more control to the federal government.

"The students are the catalyst for the dictatorship — call it anything you want — but it is a small obligarchy controlling everyone with the excuse that 'We have to restore law and order.'"

According to Pessner, there is no gap between generations. The gap is between individuals, he said.

Pessner said he had Socialist teachers while a junior college student in Southern California. He later graduated from Oregon State University.

"Work through the system," Pessner urged. "There is always room for constructive change."

Plea To Cut Expenses In Sausalito

A proposal which could be unprecedented in government finance was made last night by a Sausalito city councilman.

Councilman Wyman Hicks, chairman of the city's finance committee suggested Sausalito cut — by one-third — its proposed $1,763,622 budget for 1971-72.

While admitting that some city services would be curtailed by his proposed reductions, Hicks said he felt the city could "operate very well on a whole lot less money. "For a city of 6,000 persons, we have too many employees, too many vehicles, too much of everything," he said.

The suggestion drew immediate fire from two councilmen, Robin Sweeny and Alexander R. Imlay and some support form Councilmen Earl F. Dunphy and Stephen A. Fraser. Although the council took no action on the unusual request, its members agreed to search for ways of cutting expenditures.

"I have spent three years struggling to improve services to my community," Mrs. Sweeny said. "Now our people are accustomed to the quality of services we have; I don't think they are going to accept this."

Imlay called the proposal "reverse thinking." We should first decide what kinds of services we want to provide," he said, "then find out if we have enough money to take care of what we want."

"I think we are spending way over our heads," said Frazer. "We have overextended our income from visitors; we squeeze them dry, then spend every penny of that money.'' He thought the city had "too many policemen (22 men) and spend too much on roads and not enough on other resident needs. "I voted for two foot patrolmen last year," Fraser said, "but now I think that was a mistake.

He said the city depended too heavily on its revenues derived from tourism, "a very uncertain income." He suggested the budget go back to city department heads who would be asked to make across-the-board cuts.

Both Hicks and Dunphy admitted the only way to reduce the budget substantially would be to cut city personnel. Sausalito currently has 74 employees, with 75 proposed for next year.

But they stressed they were not suggesting wholesale dismissal of personnel, but rather reductions through attrition. "If someone leaves, we should give serious thought to not filling that position," Dunphy said.

Mrs. Hicks asked what Hicks and Fraser proposed to do with the money the city would save through the significant budget cuts they envisioned. Fraser replied the city could use the funds for a new library or a youth center or to begin implementation of the park plaza plan which the council approved recently. "We could even reduce taxes," Hicks added.

Imlay questioned whether the council was "in a position to evaluate what cutting allocations to particular departments will do to this town" and rejected what he termed "the meat cleaver approach to budget cuts."

Fraser said he thought the savings would reduce the city's tourist industry and help to reemphasize the residential character of Sausalito. "Some of us wanted to take our Parking Lot No. 1 and make that area an open space park, but we couldn't afford to lose the revenue," he said.

Later the council gave tentative approval to a $373,098 budget for the police department, a budget relatively unchanged from last year's $372,332 expenditure. Also approved was a $259,317 fire department budget, down about 5 per cent from last year's $274,945 figure.

The Sausalito City Council also:

PUBLIC DRINKING — Introduced an ordinance which would make drinking alcoholic beverages in public an infraction, a lesser offense than a misdemeanor — the charge now lodged against Sausalito's public drinkers.

PARKING FEES — Heard first reading of an ordinance raising on-street meter rates from 20 to 40 cents an hour and adding meters on Bridgeway as far north as Locust Street. Meters on Caledonia Street, which the city plans as a resident serving commercial area, will remain at 5 cents an hour.

LOT RENTALS — Introduced an ordinance to raise monthly rental rates for 45 spaces in Municipal Lot. No. 4 from $10 to $15.

PARKING — Heard first reading on an ordinance changing parking at the intersection of Park Avenue and El Portal from diagonal to parallel parking.

Split Widens Over Plans To Raze Unsafe Church Sanctuary

By DAVID DIETZ

Dissident congregation members apparently won grudging headway last night in their bid to gain reconsideration of plans to raze the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael.

Despite repeated assurances by lay leaders that the 74-year-old church cannot be restored and a new one must be built, opponents made it clear that a planned fund drive for a new edifice lacked widespread support among the congregation.

A new structure has been estimated to cost about $280,000.

Although Richard A. Clarke, a member of the ruling session, conceded the fund drive had been stalled by the protest, there was no indication of the next move. The session, which has final say on church policy, is to meet Tuesday.

Construction of a new sanctuary was ratified overwhelmingly by the congregation in January, based on a recommendation by the session. A protest movement to reverse the session's endorsement was begun almost at once, however.

The discussion last night, before an aggrieved and divided congregation, was the last of two called by the session in the hope it could convince church members that restoration is not possible because of the brittleness of the stone wall of the sanctuary.

But opponents of demolition, backed by petitions containing 275 signatures, outnumbered backers of the session. Canoles Hall, which has been used for Sunday services since the sanctuary was closed last fall, held a near-capacity audience.

And as opposing speakers exchanged views, the prayer hall often was filled with applause or muffled jeering. The outbreaks worried some congregation members.

"We're going through difficult times right now,'' said Walter Zurcher, a session member. "Applauding hurts me. I hope we behave in a Christian-like manner. . . "

Most of the meeting was consumed by attempts to undermine the opinions of engineers and architects who have differed on whether the sanctuary can be saved.

On one hand, church architect Donald L. Hardison, supported by consultants, has concluded that the sandstone used to build the sanctuary is unsafe and would collapse in an earthquake. Architect Howard Johnson of Mill Valley and his advisers, on the other hand, say the church can be saved by attaching a new interior wall to the outside stone face by means of dowels.

(Johnson's part in the controversy had led to filing of a censure action by Hardison with the American Institute of Architects.)

Members of the session repeatedly insisted they had hoped to be able to restore the church, but a stream of reports on the instability of the rock convinced them otherwise.

"No one started with the concept of whitewashing a point of veiw," said Clarke, who also is chairman of the session's long range planning committee. "The only prejudice we started with was that we wanted to save the building."

"We would have been happy to be wrong," he ended to applause.

Johnson's supporters, including former session member Robert Lloyd, said Hardison's team had failed to consult with Johnson's about the interior wall technique after the latter's plan became known. The opposition countered that Johnson's group had not tested the stone, as the Hardison group had done.

Hardison and his consultants have concluded the rock would crumble if shot with dowels. One of Johnson's consultants has estimated the technique would cost about the same as building a new sanctuary.

Church member Roger Davidson, also to applause, called for tests of Johnson's plan by a "disinterested party."

John M. MacPhail Jr., a spokesman for the dissidents, presented the petitions. "We have been called undercover and out of order," he said, "but we feel we have acted responsibly."

John Groom New Mayor Of Cotati

John L. Groom was elected last night as mayor of Cotati by his colleagues on the city council.

Groom, who is in the trucking business, has been on the council three years.

In other business, the council adopted an ordinance requiring developers to pay fees for park and recreation purposes, approved a higher residential zoning for five lots in the Casa Bonita Subdivision at West Sierra and Valparaiso avenues and looked on as the local American Legion group presented a service recognition plaque to the city's police department.

Fire Budget In First Round Nod

A preliminary budget of $175,000 for 1971-72, an increase of $20,000 over this year's $155,000 budget, was adopted last night by directors of the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District.

Directors declared, however, that they will not raise the tax rate, which stands at 73 cents per $100 assessed valuation this year, but would cut the spending program if a tax increase looks likely.

Fire Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. said the board expects the difference between this year's and next year's budget will be made up from income from new construction and an increase in assessed valuation.

The budget includes $140,000 for salaries, $30,000 for maintenance and $5,000 for capital outlay. Of the total, $165,000 will come from property taxes and $10,000 from fees collected from the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in lieu of taxes.

In other business, directors voted to make application to join the State Retirement Program. Heynen said the changeover from the present private retirement fund to the state agency will cost the district about $11,000 per year.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT NOTICE OF INTENT TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ADMINISTRATION CAPITAL GRANT PROJECT OF GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District intends to hold a public hearing on its Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project, adopted April 9, 1971, at 10:30 a.m. on the 21st day of May, 1971 in the Board Room, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, California.

The intent to hold said public hearing is given and this notice is published pursuant to the requirements of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the United States. The purpose of a public hearing would be to consider the District's Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project adopted by the District on April 9, 1971, proposing to purchase six (6) 165 foot, 25 knot, gas turbine-powered, aluminum hull ferryboats, and sufficient land, floats, piers, boarding floats, and necessary dredging and breakwater to develop ferry terminals in the Corte Madera/Larkspur area, Sausalito, and San Francisco, and also service floats, warehouse and shops for vessel maintenance.

The estimated cost is $18,956,000, which will be financed by a 66-⅔% Federal Capital Grant of $12,637,000 under Section 3 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended in 1970, and the remaining 33-⅓%, in the amount of $6,319,000, by the District from monies reserved from Bridge revenues, in accordance with State Assembly Bill 584.

No families or businesses will be displaced by the project. No significant adverse environmental effects are anticipated as a result of the project. The project conforms to the proposed comprehensive land use and transportation planning program of the urban area and is under review of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The project is to expand the present Sausalito/San Francisco ferry service operated by the District and to provide service between Corte Madera/Larkspur and San Francisco. The service was designed to compliment and coordinate with the automobile and bus transit systems in the area. No aspect of the project will adversely raise any significant economic, social or environmental conditions.

The District will make available to the public in the office of the District Secretary, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, on a reasonable basis its preliminary application, draft environmental statement, and its transit development program to the extent developed at this time, and of which this project is a part.

All Federal, State or local agencies with jurisdiction by law, or special expertise, and authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards, have been notified of the application, will be provided a copy of the draft environmental statement upon request, and are invited to participate in, or supply, statements for the public hearing. A list of such Federal agencies and their areas of environmental concern was obtained from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

All persons and official bodies, and other organizations interested in appearing at a hearing will be heard at such time.

The resulting improved service will have positive effects on economic, social and environmental conditions.

The District will make available to the public in the office of the District Secretary, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, on a reasonable basis its preliminary application, draft environmental statement, and its transit development program to the extent developed at this time, and of which this project is a part.

The intent to hold said public hearing is given and this notice is published pursuant to the requirements of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the United States. The purpose of a public hearing would be to consider the District's Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project adopted by the District on April 9, 1971, proposing to purchase six (6) 165 foot, 25 knot, gas turbine-powered, aluminum hull ferryboats, and sufficient land, floats, piers, boarding floats, and necessary dredging and breakwater to develop ferry terminals in the Corte Madera/Larkspur area, Sausalito, and San Francisco, and also service floats, warehouse and shops for vessel maintenance.

The estimated cost is $18,956,000, which will be financed by a 66-⅔% Federal Capital Grant of $12,637,000 under Section 3 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended in 1970, and the remaining 33-⅓%, in the amount of $6,319,000, by the District from monies reserved from Bridge revenues, in accordance with State Assembly Bill 584.

No families or businesses will be displaced by the project. No significant adverse environmental effects are anticipated as a result of the project. The project conforms to the proposed comprehensive land use and transportation planning program of the urban area and is under review of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The project is to expand the present Sausalito/San Francisco ferry service operated by the District and to provide service between Corte Madera/Larkspur and San Francisco. The service was designed to compliment and coordinate with the automobile and bus transit systems in the area. No aspect of the project will adversely raise any significant economic, social or environmental conditions.

The District will make available to the public in the office of the District Secretary, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, on a reasonable basis its preliminary application, draft environmental statement, and its transit development program to the extent developed at this time, and of which this project is a part.

All Federal, State or local agencies with jurisdiction by law, or special expertise, and authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards, have been notified of the application, will be provided a copy of the draft environmental statement upon request, and are invited to participate in, or supply, statements for the public hearing. A list of such Federal agencies and their areas of environmental concern was obtained from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

All persons and official bodies, and other organizations interested in appearing at a hearing will be heard at such time.

Legal Notice

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT NOTICE OF INTENT TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ADMINISTRATION CAPITAL GRANT PROJECT OF GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District intends to hold a public hearing on its Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project, adopted April 9, 1971, at 10:00 AM on the 21st day of May, 1971 in the Board Room, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, California.

The intent to hold said public hearing is given and this notice is published pursuant to the requirements of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the United States. The purpose of a public hearing would be to consider the District's Urban Mass Transportation Capital Grant Project adopted by the District on April 9, 1971, proposing to purchase between 112 and 152 transit and suburban type motor coaches, equipped with Environmental Improvement Package, radio, air conditioning, and fare collection boxes, approximately ten (10) acres of land in Marin County for a central bus storage and service area and administrative offices, land improvements, buildings and equipment necessary for bus servicing and maintenance and administrative offices, six (6) automobiles and three (3) trucks, including a recovery vehicle, all equipped with radios, a radio base station, and one bus washing unit. In addition, the District proposes to purchase and develop two parcels approximately two acres each, as satellite bus stations in the Novato and Santa Rosa areas.

The estimated cost is $9,464,000, which will be financed by a 66-⅔% Federal Capital Grant of $6,309,000 under Section 3 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended in 1970, and the remaining 33-⅓%, in the amount of $3,155,000, by the District from monies reserved from Bridge revenues in accordance with State Assembly Bill 584.

It is intended by the District and Greyhound Lines-West, present operator in the counties, that the Golden Gate Transit system will replace the present Greyhound operation between the counties of Sonoma, Marin and San Francisco, and within the counties of Marin and Sonoma. It is also the intent of both organizations that present Greyhound employees whose work will in effect be transferred to the District will be given the option and first choice of working for the District.

The project conforms to the proposed comprehensive land use and transportation planning program of the urban area and has been approved by the Association of Bay Area Governments. The project is to replace the existing transit system with an all-new system, with a service designed explicitly to meet the present needs of the residents and workers of the three counties. The resulting improved service will have positive effects on economic, social and environmental conditions.

The District will make available to the public in the office of the District Secretary, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, on a reasonable basis its preliminary application, draft environmental statement, and its transit development program to the extent developed at this time, and of which this project is a part.

All Federal, State or local agencies with jurisdiction by law, or special expertise, and authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards, have been notified of the application, will be provided a copy of the draft environmental statement upon request, and are invited to participate in, or supply, statements for the public hearing. A list of such Federal agencies and their areas of environmental concern was obtained from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

All persons and official bodies, and other organizations interested in appearing at a hearing will be heard at such time.

For Gottlieb, Bowling Runs In The Family

Sports of all sorts . . .

Bowling seems to run in the family of San Rafael's Paul Gottlieb. Paul, you will remember, recently was inducted into the Marin Bowling Hall of Fame for his long and outstanding record on local lanes.

Now, along comes his grandson, Tom Graham of the Graham Lumber Co., who has etched his name in the local kegling record books by winning last week's "170 Classic," a tournament for 170 and under average bowlers. Tom's older brother, Steve, also was a qualifier for the tournament. Chips off the old block.

FIGURE SKATING aficionados will be interested to know that San Rafael's Juli McKinstry will be one of the stars in the St. Moritz Ice Skating Club's "Late, Late Show" scheduled May 14, 15 and 16 at Berkeley Iceland. The theatrical production will feature more than 100 outstanding skaters and our own little Miss McKinstry ranks right up there with the best of them as she is the current Pacific Coast Senior Ladies champion.

THREE OUTSTANDING physical educators will be honored next Wednesday at the fourth annual Marin Unit, California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation banquet at Nave Lanes, Ignacio.

Angelo Colombo, Coordinator of Elementary Education for the San Rafael City Schools, will be cited as Marin's Outstanding Physical Educator. In addition, George Gustafson of Tamalpais High School and Fred Hines, recently retired from the San Rafael High faculty, will be presented awards after a combined 60 years of serving youth in Marin. The banquet is open to the public and will start at 7 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

SPEAKING OF good sports, five Marin County athletes did themselves well in last week-ends California Wheelchair Games at Palo Alto.

Josephine Hendricks of Novato, a victim of polio, placed first in her division in bowling in her first year as a competitor; Russ Bohlke of Larkspur also won his bowling division, bettering the Games record by 44 pins, and added a second in table tennis and thirds in the javelin, 40-yard dash (or roll) and slalom; Wayne Colgate of San Rafael picked up a fourth in the 40-yard dash and slalom, also competing in table tennis; Terry Henne of Novato placed fourth in the 100-yard dash and competed in bowling and was delighted when she appeared on a TV newscast Sunday night; and Walter Hughes of Kentfield competed in bowling and javelin.

SPEAKING OF mothers, all moms will be admitted free to Sunday's Northern California Car Show at Drake High School, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., because it happens to be Mother's Day. Sponsored by the Drake Scholarship Foundation, the show will feature more than 120 vehicles of all sizes, shapes and forms — antiques, hot-rods, racers, radio-controlled model boats, motorcycles, etc.

FENCING, ANYONE? Two Marin fencers won honors last weekend in the Northern California intercollegiate epee championships at San Francisco City College: Rob McCormick of Mill Valley, a junior at U.C. Davis, took the gold medal while Peter Ashley of Greenbrae, a sophomore at U.C. Santa Cruz, copped a silver medal. They're sharpies, if you get the point.

VICTOR CARTER of the San Rafael Travel Service left yesterday for London to work out an itinerary for a European golf and horse racing tour tentatively scheduled for next fall. Carter's three-week trip will take him to the top golf courses, horse breeding farms and race tracks in England, France, Ireland and Scotland.

Basketball Merger Closest Point Yet

NEW YORK (UPI) —The National Basketball Association appeared today at its closest point of a merger with the American Basketball Association since consolidation talks began in August, 1969.

A merger committee chaired by Abe Pollin, Baltimore Bullet owner, reported to the NBA Board of Governors Thursday and after a seven-hour session the league decided to recess until 10 a.m. today.

Pollin's committee broke for dinner Thursday night and then reconvened to go over the fine points of the proposed merger that failed to gain the three-quarter majority necessary for passage.

"The board is willing to hear everything we have to submit concerning a merger," Pollin said. "If they weren't, they could have voted it down in 20 minutes. As long as we keep talking, there's progress. I feel the situation is encouraging."

The ABA's Board of Trustees held a separate meeting Thursday and will meet again today. It's primarily a waiting game for the ABA. The league has voted unanimously for a merger and now the owners are simply waiting for the NBA to make up its mind.

Both merger committees have maintained contact during the last four weeks when talks began again in earnest. The current money war over the signing of top college players has made the situation uncomfortable, financially, for most clubs in both leagues.

When the ABA first approached the NBA on a merger two years ago, the older league expressed a willingness to discuss the proposal. However, talks broke off after the Carolina Cougars signed Philadelphia's Billy Cunningham to a contract.

Net Tourney In Tiburon

Most of the top-ranked players in Northern California will compete in the Bay Counties Invitational Tennis Tournament at the Tiburon Peninsula Club this weekend and May 15-16.

This marks the fifth year the prestigious tournament will be held in Tiburon and it is open to the public.

Among the Marin County stars scheduled to compete are Larry Axtell and Barry MacKay of Ross, Andy Moffat of Mill Valley and Jennifer Gobershock, Leslie Airola, Mike Hook and Bill Kinser of Tiburon.

It's Windy Day Of Texas Golf

DALLAS (UPI)—When those old fashioned Texas winds start to blow like they did during Thursday's opening round of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic, a person the size of slight Jerry McGee sometimes needs something to hang on to.

McGee had a four-under-par 66 and a two-stroke lead over the field to hang on to going into today's second round of the $125,000 event, but he must also go out and face those fickel winds which killed many a round and stirred up a tornado watch during Thursday's play.

And if he survives the wind he must then face the pressure from a host of the game's greatest names who are lined up right behind him.

Lee Trevino, who said he had to struggle through some bad advice from his caddy, was among those two shots behind at 68 along with Gay Brewer, Bob Stone, Ted Hayes, John Schlee and Ed Sneed—who used to be McGee's golfing teammate at Ohio State.

The group at one-under 69 was led by defending champion Jack Nicklaus and included Chi Chi Rodriguez, Bob Charles, Masters champ Charles Coody, Gene Littler, Homero Blancas, Hugh Royer and Frank Beard, who won last week in New Orleans.

Arnold Palmer bogeyed three of the first five holes, but fought the afternoon winds to come in at even-par 70 along with a host of others.

The smallish, slender (he weighs only 145 pounds) McGee put his 33-33—66 on the board early Thursday, and then the winds began to kick up to 33 miles an hour over the 7,031 yard, par 35-35—70 Preston Trail Golf Club layout.

"I see the winds have picked up," said McGee after his score was posted. "Hee, hee, hee."

McGee still had some frightening moments, however, as dark clouds bearing heavy rains and potential twisters moved toward the course. Turbulent weather could have washed out the day's scores, but the storm moved away.

McGee got going Thursday by making "my first putt in four weeks," on the 12th hole (the third he played). That one was 30 feet long and he followed it with birdie putts of four feet on the 17th hole, five feet on the second and 10 feet on the sixth.

"I played real well for me," he said. "I've never been an exempt player (by being among the top 60 players on the tour) and I think I have a chance this year."

Trevino, playing in front of his home town friends, got into contention with an eagle at the par-5 fifth, but from there on ran into trouble with some bad advice from his caddy.

"You walk the course again tonight," Trevino said after the caddy's advice on yardage cost him one bogey in the late stages.

Trevino took advantage of the relative morning calm to post his score, as did four of the six 68 shooters.

Nicklaus said that any starting round in the 60s—he had a 69—was a good start "on a course as hard as this one."

Palmer led his legions through darkening skies late in the day and had to feel good considering his poor start.

"The wind made it pretty tough," Palmer said. "I guess it made this course play as tough as I've ever seen it."

Narrow Decision For Redwood

Redwood High School's Gary Walter recovered from a two-month bout with mononucleosis just in time as far as the Giant tennis team is concerned, as he led Redwood to a narrow 3-2 victory over Marin Catholic in Larkspur yesterday.

The win for the Giants keeps their 47 game Marin County Athletic League win streak alive, raising Redwood's 1971 MCAL mark to 10-0.

In other league matches, Drake trounced San Rafael 5-0, Novato defeated San Marin 4-1, while Tam pounded Terra Linda 5-0.

Walter, currently playing No. 3 singles while recovering from his illness, disposed of Marin Catholic, Tom Jasek, 6-0, 6-1, as the Giants recovered from two Wildcat victories in No.'s 1 and 2 singles in recording the 3-2 triumph.

Tomorrow, Drake's Jerry Suyderhoud will represent the MCAL in the North Coast Section Tournament in Castro Valley. The MCAL's doubles representatives will be Bill Kinser and John Beritzhoff of Marin Catholic.

POWER MATCHUP

Giants Vs. The Braves

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — After a night of partying, Willie Mays and Hank Aaron settle down tonight to a weekend of baseball at Candlestick Park.

The game's two mightiest home run hitters behind Babe Ruth will try to outdo each other in a four-game series capped by a Sunday doubleheader.

Mays has 633 career home runs and Aaron 603. However, this year Aaron has an 11-5 edge over Mays in the longest hit department.

Things were all buddy-buddy between the two sluggers Thursday night at Mays's 40th birthday bash before nearly 1,000 persons atop Nob Hill. Aaron dropped in to wish Willie happy birthday and good luck on trying to catch the Babe.

Mays sat out the two games against Pittsburgh this week because of tendonitis in his right shoulder. It pains him to swing a bat and throw a ball. But with the extra few days of rest and a shot of cortisone, Willie hopes to be in the starting lineup tonight.

The Giants could use Willie's bat. He is currently hitting a solid .368, tops on the team.

Righthander Gaylord Perry (3-1) goes for the Giants against lefty George Stone of the Braves. Stone is without a decision so far this season.

The Giants took three straight from the Braves at Atlanta last week. In one of those games, Aaron hit his 600th home run but Mays won the contest with a hit in the late innings.

No doubt elder statesman Mays will continue to try to upstage that 37-year-old frisky kid outfielder from Atlanta.

Segui To Pitch For A's Tonight

BALTIMORE (UPI) —Righthander Diego Segui may need an armed guard when he enters Memorial Stadium tonight to face the Baltimore Orioles.

Back on April 27, a Segui pitch got away from him and hit Orioles outfielder Frank Robinson on the wrist. He was sidelined for nearly a week.

A couple of innings later, Segui thumped Brooks Robinson in the small of the back. The Orioles happened to win that game and split a four-game series at Oakland.

Now the A's are riding the crest of the American League West with a 19-11 record and three-game bulge over runnerup Kansas City and California. Baltimore, meanwhile, finds itself in the unfamiliar position of chasing Boston for the lead in the AL East.

The Orioles closed to within half a game of the Red Sox by vanquishing the Angels in a doubleheader Thursday evening.

Segui, now 3-2, will be opposed by crafty lefty Mike Cuellar (2-0) tonight. The teams also play Saturday night and Sunday afternoon at Memorial Stadium.

The A's still haven't heard from the Cleveland Indians on that six-player offer for ace-lefthander Sam McDowell. So presumably the deal fell through.

After Baltimore, the A's play two games at Cleveland and five at Kansas City before returning home May 18.

Black Hawks In Commanding Lead

CHICAGO (UPI)—The second game of the Chicago Black Hawks-Montreal Canadiens playoff series for the Stanley cup last night was misnamed. It should have been called Lou Angotti night.

The little Black Hawk center, usually a bench warmer who gets a minimum amount of ice time, set up Chico Maki's game-tieing goal for the Hawks in the second period.

Then, for an encore, he got two unassisted goals in the final 13 minutes of the game, one of them the winning goal and the other an insurance marker for the Black Hawks in a 5-3 victory.

The win gave the Black Hawks, champions of the National Hockey League's Western Division, a 2-0 lead in games in the best-of-seven series for hockey's most valued trophy.

Now the Hawks must try to improve their margin on Montreal ice in games Sunday afternoon on national television and Tuesday night.

Angotti, a well-travelled player who always seems to come back to the Hawks, said "I'm not used to playing regular, so when I go on the ice, I don't feel that I have to pace myself. I can go and play all out. I know if I play a couple of shifts, I'm going to sit out two."

Thus Angotti, going all out in his brief stints, can behave like a pesky flea to the Black Hawk opponents. That was his performance last night.

"Lou cut across the blue line and cut over in front of me," Maki said of his own tieing goal. "(Ken) Dryden got a piece of the shot on his glove. Lou screened it and if he'd had the full view, I'm sure he would have got it."

Coach Al MacNeil of the Canadiens was not nearly as well pleased, either with Angotti's goals or the Canadiens' play.

"I don't think that we played at our best. I don't want to take anything away from Chicago but I know we can play better and we'll be ready at home."

Both teams suffered injury in the game, but the Hawks were hit more seriously. Chicago defenseman Pat Stapleton had to be helped from the ice in the second period when an accidental slash by Rejean Houle's skate cut his right cheek almost from his temple to his mouth.

Stapleton was removed to a hospital for examination, stitching and treatment and Reay was uncertain whether he could play Sunday. Stapleton has spent more time on the ice in the playoffs than any other Hawk player.

Montreal's goalie Dryden suffered a cut on his chin which required "four or five stitches" when he was struck on the face mask by Dennis Hull's blistering slap shot with less than three minutes in the game. But MacNeil figured Dryden could play Sunday.

Santa Rosa Nine Edges Marin, 2-1

Three consecutive ninth inning hits by Santa Rosa Junior College batsmen brought the curtain down on the College of Marin baseball team yesterday, as the Tars dropped a tough 2-1 decision to the Bear Cubs in Kentfield. It was the Tars' fourth straight Camino Norte Conference loss.

A single, a triple and a double by the first three Santa Rosa hitters in the ninth was enough to overcome a 1-0 lead Marin's Dennis Bueler had held since the fourth.

The Tars got their run on Ken Robie's walk and stolen base, a bunt single, and an infield out by Rafael Gallardo, who picked up the RBI.

Marin failed on two other great chances to sew the game up, once after a no-out triple by Gallardo, and again in the ninth on another base hit by Gallardo and a sacrifice bunt which moved him to second. Dee Federick then knocked a safety to short left, but Gallardo was unable to score on the play. Two more strikeouts ended the Tars' threat.

For Gottlieb, Bowling Runs In The Family

Sports of all sorts . . .

Bowling seems to run in the family of San Rafael's Paul Gottlieb. Paul, you will remember, recently was inducted into the Marin Bowling Hall of Fame for his long and outstanding record on local lanes.

Now, along comes his grandson, Tom Graham of the Graham Lumber Co., who has etched his name in the local kegling record books by winning last week's "170 Classic," a tournament for 170 and under average bowlers. Tom's older brother, Steve, also was a qualifier for the tournament. Chips off the old block.

FIGURE SKATING aficionados will be interested to know that San Rafael's Juli McKinstry will be one of the stars in the St. Moritz Ice Skating Club's "Late, Late Show" scheduled May 14, 15 and 16 at Berkeley Iceland. The theatrical production will feature more than 100 outstanding skaters and our own little Miss McKinstry ranks right up there with the best of them as she is the current Pacific Coast Senior Ladies champion.

THREE OUTSTANDING physical educators will be honored next Wednesday at the fourth annual Marin Unit, California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation banquet at Nave Lanes, Ignacio.

Angelo Colombo, Coordinator of Elementary Education for the San Rafael City Schools, will be cited as Marin's Outstanding Physical Educator. In addition, George Gustafson of Tamalpais High School and Fred Hines, recently retired from the San Rafael High faculty, will be presented awards after a combined 60 years of serving youth in Marin. The banquet is open to the public and will start at 7 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

SPEAKING OF good sports, five Marin County athletes did themselves well in last week-ends California Wheelchair Games at Palo Alto.

Josephine Hendricks of Novato, a victim of polio, placed first in her division in bowling in her first year as a competitor; Russ Bohlke of Larkspur also won his bowling division, bettering the Games record by 44 pins, and added a second in table tennis and thirds in the javelin, 40-yard dash (or roll) and slalom; Wayne Colgate of San Rafael picked up a fourth in the 40-yard dash and slalom, also competing in table tennis; Terry Henne of Novato placed fourth in the 100-yard dash and competed in bowling and was delighted when she appeared on a TV newscast Sunday night; and Walter Hughes of Kentfield competed in bowling and javelin.

SPEAKING OF mothers, all moms will be admitted free to Sunday's Northern California Car Show at Drake High School, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., because it happens to be Mother's Day. Sponsored by the Drake Scholarship Foundation, the show will feature more than 120 vehicles of all sizes, shapes and forms — antiques, hot-rods, racers, radio-controlled model boats, motorcycles, etc.

FENCING, ANYONE? Two Marin fencers won honors last weekend in the Northern California intercollegiate epee championships at San Francisco City College: Rob McCormick of Mill Valley, a junior at U.C. Davis, took the gold medal while Peter Ashley of Greenbrae, a sophomore at U.C. Santa Cruz, copped a silver medal. They're sharpies, if you get the point.

VICTOR CARTER of the San Rafael Travel Service left yesterday for London to work out an itinerary for a European golf and horse racing tour tentatively scheduled for next fall. Carter's three-week trip will take him to the top golf courses, horse breeding farms and race tracks in England, France, Ireland and Scotland.

Basketball Merger Closest Point Yet

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Basketball Association appeared today at its closest point of a merger with the American Basketball Association since consolidation talks began in August, 1969.

A merger committee chaired by Abe Pollin, Baltimore Bullet owner, reported to the NBA Board of Governors Thursday and after a seven-hour session the league decided to recess until 10 a.m. today.

Pollin's committee broke for dinner Thursday night and then reconvened to go over the fine points of the proposed merger that failed to gain the three-quarter majority necessary for passage.

"The board is willing to hear everything we have to submit concerning a merger," Pollin said. "If they weren't, they could have voted it down in 20 minutes. As long as we keep talking, there's progress. I feel the situation is encouraging."

The ABA's Board of Trustees held a separate meeting Thursday and will meet again today. It's primarily a waiting game for the ABA. The league has voted unanimously for a merger and now the owners are simply waiting for the NBA to make up its mind.

Both merger committees have maintained contact during the last four weeks when talks began again in earnest. The current money war over the signing of top college players has made the situation uncomfortable, financially, for most clubs in both leagues.

When the ABA first approached the NBA on a merger two years ago, the older league expressed a willingness to discuss the proposal. However, talks broke off after the Carolina Cougars signed Philadelphia's Billy Cunningham to a contract.

Net Tourney In Tiburon

Most of the top-ranked players in Northern California will compete in the Bay Counties Invitational Tennis Tournament at the Tiburon Peninsula Club this weekend and May 15-16.

This marks the fifth year the prestigious tournament will be held in Tiburon and it is open to the public.

Among the Marin County stars scheduled to compete are Larry Axtell and Barry MacKay of Ross, Andy Moffat of Mill Valley and Jennifer Gobershock, Leslie Airola, Mike Hook and Bill Kinser of Tiburon.

It's Windy Day Of Texas Golf

DALLAS (UPI)—When those old fashioned Texas winds start to blow like they did during Thursday's opening round of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic, a person the size of slight Jerry McGee sometimes needs something to hang on to.

McGee had a four-under-par 66 and a two-stroke lead over the field to hang on to going into today's second round of the $125,000 event, but he must also go out and face those fickel winds which killed many a round and stirred up a tornado watch during Thursday's play.

And if he survives the wind he must then face the pressure from a host of the game's greatest names who are lined up right behind him.

Lee Trevino, who said he had to struggle through some bad advice from his caddy, was among those two shots behind at 68 along with Gay Brewer, Bob Stone, Ted Hayes, John Schlee and Ed Sneed—who used to be McGee's golfing teammate at Ohio State.

The group at one-under 69 was led by defending champion Jack Nicklaus and included Chi Chi Rodriguez, Bob Charles, Masters champ Charles Coody, Gene Littler, Homero Blancas, Hugh Royer and Frank Beard, who won last week in New Orleans.

Arnold Palmer bogeyed three of the first five holes, but fought the afternoon winds to come in at even-par 70 along with a host of others.

The smallish, slender (he weighs only 145 pounds) McGee put his 33-33—66 on the board early Thursday, and then the winds began to kick up to 33 miles an hour over the 7,031 yard, par 35-35—70 Preston Trail Golf Club layout.

"I see the winds have picked up," said McGee after his score was posted. "Hee, hee, hee."

McGee still had some frightening moments, however, as dark clouds bearing heavy rains and potential twisters moved toward the course. Turbulent weather could have washed out the day's scores, but the storm moved away.

McGee got going Thursday by making "my first putt in four weeks," on the 12th hole (the third he played). That one was 30 feet long and he followed it with birdie putts of four feet on the 17th hole, five feet on the second and 10 feet on the sixth.

"I played real well for me," he said. "I've never been an exempt player (by being among the top 60 players on the tour) and I think I have a chance this year."

Trevino, playing in front of his home town friends, got into contention with an eagle at the par-5 fifth, but from there on ran into trouble with some bad advice from his caddy.

"You walk the course again tonight," Trevino said after the caddy's advice on yardage cost him one bogey in the late stages.

Trevino took advantage of the relative morning calm to post his score, as did four of the six 68 shooters.

Nicklaus said that any starting round in the 60s—he had a 69—was a good start "on a course as hard as this one."

Palmer led his legions through darkening skies late in the day and had to feel good considering his poor start.

"The wind made it pretty tough," Palmer said. "I guess it made this course play as tough as I've ever seen it."

The win gave the Black Hawks, champions of the National Hockey League's Western Division, a 2-0 lead in games in the best-of-seven series for hockey's most valued trophy.

Now the Hawks must try to improve their margin on Montreal ice in games Sunday afternoon on national television and Tuesday night.

Angotti, a well-travelled player who always seems to come back to the Hawks, said "I'm not used to playing regular, so when I go on the ice, I don't feel that I have to pace myself. I can go and play all out. I know if I play a couple of shifts, I'm going to sit out two."

Thus Angotti, going all out in his brief stints, can behave like a pesky flea to the Black Hawk opponents. That was his performance last night.

"Lou cut across the blue line and cut over in front of me," Maki said of his own tieing goal. "(Ken) Dryden got a piece of the shot on his glove. Lou screened it and if he'd had the full view, I'm sure he would have got it."

Coach Al MacNeil of the Canadiens was not nearly as well pleased, either with Angotti's goals or the Canadiens' play.

"I don't think that we played at our best. I don't want to take anything away from Chicago but I know we can play better and we'll be ready at home."

Both teams suffered injury in the game, but the Hawks were hit more seriously. Chicago defenseman Pat Stapleton had to be helped from the ice in the second period when an accidental slash by Rejean Houle's skate cut his right cheek almost from his temple to his mouth.

Stapleton was removed to a hospital for examination, stitching and treatment and Reay was uncertain whether he could play Sunday. Stapleton has spent more time on the ice in the playoffs than any other Hawk player.

Montreal's goalie Dryden suffered a cut on his chin which required "four or five stitches" when he was struck on the face mask by Dennis Hull's blistering slap shot with less than three minutes in the game. But MacNeil figured Dryden could play Sunday.

Santa Rosa Nine Edges Marin, 2-1

Three consecutive ninth inning hits by Santa Rosa Junior College batsmen brought the curtain down on the College of Marin baseball team yesterday, as the Tars dropped a tough 2-1 decision to the Bear Cubs in Kentfield. It was the Tars' fourth straight Camino Norte Conference loss.

A single, a triple and a double by the first three Santa Rosa hitters in the ninth was enough to overcome a 1-0 lead Marin's Dennis Bueler had held since the fourth.

The Tars got their run on Ken Robie's walk and stolen base, a bunt single, and an infield out by Rafael Gallardo, who picked up the RBI.

Marin failed on two other great chances to sew the game up, once after a no-out triple by Gallardo, and again in the ninth on another base hit by Gallardo and a sacrifice bunt which moved him to second. Dee Federick then knocked a safety to short left, but Gallardo was unable to score on the play. Two more strikeouts ended the Tars' threat.

INDY BARRIER

Donohue Nears 180 MPH Mark

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The 180-miles-per-hour barrier may be cracked even before the 55th running of the Indianapolis 500-mile race May 29.

Mark Donohue, the graduate mechanical engineer who also races for a living, toured the track at nearly 178 m.p.h. Thursday afternoon and then departed for Lime Rock, Comm., to practice for the opening Trans-Am road event this weekend.

The 34-year-old Media, Pa., speedster has been the hare all other drivers have been chasing since the Indianapolis Motor Speedway opened last Saturday. Thursday he drove his McLaren racer through the 175 m.p.h. barrier with a resounding 177.901 lap around the 2 1-2-mile "Indy" oval.

Although Donohue was not alone in going over 170 m.p.h. in the rain-shortened practice period, everybody else was behind him, never ahread.

Peter Revson of New York City—in another McLaren—posted a 171.690 while Mike Mosley of Brownsburg, Ind., was a tick faster at 171.756. Also, after shaking out the bugs, defending "500" champ Al Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., cruised to a 170.616 during his first day on the track this month.

All the times were unofficial, only times in qualifications and the race can count for official records.

Donohue ran a series of laps over 170 with the quick time jammed in the middle. He was also timed on the electronic equipment at 174.995, 176.609, and 175.816.

Twenty-seven cars made appearances in the four-hour period after the track was officially opened at 1:58 p.m. EST following a morning rain. Of those running, 11 were on the oval for the first time.

HOW SWEET IT IS — San Francisco Giants outfielder Willie Mays samples a piece of the huge, six-foot high birthday cake during his party last night at the Fairmont Hotel. The cake was festooned with baseballs and bat and topped by the number 40, Willie's age. Many of baseball's greats attended the party.

A YOUNG 40

Happy Birthday Willie

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — About 700 friends of Willie Mays honored the San Francisco Giants superstar on his 40th birthday Tuesday night and the guest of honor nearly broke down in tears.

The San Francisco-Oakland Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America sponsored the birthday party at a posh midtown hotel with proceeds with going to an underprivileged boys club in San Francisco.

Baseball Commission Bowie Kuhn, San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, National League President Charles S. (Chub) Feeney and Hank Aaron, the Atlanta Braves star, were among the notables who attended the gala affair.

Mays, baseball's second greatest homerun hitter of all time, sat a few steps in back of the dais out of sight of most of the crowd as speaker after speaker showered him with accolades. From time to time, he daubed at his eyes.

The three-hour program concluded with Mays speaking to the crowd and the sometimes bashful star said "all I've ever done is tried my best. America must be a beautiful country when someone like me can have the opportunity to do what everyone here this night has said."

Dobson Finds Winning For Orioles Is Not Easy

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Since Dobson won 14 games for the cellar-dwelling Padres last year, the Baltimore Orioles were touting him as their newest possible 20-game winner when they obtained him in a winter deal.

But Dobson just managed to even his record at 2-2 Thursday night with a nine-hitter as the Orioles swept a doubleheader from the California Angels by identical 3-1 scores. Dave McNally, now 5-1, pitched a four-hitter in the opener.

Dobson, who was 3-3 at San Diego at this point last season, said, "I could have had a few more wins this season but I don't want to sound like I'm complaining. My goal is pitching well enough to win. The rest will take of itself."

Dave Johnson, the leading Oriole hitter at .333, agrees. "Dobson should be at least 4-1. He pitched as good a game as you can pitch against Oakland but lost to Vida Blue 1-0."

With Paul Blair, Boog Powell, Brooks Robinson and Merv Rettenmund all hitting under .250, the Oriole pitching has been carrying the club. "Our starters are doing it for us," catcher Ellie Hendricks said. "It's a good thing because we're not hitting as a team. My average is down to .153 and I'm a worrier to begin with. I even worry when I'm going good."

Dobson, McNally, Jim Palmer (5-0) and Mike Cuellar (2-0) have accounted for 14 of the Orioles' 16 victories. Despite their "woes", the O's are only a half-game behind Boston and their 16-9 mark is almost identical to the 16-8 record they had last May 6 when they had a 1-2 game lead.

Baltimore got only 11 hits in the doubleheader but they squeezed out two runs in the fifth inning of the first game and the sixth inning of the second. Run-scoring singles by Brooks Robinson and Johnson decided the first game and Hendricks' sacrifice fly and Dobson's run-scoring single won the second.

In the other American League games, Minnesota topped New York 5-3 and Boston routed Chicago 10-1.

In the only two National League games, Houston beat Montreal 5-2 and Los Angeles topped Cincinnati 5-2. The Chicago at New York and St. Louis at Philadelphia games were rained out.

The two rainouts set up an interesting pitching match because now Tom Seaver will face Bob Gibson tonight for the second time in two weeks when St. Louis is at New York. Gibson was off his form and was routed 12-2 when Seaver pitched a seven-hitter on April 26. But Gibson will have his chance for revenge tonight.

Rico Petrocelli drove in three runs as the Red Sox routed the White Sox behind the seven-hit pitching of Gary Peters. Only 511 fans showed up for the game in Chicago which was rescheduled for Thursday after being rained out Wednesday night. The White Sox made six errors in the rout.

Minnesota rallied for three runs in the eighth to beat Mel Stottlemyre and New York. After Cesar Tovar tied the game with a single, Stottlemyre walked two batters —one intentionally —to load the bases and then gave up a two-run single just past second base to Steve Braun that Horace Clarke couldn't handle.

Jim Wynn drove in two runs with a single and a double to hand unbeaten Larry Dierker his fifth victory as Houston beat Montreal. Dierker went seven innings and was lifted after giving up a leadoff single in the eighth. Denny Lemaster and Fred Gladding finished up.

Wes Parker's run-scoring single started a four-run fourth inning that carried Los Angeles past Cincinnati. Jim Lefebvre's run-scoring double, Bill Grabarkewitz' run-scoring single and a sacrifice fly by winning pitcher Claude Osteen completed the rally. Cincinnati's Bobby Tolan injured his leg while running in the outfield before the game. He's been sidelined by an Achilles tendon injury and will return to Cincinnati for further treatment.

Ashe Wins His Match

ROME (UPI)—Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va. overwhelmed Roger Taylor of Britain, 6-3, 6-2 to move into the fourth round of the $50,000 Italian Tennis championships Friday.

After Thursday's matches, Australians John Newcombe and Rod Laver seemed to be headed for a major confrontation as both cruised to easy victories.

Newcombe routed Bob Lutz of Los Angeles 6-3, 6-1 and Laver, playing carefully to avoid damaging his injured back, whipped Italy's Ezio DiMatteo 6-4, 6-1.

Four-Length Victory

ALBANY (UPI) —Blazing Skies ($4.00) lived up to its name Thursday in sprinting to a four-length victory over Scoundrels Captive in the featured Metropolitan Club of Oakland Purse at Golden Gate Fields.

HOW SWEET IT IS — San Francisco Giants outfielder Willie Mays samples a piece of the huge, six-foot high birthday cake during his party last night at the Fairmont Hotel. The cake was festooned with baseballs and bat and topped by the number 40, Willie's age. Many of baseball's greats attended the party.

Happy Birthday Willie

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — About 700 friends of Willie Mays honored the San Francisco Giants superstar on his 40th birthday Tuesday night and the guest of honor nearly broke down in tears.

The San Francisco-Oakland Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America sponsored the birthday party at a posh midtown hotel with proceeds with going to an underprivileged boys club in San Francisco.

Baseball Commission Bowie Kuhn, San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, National League President Charles S. (Chub) Feeney and Hank Aaron, the Atlanta Braves star, were among the notables who attended the gala affair.

Mays, baseball's second greatest homerun hitter of all time, sat a few steps in back of the dais out of sight of most of the crowd as speaker after speaker showered him with accolades. From time to time, he daubed at his eyes.

The three-hour program concluded with Mays speaking to the crowd and the sometimes bashful star said "all I've ever done is tried my best. America must be a beautiful country when someone like me can have the opportunity to do what everyone here this night has said."

Dobson Finds Winning For Orioles Is Not Easy

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Since Dobson won 14 games for the cellar-dwelling Padres last year, the Baltimore Orioles were touting him as their newest possible 20-game winner when they obtained him in a winter deal.

But Dobson just managed to even his record at 2-2 Thursday night with a nine-hitter as the Orioles swept a doubleheader from the California Angels by identical 3-1 scores. Dave McNally, now 5-1, pitched a four-hitter in the opener.

Dobson, who was 3-3 at San Diego at this point last season, said, "I could have had a few more wins this season but I don't want to sound like I'm complaining. My goal is pitching well enough to win. The rest will take of itself."

Dave Johnson, the leading Oriole hitter at .333, agrees. "Dobson should be at least 4-1. He pitched as good a game as you can pitch against Oakland but lost to Vida Blue 1-0."

With Paul Blair, Boog Powell, Brooks Robinson and Merv Rettenmund all hitting under .250, the Oriole pitching has been carrying the club. "Our starters are doing it for us," catcher Ellie Hendricks said. "It's a good thing because we're not hitting as a team. My average is down to .153 and I'm a worrier to begin with. I even worry when I'm going good."

Dobson, McNally, Jim Palmer (5-0) and Mike Cuellar (2-0) have accounted for 14 of the Orioles' 16 victories. Despite their "woes", the O's are only a half-game behind Boston and their 16-9 mark is almost identical to the 16-8 record they had last May 6 when they had a 1-2 game lead.

Baltimore got only 11 hits in the doubleheader but they squeezed out two runs in the fifth inning of the first game and the sixth inning of the second. Run-scoring singles by Brooks Robinson and Johnson decided the first game and Hendricks' sacrifice fly and Dobson's run-scoring single won the second.

In the other American League games, Minnesota topped New York 5-3 and Boston routed Chicago 10-1.

In the only two National League games, Houston beat Montreal 5-2 and Los Angeles topped Cincinnati 5-2. The Chicago at New York and St. Louis at Philadelphia games were rained out.

The two rainouts set up an interesting pitching match because now Tom Seaver will face Bob Gibson tonight for the second time in two weeks when St. Louis is at New York. Gibson was off his form and was routed 12-2 when Seaver pitched a seven-hitter on April 26. But Gibson will have his chance for revenge tonight.

Rico Petrocelli drove in three runs as the Red Sox routed the White Sox behind the seven-hit pitching of Gary Peters. Only 511 fans showed up for the game in Chicago which was rescheduled for Thursday after being rained out Wednesday night. The White Sox made six errors in the rout.

Minnesota rallied for three runs in the eighth to beat Mel Stottlemyre and New York. After Cesar Tovar tied the game with a single, Stottlemyre walked two batters —one intentionally —to load the bases and then gave up a two-run single just past second base to Steve Braun that Horace Clarke couldn't handle.

Jim Wynn drove in two runs with a single and a double to hand unbeaten Larry Dierker his fifth victory as Houston beat Montreal. Dierker went seven innings and was lifted after giving up a leadoff single in the eighth. Denny Lemaster and Fred Gladding finished up.

Wes Parker's run-scoring single started a four-run fourth inning that carried Los Angeles past Cincinnati. Jim Lefebvre's run-scoring double, Bill Grabarkewitz' run-scoring single and a sacrifice fly by winning pitcher Claude Osteen completed the rally. Cincinnati's Bobby Tolan injured his leg while running in the outfield before the game. He's been sidelined by an Achilles tendon injury and will return to Cincinnati for further treatment.

FISH AND GAME

Breaking The Rules Can Cost Anglers

By AL GIDDINGS

Last year throughout California, Department of Fish and Game Wardens made 15,888 arrests. The fines totaled $508,738 which averages out to about $30 per arrest.

Recent cases in Marin County resulted in fines of $25 in five "two rod" cases and $20, $10 and $5 fines in three others of the same violation. Fines for no licenses, resulted in one of $25, two of $20, one of $10 and two persons received suspended sentences. Two people were fined $10 each for littering the bay waters with beer cans, and one person paid $30 for six salmon (three over the limit).

Statewide, the greatest number of arrests were made for angling without a license (6,599). Having a loaded gun in a car (1,282) and angling with more than one line were the next two violations most cited. Some people elected to take "jail time" instead of paying the fine. Jail days served amounted to 1,581.

Seven hunting licenses were revoked by the courts and seven hunting licenses were ordered suspended. Three angling licenses were revoked by the court, and five angling licenses were suspended.

Reserve game wardens throughout the state made 1,346 patrols. Ninety-four arrests were made by reserve wardens along with 1,332 assists. They used their personal vehicle for 58,273 miles of travel and worked 12,533 hours. All of this was on their own time without any type of financial compensation.

Regular state game wardens or wildlife protection officers also filed 105 complaints on either penal or other code sections, 37 on city or county ordinances, and turned over 498 cases for other agencies to file. Ninety-five of these involved felony charges. Half the money from all fish and game fines goes into the State Fish and Game preservation fund, the other half goes to the county in which the arrest has been made to be used in conservation work. In Marin County the Board of Supervisors acts as custodians of these funds. They have been used in the last three or four years to help finance the Boyd Junior Museum in San Rafael.

STRIPED BASS fishing in San Pablo still slow. I tried it with San Knoles up by Corrigidor. Total catch: Two limits of flounders (10 each). Flounders have a limit of 10 now under the "fin fish" regulations in the new fishing laws.

Sam gave it a second try, catching 10 more flounders and five king fish. All told over both days, there were only 12 boats in the entire bay! But cheer up, the bass will be down in the next two weeks from the Delta. Ray Lencie hit three big ones at the Richmond Bridge trolling, but couldn't connect again even though he tried it three straight days after that.

Salmon fishing is still tops. It gets rough, but if you can pick a good day, it's tops.

Shad fishing just starting to percolate in most of the regular spots. Get your gear ready!

PHOENIX, Lagunitas and Bon Tempe reservoirs and Rodeo Lagoon, all in Marin County, were scheduled to get plants of rainbow trout this week.

Softball Victory For Two Turtles

Ray Lotz pitched a four-hitter and Bill Valentine contributed two hits as they led the Two Turtles team to a 6-3 victory over Jacobsen Machine Shop last night in the San Rafael Softball League at Albert Park.

In the second game of a doubleheader, the Doves downed Fairfax Shell 4-2. John Burris was the winning pitcher and the Doves scored their winning runs on hits by Burris, Bob Kempf and Mike Davisson and a sacrifice by Jim Kreischer. Gary Springman had two hits for Fairfax.

PREP GOLF

Terra Linda Surprises Tamalpais

There's a saying among Marin County Athletic League golf coaches that the only things that are inevitable are death, taxes, and the Tamalpais High School Golf team winning its matches on its home course, Mill Valley Municipal.

But yesterday, the latter was proven wrong as Terra Linda High School soundly dumped the Indians, 180-188, on the formerly hallowed acres in the hills of Southern Marin.

In other MCAL golf matches, the two teams tied for second won easily, with San Rafael taking a 198-226 decision over Drake at San Geronimo, and Novato taking a 198-226 decision over Drake at San Geronimo, and Novato winning over San Marin, 214-222 at Indian Valley.

The MCAL race is now slightly more clearcut, with Terra Linda leading the pack with a 9-1 mark, and San Rafael and Novato are second at 7-2, both with easy makeup matches to play. Tamalpais, by virtue of its loss yesterday, is eliminated from title consideration.

Medalist and key figure in the Terra Linda victory was Art Cudworth, who shot a splendid 34 on the Mill Valley layout. Accoridng to Tam coach Paul Wata, this is only the fifth time in 13 years the Indians have been beaten on their home course.

Maggard To Coach U.S. Team

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—California track coach Dave Maggard was selected Thursday to coach the U.S. men's team in the Russian-American-World All-Stars triangular meet July 2-3.

Stan Wright, the chairman of the U.S. National Track and Field Committee, made the announcement. The meet will be held at the University of California's Edwards Stadium.

Wright said Maggard was elected by a vote of the national committee.

"Many of the members are collegiate coaches so you can say he was chosen by his peers throughout the nation," Wright said.

Maggard, 31, will be the youngest man ever to coach a U.S. international track and field team, and Wright said he thought he may be the youngest to ever coach any international team.

As an athlete, Maggard is the fifth longest shot putter in world track history with an all-time best of 67 4 1-4. He still holds the California school record in the shot put and was a member of the 1968 U.S. Olympic team.

Sam Snead Will Miss U.S. Open

Snead, the veteran golf pro who has won every major golf title with the exception of the U.S. Open, won't get a chance this year. The three-time Masters and PGA champion, who has entered every U.S. Open since 1937, missed the deadline and failed to file an entry this year.

Under U.S. Golf Association regulations, it is impossible for Snead to enter once the deadline has passed. Other name players have had their entries arrive after the deadline and have not been permitted to play.

Snead was stunned when he learned the date had passed. "In the past, they have always sent me a slip, but this time I never got one," he said. "I was going to play again and I'm going to try to reach the U.S. Golf Association people right away."

Snead, now 58, has won $472,590 on the PGA tour during his long career but has gained only $5,240 this year. His best finish was 25th in the National Airlines Open at Miami.

A record 4,335 entries were received by the USGA for the Open, scheduled for June 17-20 at Merion, Pa. Only 35 are exempt from qualifying so the remaining 4,300 will have to compete in local and sectional eliminations to determine the remaining 115 slots. Among those who must qualify this year are Masters champion Charles Coody, Doug Sanders, Chi Chi Rodriguez and George Archer.

WEST COAST RELAYS

Meet Records Expected

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI)—The record book for the 44th annual West Coast Relays may have to be rewritten this weekend.

Relays director Cornelius "Dutch" Warmerdam says many meet records from the elementary school through the college and open division will be under attack from the more than 1,800 athletes drawn from throughout the United States. Several American and world records also may fall.

The world record of over 18 feet for the pole vault is definitely threatened with former world record holder Bob Seagren leading several 17-foot-plus vaulters. Starting height is set for 16 feet.

Olympians Jay Sylvester, with a 224-5 world best in the discus, and sprinter Lee Evans, with a 43.8 world record in the 400 meters, should be easy winners.

Both Houston track coach John Morris and Villanova mentor Jumbo Elliot say their squads will crack the world standard of 9:33 for the distance medley. Houston has already run a 9:37.8 this season.

University of Texas distance man Kerry Pearce, with an indoor best of 8:20.6, will be shooting for the world outdoor two-mile mark of 8:19.6. He will face American record holder George Young, 8:22.0, and Frank Shorter of the Florida Track Club.

Half a dozen sub-four-minute milers will compete in the open invitational mile run and several 9.3 sprinters are entered in the 100-yard dash.

Two Fresno high schoolers are expected to provide the most excitement in the prep ranks with a concerted effort on the national prep triple jump record.

David Tucker of San Joaquin Memorial High School, the current national record holder at a phenomenal 52 6 1-4, will be pressured by crosstown rival Randy Williams of Edison High who formerly held the U.S. record with a best of 50 11 3-4.

The elementary and high school competition got underway this afternoon with the college and open division continuing through Saturday evening.

The relays, which have never been rained out, were canceled last year for the first time in history.

Gov. Ronald Reagan ordered the state college facilities (including the relays site) closed following the statewide campus disruptions over the Cambodian invasion.

FISH AND GAME

Breaking The Rules Can Cost Anglers

By AL GIDDINGS

Last year throughout California, Department of Fish and Game Wardens made 15,888 arrests. The fines totaled $508,738 which averages out to about $30 per arrest.

Recent cases in Marin County resulted in fines of $25 in five "two rod" cases and $20, $10 and $5 fines in three others of the same violation. Fines for no licenses, resulted in one of $25, two of $20, one of $10 and two persons received suspended sentences. Two people were fined $10 each for littering the bay waters with beer cans, and one person paid $30 for six salmon (three over the limit).

Statewide, the greatest number of arrests were made for angling without a license (6,599). Having a loaded gun in a car (1,282) and angling with more than one line were the next two violations most cited. Some people elected to take "jail time" instead of paying the fine. Jail days served amounted to 1,581.

Seven hunting licenses were revoked by the courts and seven hunting licenses were ordered suspended. Three angling licenses were revoked by the court, and five angling licenses were suspended.

Reserve game wardens throughout the state made 1,346 patrols. Ninety-four arrests were made by reserve wardens along with 1,332 assists. They used their personal vehicle for 58,273 miles of travel and worked 12,533 hours. All of this was on their own time without any type of financial compensation.

Regular state game wardens or wildlife protection officers also filed 105 complaints on either penal or other code sections, 37 on city or county ordinances, and turned over 498 cases for other agencies to file. Ninety-five of these involved felony charges. Half the money from all fish and game fines goes into the State Fish and Game preservation fund, the other half goes to the county in which the arrest has been made to be used in conservation work. In Marin County the Board of Supervisors acts as custodians of these funds. They have been used in the last three or four years to help finance the Boyd Junior Museum in San Rafael.

STRIPED BASS fishing in San Pablo still slow. I tried it with San Knoles up by Corrigidor. Total catch: Two limits of flounders (10 each). Flounders have a limit of 10 now under the "fin fish" regulations in the new fishing laws.

Sam gave it a second try, catching 10 more flounders and five king fish. All told over both days, there were only 12 boats in the entire bay! But cheer up, the bass will be down in the next two weeks from the Delta. Ray Lencie hit three big ones at the Richmond Bridge trolling, but couldn't connect again even though he tried it three straight days after that.

Salmon fishing is still tops. It gets rough, but if you can pick a good day, it's tops.

Shad fishing just starting to percolate in most of the regular spots. Get your gear ready!

PHOENIX, Lagunitas and Bon Tempe reservoirs and Rodeo Lagoon, all in Marin County, were scheduled to get plants of rainbow trout this week.

Softball Victory For Two Turtles

Ray Lotz pitched a four-hitter and Bill Valentine contributed two hits as they led the Two Turtles team to a 6-3 victory over Jacobsen Machine Shop last night in the San Rafael Softball League at Albert Park.

In the second game of a doubleheader, the Doves downed Fairfax Shell 4-2. John Burris was the winning pitcher and the Doves scored their winning runs on hits by Burris, Bob Kempf and Mike Davisson and a sacrifice by Jim Kreischer. Gary Springman had two hits for Fairfax.

PREP GOLF

Terra Linda Surprises Tamalpais

There's a saying among Marin County Athletic League golf coaches that the only things that are inevitable are death, taxes, and the Tamalpais High School Golf team winning its matches on its home course, Mill Valley Municipal.

But yesterday, the latter was proven wrong as Terra Linda High School soundly dumped the Indians, 180-188, on the formerly hallowed acres in the hills of Southern Marin.

In other MCAL golf matches, the two teams tied for second won easily, with San Rafael taking a 198-226 decision over Drake at San Geronimo, and Novato taking a 198-226 decision over Drake at San Geronimo, and Novato winning over San Marin, 214-222 at Indian Valley.

The MCAL race is now slightly more clearcut, with Terra Linda leading the pack with a 9-1 mark, and San Rafael and Novato are second at 7-2, both with easy makeup matches to play. Tamalpais, by virtue of its loss yesterday, is eliminated from title consideration.

Medalist and key figure in the Terra Linda victory was Art Cudworth, who shot a splendid 34 on the Mill Valley layout. Accoridng to Tam coach Paul Wata, this is only the fifth time in 13 years the Indians have been beaten on their home course.

Maggard To Coach U.S. Team

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—California track coach Dave Maggard was selected Thursday to coach the U.S. men's team in the Russian-American-World All-Stars triangular meet July 2-3.

Stan Wright, the chairman of the U.S. National Track and Field Committee, made the announcement. The meet will be held at the University of California's Edwards Stadium.

Wright said Maggard was elected by a vote of the national committee.

"Many of the members are collegiate coaches so you can say he was chosen by his peers throughout the nation," Wright said.

Maggard, 31, will be the youngest man ever to coach a U.S. international track and field team, and Wright said he thought he may be the youngest to ever coach any international team.

As an athlete, Maggard is the fifth longest shot putter in world track history with an all-time best of 67 4 1-4. He still holds the California school record in the shot put and was a member of the 1968 U.S. Olympic team.

Sam Snead Will Miss U.S. Open

Snead, the veteran golf pro who has won every major golf title with the exception of the U.S. Open, won't get a chance this year. The three-time Masters and PGA champion, who has entered every U.S. Open since 1937, missed the deadline and failed to file an entry this year.

Under U.S. Golf Association regulations, it is impossible for Snead to enter once the deadline has passed. Other name players have had their entries arrive after the deadline and have not been permitted to play.

Snead was stunned when he learned the date had passed. "In the past, they have always sent me a slip, but this time I never got one," he said. "I was going to play again and I'm going to try to reach the U.S. Golf Association people right away."

Snead, now 58, has won $472,590 on the PGA tour during his long career but has gained only $5,240 this year. His best finish was 25th in the National Airlines Open at Miami.

A record 4,335 entries were received by the USGA for the Open, scheduled for June 17-20 at Merion, Pa. Only 35 are exempt from qualifying so the remaining 4,300 will have to compete in local and sectional eliminations to determine the remaining 115 slots. Among those who must qualify this year are Masters champion Charles Coody, Doug Sanders, Chi Chi Rodriguez and George Archer.

WEST COAST RELAYS

Meet Records Expected

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI)—The record book for the 44th annual West Coast Relays may have to be rewritten this weekend.

Relays director Cornelius "Dutch" Warmerdam says many meet records from the elementary school through the college and open division will be under attack from the more than 1,800 athletes drawn from throughout the United States. Several American and world records also may fall.

The world record of over 18 feet for the pole vault is definitely threatened with former world record holder Bob Seagren leading several 17-foot-plus vaulters. Starting height is set for 16 feet.

Olympians Jay Sylvester, with a 224-5 world best in the discus, and sprinter Lee Evans, with a 43.8 world record in the 400 meters, should be easy winners.

Both Houston track coach John Morris and Villanova mentor Jumbo Elliot say their squads will crack the world standard of 9:33 for the distance medley. Houston has already run a 9:37.8 this season.

University of Texas distance man Kerry Pearce, with an indoor best of 8:20.6, will be shooting for the world outdoor two-mile mark of 8:19.6. He will face American record holder George Young, 8:22.0, and Frank Shorter of the Florida Track Club.

Half a dozen sub-four-minute milers will compete in the open invitational mile run and several 9.3 sprinters are entered in the 100-yard dash.

Two Fresno high schoolers are expected to provide the most excitement in the prep ranks with a concerted effort on the national prep triple jump record.

David Tucker of San Joaquin Memorial High School, the current national record holder at a phenomenal 52 6 1-4, will be pressured by crosstown rival Randy Williams of Edison High who formerly held the U.S. record with a best of 50 11 3-4.

The elementary and high school competition got underway this afternoon with the college and open division continuing through Saturday evening.

The relays, which have never been rained out, were canceled last year for the first time in history.

Gov. Ronald Reagan ordered the state college facilities (including the relays site) closed following the statewide campus disruptions over the Cambodian invasion.

Giants Have Much More Than Luck

Tito Fuentes summed it up best. "When you're going good even mistakes turn out good," he said after bunting with two out in the 11th inning of a 1-1 tie ball game and the winning run on second.

Fortunately, Fuentes' bunt rolled foul. A moment later he lined a single to center and his Giant teammate on second base raced home with the winning run that beat Houston's Astros 2-1 in Candlestick April 14.

"EVERYTHING the Giants are doing is turning out right for them," said Harry Walker after his Astros lost another extra inning game the following day to a 10th inning pinch home run by Fran Healy, the rookie's first major league home run in his first time at bat in the National League.

"Everything the Giants are doing now is turning out right for them," said Leo Durocher after his Cubs lost four straight in Candlestick following departure of the Astros. Healy went 4-for-4, including his second homer and four RBIs, in the final game of the Cub series because Dick Dietz was resting.

THEN THE Giants went on the road and won seven of nine games, the first two of which were 2-0 shutouts by Steve Stone and Ron Bryant in Pittsburgh and Art Routzong, front office official of the Pirates, said: "If the Giants continue to get pitching like that nobody is going to stop them."

Routzong's observation was, at least, different from the theme of everything-is-turning-out-right-now for the Giants.

But when the Giants visited Atlanta and swept a three-game series from the Braves, including one game in which George Foster went 4-for-4 when Willie Mays was resting, Luman Harris said: "Everything the Giants are doing now is turning out right for them."

AND WHEN the Giants moved on to Cincinnati to take two out of three from the Reds, Sparky Anderson came up with a verbatim repetition of the comments made by his three fellow National League managers — Walker, Durocher and Harris.

Of course, all of the managers were right. However, the Giants didn't do it all during the first month of the 1971 baseball season by luck. The fact is they have a pretty good ball club with unusual team balance in age and youth, pitching and defense, singles and home run hitters.

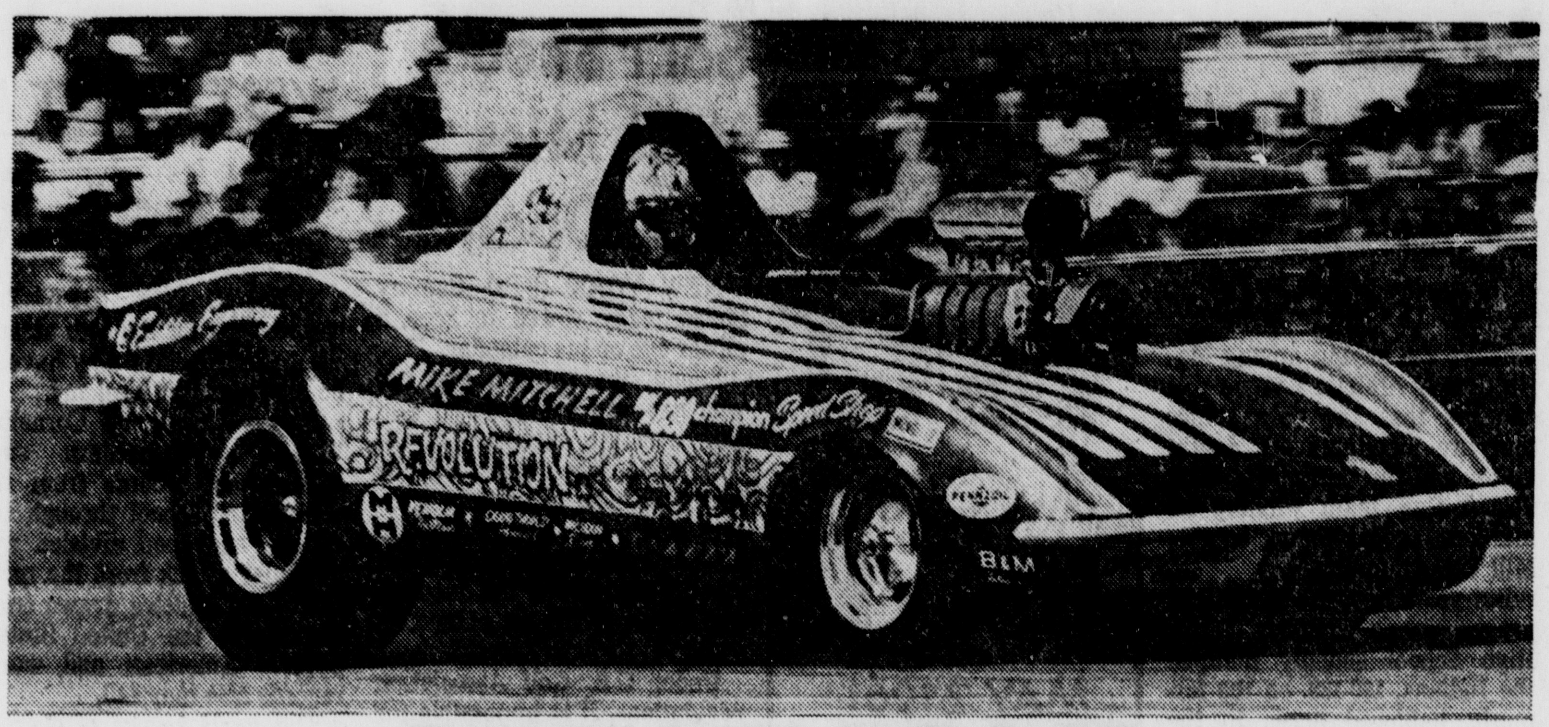
THE POTENTIAL of the Giants was there for everyone to see during spring training, particularly the great promise displayed in exhibition games by four rookies — Stone, Foster, Chris Speier and Jimmy Rosario — all of whom have performed handsomely in the games that count.

The outstanding relief of pitching of Jerry Johnson shouldn't surprise anyone who followed the spring training exhibitioners. Johnson merely is continuing to do in the games that count what he did all spring. In 21 exhibition innings eight games, Johnson was 2-0 allowing only two runs for a 0.86 ERA. In 19 innings of 11 games that count, Johnson is 3-0 plus two saves, allowing only one run for a 0.47 ERA. He was the bullpen ace during spring training. He still is.

Dinner For Brodie In Boulder Creek

BOULDER CREEK (UPI) — Quarterback John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers will be honored at a dinner Monday night at the Boulder Creek Country Club.

He will receive the "Third Down Trophy awarded by the Newspaper Enterprise Association to the most valuable player of each National Football League team as voted by his teammates. Brodie also was the NFL's most valuable player last year.



FUNNY CARS BUT FAST

Mike Mitchell of San Rafael will race his AA gas supercharged Corvette tomorrow night in the Funny Car class at Champion Speedway in Brisbane. Mitchell's car, which has been timed at 8.6 seconds in the quarter mile, 162 MPH, will be up against national record holder Dave Beebe. Gates open at 5 p.m., with the main races starting at 8.

Terra Linda Star Heads Marin Swim Delegation

Thom Guthrie of Terra Linda High School, who picked up two first places while breaking a league record in the Marin County athletic league championships last Saturday, leads Marin County varsity qualifying to the North Coast Section (NCS) division II meet tomorrow at College of Marin.

Guthrie, seeded second and third in his two sprint specialties, the 50 and 100-yard freestyle events will be going against the NCS's premier sprinter, Tony Patch of Acalanes of Lafayette in the 9 a.m. meet.

Redwood High School's Paul Cane and Brian Hennessy are seeded third in their events, Cane in the 200 individual medley behind Antioch's Dennis Boyd, and Hennessy behind John Collier of Piner (Santa Rosa) in the 100 butterfly.

These two Giant aces, in addition to swimming legs on Redwood's 4th place 400 free relay, will swim another individual event also — Cane, seeded in the 100 breast, and Hennessy ranked in the top 10 in the 200 free.

In varsity diving, Novato's John Summerfield is certain to place in the top three this weekend.

Terra Linda's 400 freestyle relay team, anchored by Guthrie, has the fastest qualifying time in the Division.

In Class B, Rick DeMont has everything his way, seeded first in both of his distance freestyle races. DeMont, who set two league marks last week, is listed 12 seconds under the Class B meet record in the 400.

Marin County swimmers are sitting pretty in the B 100 Breaststroke and 100 I.M., with Trojan Keith Strange and Giant Spencer Eldred listed 1-2 in each event.

Curtis Chinn of San Rafael ranks high in the freestyle sprints, with a fifth place seeding in the 50 and sixth place in the 100.

Jeff Grant, also of Terra Linda, is ranked third in the 50 fly.

In the relays, the Trojans, potential team champions in Class B, are the dominating team of the MCAL, with a second place medley seed and a fourth place freestyle listing.

Meet Director Chuch Metz expects about half of the division records to fall Saturday, and adds that Marin County teams, especially Terra Linda and Redwood, will fare very well this year.

Admission for the meet is $1 for adults, and 50 cents for children, with ample parking available at the college.

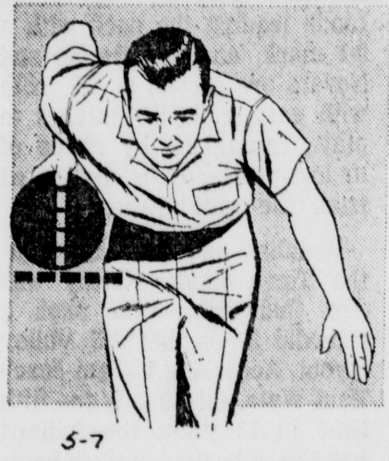
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



The wrist must remain firm throughout the delivery. Try to imagine your thumb being perpendicular to a line running parallel to the floor. This position may vary slightly if you have set the thumb a bit to the left with the intention of throwing a hook, but basically this "perpendicular" idea should be kept in mind.

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Taylor Douthit of the St. Louis Cardinals had had 547 putouts in the outfield in 1928.

Alcindor Wanted To Beat Knicks

NEW YORK (UPI) —Lew Alcindor today owns a new car he can barely squeeze into and a basketball crown he might feel doesn't quite fit.

Alcindor took possession Thursday of the automobile awarded by Sport Magazine for being named the Most Valuable Player in the National Basketball Association championship series with the Baltimore Bullets.

"I would have liked to have played and beaten the Knicks," Alcindor said, implying that the four-game sweep of the Bullets was too easy and New York, as defending champion, would have provided tougher opposition. "It would have eliminated all doubts."

Flanked by his 6-foot-3 father, Ferdinand Alcindor, and his 6-foot tall mother, Lew departed from his usual aloof posture and talked about his inner feelings at the award's presentation.

"Everybody has an obligation to his community," Alcindor said, "and it's hard on a lot of guys to fulfill them because they can't get away from their everyday jobs. I'm in a different position, but I'm still searching."

Alcindor leaves for Africa next month on a three-week State Department- sponsored tour that will take him to Algeria, Mali, Nigeria, Kenya, Tanzania and Somalia. Milwaukee Bucks coach Larry Costello and teammate Oscar Robertson will accompany him on the good-will trip that will stress the fundamentals of basketball.

"In a lot of ways, it's like going home," Alcindor explained as his reason for making the trip. "I want to see what the people are like and what they do, even though I feel closer to the West Indies, where my folks are from."

More 'Schooling' For Ten 49ers

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Ten players will be on hand starting May 18 for the annual five-day school for quarterbacks and linebackers of the San Francisco 49ers.

Coach Dick Nolan said the closed sessions will concentrate on blackboard work, film studies and some on-field drills.

Attending the session will be 1970 player of the year John Brodie, Steve Spurrier, Buster O'Brien, Dave Wilcox, Frank Nunley, Ed Beard, Skip Vanderbundt, Jim Sniadecki, Carter Campbell and Mel Phillips.

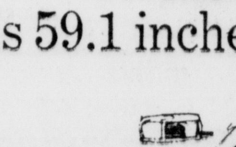
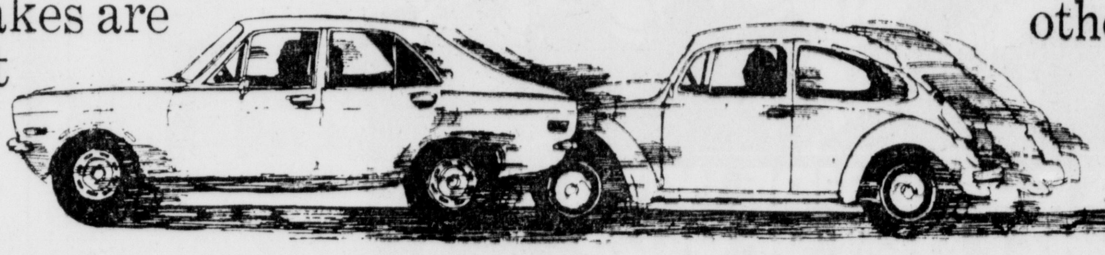
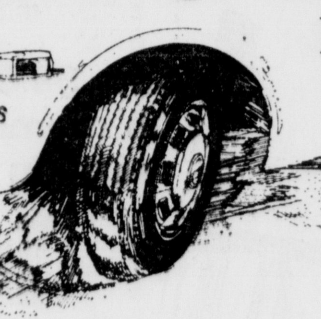
PLYMOUTH CRICKET. THE UNBEATABLE BUG.



Here are just a few of the things you get with the Cricket, that you don't get with the other bug:
First, more power. 70 horsepower is standard. (Guess who only gives you 60.)
Front power disc brakes are standard on Cricket. (Not V W.) When a car can go like Cricket, it's good to know you can get sure-footed stops.
Cricket's only 54.6 inches high. VW. is 59.1 inches high. Cricket's lower profile gives you a sleek, modern look. And isn't that the way you really want a car?



17% more horsepower than the other bug.



Radial ply tires are standard.
Cricket has a longer wheelbase than VW. (98 vs. 94.5 inches.) This means a smoother ride.
Radial-ply tires are standard equipment on the Cricket. The other bug still has the other type.
And Cricket is a better looking bug. With roomy, four-door comfort and a big trunk.
The list can go on and on.

THEN THE Giants went on the road and won seven of nine games, the first two of which were 2-0 shutouts by Steve Stone and Ron Bryant in Pittsburgh and Art Routzong, front office official of the Pirates, said: "If the Giants continue to get pitching like that nobody is going to stop them."

Routzong's observation was, at least, different from the theme of everything-is-turning-out-right-now for the Giants.

But when the Giants visited Atlanta and swept a three-game series from the Braves, including one game in which George Foster went 4-for-4 when Willie Mays was resting, Luman Harris said: "Everything the Giants are doing now is turning out right for them."

AND WHEN the Giants moved on to Cincinnati to take two out of three from the Reds, Sparky Anderson came up with a verbatim repetition of the comments made by his three fellow National League managers — Walker, Durocher and Harris.

Of course, all of the managers were right. However, the Giants didn't do it all during the first month of the 1971 baseball season by luck. The fact is they have a pretty good ball club with unusual team balance in age and youth, pitching and defense, singles and home run hitters.

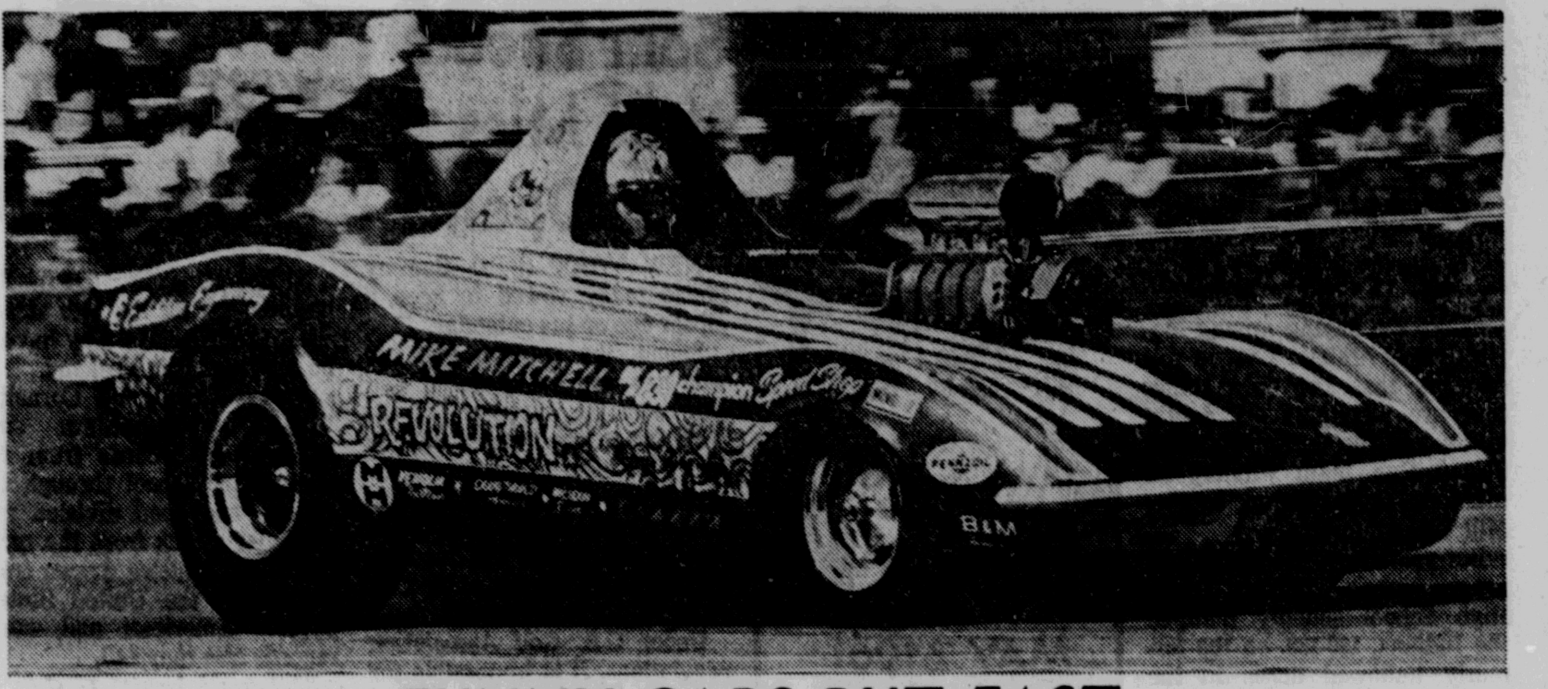
THE POTENTIAL of the Giants was there for everyone to see during spring training, particularly the great promise displayed in exhibition games by four rookies — Stone, Foster, Chris Speier and Jimmy Rosario — all of whom have performed handsomely in the games that count.

The outstanding relief of pitching of Jerry Johnson shouldn't surprise anyone who followed the spring training exhibitioners. Johnson merely is continuing to do in the games that count what he did all spring. In 21 exhibition innings eight games, Johnson was 2-0 allowing only two runs for a 0.86 ERA. In 19 innings of 11 games that count, Johnson is 3-0 plus two saves, allowing only one run for a 0.47 ERA. He was the bullpen ace during spring training. He still is.

Dinner For Brodie In Boulder Creek

BOULDER CREEK (UPI) — Quarterback John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers will be honored at a dinner Monday night at the Boulder Creek Country Club.

He will receive the "Third Down Trophy awarded by the Newspaper Enterprise Association to the most valuable player of each National Football League team as voted by his teammates. Brodie also was the NFL's most valuable player last year.



FUNNY CARS BUT FAST

Mike Mitchell of San Rafael will race his AA gas supercharged Corvette tomorrow night in the Funny Car class at Champion Speedway in Brisbane. Mitchell's car, which has been timed at 8.6 seconds in the quarter mile, 162 MPH, will be up against national record holder Dave Beebe. Gates open at 5 p.m., with the main races starting at 8.

Terra Linda Star Heads Marin Swim Delegation

Thom Guthrie of Terra Linda High School, who picked up two first places while breaking a league record in the Marin County athletic league championships last Saturday, leads Marin County varsity qualifying to the North Coast Section (NCS) division II meet tomorrow at College of Marin.

Guthrie, seeded second and third in his two sprint specialties, the 50 and 100-yard freestyle events will be going against the NCS's premier sprinter, Tony Patch of Acalanes of Lafayette in the 9 a.m. meet.

Redwood High School's Paul Cane and Brian Hennessy are seeded third in their events, Cane in the 200 individual medley behind Antioch's Dennis Boyd, and Hennessy behind John Collier of Piner (Santa Rosa) in the 100 butterfly.

These two Giant aces, in addition to swimming legs on Redwood's 4th place 400 free relay, will swim another individual event also — Cane, seeded in the 100 breast, and Hennessy ranked in the top 10 in the 200 free.

In varsity diving, Novato's John Summerfield is certain to place in the top three this weekend.

Terra Linda's 400 freestyle relay team, anchored by Guthrie, has the fastest qualifying time in the Division.

In Class B, Rick DeMont has everything his way, seeded first in both of his distance freestyle races. DeMont, who set two league marks last week, is listed 12 seconds under the Class B meet record in the 400.

Marin County swimmers are sitting pretty in the B 100 Breaststroke and 100 I.M., with Trojan Keith Strange and Giant Spencer Eldred listed 1-2 in each event.

Curtis Chinn of San Rafael ranks high in the freestyle sprints, with a fifth place seeding in the 50 and sixth place in the 100.

Jeff Grant, also of Terra Linda, is ranked third in the 50 fly.

In the relays, the Trojans, potential team champions in Class B, are the dominating team of the MCAL, with a second place medley seed and a fourth place freestyle listing.

Meet Director Chuch Metz expects about half of the division records to fall Saturday, and adds that Marin County teams, especially Terra Linda and Redwood, will fare very well this year.

Admission for the meet is $1 for adults, and 50 cents for children, with ample parking available at the college.

The wrist must remain firm throughout the delivery. Try to imagine your thumb being perpendicular to a line running parallel to the floor. This position may vary slightly if you have set the thumb a bit to the left with the intention of throwing a hook, but basically this "perpendicular" idea should be kept in mind.

Alcindor Wanted To Beat Knicks

NEW YORK (UPI) —Lew Alcindor today owns a new car he can barely squeeze into and a basketball crown he might feel doesn't quite fit.

Alcindor took possession Thursday of the automobile awarded by Sport Magazine for being named the Most Valuable Player in the National Basketball Association championship series with the Baltimore Bullets.

"I would have liked to have played and beaten the Knicks," Alcindor said, implying that the four-game sweep of the Bullets was too easy and New York, as defending champion, would have provided tougher opposition. "It would have eliminated all doubts."

Flanked by his 6-foot-3 father, Ferdinand Alcindor, and his 6-foot tall mother, Lew departed from his usual aloof posture and talked about his inner feelings at the award's presentation.

"Everybody has an obligation to his community," Alcindor said, "and it's hard on a lot of guys to fulfill them because they can't get away from their everyday jobs. I'm in a different position, but I'm still searching."

Alcindor leaves for Africa next month on a three-week State Department- sponsored tour that will take him to Algeria, Mali, Nigeria, Kenya, Tanzania and Somalia. Milwaukee Bucks coach Larry Costello and teammate Oscar Robertson will accompany him on the good-will trip that will stress the fundamentals of basketball.

"In a lot of ways, it's like going home," Alcindor explained as his reason for making the trip. "I want to see what the people are like and what they do, even though I feel closer to the West Indies, where my folks are from."

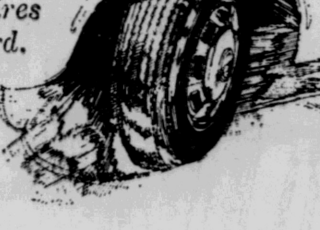
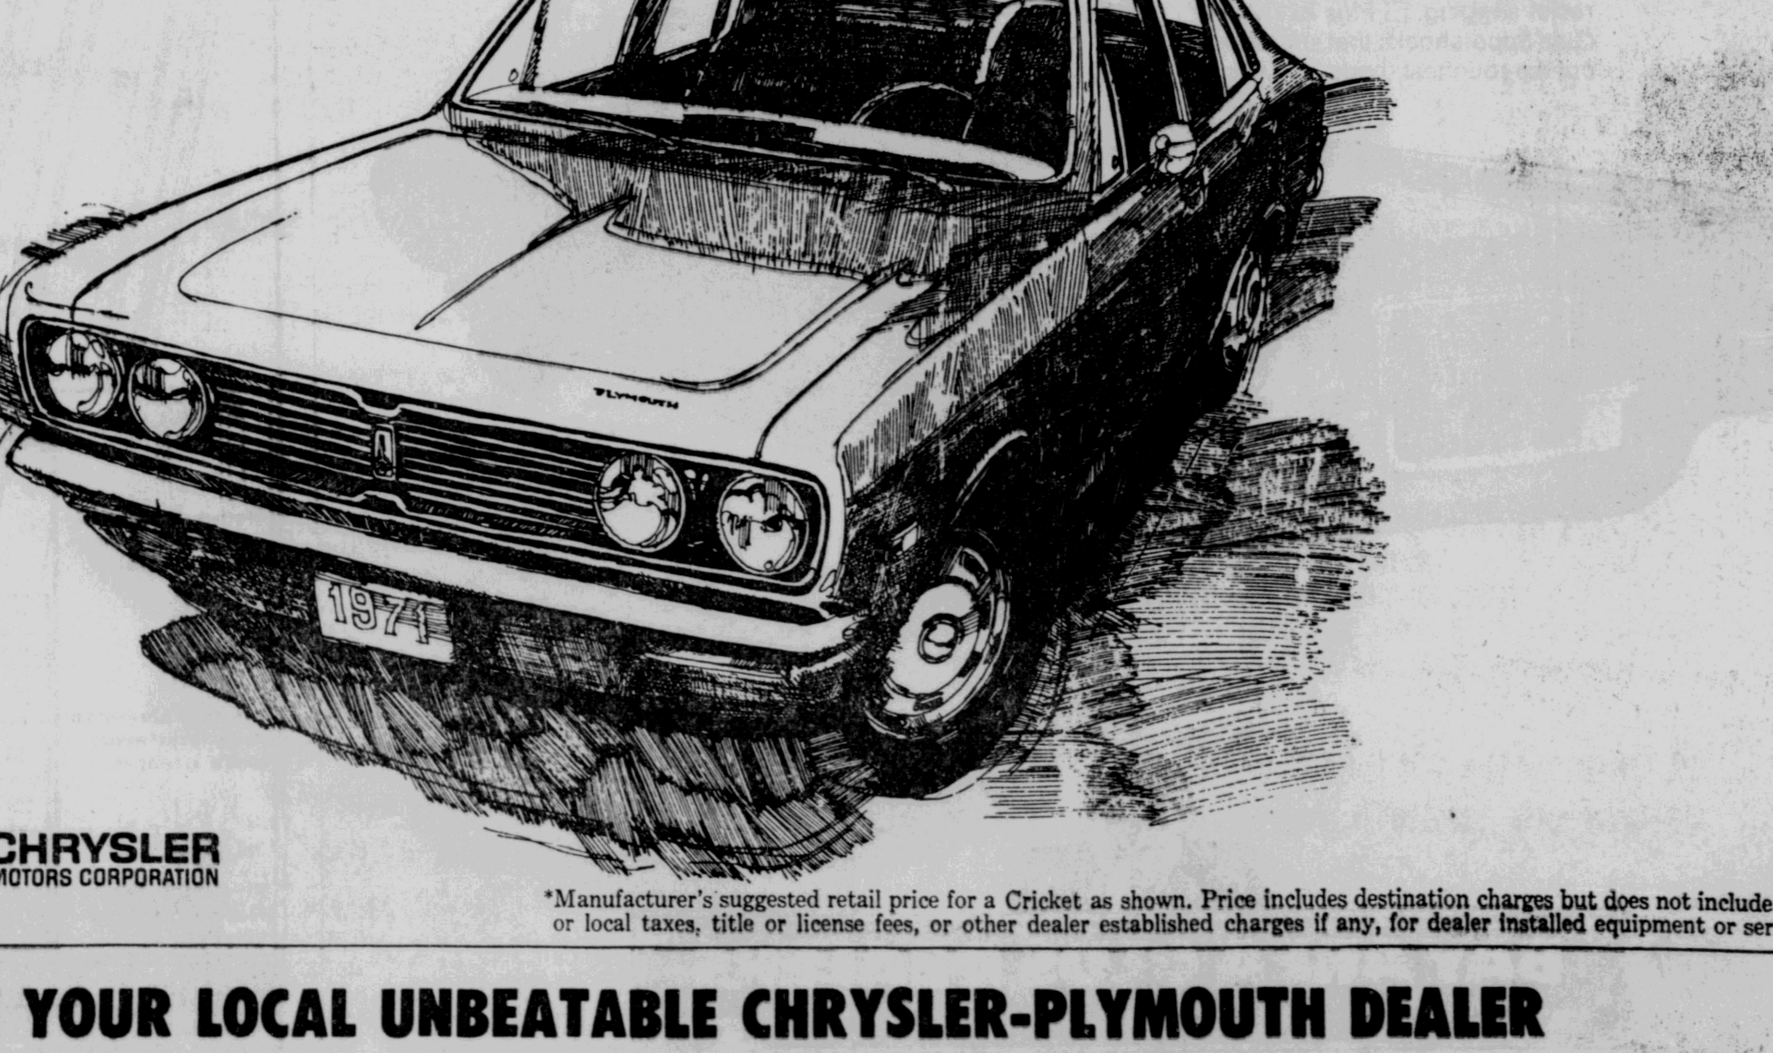
17% more horsepower than the other bug.



Radial ply tires are standard.



PLYMOUTH CRICKET.
THE UNBEATABLE BUG.

Here are just a few of the things you get with the Cricket, that you don't get with the other bug:
First, more power. 70 horsepower is standard. (Guess who only gives you 60.)
Front power disc brakes are standard on Cricket. (Not VW.) When a car can go like Cricket, it's good to know you can get sure-footed stops.
Cricket's only 54.6 inches high. VW. is 59.1 inches high. Cricket's lower profile gives you a sleek, modern look. And isn't that the way you really want a car?
Cricket has a longer wheelbase than VW. (98 vs. 94.5 inches.) This means a smoother ride.
Radial-ply tires are standard equipment on the Cricket. The other bug still has the other type.
And Cricket is a better looking bug. With roomy, four-door comfort and a big trunk.
The list can go on and on.
We'd like to show you everything that makes the Cricket unbeatable. Including a price that won't bug you. Available at selected Chrysler-Plymouth dealers.* $1965.*

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Investment Goal Needs Redirection

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q I hold Columbia Gas at a profit. I want to sell and buy another utility — Brooklyn Union Gas — for a better return. We are in our 40's and 50's and have children ages 10 and 13.—M. A.

A If you take the profit in Columbia Gas and buy Brooklyn Union you will increase your annual return by about $75. However, looking at the fundamentals of these situations, by doing this you will be forfeiting some growth. Columbia Gas has a 10-year record of consistent sales and earnings growth; Brooklyn Union does not. Columbia Gas shares have appreciated roughly 42 per cent since May, 1970; Brooklyn Union shares have moved generally sideways.

In your situation, you would be wiser to consider a stock with an established growth record and above-average appreciation potential such as Reynolds Industries or Squibb Beech-Nut.

Q I expect to retire early because of a disability, although my youngest child will be only 13. I have 1300 shares of Scudder-Duo Vest preferred and would like your opinion on the safety and advisability of this issue.—F. T.

A Your shares guarantee a minimum dividend of 64 cents a share — a generous current return of 7.1 per cent. Unpaid dividends are cumulative; and at present, arrearages have been reduced to 18 cents a share with further reductions expected. While as a preferred shareholder you cannot participate in asset growth, you can benefit from increased dividend distributions.

Being a closed-end investment company, shares trade on the basis of supply and demand. Thus discounts and premiums from net asset value can develop. The capital shares recently traded at a 19.9 per cent discount, but the preferred, supported by the dividend income, is only narrowly discounted.

Scudder, after two years, has been granted SEC approval to buy back equal amounts of both classes of stock. This should work to your advantage by reducing the discrepancy between the supply of and demand for these shares. Taking into consideration your investment needs, I see no reason to disturb your holdings.

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Levi Strauss & Co.'s board of directors has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 8 cents a share.

'Uneasy' Market In An Early Slide

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices dropped in active trading throughout the morning today as additional unpleasant economic news made its influence felt in an "uneasy" stock market.

Declining issues held a 906 to 243 lead over advances among the 1,478 issues on the tape shortly before noon. The Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 selected blue chips slid more than four points.

The Labor Department announced Friday that unemployment in April rose to 6.1 per cent and that the jobless rate among black Americans reached a seven-year high. On Thursday the government reported wholesale prices jumped in April, an indication to some that Washington is losing ground in the battle against inflation.

Gulf State Utilities and the American Broadcasting Companies, each dropping 1-4, led the active list. Other active issues losing fractions included the Southern Co., Chrysler, Gulf Oil, Southern California Edison, American Telephone and Telegraph, and Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

Oils were mixed, with Superior Oil gaining 2 while Atlantic Richfield, Standard of Californa and Getty each lost more than a point.

Airlines led by Delta off 1 3-4 were generally lower. Motors, rails and chemicals generally eased.

National General warrants at 7 3-8 off 3-8 on volume of 29,500 was a busy issue on the American Stock Exchange. Prices on the American Exchange moved lower in active trading.

Government Is Firm On Pollution Target

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government told automakers Thursday that it would fully enforce standards intended to eliminate nearly all exhaust pollutants by 1976 even if cars must cost more and run less efficiently.

William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, also served notice that the EPA would not invoke its power to postpone the deadline for one year unless all manufacturers fail to meet. If only one firm succeeds, he said, "all applications for suspension will be denied."

Spokesmen for several major automakers and Ruckelshaus outlined their positions at the start of EPA hearings on progress by the industry toward reaching the standards set last year by Congress. They require that carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon emissions be cut by 90 per cent on 1975 models, based on current levels, and that nitrogen oxide be reduced by the same amount on 1976 models.

Government authorities have estimated that automobile exhausts are responsible for about 50 per cent of the nation's air pollution. Ruckelshaus said the tough standards would have to be met and enforced or else the car "will remain a major threat to our public health."

Two manufacturers, Ford and Volkswagen, expressed strong doubts about their ability to comply with the standards and argued that acceptable antipollution devices might force motorists to pay 30 per cent for gasoline.

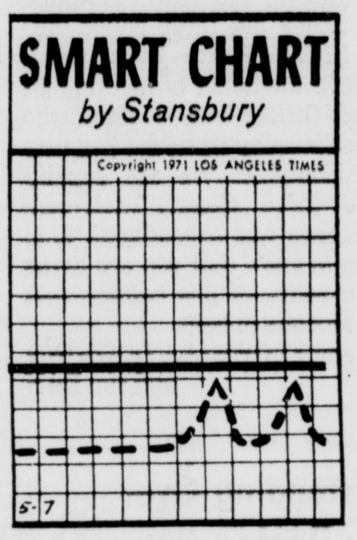
American Motors voiced even more pessimism. "There is virtually no possibility that production devices can be available to meet the 1975-1976 emissions standards as they are currently proposed," said John F. Adamson, the firm's vice president for engineering and research.

Ruckelshaus acknowledged that "the low emission car of the future may be a more expensive car" and that it might not operate like present models.

"But this is a price that may be necessary ...," he said. "The law itself does not permit traditional conceptions of satisfactory vehicle driving performance to stand in the way of whatever changes in vehicle design and power systems are needed to control emissions, the same is true with regard to vehicle costs."

Under questioning, officials of all three firms testified that new types of engines—gas turbines, steam or electric motors—absolutely could not be made available in time for 1975 or 1976 model production.

H. L. Misch, Ford vice president for engineering and manufacturing, and Herbert Heitland, director of emission research for Volkswagen, appeared with Adamson of American Motors on the first of two days of hearings by the EPA. Representatives of Chrysler and General Motors were to testify today.



"The competition is making waves."

Hall & Hall Joins Bay Area Firm

PORTSMOUTH SQUARE EQUITY CORP. has acquired Hall and Hall of Fresno, a retailer of mutual funds and life insurance in the San Joaquin Valley.

Portsmouth Square is a subsidiary of Portsmouth Square, Inc., a publicly held holding company, which has a number of stockholders in Marin. ARDEN-MAYFAIR, INC. reported net income of $381,000 or eight cents per common share on sales of $157 million for the 13-week period ended April 3. This compares with net income of $330,000 or six cents per common share on sales of $153 million a year ago.

GULF OIL CO. consolidated net income for the first quarter was $146.2 million, an increase of five per cent over the $139.2 million earned in the first three months of 1970. Earnings are equal to 70 cents per share, an increase of three cents from the first quarter of a year ago.

PACIFIC SOUTHWEST AIRLINES announced earnings of $350,000 on total revenues of $23.2 million for the first quarter, compared to earnings of $591,000 on revenues of $21.6 million for the like period of 1970. Earnings per common share were 13 cents, compared to 20 cents last year.

Wholesale Prices Pushed Upward .3% Last Month

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Higher charges for industrial products, led by sharp advances for metal products and building materials, pushed up wholesale prices by three tenths of one per cent in April, the government said yesterday.

Farm products held steady and prices of processed foods and feeds declined by 0.2 per cent, but that was less than usual for April.

The over-all wholesale price increase last month was higher than the 0.2 per cent rise in March, but well far under increases of 0.9 per cent in February and 0.7 per cent in January.

After seasonal adjustment, the April increase was 0.5 per cent compared with 0.3 per cent in March.

Wholesale prices at the end of April were 3.1 per cent above a year earlier. The index stood at 113.3, meaning that goods which cost $10 at wholesale in 1967 cost $11.33 in April.

The report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Labor Department indicated there was no lessening in the persistent inflation that the Nixon administration has been battling to conquer. Wholesale price increases normally show up later in consumer prices.

However, the consumer finished goods component of the index showed no change during April, although after seasonal adjustment there was a 0.4 per cent increase.

Hopeful Report By Standard Oil

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Board Chairman O.N. Miller of Standard Oil Company of California said yesterday the firm is hopeful of a favorable earnings trend for 1971.

Miller, speaking before the annual stockholders meeting, said earnings were not expected for the total year to be as high as the 16 per cent net income gain in 1971's first quarter.

Miller said recent oil price settlements with Persian Gulf countries and Libya were being generally reflected in higher crude and product prices in consuming areas abroad. He added that if this trend continued it would not appreciably affect the company's earnings.

"I believe we can expect more harmony and stability in our relations with these counties than we have experienced for some time," he said, adding that the settlements were "highly important to the entire Free World, in the light of the dependency on this area as a major source of energy."

Steel Imports Up At Record Rate

WASHINGTON — (BW) — Records fell as steel imports rose in March, American Iron & Steel Institute (AISI) has reported.

Government-supplied data showed that 1,254,000 tons of foreign steel entered the United States during the month, a new March record. As a result, the import total for the first three months of 1971 was 3,788,000 tons. This is the most steel ever imported during the first quarter of any year.

Pulp Workers Get C-Z Offer

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The bargaining committee of the Association of Western Pulp & Paper Workers Thursday was offered a new two-year contract proposal by Crown Zellerbach.

The company estimated the total cost of the final offer for settlement at $1.07 per hour. The offering includes a general wage increase of 6¾ per cent the first year and 7 per cent the second year.

Crown Zellerbach began bargaining talks with the AWPPW on March 22. The negotiations between the company and the union involve seven mills, six in Washington and Oregon, and the company's Antioch mill in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Paper Exports

NEW YORK (UPI)—Industry exports of paper and board in 1971 are expected to rise by 5 per cent to 3 million tons, valued at $580 million, A. B. Dick Company reports. Imports are seen rising by 2 per cent to 7.7 million tons, valued at $1.1 billion.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Investment Goal Needs Redirection

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q I hold Columbia Gas at a profit. I want to sell and buy another utility — Brooklyn Union Gas — for a better return. We are in our 40's and 50's and have children ages 10 and 13.—M. A.

A If you take the profit in Columbia Gas and buy Brooklyn Union you will increase your annual return by about $75. However, looking at the fundamentals of these situations, by doing this you will be forfeiting some growth. Columbia Gas has a 10-year record of consistent sales and earnings growth; Brooklyn Union does not. Columbia Gas shares have appreciated roughly 42 per cent since May, 1970; Brooklyn Union shares have moved generally sideways.

In your situation, you would be wiser to consider a stock with an established growth record and above-average appreciation potential such as Reynolds Industries or Squibb Beech-Nut.

Q I expect to retire early because of a disability, although my youngest child will be only 13. I have 1300 shares of Scudder-Duo Vest preferred and would like your opinion on the safety and advisability of this issue.—F. T.

A Your shares guarantee a minimum dividend of 64 cents a share — a generous current return of 7.1 per cent. Unpaid dividends are cumulative; and at present, arrearages have been reduced to 18 cents a share with further reductions expected. While as a preferred shareholder you cannot participate in asset growth, you can benefit from increased dividend distributions.

Being a closed-end investment company, shares trade on the basis of supply and demand. Thus discounts and premiums from net asset value can develop. The capital shares recently traded at a 19.9 per cent discount, but the preferred, supported by the dividend income, is only narrowly discounted.

Scudder, after two years, has been granted SEC approval to buy back equal amounts of both classes of stock. This should work to your advantage by reducing the discrepancy between the supply of and demand for these shares. Taking into consideration your investment needs, I see no reason to disturb your holdings.

PT&T In Pitch For Rate Hikes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. declared it needed financial strength "to do its job" Monday while asking the State Public Utilities Commission for a $195 million rate increase.

Its brief is one of the last steps in a rate case that started 14 months ago.

Levi Dividend

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Levi Strauss & Co.'s board of directors has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 8 cents a share.

'Uneasy' Market In An Early Slide

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices dropped in active trading throughout the morning today as additional unpleasant economic news made its influence felt in an "uneasy" stock market.

Declining issues held a 906 to 243 lead over advances among the 1,478 issues on the tape shortly before noon. The Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 selected blue chips slid more than four points.

The Labor Department announced Friday that unemployment in April rose to 6.1 per cent and that the jobless rate among black Americans reached a seven-year high. On Thursday the government reported wholesale prices jumped in April, an indication to some that Washington is losing ground in the battle against inflation.

Gulf State Utilities and the American Broadcasting Companies, each dropping 1-4, led the active list. Other active issues losing fractions included the Southern Co., Chrysler, Gulf Oil, Southern California Edison, American Telephone and Telegraph, and Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

Oils were mixed, with Superior Oil gaining 2 while Atlantic Richfield, Standard of Californa and Getty each lost more than a point.

Airlines led by Delta off 1 3-4 were generally lower. Motors, rails and chemicals generally eased.

National General warrants at 7 3-8 off 3-8 on volume of 29,500 was a busy issue on the American Stock Exchange. Prices on the American Exchange moved lower in active trading.

Government Is Firm On Pollution Target

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government told automakers Thursday that it would fully enforce standards intended to eliminate nearly all exhaust pollutants by 1976 even if cars must cost more and run less efficiently.

William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, also served notice that the EPA would not invoke its power to postpone the deadline for one year unless all manufacturers fail to meet. If only one firm succeeds, he said, "all applications for suspension will be denied."

Spokesmen for several major automakers and Ruckelshaus outlined their positions at the start of EPA hearings on progress by the industry toward reaching the standards set last year by Congress. They require that carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon emissions be cut by 90 per cent on 1975 models, based on current levels, and that nitrogen oxide be reduced by the same amount on 1976 models.

Government authorities have estimated that automobile exhausts are responsible for about 50 per cent of the nation's air pollution. Ruckelshaus said the tough standards would have to be met and enforced or else the car "will remain a major threat to our public health."

Two manufacturers, Ford and Volkswagen, expressed strong doubts about their ability to comply with the standards and argued that acceptable antipollution devices might force motorists to pay 30 per cent for gasoline.

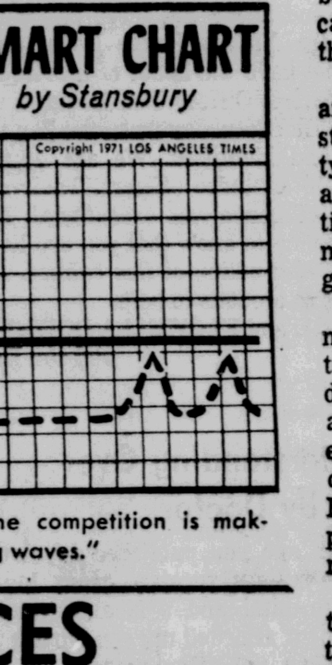
American Motors voiced even more pessimism. "There is virtually no possibility that production devices can be available to meet the 1975-1976 emissions standards as they are currently proposed," said John F. Adamson, the firm's vice president for engineering and research.

Ruckelshaus acknowledged that "the low emission car of the future may be a more expensive car" and that it might not operate like present models.

"But this is a price that may be necessary ...," he said. "The law itself does not permit traditional conceptions of satisfactory vehicle driving performance to stand in the way of whatever changes in vehicle design and power systems are needed to control emissions, the same is true with regard to vehicle costs."

Under questioning, officials of all three firms testified that new types of engines—gas turbines, steam or electric motors—absolutely could not be made available in time for 1975 or 1976 model production.

H. L. Misch, Ford vice president for engineering and manufacturing, and Herbert Heitland, director of emission research for Volkswagen, appeared with Adamson of American Motors on the first of two days of hearings by the EPA. Representatives of Chrysler and General Motors were to testify today.



"The competition is making waves."

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Hall & Hall Joins Bay Area Firm

PORTSMOUTH SQUARE EQUITY CORP. has acquired Hall and Hall of Fresno, a retailer of mutual funds and life insurance in the San Joaquin Valley.

Portsmouth Square is a subsidiary of Portsmouth Square, Inc., a publicly held holding company, which has a number of stockholders in Marin. It has a 67-per cent equity in the 31-story, 572-room Holiday Inn's Chinatown-Financial Center Hotel in San Francisco. Subsidiaries include York Securities Corp., Robo Bay Cities, Inc. and Pacific Continental Securities, Inc., which it acquired earlier this year.

Wholesale Prices Pushed Upward .3% Last Month

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Higher charges for industrial products, led by sharp advances for metal products and building materials, pushed up wholesale prices by three tenths of one per cent in April, the government said yesterday.

Farm products held steady and prices of processed foods and feeds declined by 0.2 per cent, but that was less than usual for April.

The over-all wholesale price increase last month was higher than the 0.2 per cent rise in March, but well far under increases of 0.9 per cent in February and 0.7 per cent in January.

After seasonal adjustment, the April increase was 0.5 per cent compared with 0.3 per cent in March.

Wholesale prices at the end of April were 3.1 per cent above a year earlier. The index stood at 113.3, meaning that goods which cost $10 at wholesale in 1967 cost $11.33 in April.

The report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Labor Department indicated there was no lessening in the persistent inflation that the Nixon administration has been battling to conquer. Wholesale price increases normally show up later in consumer prices.

However, the consumer finished goods component of the index showed no change during April, although after seasonal adjustment there was a 0.4 per cent increase.

Hopeful Report By Standard Oil

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Board Chairman O.N. Miller of Standard Oil Company of California said yesterday the firm is hopeful of a favorable earnings trend for 1971.

Miller, speaking before the annual stockholders meeting, said earnings were not expected for the total year to be as high as the 16 per cent net income gain in 1971's first quarter.

Miller said recent oil price settlements with Persian Gulf countries and Libya were being generally reflected in higher crude and product prices in consuming areas abroad. He added that if this trend continued it would not appreciably affect the company's earnings.

"I believe we can expect more harmony and stability in our relations with these counties than we have experienced for some time," he said, adding that the settlements were "highly important to the entire Free World, in the light of the dependency on this area as a major source of energy."

Steel Imports Up At Record Rate

WASHINGTON — (BW) — Records fell as steel imports rose in March, American Iron & Steel Institute (AISI) has reported.

Government-supplied data showed that 1,254,000 tons of foreign steel entered the United States during the month, a new March record. As a result, the import total for the first three months of 1971 was 3,788,000 tons. This is the most steel ever imported during the first quarter of any year.

Pulp Workers Get C-Z Offer

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The bargaining committee of the Association of Western Pulp & Paper Workers Thursday was offered a new two-year contract proposal by Crown Zellerbach.

The company estimated the total cost of the final offer for settlement at $1.07 per hour. The offering includes a general wage increase of 6¾ per cent the first year and 7 per cent the second year.

Crown Zellerbach began bargaining talks with the AWPPW on March 22. The negotiations between the company and the union involve seven mills, six in Washington and Oregon, and the company's Antioch mill in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Paper Exports

NEW YORK (UPI)—Industry exports of paper and board in 1971 are expected to rise by 5 per cent to 3 million tons, valued at $580 million, A. B. Dick Company reports. Imports are seen rising by 2 per cent to 7.7 million tons, valued at $1.1 billion.

For Law And Order: Mayor Joe Alioto

San Francisco's Mayor Joseph Alioto came out foursquare this week against demonstrations which interfere with the freedom of people to go about their daily business in his city.

He called for prosecution "to the fullest extent of the law" of anyone arrested for violations during Wednesday's attempt to disrupt the financial district by an outfit calling itself the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice.

SAN FRANCISCO, declared Mayor Joe in a telegram from Washington, D.C., where he was attending a conference, has a tradition "that dissent must be non-violent and kept within the provisions of the law."

"It has further been our policy that those who foster violence or break the laws will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of those laws and all requests for amnesty will be denied."

He continued:

"Our definition of violence includes the physical obstruction of any street, sidewalk or public entrance to a building."

THE SAN FRANCISCO mayor thereby put himself unequivocally in agreement with those who believe that laws are enacted for the protection of the citizen from harassment, threats or violence as he goes about his daily tasks.

This right of everyone to follow his peaceful pursuits in peace is, of course, fundamental to an orderly society. But quite a few people seem to have forgotten it.

IN FACT, Mayor Joe himself forgot it temporarily a few months ago.

On Feb. 3, he appeared at a rally outside the Marin County Civic Center with Leon Olson and Donald Abrams of the San Francisco Typographical Union and Jack Goldberger of the Teamsters Union.

The occasion for the rally was the appearance by the three union officials to start serving 15-day jail sentences imposed by Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court.

Judge Keating imposed the sentences for contempt of his injunction of Jan. 28, 1970, forbidding violence in connection with a strike of the typographical union against the Independent-Journal.

On Feb. 14, 1970, Olson, Abrams and Goldberger helped direct a demonstration around the I-J plant in downtown San Rafael in which, not only were streets, sidewalks and public entrances to a building blocked, but almost every window in the I-J Building was broken, a truck was burned, and assorted other violence occurred.

BUT WHEN HE APPEARED at the Civic Center with the three, Mayor Joe declared: "I think the jailing of responsible labor leaders ought to have gone out with high-button shoes."

That might be interpreted as a plea for amnesty — such a plea as, in the case of Wednesday's protesters in San Francisco, Mayor Joe insisted "will be denied."

We're pleased to see the San Francisco mayor now so forthrightly opposed to disturbance of the peace of his city. We reject the suggestion that Mayor Joe's present stance is taken because he does not feel the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice could benefit him politically as much as — say, the labor unions. Such a suggestion is outrageous!

Drops of Dew

These early May mornings the grass and trees in Marin are heavy with dew.

For many years we thought dew was water in one of its purest forms. These days it is no longer true in many parts of the country. Oxides of sulphur and nitrogen, as well as ammonia gases, in air pollution foul even the dew drops.

Fortunately, the situation in Marin has not progressed that far — at least, not yet.

CAPITOL REPORT

Why Not Let The Voters Decide School Vs. Welfare Priority?

By RUS WALTON

Many school districts in California need more money to keep up with inflation and other increasing costs and demands.

Some high school districts, for example, have had to cut back to five-period days and eliminate or curtail extra-curricular activities. So, lots of kids are getting out of school earlier these days and, instead of playing baseball or the saxophone in the school band, they're playing around on street corners with little to do.

Yet, year after year voters turn down school tax increases and bonds. In a way you can't really blame them.

IF THE TAXPAYER had the same opportunity to vote on taxes for welfare — if he could vote for more money for schools or more money for welfare — it might be a different story. The schools might get more money.

What is needed is a constitutional amendment which would require that before county supervisors could increase the welfare budget, or increase county taxes for welfare programs, they would have to get the approval of the voters.

How about this: "No county shall increase taxation for the purpose of funding increased expenditures for public assistance programs without such being presented as an increase in the tax rate and such increase being approved by a majority of the electorate in that county."

Such a proposal would never get through the existing legislature. But, if it ever got on the ballot, it would pass in a breeze.

A SIMILAR SITUATION exists at the state level. Year after year welfare expenditures increase — about 20 per cent annually. One of the funds being held back because of this is the one for the state aid to local schools.

The Reagan administration has tried to bring the state's share of school support up to the 50-50 ratio but increasing costs in welfare and Medi-Cal make this impossible.

There is a way: let the people decide just how much of their state tax money they want to spend on welfare and Medi-Cal. Heresy? Unconstitutional? What the heck, it's their money!

AS A MATTER OF FACT maybe that constitutional amendment on welfare spending and taxes should come in two parts — one part requiring voter approval at the county level, and this:

"It is the stated policy of the people of California that in any fiscal year not more than 30 per cent of the total general revenues shall be expended for public assistance programs, and the state legislature shall make annual appropriations not to exceed that amount for such purpose."

Some lady down in Los Angeles got one million signatures on petitions demanding that something be done to cut the costs of welfare. If she really wanted to make an impact, she could get those million signatures on petitions to help qualify such a constitutional amendment for the ballot next year.

Many Aided Search For Dog In Novato

We would like to thank the wonderful people of Novato who helped in the search for a dog which bit our son Dan on April 28. The Novato school students, our good neighbors, the Marin Humane Society, and above all, three police officers of the Novato Police Department. We did not have the honor of meeting all three. We met Officer Don Dequine who was with Dan Saturday when the dog was located and identified. We are equally thankful to all three officers. Their concern and diligence was exceptional. It is a good feeling to know that you are living in a city with police of this caliber, and neighbors so anxious to help.

Misunderstanding Over Billing By Doctor

A month ago you published my letter regarding billings received from Marin General Hospital and a local physician for treatment afforded my son during the oil-spill clean up. I had understood the shots had been given by volunteers, and the material for the shots was to be paid for by Standard Oil.

As is usually the case in situations like this, the real problem was a communications gap — on both sides. There was no billing by doctor or hospital for the tetanus shot. The entire billing related to the poison oak, the circumstances of which were not clear to the doctor. If my letter raised questions over the ethics of the hospital or the physician, I wish to dispel them now.

May 7, 1961

President John F. Kennedy said he planned to follow up the first successful U.S. space flight with a request to Congress for more money for the space program.

20 YEARS AGO

May 7, 1951

Most of southern Marin was without electric power for two hours after a plane piloted by a Glendale man crashed through power lines near San Rafael.

Delinquent taxes on the Marin County assessment role amounted to only a little over two per cent, County Tax Collector M. F. Donohue announced.

Suggestion Scorned When Offered Free

In Nvember, 1964, I wrote a letter to Mr. T. D. Hardcastle, who was then one of the directors of the Golden Gate Bridge District, my idea of a simple barbed wire suicide barrier, enclosing a sketch of same.

I then received a letter Nov. 24 from Mr. Arthur C. Jenkins, bridge engineer, stating that he had received my letter and sketch from Mr. Hardcastle. There the matter stayed.

My suggestion was to weld T-iron bar extensions up four feet on the rail support posts, with the top 12 inches bent inboard at a 30-degree angle. Then thread barbed wire strands a foot apart through these extension bars. This would be installed both on the east and west railings.

This type of installation was placed on a high bridge over a street in Portland, which had a bad record of suicides. After this barbed wire barrier was installed the suicide rate dropped practically to zero.

On Oct. 29, 1970, the firm of Anschen and Allen were given $5,000 to come up with the designs for a suicide barrier on the Golden Gate Bridge.

According to the I-J of May 1, the firm came up with proposals figuring the cost about $4 million to $750,000 . . .

The bridge directors would rather hire a high-priced structural engineering firm and spend a few million dollars rather than get the same results with a barbed wire barrier.

Teacher Speaks Up To Support Toliver

As a teacher in the Sausalito School District for six years, I feel it necessary to write a letter in support of James T. Toliver, with whom I worked at Martin Luther King School. Although I have not been involved this school year, I feel the four years I worked with Mr. Toliver gave me ample background to comment on his professionalism.

I have always found Mr. Toliver to be extremely cooperative and supportive of the staff, especially in the areas of discipline and interpersonal interactions with the students. It seemed to me that he was often able to prevent student-teacher problems from erupting into major crises. He was effective both in the roles of teacher and special assistant to the staff.

I find it very difficult to understand the charges brought against Mr. Toliver in an effort to fire him. I view him as an essential staff member. Without his service I do not feel Martin Luther King School would have been able to run effectively.

Nixon's Actions In Vietnam Help A Formidable Opponent

WASHINGTON — More politicians are beginning to see Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington as a serious contender for the Democratic presidential nomination.

So is Senator Jackson.

He is stepping-up his speaking and he is shortly going to New Hampshire to feel out his prospects for an early primary test.

My information is that President Nixon himself views Jackson as a formidable opponent — and yet only Nixon can produce the circumstances which could bring Jackson decisively to the fore by the time of the Democratic convention.

Here are the reasons:

THERE ARE TWO conditions necessary to give Senator Jackson a chance of getting the nomination. The U.S. will have to be out of Vietnam by late summer in 1972 and it will have to be evident that Vietnam will not be a significant issue in the campaign.

Only President Nixon can bring these conditions into being. In my judgment he is already in the process of doing so.

Thus Nixon will be producing the circumstances which could pit him against the Democratic candidate he believes most difficult to defeat.

ON GROUNDS of both politics and policy, the President has no alternative.

He believes he is turning over the defense of South Vietnam to the South Vietnamese in a way and at a pace in the best interest of the United States and of peace in Southeast Asia. The timetable for completion of this withdrawal is next fall. The plan is ahead of schedule and will probably be speeded up.

Nixon knows that in order to have a fairly even chance of winning himself in '72, Vietnam must be decisively diffused as a political issue.

Just as this will strengthen Nixon in his campaign for re-election, it will also strengthen Jackson in any campaign for the nomination.

It will help Jackson:

Because removing Vietnam as an issue will mute his former hawkishness.

Because it will wipe out some of the basis of the opposition of the Democratic left to his candidacy.

Because it will enable him to focus on his own outstanding liberal record on domestic issues.

ONE OF THE ARGUMENTS most often advanced against Senator Jackson is that his nomination would offer voters no adequate alternative to Nixon, that they're too much alike. This is certainly the view of most of the Democratic presidential aspirants and many on the political left.

But the arguments against Jackson on this score can also with equal validity be put in reverse. Why should those who want to vote against Nixon on the ground he is not handling urgent domestic matters effectively be forced to vote for a Democratic candidate whose foreign policy they deeply disapprove? The Republican Party faced exactly this dilemma in 1952. It really wanted to nominate Robert A. Taft but in the end it rejected his isolationism and chose General Eisenhower even though Eisenhower's foreign policy would be parallel to that of Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.

At the moment the semi-isolationist stance of most Democratic leaders seems quite popular, but it may not remain so. In another year most voters in both parties may want to return to a bipartisan foreign policy resting on the full awareness that the United States must share large responsibilities in keeping the peace.

Armies Of The Righteous Just Not Numerous Enough

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON —The old technique of ignoring a bore in hopes he'll go away doesn't work with bores of deep faith and righteous conviction. This is especially true of those who feel they are called from on high to offer a public testament against evil.

Admittedly, nobody tried ignoring the professedly antiwar battalions that encamped here during the past couple of weeks. Theirs was the most publicized encampment since — no, not since anything. They set an all-time record for column inches and broadcast minutes, despite the ineffectiveness of their efforts to close down the federal government. But then the hard core of the campers turned out to have more faith in all-night rock than anything else.

IT IS THEIR SPIRITUAL opposites who have been ignored lately —the pro-war, antirock, church-going, close-shaven legions of the evangelistic right. And they are appropriately furious about it. Instead of going away, they are coming to town this week end, under the leadership of none other than the Rev. Carl McIntire.

His Patriots March for Victory is scheduled to step off smartly from the Washington Monument grounds at noon Saturday, and whatever else the patriots may be wrong about, they are right in their advance predictions that the newspaper reporters and television cameramen will stay home in battalions instead of covering their demonstrations.

To be sure, there are some good reasons for this. In his full-page newspaper advertisements drumming up marchers, Dr. McIntire suggests that his supporters "watch the press. Contrast the manner in which the press reports the April 24 march for the so-called peace groups and the May 8 march for victory." In a radio broadcast, the medium in which he is most at home and free-wheeling, he maintained that "the other side has the blessing of Hanoi and the blessing of the press."

FROM THE PRESS' OWN point of view, you would hear reporters explaining that they had their share of tear gas and broken heads last week end and city editors complaining that they had already exceeded their budgets for staff overtime for this quarter. Thus neither has any enthusiasm for overcovering a demonstration which vows in advance to be orderly and which is sure to be made up of more hard-hats and American Legion-types than braless college girls and pot-powered musicians.

Not that that effectively answers McIntire's assertions. It confirms them to a degree, makes clear that unwashed demonstrators threatening upheaval automatically outrank peacful pro-war marchers in the opinion of most people paid to make news judgments. Of course McIntire was implyinG more than that; he meant to charge up his followers with the belief that the media discriminate because media people have more sympathy for the Viet Cong flag than the red-white-and-blue, more for the uglies in second-hand fatigues than for the middle Americans in Sunday suits and overseas caps. There is an occasional smidgen of truth in that generality, too.

But the single aspect of the past week's disturbances that makes them of more legitimate news value is something McIntire could not afford to mention. It is the simple fact that his gathering is not going to approach the earlier demonstrations in sheer size.

GRANTED, THE PREACHER is doing his blessedest to turn out a crowd. He did a marathon broadcast to raise funds from the folks out there in Radioland, and the folks out there are calling to tell him about the buses they had chartered and where people could board them for the Saturday round-trip to Washington. Between phone calls the Rev. Dr. would sprinkle in editorial comment about the nature of the opposition.

He bemoaned the "terrible desecration and sacrilege" of the hordes that preceded him in the capital. "But that crowd will all be gone and we can go in and clean up the town, that's what it'll amount to." A caller asked if he thought they should come in early and fumigate — "there might be some lice left" — and the preacher enjoyed that.

"Shame on them folks, shame on them!" he declared. "In the name of peace they're tearing the peace to pieces." But don't worry, he promised — "We're going to have more there than the hippies had."

Well, that was just whistling in the ether. They're not going to have that many, and that is the best reason, among many others, why the pro-war demonstrators should stay at home, too. Once they show up in their relatively few thousands, by contrast they provide one more item of evidence for the depressing thesis that the uglies shall inherit the earth.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

For Law And Order: Mayor Joe Alioto

San Francisco's Mayor Joseph Alioto came out foursquare this week against demonstrations which interfere with the freedom of people to go about their daily business in his city.

He called for prosecution "to the fullest extent of the law" of anyone arrested for violations during Wednesday's attempt to disrupt the financial district by an outfit calling itself the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice.

SAN FRANCISCO, declared Mayor Joe in a telegram from Washington, D.C., where he was attending a conference, has a tradition "that dissent must be non-violent and kept within the provisions of the law."

"It has further been our policy that those who foster violence or break the laws will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of those laws and all requests for amnesty will be denied."

He continued:

"Our definition of violence includes the physical obstruction of any street, sidewalk or public entrance to a building."

THE SAN FRANCISCO mayor thereby put himself unequivocally in agreement with those who believe that laws are enacted for the protection of the citizen from harassment, threats or violence as he goes about his daily tasks.

This right of everyone to follow his peaceful pursuits in peace is, of course, fundamental to an orderly society. But quite a few people seem to have forgotten it.

IN FACT, Mayor Joe himself forgot it temporarily a few months ago.

On Feb. 3, he appeared at a rally outside the Marin County Civic Center with Leon Olson and Donald Abrams of the San Francisco Typographical Union and Jack Goldberger of the Teamsters Union.

The occasion for the rally was the appearance by the three union officials to start serving 15-day jail sentences imposed by Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court.

Judge Keating imposed the sentences for contempt of his injunction of Jan. 28, 1970, forbidding violence in connection with a strike of the typographical union against the Independent-Journal.

On Feb. 14, 1970, Olson, Abrams and Goldberger helped direct a demonstration around the I-J plant in downtown San Rafael in which, not only were streets, sidewalks and public entrances to a building blocked, but almost every window in the I-J Building was broken, a truck was burned, and assorted other violence occurred.

BUT WHEN HE APPEARED at the Civic Center with the three, Mayor Joe declared: "I think the jailing of responsible labor leaders ought to have gone out with high-button shoes."

That might be interpreted as a plea for amnesty — such a plea as, in the case of Wednesday's protesters in San Francisco, Mayor Joe insisted "will be denied."

We're pleased to see the San Francisco mayor now so forthrightly opposed to disturbance of the peace of his city. We reject the suggestion that Mayor Joe's present stance is taken because he does not feel the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice could benefit him politically as much as — say, the labor unions. Such a suggestion is outrageous!

Drops of Dew

These early May mornings the grass and trees in Marin are heavy with dew.

For many years we thought dew was water in one of its purest forms. These days it is no longer true in many parts of the country. Oxides of sulphur and nitrogen, as well as ammonia gases, in air pollution foul even the dew drops.

Fortunately, the situation in Marin has not progressed that far — at least, not yet.

Why Not Let The Voters Decide School Vs. Welfare Priority?

By RUS WALTON

Many school districts in California need more money to keep up with inflation and other increasing costs and demands.

Some high school districts, for example, have had to cut back to five-period days and eliminate or curtail extra-curricular activities. So, lots of kids are getting out of school earlier these days and, instead of playing baseball or the saxophone in the school band, they're playing around on street corners with little to do.

Yet, year after year voters turn down school tax increases and bonds. In a way you can't really blame them.

IF THE TAXPAYER had the same opportunity to vote on taxes for welfare — if he could vote for more money for schools or more money for welfare — it might be a different story. The schools might get more money.

What is needed is a constitutional amendment which would require that before county supervisors could increase the welfare budget, or increase county taxes for welfare programs, they would have to get the approval of the voters.

How about this: "No county shall increase taxation for the purpose of funding increased expenditures for public assistance programs without such being presented as an increase in the tax rate and such increase being approved by a majority of the electorate in that county."

Such a proposal would never get through the existing legislature. But, if it ever got on the ballot, it would pass in a breeze.

A SIMILAR SITUATION exists at the state level. Year after year welfare expenditures increase — about 20 per cent annually. One of the funds being held back because of this is the one for the state aid to local schools.

The Reagan administration has tried to bring the state's share of school support up to the 50-50 ratio but increasing costs in welfare and Medi-Cal make this impossible.

There is a way: let the people decide just how much of their state tax money they want to spend on welfare and Medi-Cal. Heresy? Unconstitutional? What the heck, it's their money!

AS A MATTER OF FACT maybe that constitutional amendment on welfare spending and taxes should come in two parts — one part requiring voter approval at the county level, and this:

"It is the stated policy of the people of California that in any fiscal year not more than 30 per cent of the total general revenues shall be expended for public assistance programs, and the state legislature shall make annual appropriations not to exceed that amount for such purpose."

Some lady down in Los Angeles got one million signatures on petitions demanding that something be done to cut the costs of welfare. If she really wanted to make an impact, she could get those million signatures on petitions to help qualify such a constitutional amendment for the ballot next year.

San Marin High School

As students, we at San Marin High School have failed in what are supposed to be our most essential lessons. Hopefully students should be inquisitive, questioning and critical, and should be able to form logical conclusions from their inquiries. We should be able to base our decisions for action from these conclusions.

With these skills students should be able to function successfully within their environment. Unfortunately, as I stated before, we students have failed, or else we have overlooked our most immediate and obvious environment: the school system.

TO EXPLAIN this conviction, I shall begin by noting specifically how we students have failed and then attempt to analyze why we have failed.

To begin with, I stated that students should be inquisitive and so on. How else should we learn? Schools have fulfilled some basis for questioning, that we may enlarge and deepen our curiosity. But schools have gone beyond this and have assumed the authority and responsibility of deciding what we will learn, how we will learn it, and when we will learn it. Perhaps a more accurate substitute term for learning would be "taught" or "inoculated with". Who gave the schools, administrators, and teachers this privilege? Obviously no one gave it to them, they captured it; and no one questioned their right to shape our minds as they pleased. Some people may react to this statement as if it were emotional rhetoric. Assuming that most teachers want students to be as perceptive as possible, how can they account for the fact that until recently no students questioned their position, their subject matter, or their teaching methods? Could it be that we are grateful for and comfortable with the teacher's position above us? I don't think so.

The high probability is that school has gradually destroyed much of our curiosity and that many teachers have bored us nearly to submission with their subject matter and methods.

As a last resort we gather together our bruised curiosity, our hibernating creativity, and use our youthful energy to limp out of school searching for the combination with which we might unlock our minds. Fortunately most students find some way to partially escape these ill effects, but very few come out unhurt.

Students are able to daydream, draw, talk with friends, play games and devise many many other amusements to save themselves from boredom. However this approach is not satisfactory; it usually makes teachers mad and inspires them to work harder, on you!

LET US SHOW teachers and administrators what fine educational habits we've developed. Let us question the way in which the school is organized, the amount of time we have to be there for instance. Let us question policy and regulations, why is there no officially sanctioned area for smoking? Why must attendance be as rigidly monitored? Let us question teachers and curriculum, why must they brandish the flaming grade over heads? Why can we not have more say as to what we are to study?

If we students could simply get-it-together we would probably find that no rule, regulation or policy is so sacred as to be able to govern us. In fact we would probably find that the answer to the questions is that as the vital element in the school we have not questioned. We are citizens in a democracy, at least so we've been taught. Democracy demands constant watchfulness, criticism and participation from its members. How can we become valuable members of our democratic society (an objective of education) if we haven't had any practical experience with democracy? This is seldom provided by most student governments.

Before students can form some logical conclusions on which to base decisions for action we must begin to question immediately and on a large scale. Of course we should not question arbitrarily or without convictions but can at least keep teachers on their toes. Our silence is our crime and failure and I am as guilty as anyone.

The choice is ours, we can to a large extent determine the quality of our education, and obtain our rights as citizens of this great democracy. We students seem to have forgotten one simple fact: Nobody can run the school without us.

Should City Buy Wooded Lot For Benefit Of Its Neighbors?

A group of Sausalito residents living in the vicinity of Cazneau Avenue has asked the city council to help save a wooded lot on the street which is slated for development.

The residents feel the two-thirds acre parcel should remain an open space park. They have no wish to see houses bloom on the land, fondly known as "the Glen."

They have suggested the city might help in purchase of the property, either by donating part of the $70,000 purchase price or establishing a city-side assessment district to finance the cost.

THE RESIDENTS' WISH to preserve a little open space in Sausalito's hill area (where open land is rapidly diminishing) is admirable. But the methods they are recommending to achieve their goal appear questionable.

Should those living in Sausalito's Old Town or Marinship areas pay for what will be a neighborhood park? It seems unlikely that people from all over the city will travel to Cazneau Avenue to use the small wooded area.

While such a park may increase property values on the street and its environs ("three bedroom home, close to park"), it will do nothing along that line for persons who live in other areas.

And should the city put out taxpayers' money to buy the glen when it is already heavily committed to build on the waterfront property which it acquired through voter approval of a $560,000 bond issue?

IF THE CITY council would like to encourage development of neighborhood parks, perhaps it could make a token contribution to the project. Or the council could support attempts to find funds from the government or from private foundations.

But, if residents in the surrounding area genuinely want the glen to be retained in its natural state, they should be willing to pay the cost of preservation since they will be the chief beneficiaries.

If the city decides to pay a substantial part of the cost of the glen or form a city-wide assessment district, what is to stop other groups throughout Sausalito from demanding that other lots be saved in their neighborhoods?

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Genuine Fusselman Watch Has Built-In Memory Bank

Anent the front-page yarn in the I-J about Doug Maloney, the county counsel, giving Alan Bruce a "Bill Fusselman watch." It was a going away gift and when Bruce put it on his wrist he quipped, "Wonder if it runs backward?"

I know you will join me in understanding why this wondered Bruce. It's quite natural that he wouldn't want any more wrong-way devices attached to his record here. "Ferheavensake" no! You know what? I think there was a big Freudian hangup on Doug's part when he gave Bruce the watch.

For several years Bruce wouldn't let the county counsel, along with other department heads, report to the board of supervisors direct, if he could help it. It was evident that the county counsel resented the administrator acting as legal adviser. Action brought reaction and Doug seemed to be moving more and more into the field of administrating officer. He also asserted his right to be the legal entity. What better revenge than to give Bruce something that would annoy him?

Now respecting the watch: I hold the basic patents on it and if that watch was an authentic one, it will not be required to run backwards, as it has a built-in memory bank with a quick return. It also would have an outlet for hooking it up with a transcriber.

LAST WEEK I sent in 50 per cent more copy than normal and they ran out of space. So they had to drop several lines, resulting in strange syntax. The lines left out simply addressed the board and admonished them to take it easy.

When Supervisors Bud Baar, John McInnis and Michael Wornum voted on Tuesday to open up the recruitment to fill the administrative position, there was hopeful evidence that at least three supervisors had been getting the message from the folks who pay the bill.

McInnis was quoted thusly: "The county has reached a point of real contention about whether there should even be an administrator. I've received calls to abolish the office." He agreed with other supervisors that the idea was "unthinkable." That would be unthinkable to the board members.

SINECURE (Random House Dictionary—College Edition) — "An office or position requiring little or no work, esp. on yielding profitable returns."

Fourteen years have gone by, with ever-mounting unnecessary costs together with more and more abdication on the part of the several boards of supervisors — abdication of not only those things scooped up by the administrator, but others.

You may recall that in this column on Feb. 26 I quoted from a conversation with a friend of mine who is a close observer of the local government scene: "They (the supervisors) are paid $12,000 a year and the people expect them to earn it. They are not being paid to just look handsome at the board meetings while they intone questionable pearls of wisdom supplied by the staff."

Well, that's "30" for today, my friends.

Students Neglect To Use Learning Process In School

By MIKE METTEER
San Marin High School

As students, we at San Marin High School have failed in what are supposed to be our most essential lessons. Hopefully students should be inquisitive, questioning and critical, and should be able to form logical conclusions from their inquiries. We should be able to base our decisions for action from these conclusions.

With these skills students should be able to function successfully within their environment. Unfortunately, as I stated before, we students have failed, or else we have overlooked our most immediate and obvious environment: the school system.

TO EXPLAIN this conviction, I shall begin by noting specifically how we students have failed and then attempt to analyze why we have failed.

To begin with, I stated that students should be inquisitive and so on. How else should we learn? Schools have fulfilled some basis for questioning, that we may enlarge and deepen our curiosity. But schools have gone beyond this and have assumed the authority and responsibility of deciding what we will learn, how we will learn it, and when we will learn it. Perhaps a more accurate substitute term for learning would be "taught" or "inoculated with". Who gave the schools, administrators, and teachers this privilege? Obviously no one gave it to them, they captured it; and no one questioned their right to shape our minds as they pleased. Some people may react to this statement as if it were emotional rhetoric. Assuming that most teachers want students to be as perceptive as possible, how can they account for the fact that until recently no students questioned their position, their subject matter, or their teaching methods? Could it be that we are grateful for and comfortable with the teacher's position above us? I don't think so.

The high probability is that school has gradually destroyed much of our curiosity and that many teachers have bored us nearly to submission with their subject matter and methods.

As a last resort we gather together our bruised curiosity, our hibernating creativity, and use our youthful energy to limp out of school searching for the combination with which we might unlock our minds. Fortunately most students find some way to partially escape these ill effects, but very few come out unhurt.

Students are able to daydream, draw, talk with friends, play games and devise many many other amusements to save themselves from boredom. However this approach is not satisfactory; it usually makes teachers mad and inspires them to work harder, on you!

LET US SHOW teachers and administrators what fine educational habits we've developed. Let us question the way in which the school is organized, the amount of time we have to be there for instance. Let us question policy and regulations, why is there no officially sanctioned area for smoking? Why must attendance be as rigidly monitored? Let us question teachers and curriculum, why must they brandish the flaming grade over heads? Why can we not have more say as to what we are to study?

If we students could simply get-it-together we would probably find that no rule, regulation or policy is so sacred as to be able to govern us. In fact we would probably find that the answer to the questions is that as the vital element in the school we have not questioned. We are citizens in a democracy, at least so we've been taught. Democracy demands constant watchfulness, criticism and participation from its members. How can we become valuable members of our democratic society (an objective of education) if we haven't had any practical experience with democracy? This is seldom provided by most student governments.

Before students can form some logical conclusions on which to base decisions for action we must begin to question immediately and on a large scale. Of course we should not question arbitrarily or without convictions but can at least keep teachers on their toes. Our silence is our crime and failure and I am as guilty as anyone.

The choice is ours, we can to a large extent determine the quality of our education, and obtain our rights as citizens of this great democracy. We students seem to have forgotten one simple fact: Nobody can run the school without us.

Drainage Cost Split Session Set

Ross Valley Flood Control board members and Town of Ross officials will meet with Army Corps of Engineers representatives at 2 p.m. Monday at corps district headquarters in San Francisco to see if the Army will pick up part of the $350,000 tab for drainage improvements in Ross.

The flood control zone's budget next fiscal year hinges on whether or not the Army will be willing to pay, and if so, how much.

Although they have indicated they would like to see the Army pick up the entire bill, board chairman Neil R. Brixon and county flood control engineer Charles Murphy said yesterday that no specific amount would be mentioned at this preliminary meeting.

They said the purpose of the meeting is to determine Army willingness to assist.

The discussions will center on drainage improvements at the Ross Common and on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. The projects tie into the corps of engineers' flood control work on the Corte Madera Creek.

A choice between three budget proposals will be determined by the outcome of meetings with the engineers.

The first proposal — based on total Army assumption of the two improvement projects — calls for no tax rate and would use reserves to finance operational cost of $24,100 during the coming fiscal year.

A second choice calls for a tax rate of 25 cents and would raise $270,000 of which $215,000 would be designated for drainage work with the remaining $135,000 to be budgeted in the following year.

A final choice would levy a 27-cent tax rate and raise the total amount needed for drainage improvement and include use of reserves. The latter choices, according to Murphy, are in case the Army refuses to pay for the Ross projects.

Youth Bound Over On Charge

A 20-year-old Petaluma youth has been bound over to Sonoma County Superior Court for allegedly possessing pills and a blanket that had been stolen from an auto.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon, acting after a preliminary hearing in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court, ordered William Ray Baxman of 808 Keokuk Street to appear in Superior Court in Santa Rosa Wednesday.

Baxman is accused of possession of stolen property and dangerous drugs. He was arrested April 25 while hiding in bushes on Keokuk Street, Petaluma, with items taken from an auto that was parked nearby.

San Anselmo Citizenry Set For Town Meeting

San Anselmo citizenry tomorrow will flex its civic muscle as it launches its sixth annual town meeting at which will be aired the hopes and dreams of the community and — if the past is a clue to the future — some solutions to problems.

The San Anselmo Town meeting, oldest of such gatherings in Marin and originally known as the Congress for Community Progress, has long been a public forum through which residents have made their wishes known to city government.

Participants in the meeting tomorrow will have their choice of 14 discussion groups to bore in on the community's problems, ranging from parks and open space through coping with drug abuse, efficient city budgeting and better dog control.

Town meeting chairman Martin G. Blinder said the program in the Redwood High School little theater will begin at noon with a general meeting and orientation films. Two-hour discussion sessions for the 14 groups will begin at 12:45 p.m., followed by another general assembly at which "facilitators" — group leaders — will report on their panels' discussions and conclusions. A dinner-dance will end the day.

Group topics were chosen as the result of answers to a community survey in 1970 and a series of small discussion meetings earlier this year.

The town meeting, which needed only five discussion groups on civic problems in its second session in 1967, has through the years been a major influence on city government and other local agencies, as well as arousing citizens to participate in public affairs.

A total of 50 volunteers will lead the discussion groups or act as resource experts for tomorrow's panels, Blinder said. lmo

The drug abuse task force, assisted by Lt. Al Howenstein of the San Anselmo Police Department and James Kilty, director of drug education schools and the Catholic Social Services in Marin County, is expected to discuss establishing a drug prevention center for the city. Andy Andewiel and Gerald Wooliever will lead the group discussion.

Low and moderate-income housing will be discussed in a group led by John Najarian and Vernon Cox, with resource expertise supplied by Gerald J. Hood, manager of the Marin Housing Authority and Marion Kelley, member of the Citizens Committee on Zoning and Housing.

Hood has been seeking low cost housing in San Anselmo for more than 40 applicants and his task force might be able to hlep city officials determine their role. The San Anselmo Planning Commission has attempted to require contractors to provide some moderate cost housings in large developments, but has been blocked by City Council because of questions over the legality of such action.

Other workshop sessions will feature:

Parks and open space — led by Cappy Cline and Mrs. Michael Kelly; resource by Larry Husband, city parks and recreation commissioner.

Recreation and young people — led by Jim Miller and Roger W. Hedin; resource, Jim Miller.

Traffic and transportation — Facilitators, David Rohner and Don Martin; resource, Judy Ainsworth of the League of Women Voters of Central Marin.

Preservation of San Anselmo's unique character — led by Jack H. Olive and Laura Conn; resource, John West, county planning commissioner.

Protection of San Anselmo's environment — led by Thomas J. Peacock and Everett Farey.

Expanded children's day care care services — led by Sue Hulpke and Mimi Beall with resource aid from Joseph Denhart, children's centers director for the county school department and Sue Carpenter of the San Anselmo Welfare Rights Organization.

Improved library services — led by Carol Goltz and Mrs. T. Kremer; resource, Jacquelyn Mollenkopf.

Efficient use of school dollars —led by Keith McPherson and Mary Jane Chetelat; resources by San Anselmo School Dist. Supt. Kenneth Lowry and Trustee Eugene E. Jacks.

Efficient use of town dollars — Facilitators, Sarah Nome and Gene E. Turtle; resource, Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro and City Admin. Alfred C. Kaeppel.

Bird's Eye View Of A Tinderbox

TEL Aviv (UPI)—Israeli military chiefs took Secretary of State William P. Rogers on an aerial tour over their fortress at Sharm el Sheikh in occupied Egypt today and the American diplomat declared:

"I have a much better understanding of the whole problem. I have a better understanding of the area."

The plane tour of Israeli installations came after Rogers conferred Thursday with Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir on avenues toward Middle East peace. A U.S. spokesman described the talks as "animated", indicating that Mrs. Meir and her aides were resisting Rogers' efforts to obtain some softening in Israel's stance on peace terms.

Rogers' second and final meeting with Prime Minister Golda Meir and her top cabinet aides got under way in her ivy-covered Tel Aviv office and promised to be a lengthy session, with the secretary pushing for a softening of Israel's peace stance.

The meeting was the final item on Rogers' official agenda before departing Saturday to conclude his Middle East peaceseeking swing.

"Any time you see something personally, you have a better idea of the whole problem," Rogers said after visiting Sharm el Sheikh. "Certainly from the standpoint of the terrain I have a much better idea."

Rogers was taken on the tour by the chief of staff of the Israeli armed forces, Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, and the intelligence chief, Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv. The group flew in Air Force 2, the silver and blue jetliner which serves as a backup to President Nixon's aircraft—Air Force 1.

Germany Opts For Flating The Mark

BONN (UPI)—The West German cabinet decided today to let the value of the deutschesmark float upward in a move to halt the flow of cheap dollars into the country.

Chancellor Willy Brandt conferred with his cabinet all day in urgent session to follow up the German decision on Wednesday to stop supporting the dollar with official purchases to keep up its value.

The cabinet laid down the instructions that Foreign Minister Walter Scheel and Economics Minister Karl Schiller will take to a European Common Market meeting Saturday in Brussels to seek joint action to meet the crisis. The plight of the dollar and the rush to buy gold has touched off one of the worst monetary crises in years.

"Did Schiller win the support of the cabinet?" Ahlers was asked. "Yes," Ahlers replied.

Ahlers said Brandt, at the cabinet meeting today, told Scheel and Schiller to get joint action by the six members of the Common Market—West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. But he made it clear Germany would act alone if France continued to balk.

Nation's Jobless Count Continued Climb In April

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Unemployment rose in April to 6.1 per cent of the work force and the jobless rate for Negro workers reached the highest point in more than seven years, the government said today.

The April increase from the 6.0 per cent rate in March put national joblessness just under a nine-year high of 6.2 per cent reached last December.

After holding steady at 9.4 per cent since December, joblessness for Negro workers rose to 10 per cent during April. This was the highest since January, 1964, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The increase in black unemployment resulted mainly from increased joblessness among adult women. The unemployment rate for white workers remained at 5.6 per cent.

Although the jobless rate moved upward, the BLS report said "the employment situation was essentially unchanged in April" because the 6.1 per cent unemployment rate was "not significantly different" from the 6 per cent figure in March.

The BLS said the number of jobless workers declined in April while total employment went up.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson issued a statement acknowledging the unemployment rise was a disappointment because he felt other economic indicators had been pointing toward a drop in joblessness.

Hodgson specifically cited

Magee Takes Up Angela's Cause

San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee — whose latest-court appointed attorney thinks he may be suffering from "racial paranoia," — took the law into his own hands again yesterday, filing a legal petition on behalf of Angela Davis.

Magee, who has insisted for months that he should act as his own laywer, apparently also doesn't think Miss Davis's staff of six attorneys are doing all they can.

He petitioned the State Court of Appeal to release her on a writ of habeas corpus, saying she was being "illegally confined and restrained of her liberty."

Magee, 32, and Miss Davis, 27, are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in connection with the Civic Center shoot-out last August in which Judge Harold J. Haley and three others were killed.

Magee, who files petitions in state and federal courts with monotonous regularity, contended in his latest writ that Miss Davis was indicted during a time when the state did not have jurisdiction since he had petitioned federal courts to take over the case.

He also contended that the indictment against her alleged only legal acts — her advocacy of freedom for the Soledad Brothers and her purchase of four guns used in the shoot-out.

Miss Davis, in an article published yesterday in a Sausalito magazine called "Black Scholar," referred to the shoot-out as an "insurrection."

She did not, however, implicate herself in the shooting.

In the longest writing she has sent out of Marin County Jail, Miss Davis said the gun battle was a catalyst that "forced broader sectors of the American public to become cognizant of the terror which reigns in this country's penal institutions."

Meanwhile, in a memorandum summing up his understanding of the case to which he was appointed Wednesday, Ernest L. Graves of Los Angeles raised several possible defenses for Magee.

Graves said that if the courts continued to rule that Magee is not competent to represent himself, he may be found not competent to stand trial.

Graves posed the question that if Magee continues to refuse to cooperate with court-appointed counsel because he sees himself the victim of a white conspiracy to murder him, would not that be "evidence of his present insanity or incapacity to . . . understand . . . the proceedings against him?

"We must determine whether or not we are dealing with a case of diminished responsibili-

Analysis Of Money Crisis Sees U.S. Trade Deficit As Culprit

LONDON (UPI)—The western nations were plunged almost without warning this week into their sharpest economic crisis in years.

Its outcome still is uncertain.

But it has left American tourists in Europe suddenly short of cash for meals and hotel bills.

It could spark a major political as well as a money crisis.

It has threatened to topple the once "almighty dollar" from the dominant position it has enjoyed for a quarter century.

In the end, it could hit every American at home in the pocketbook.

Here are some of the questions it has raised and the best available answers:

Q: What has happened?

A: Five Western European nations—West Germany, Austria, Belgium, The Netherlands and Switzerland —suddenly stopped buying U.S. dollars Wednesday. Others closed foreign exchange markets and cut buying and selling of all foreign money to a bare minimum until they could see what will happen. Japan has indicated it also may take similar action soon.

Q: Why did they do so?

A: Because billions of unwanted dollars have flooded into West Germany and other European countries recently.

Despite Washington denials, there have been persistent rumors that the dollar — considered overvalued by many Europeans —might be devalued. Similar rumors have said the strong West German mark might be revalued upward. As a result of these rumors, bankers, businessmen and speculators have been rushing to sell dollars and buy marks in the hope of making a quick profit.

Q: What sparked the rumors?

A: Recent weakness of the dollar in European markets. In 1970 the U.S. foreign payments balance showed a deficit of $10.7 billion. In the first three months of 1971 alone the deficit hit $4 billion. This was largely due to heavy investment abroad by American businessmen, the cost of the Indochina War and of keeping 250,000 U.S. troops in Europe, and the U.S. foreign aid program.

The United States has financed this deficit largely by

Strawberry Cove Plan Is Rejected

Apartment Developer Loses Agency Round

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — A hotly disputed plan for 96 apartments on Strawberry Cove was rejected yesterday by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Developer Paul J. Broman's application for a permit got only two votes, with 15 commissioners opposing it. Permits require 13 votes.

Broman told the Independent-Journal he immediately will file an amended plan with BCDC, but the vote apparently sent his plan all the way back to the Marin County Planning Commission — where it started 17 hearings and two years ago, according to his count.

The chairman of BCDC, Melvin B. Lane of Menlo Park, said that commission rules require approval by the affected city or county before a new or substantially amended application can be considered.

Broman insisted that the only change he intended to make, to cantilever a public boardwalk instead of supporting it on pilings in the bay, was "just a construction detail" that the county planning department—

Bus Line Eyes Seashore Link

Marin County Transit Systems, heavily dosed with subsidies from the Golden Gate Bridge District and Marin County, is working on a plan to get federal funds for a West Marin service that would compete with its two benefactors.

The Marin City-based company drafted the plan in a "concept paper" that called for a two to three-year demonstration using 13 buses shuttling between Sausalito and Tiburon ferry terminals and Point Reyes National Seashore.

The plan, a copy of which the Independent-Journal obtained today, was drafted last month, and has been shown to state and federal officials — but never to bridge district or county officials.

In a possibly related step, a subsidiary of the company, Berkeley Charter Lines, applied last month to the Public Utilities Commission for a permit to extend its routes to Stinson Beach.

The county transit district, however, yesterday requested the PUC to withhold action on the application. The district's acting general manager, James B. Robertson, wrote the PUC that the application was "in direct conflict with plans by the Golden Gate Bridge District to operate a countywide bus system."

Under PUC rules, the application would have been granted without a public hearing if no protest had been received.

Robertson, asked about the "concept paper," told the Independent-Journal that "we have not been informed of this, nor do we know the intent of this."

The general manager of the bridge district, Dale W. Luehring, said the proposed federal grant never had been discussed with bridge officials. Such grants can be made only through public agencies, he said.

Noting that the district's own application for a grant to cover up to two thirds of its $10 million bus system pending in Washington, Luehring said "it would be extremely difficult to justify two operations."

Paul R. Kahn, vice president of Marin County Transit Systems, told the I-J that the dem-

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Author 'Going Into Hiding'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Erich Segal, the Yale University professor of classics who rose to fame and fortune by authoring "Love Story," says he has had it with the public life.

Segal

"I am going into hiding," Segal said yesterday.

Segal, 34, who has given lectures, appeared on television talk shows and had numerous magazine and newspaper articles written about him since the success of his book and a movie of the same title, said "I am returning to the scholarly life."

Segal said he was "sick of reading about Erich Segal, the monster" and of meeting airline stewardesses who slip him their apartment keys and believe love means "never having to say you are sorry."

Segal said he was leaving Yale "with the blessing of the university," at the end of the current semester.

12 Plane Deaths

COOLIDGE, Ariz. (UPI)—An Apache Airlines plane, described as "coughing and sputtering," crashed into a cotton field during an apparent emergency landing attempt Thursday, killing all 12 persons aboard.

"They didn't stand a chance," said Ramon Flores, who saw the two turbo-prop DeHavilland Dove strike a concrete irrigation ditch and its front portion disintegrate in flames as it careened 300 feet into the field.

Flores said the pilot, Ted Huntington, who took off about 20 minutes earlier from Tucson, appeared to be trying to make an emergency landing a half mile away at Coolidge Airport.

Fatal Air Crash

MANILA (UPI) — A single-engined plane crashed in Davao del Sur pripjovince in the Philippines' southern island of Mindanao shortly after take off Thursday, killing all four persons on board.

Guilty Verdicts

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Two United Mine Workers officials have been convicted of falsifying union records to raise funds for the 1969 re-election campaign of UMW president W.A. 'Tony' Boyle.

A U.S. District Court jury Thursday returned guilty verdicts against Michael Budzanoski, president of District 5, and John Seddon, district secretary-treasurer. The 16,000-member district covers southwest Pennsylvania and adjacent parts of Ohio and West Virginia.

If the conviction is upheld, Budzanoski and Seddon would be barred by federal labor laws from holding union office for five years. Appeals are expected to take up to 18 months.

Bill Advances On Education On VD

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly yesterday overwhelmingly passed a bill allowing schools to give venereal disease education classes without the permission of the parents.

The measure by Assemblywoman March K. Fong, D-Oakland, was sent to the Senate on a 50-8 vote.

Present law requires parental permission before a student can take a class in sex education. The Fong bill would exempt lectures on venereal disease prevention from the requirement.

Control Of Forest Fires Is Nearing

RESERVE, N.M. (UPI)—Firefighters appeared to be almost in control of blazes in national forests in New Mexico and Arizona today, but the fires already have destroyed more than 27,000 acres of lush timber.

"The winds are down and there's a good chance for rain," said Joseph Otero, superintendent of the Mescalero Indian Reservation where more than 22,000 acres of ponderosa pine have burned.

No Hope Seen

ST. JEAN VIANNEY, Que. (UPI)—Quebec officials gave up hope today of finding alive any of the more than two dozen persons still missing in one of the worst landslides in the province's history.

"It will be a miracle if any more persons are pulled out alive," a spokesman for the Quebec police said. "There is nothing there now but mud."

Police reported five bodies have been recovered, although coroner Dr. Richard Authier said he could account for only four. That would leave either 26 or 27 persons missing in the disaster area which late Tuesday night collapsed 300 feet into the earth along a one-mile stretch.

Mars Shot Set

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Engineers prepared a 113-foot rocket today for Saturday night's launching of the first of two one-ton television robots designed to attempt an unprecedented orbit around Mars.

Weather appears to be the only possible hitch. Forecasters predicted showers and scattered thundershowers for Saturday.

"I guess we're one of the few groups in Florida that hope it doesn't rain," launch director John J. Neilon said Thursday. Florida, particularly southern regions, is in the midst of a long drought.

McGovern Has New Draft Plan

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Sen. George McGovern wants to amend the draft laws to require the President and military leaders "to spend a reasonable amount of time in the front lines of combat."

The South Dakota Democrat, the only announced candidate for his party's 1972 presidential nomination, suggested four amendments Thursday to 1,000 cheering University of California students. He insisted they were quite serious.

"In all combat operations, the joint chiefs of staff, the President and other leaders be required to spend a reasonable amount of time in the front line of combat" was one of McGovern's proposals.

The senator said he is aware some the nation's leaders are hampered by infirmities of age, "but there are certain things even the elderly can do—like moving about in front of the troops in minesweepers."

Other amendments would limit the draft to those over 30, require a declaration of war by two-thirds of Congress before anyone can be sent into combat, and outlaw private profits from the development and manufacture of arms. McGovern said he would attempt to tack them on the Selective Service Bill if the draft is extended.

McGovern was hissed at times by SDS members carrying a placard reading: "Beware of imperialists in doves' clothing." He also got into a shouting match with some of the audience during the question and answer period.

Yorty To Return For Political Test

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mayor Sam Yorty, who is considering entering Democratic presidential primaries, will make another visit to New Hampshire later this month and go to Florida in June, it was announced today.

Sam Bretzfield, chairman of the Yorty for President Committee, said the mayor was encouraged by his reception in New Hampshire on April 26-27.

Admits Shot In Dynamite Truck Death

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI)—Bobby Lee Shuler admits it was a bullet from his rifle that caused a truck loaded with dynamite to explode on the highway last fall, killing the driver and blasting a 55-foot deep hole in the earth.

"I didn't mean to hurt anybody," Shuler said in court Thursday. "I didn't know it was loaded with dynamite." He said his motive was a labor dispute between Tri-State, a trucking Firm, and the Teamsters Union.

The defense afterward rested. After today's final arguments, a jury will decide whether the 29-year-old Joplin, Mo., man is guilty of second-degree murder for the death of truck driver John Galt, 48, of Oklahoma City.

Galt's truck was carrying 22 tons of dynamite last Sept. 30 on Interstate 44, 10 miles west of Springfield, when it exploded. Shock waves from the blast broke windows in downtown Springfield.

Shuler told the jury he had been drinking the night of Sept. 29 and previously had taken pot shots at other Tri-State trucks. Tri-State was being struck by the Teamsters Union. Shuler, a union member, said he was "a roving picket." Shuler said he fired two shots from an exit ramp at one truck and one at another.

U.S. Phantom Jets In Protective Act

SAIGON (UPI)—Two U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom fighterbombers knocked out three anti-aircraft gun emplacements in North Vietnam today when the guns fired as the jets were flying over neighboring Laos, U.S. military spokesmen said.

The Phantoms used bombs, rockets and cannon fire in the 33rd "protective reaction" air strike in North Vietnam this year and the 40th since the U.S. command began announcing them following air raids May 2, 1970.

It was believed to be the 100th such "protective reaction" since the Nov. 1, 1968 halt in the strategic bombing of North Vietnam. Last May 27 a U.S. command spokesman had said there had been "about 60" such strikes before the May 2, 1970 raids.

The U.S. Command also announced today that an Air Force Phantom was shot down Thursday while on a bombing mission in the southern panhandle of Laos. The two crewmen escaped unhurt.

More than 3,000 U.S. Marines began stand-down from operational duty today in preparation for a return to the United States. This will trim the marine fighting force in Vietnam, once 87,000 strong, below the 10,000 mark, military spokesmen said in today's afternoon communique.

South Vietnamese troops today reported killing 47 Communists in scattered fighting Thursday around the Mekong River delta south of Saigon at a cost of three government soldiers killed and 20 wounded.

The Air Force Phantoms in today's "protective reaction" were bombing the Ho Chi Minh supply trail complex when North Vietnamese anti-aircraft guns in the Ban Karai pass, just across the border, opened fire.

The Phantoms wheeled eastward, using their ordnance to knock out two 57-millimeter gun positions and one 37-millimeter gun position, military spokesmen said. Neither plane was hit by ground fire.

Two formations of U.S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses dropped at least 180 tons of bombs onto the Ho Chi Minh trail in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

Military spokesmen said that since the start of allied operation Lam Son 720 around the A Shau Valley, B52's have dropped nearly 2,500 tons of bombs to prevent Communist moves to outflank the allied force.

Guerrilla Hunt

MANILA (UPI)—Philippine air force helicopters airdropped 1,000 army troopers into jungles in Isabela province in the northern Philippines Thursday following the killing of two army men and the wounding of another in a brief gunbattle between a communist hukbalahap guerrilla band and an army patrol.

GOV. REAGAN PAYS HEFTY ESTATE TAX

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan did not pay any state income tax this year but he paid more than $5,000 real estate taxes on property in Pacific Palisades, Los Angeles County tax records disclosed Thursday.

The records showed that Reagan and his wife Nancy paid $4,241.13 in taxes on a house assessed at $27,500. Since assessed valuations are pegged at 25 per cent of market value, this means the home has a market value of more than $110,000.

The governor also paid $804.30 in taxes on an adjoining lot with a market value of $26,000.

Text Of Reagan's Tax Remarks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Here is the full text of Gov. Ronald Reagan's statement Thursday on his California income tax status:

"It is difficult for me to understand or accept the necessity for the statement I am about to make.

"Having left an occupation in which my earnings each year were several times greater than the salary I receive in my present position it seemed self-evident I had not sought this office for any financial advantage nor has there been any.

"Day before yesterday a question was raised with regard to my tax liability for the year just past. You had an almost immediate and factual answer to that question without any attempt at evasion. Apparently that was not enough and some have attempted to make more of this situation than is warranted by the facts. Indeed, some have tried to intimate that somehow there was even a question of wrongdoing.

"With all the uproar that has followed I want the people of California to have the facts so there can be no doubt in anyone's mind.

"I have never avoided taxes or failed to pay an income tax owed in my entire adult life. For a number of years my annual tax was considerably more than my present gross earnings. With particular reference to the California income tax during the five years I have served as governor, I have paid state income taxes totaling $91,128.22.

"However, last year—a rather trying year for a number of people—investment losses in relation to earnings were such that while I still owed and paid a federal income tax I did not have a state tax liability. Frankly I hope it does not happen again—not that I enjoy paying taxes but because I do not enjoy losing money.

"Some of you have already noted in your stories that my tax reform proposal last year advocated a minimum state income tax. I still advocate such a measure. Senate Moscone was a leader in the opposition to such a reform.

"May I interject right here that it has come to my attention that Senator Moscone alerted some of you Tuesday morning prior to the press conference to be on the watch for a very interesting question that would be asked in that press conference concerning my tax status. He subsequently then greeted with great shock and horrified surprise the result of such a question.

"These last 48 hours have been an example of cheap partisan politics unparalleled in the years I have been here in the Capitol.

"It is time for the leadership of the majority party to actually display some leadership and get down to the business of offering solutions to the problems of tax reform, welfare reform and balancing the budget as well as holding the line on government costs and taxes. Phoney partisan politics will not hide the fact that this session of the legislature has accomplished very little and has avoided dealing with much of what the people have a right to expect."

Barb Founder Asks Dismissal Of Misdemeanor

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Max Scheer, founder of the Berkeley Barb, filed a petition Wednesday with the California Supreme Court asking dismissal of a misdemeanor obscenity charge against him.

American Civil Liberties Union attorneys filed the petition on Scheer's behalf. The petition sought prohibition of the Municipal Court of the Berkeley-Albany Judicial District from proceeding with the case.

Institute To Enter The Education Field

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)— California Institute of Technology, noted as one of the nation's top scientific institutions, has decided to enter a new field—education.

The new course will be entitled "Educational Issues."

1,000 Expected To Join Hunger Walk

About 1,000 persons are expected to walk in the 20-mile Marin Walk Against Hunger through several Marin communities Sunday, according to Robert Morgan, the work coordinator.

The trek to raise funds for food for needy people will be held internationally in 400 separate walks, Morgan said. The local walkers will meet at 7:30 a.m. at Redwood High School in Larkspur. The walk is expected to continue through most of the day, said Morgan, a junior at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Walkers must have a sponsor, an individual or business, pledged to pay that walker a certain amount per mile walked.

Fifteen per cent of the money will go to the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation, a national organization which promotes walks and educational and self-help projects in this country and overseas.

Another 42.5 per cent will go the Marin Economic Opportunity Council's supplementary food program and 42.5 per cent will go to the Meals for Millions, which distributes high-protein food supplement. The proceeds from the alk in Marin will help feed starving families in Equador.

Walkers will go through the communities of Greenbrae, San Rafael, San Anselmo, Fairfax, Greenbrae and Ross.

The committee said there will be checkpoints and refreshment stops every few miles along the route and cars at the stops to pick up walkers who wish to stop.

Walk cards, needed before a person can join the walk, are available by calling 456-5382.

Since the hunger foundation was developed two years ago, more than 180 walks have been held in the world.

$6.5 Million Budget For College Outlined

Marin Junior College District trustees last night got their first look at the proposed $6.5 million budget for 1971-72, an increase of almost $2 million over last year's budget.

Business Mgr. Norman Bird said the $6,496,536 budget is a "working" budget and includes all departmental requests. The board will begin paring the budget at 8 p.m. May 18 at the testing office.

Income is estimated at $8,323,557 with an additional $478,282 anticipated carry-over from this year for a total income of $8,801,839. This year's total income was $6,233,950.

Anticipated revenue from local taxes is expected to almost double from this year's $3,244,145 to $6,470,759 next year.

Bird explained the more than $3 million additional tax revenue will come from two new sources: voters in November authorized a 25 cent increase in the statutory maximum, raising it from 35 to 60 cents and an anticipated 24 cent tax rate for required local funds for state-approved construction projects. This provision is now pending under Senate Bill 691.

The largest increase in expenses this year is for equipment. Last year, $3,370 was spent; requests for $205,117 have been made for a wide variety of classroom equipment.

Major expenditures listed (with last year's in parentheses) are administration, $215,096 ($170,953); instruction, $4,191,086 ($3,574,374) — this includes teachers' salaries, $2,724,929 ($2,420,881); classified salaries, $476,237 (336,448); supplies, $295,627 (228,661); health services, $18,165 ($17,250);

Also, transportation, $21,304, ($18,998; plant operation, $158,440 ($146,964); plant maintenance, $241,275, ($158,026); fixed charges, $71,442 ($67,500).

adding to the estimated 35-50 billion worth of so-called "eurodollars'' already floating around Europe out of U.S. government control.

Until this week West Germany and other Western European countries have bought up further billions of these dollars in an effort to shore up the parity of the dollar. Now, with their reserves overloaded with dollars, they have refused to buy any more.

Q: What are these "Eurodollars?"

A: They are dollars held outside the United States by foreign banks and businessmen and by foreign branches of American banks and businesses. They accumulated over the years as a result of U.S. dollar investment abroad and chronic U.S. balance of payments deficits.

Q: Has the U.S. government itself done anything to shore up the dollar abroad?

A.: Yes, in recent months it has bought back an estimated $3 billion worth of "Eurodollars," partly for gold, partly for U.S. Treasury Bonds. It also has used taxes and other measures to try to limit U.S. dollar investment abroad.

Q: Why has the West German mark challenged the dollar as the world's strongest currency?

A: Because West German industry, rebuilt to a great extent with American help after World War II, has become the strongest in Europe. As a result, the mark has become one of the world's strongest currencies.

Q: What does the present crisis mean to Americans abroad?

A: It means that at the moment American tourists are finding European banks, travel agencies, hotels and stores reluctant to accept their dollar bills or travelers checks. If the crisis results in revaluation upwards of the mark and other "strong" European curriences, they will find their dollars buy less in Europe than before.

Q: What does it mean for Americans at home?

A: At the moment very little. But if the mark and other strong European currencies are revalued upwards, that will make goods imported from Europe — and possibly Japan — more expensive than now. On the other hand, it would help American exports.

ANGELA

The case against Magee and Miss Davis, stalled for months mainly because Magee refuses to cooperate with attorneys appointed for him and because he has tried to get rid of every judge who has sat on the case, is set to resume Monday.

At that time arguments will be given whether Magee can use his one peremptory challenge of a judge against Alan A. Lindsay of Alameda County or whether he has already used it against an earlier judge.

Also an issue is if Magee is allowed to get rid of Lindsay, whether Miss Davis will still have a peremptory challenge of a judge left or whether the pair only has one.

Her attorneys tried unsuccessfully to challenge Judge Lindsay for cause, on the grounds he was racially prejudiced.

(Attorneys usually do not use the peremptory challenge at an early stage of proceedings but would save it for the trial itself.)

Miss Davis is still waiting to have motions heard which ask that the case against her be dismissed and that she be released on bail.

San Anselmo — led by Robert Hoist and Fred Rosenberg.

Participation in city government — led by Gerald A. DeVore and Mrs. C. L. Haupert; resources, Mrs. Cindy Barrows of the city planning commission and Tom Thorner, Marin Alternative president.

Animal control —led by Charles C. Prugh; resource, John Gill, Marin County Humane Society operations director.

The dinner-dance for Town Meeting participants will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Blinder reported that the Town Meeting received financial support from a number of San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce members and private citizens, as well as companies. The annual gathering originally was an outgrowth of the Congress for Community Progress program originated in the early 1960s by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. officials.

onstration still was "just at the concept level." He said it would be discussed this month by the Marin City-County Planning Council's transportation committee.

He said the idea had been discussed with various officials, including Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

He said there was "no connection" between the proposed demonstration and the PUC application.

"We weren't trying to sneak anything over on anybody," he said of the PUC application. He asserted that the bridge district was not going to serve West Marin recreational traffic.

But Luehring rebutted that he did "not know how Mr. Kahn knows what we are going to do." Luehring, citing the high cost of leaving idle the district's 152-bus fleet on weekends, said such West Marin recreational traffic definitely was expected to be provided by the district.

The "concept paper" outlined no costs, but Kahn acknowledged the cost of the 13 buses would be about $600,000. The paper said that "matching funds, if needed, would have to be borne by the local bodies." It did not elaborate beyond proposing the demonstration be sponsored by the county and the Metropolitan Transportation Commission.

Paul Watt, executive officer of the commission, told the I-J he was aware of the proposed demonstration, and that he already had received correspondence on it from the administrator of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration. The letter from UMTA suggested procedures for applying for the federal grant.

Watt said he was "aware they (Marin Transit Systems) had discussed the idea with UMTA."

had approved.

But Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum said that the board of supervisors agreed informally Tuesday that the amended plan may require review by the county. The planning department had no authority to approve such an amendment to Broman's plan, Wornum declared.

Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest, in the audience for a hearing on county plans to fill an acre of the bay to widen San Pedro Road, told the I-J that it would be up to the supervisors to determine if Broman's amended plan was "just a condition of the old plan or a revision — and thus a new plan." If the supervisors decide the change constituted a new plan, then it automatically would be returned to the planning commission for new hearings, Forest said.

Wornum, the only supervisor to oppose the plan when it won final county approval last year, said he would seek to rezone the 6.5-acre parcel to a lower density. Noting its previous zoning would have allowed only 14 single-family homes, he said the number of apartments should be "somewhere between 96 and 14."

Yesterday's vote had appeared certain three weeks ago when the commission staff recommended rejection of the plan. The staff argued that it would provide too little public access and that the project could be moved inland to make more room for the boardwalk.

Broman, in a one-hour defense of his plan, said that moving the apartments inland would "impair visual access from the road." He said that no other shoreline project in the nation offered "more generous public access."

Noting that his plan provided a ribbon of public access around its entire perimeter, Broman said, "I really don't know how you go beyond 100 per cent access."

Opponents of the project, he said, "will do anything short of buying the property."

Yesterday's rejection was the second for apartments planned on the parcel. The commission, in November 1969, also turned down plans by the owner of the parcel, Leonard B. Fleischman. Broman has an option on the parcel.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, told commissioners that they were required to permit such projects only if public access were increased "to the maximum extent possible" Public access in Broman's plan met this condition only because there were too many apartments to allow any more public access, Behr said.

Commissioner Melville Owen of Kentfield, arguing the plan needed "a better balance between conservation and development," said that its rejection would not affect Broman's construction schedule because the Strawberry Recreation District already "has him tied up in court." The district contends that the public acquired rights to cross the property by using it unimpeded for many years.

In a brief hearing on the county's application to widen San Pedro Road from Loch Lomond to Peacock Gap, commissioners heard a suggestion from the Sierra Club that the project be moved inland to avoid the acre of fill, most of it opposite Main Drive.

The club spokesman, Dwight Steele of Tiburon, suggested that pilings instead of fill be used if the project cannot be moved inland. (Marin County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost told the I-J that pilings would add about $300,000 to the $1.4 million cost of the project.)

Donald A. MacMillan, president of the Glenwood Homeowners Association, said the project was needed, but that the association had taken no stand on the bay fill. He also favored pilings instead of fill.

Voting on the county application was scheduled tentatively on May 20.

In other business, the staff reported that commission offices were moving to 30 Van Ness Avenue.

Finian's Rainbow At Redwood High

Directed by music director J. D. Nichols, the musical comedy will be performed at the same time tomorrow and May 14 and 15.

The play, which was a hit on Broadway, involves an Irish couple's immigration to the United States with a crock of gold stolen from a leprechaun and his search to recover it.

The cast includes Nick Reid as Finian McLonergan, Laurie Hammersly as his wife Sharon, Robert Herrmann as Og the Leprechaun and Michael Kralka as Senator Rawkins.

Bid Taken For Miwok Valley Plan

The Old Adobe School District board in Petaluma said last night it intends to accept a bid of $650,000 for construction of Miwok Valley School if the state approves.

The board accepted the bid, from Colombini Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, at its meeting last night. Four other bids, ranging up to $749,800, were received.

Supt. Dean D. Magowan said a maximum of $697,596 had been allotted for the school under the state school building aid program.

The superintendent said it is hoped construction of the 14-classroom school, on St. Francis Drive, can start in a month, if the state Department of Education approves Colombini's bid.

The school ultimately will house 700 students.

The board also accepted a bid of $13,600 for sale of Lakeville School on Lakeville Highway but said it would ask the state for permission to reject the bid because it had decided to use the facility for storage purposes. The school was acquired in an annexation and is not needed for teaching purposes, Magowan said.

In other business, the board established the job of school psychologist and voted to hire Barbara Cochran for the position at an undetermined salary; accepted the resignations of teacher Wanda Ward and secretary Ruby Miller for personal reasons, and granted a year's leave of absence to counselor Barry Yagi to live in Japan.

fewer initial unemployment insurance claims. He said initial claims fell 9,400 to 248,500 during the week ended April 24. This was 17 per cent under a year earlier.

"We feel sure unemployment rates will shortly be coming down, but we are evidently now observing a pattern that has marked previous periods of economic resurgence after a slowdown—namely that a pickup in employment always follows by some months an improvement in other economic indicators," Hodgson said.

The number of unemployed persons dropped by 480,000 last month to just under 4.7 million, which was about average for April.

California's unemployment jumped three-tenths of a per cent last month to 7.4 per cent, the state Department of Human Resources reports.

In statistics released yesterday the agency said the unemployment rate for April represents "the general slack in the economy together with additional layoffs in the aerospace industry."

The total number of unemployed persons, however, dropped 81,000 to 595,000 and the number of persons working at some job climbed 51,000 to 7.99 million.

The plane flew slowly south from Tel Aviv to the Israeli port of Eilat on the Gulf of Aqaba and then south to Sharm el Sheikh on the southern end of the gulf. This was the area which provided the spark for the 1967 war in which Israel seized and occuied the Sinai Peninsula. Sharm el Sheikh overlooks the Strait of Tiran and the Egyptian fortress there blocked Israeli ships from approaching Eilat, Israel's only access to the Red Sea.

The late Egyptian President, Gamal Abdel Nasser, closed the strait in the early part of 1967 and the war followed in June. Israeli troops took the Sharm el Sheikh in the first hours of the war and Israel has vowed never to relinquish it.

The fact Rogers agreed to take a look at these regions in his own plane represented a compromise with Israeli officials, who wanted him to take Israeli transport and disembark at the locations to see them first hand.

Israel's hope, as expressed by Mrs. Meir, was that if Rogers saw the occupied territories and frontiers first-hand he might change his mind about calling for a withdrawal from them.

Rogers met for two hours and 20 minutes with Mrs. Meir and her closest cabinet aides in Jerusalem Thursday. His Israeli counterpart, Abba Eban, said "where the heart of the matter is concerned, we have only started the dialogue."

The talks opened about six hours after Rogers departed from the office of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

DEFIANT FIST — Charging the government was trying to "smear me and the antiwar movement," 19-year-old Leslie Bacon of Atherton, Calif., raised her fist when she left the Federal Courthouse yesterday in Seattle, where a grand jury has been questioning her for 10 days as a material witness in the March 1 bombing of the U.S. Capitol. (UPI Telephoto)

14-Year-Old Begins 30-Year Term For Rape

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (UPI) — Donald Lewis Curtis, 14, an eigth grade student from Forrest City, Ark., has begun serving a 30-year prison term for rape, the minimum sentence under Arkansas law.

The boy, a Negro, was convicted May 3 of raping a white woman in her late 30s. Prison officials said Thursday the boy spent his first day in an isolated cell. Otherwise, the official said, homosexual prisoners might attack him "as soon as he goes into the barracks."

"But we can't keep him segregated forever," the spokesman said.

The teen-ager also was convicted of burglary and theft and received concurrent 10-year terms.

"If it was just burglary or grand larceny, he would have been treated as a juvenile," said prosecutor Fletcher Long Jr. "But since we had a capital offense here, we couldn't just smile at it and turn it over to the juvenile authorities."

Long said he would work with the youth's lawyer to try to have him transferred to the Boys' Industrial School at Wrightsville, Ark.

Bomb Witness: 'I Was Kidnapped'

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)— Antiwar activist Leslie Bacon, contending she had been "kidnaped" by the government and saying "I've had enough," refused Thursday to answer grand jury questions on radical activities.

Her attorneys said the 19-year-old blonde declined to respond to virtually all questions except those dealing with a plot to firebomb a bank in New York City Dec. 4.

Miss Bacon, who has been in federal custody for 10 days as a material witness in the bombing of the U.S. Capitol on March 1, was ordered earlier Thursday to answer questions about the bank plot.

She then issued her first public statement since her arrest —a 400-word, signed, notarized document in which she accused the government of trying "to smear me and the antiwar movement."

Her attorneys said they would go before the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals today in an effort to have Miss Bacon released from custody while she is questioned by the grand jury. U.S. District Judge George Boldt rejected a similar motion Thursday and kept her bail at $100,000.

The judge also ruled that Miss Bacon must answer questions concerning the thwarted bomb plot against First National Bank of New York because she previously had admitted participation in the early stages of planning. Boldt said she thus had negated her right to take the Fifth Amendment.

"At this point, I've had enough," she said a short time later. "Not knowing how far they will go to implicate me — to force me at least to face a charge and perhaps a trial even though never a conviction —I have decided to assert my rights under the First, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, and Ninth amendments to the Constitution.

"If they have a case against me, let them prove it without my help."

She said she would only answer questions the federal judge had ordered her to.

"When I was unexpectedly kidnaped in Washington, D.C., and spirited away from my friends to Seattle," her statement said, "My counsel and I were repeatedly assured by the U.S. attorney (1) that all they were interested in was information about the Capitol bombing, (2) that I, myself, was not suspected of having done anything illegal, and (3) that my appearance before the grand jury would be brief and uncomplicated.

"It was only on the basis of these understandings that I decided to answer questions, knowing that I had nothing to hide, rather than go to jail."

She said the government didn't need her testimony about the New York bank plot because an informer already had provided full details, including her participation "in some early discussions of those plans." She said a New York grand jury decided she was innocent "since I had abandoned participation." Six plotters were arrested outside the bank by waiting agents.

DIFFERENT NOW — Sausalito residents from the "good old days" gather around a much smaller firehouse in a smaller Sausalito to celebrate the dedication of the fire station that was new in 1940. Tomorrow, many of the same residents and a host of newcomers will rededicate an expanded, remodeled firehouse completed earlier this year.

Sausalito To Fete Main Firehouse

Sausalito will turn back the clock and pull out all the stops tomorrow for an old-fashioned, rousing rededication of the city's main firehouse, 20 Caledonia Street.

The firehouse, which originally opened its doors in 1940 has been extensively remodeled and enlarged through a bond issue approved by voters in 1969.

The ceremonies will begin at 10 a.m. with a parade starting at Central School and traveling to the fire station. The Sixth Army Marching Band, directed by Dewey E. Hensley, will lead the way and play for later celebrations at the firehouse.

John E. Koenig, a Sausalito city councilman from 1956 to 1960 will serve as master of ceremonies, according to Mrs. Richard R. Phillips, general chairman for the event. And Col. Charles Bearchall of the Salvation Army will give the invocation.

Ernie Smith, a former radio sportscaster and 30-year Sausalito resident now living in Glen Ellen, Sonoma County, will give the dedication address. Smith, the first broadcaster on the West Coast to cover baseball games and the radio voice of the Stanford-California and Shrine football games for nearly 20 years, was a member of the U.S. Water Polo team which represented this country in the 1920 Olympic Games in Belgium.

The Sixth Army color guard will raise the station's new American flag, a banner presented by Sen. John Tunney and one which has flown over the nation's capitol. The Sausalito fire cadets will raise a California bear flag supplied by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

After a short concert by the Army band, winners of a children's poster coontest (the theme: "Our Brave Firemen") will be announced. And Mrs. Joseph D. McAleese, a member of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, will present Fire Chief Charles E. Masten with a scrapbook she has compiled documenting the history of the department. The Native Sons of the Golden West will present a bronze plaque to the station in honor of the rededication.

Those attending will receive souvenir programs — replicas of the issue of the Sausalito News printed on the day of the original dedication in 1940.

A tour of the addition to the firehouse will include a visit to the Memorabilia Room, compiled by Sausalito's unofficial historian, Fire Capt. Ralph K. Pedersen. Scouts in uniform will act as honor guards in the room which will contain photographs and displays dating from the earliest days of Sausalito firefighting.

Marin Artists To Western Society Posts

The society's 29th annual M. H. De Young Memorial Museum exhibition is on display in San Francisco through May 30. The show includes works by many Marin artists, including Independent-Journal artist Jack Lucey.

Bill Banning War Toys To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Thursday "shot" to the Senate a bill banning the sale of war toys such as bazookas and time bombs.

The measure by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, passed on a 41-22 vote—the bare minimum—after he jokingly threatened members with a toy bazooka.

Burton has carried similar bills during the past six years but they always died in committee before reaching the floor.

The law outlaws the sale of toys that simulate bombs and destructive devices such as grenades or other explosives.

Burton said included in the ban would be a toy time bomb that can be wound up and makes the sound of an explosion.

When Burton finally got the 41 votes needed for passage, he shot off the bazooka. Assemblyman Robert Badham, RNewport Beach, who was acting as speaker, said, "The measure is shot forthwith to the Senate."

The ban would apply to toy bazookas but not to machine guns or cap pistols. Also not included in the ban is a doll dressed as a soldier that contains a recording activated by pulling dog tags.

Plea Set In Battery Case

John Lin Motta, 19, of San Rafael, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on misdemeanor charges of battery and resisting arrest.

He is to plead to the charges Wednesday.

Motta was arrested Friday when he attempted to persuade a San Rafael policeman to arrest two California Highway patrolmen. Motta allegedly struck the San Rafael officer as he demanded the arrest of the highway patrolmen.

Recognition Day For Fire Service

Parades, a band concert, free rides on fire trucks and refreshments will be some of the high spots in the observance tomorrow of Fire Service Recognition Day by fire departments, thoroughout Marin.

Sausalito Fire Department has the most elaborate plans including a rededication of the new station, a 10 a.m. parade of equipment and a Sixth Army Band concert.

Tiburon Fire Department will parade its equipment at 1 p.m. including its new 65 foot aerial ladder truck, from the fire house, along Tiburon Boulevard to Beach Street to Main Street and back to the station.

The balance of the afternoon until 4:30 p.m. will be devoted to films on home fire safety, rides on fire engines, refreshments and balloons for the children.

Corte Madera will hold joint open house of both fire and police departments from 2 to 4 p.m.

The fire department will demonstrate its equipment, give rides on the trucks and distribute fire prevention pamphlets. The firemen will give the children plastic fire badges and helmets.

The police department will display weapons, narcotics samples, and a patrol vehicle. Refreshments will be served by teen-agers of the recreation center.

Novato Fire Department will take its snorkel to shopping centers where it will be demonstrated. Open house will be held from noon to 5 p.m. at all stations.

Terra Linda Fire Department will give free rides and hold open house from 11 to 4 p.m. with soft drinks for the children.

Marinwood Fire Department will also give free rides on the fire trucks from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with refreshments for children.

San Anselmo Fire Department plans on taking trucks to the school grounds to give demonstrations from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., with open house at the station during the same hours.

Open house from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at all their stations will be held by the following departments: Marin County, Kentfield, Larkspur, Alto, Tamalpais Valley; Nicasio; Mill Valley, and San Rafael.

In Southern Sonoma, Petaluma, Cotati and Rohnert Park Fire Departments will all take equipment to a countywide demonstration at the fairgrounds in Santa Rosa.

Guilty Verdict In Robbery Case

A Marin Superior Court jury deliberated about eight hours before finding two Marin City women guilty of second degree robbery Wednesday.

Shirley McDonald, 21, and Barbara Rita Hall, 20, were found guilty of robbing a man near Marin City last year.

They are to return to the courtroom of Judge Henry J. Broderick May 26 for sentencing.

Hearing Due On Venue Change Plea

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The State Supreme Court Thursday granted a hearing on a motion for change of venue for John Linley Frazier, 24, accused slayer of five persons at a mountain mansion in Santa Cruz County last October. A trial date had not been set.

Deputy Public Defender James Jackson originally filed the motion with Superior Court Judge Charles Franich. It was denied and Jackson then filed an appeal with the State Court of Appeal on April 9, which turned the motion down without a hearing.

Jackson then carried the case to the Supreme Court. Jackson asks the change of venue on grounds of adverse publicity in Santa Cruz County.

The bodies of the victims were found floating in the swimming pool at the Ohta mansion last Oct. 19.

Is your child's future worth $5 a week?

IF your child is an "A" student making "C" grades.
IF your child watches too much TV.
IF your child says "I have nothing to do."
IF your child says "I can't do it."
IF your child says "I don't care."
IF your child has been called a "slow learner."
IF your child dislikes school.
IF your child lacks self confidence.
IF your child daydreams too much.
IF your child doesn't enjoy reading.

We can help. All of these are often symptoms of a reading problem. A child who can read well is more confident of his or her ability to achieve success in learning.

The Sullivan Reading program has taught over 5,000,000 children to read in schools throughout the United States.

Here's what parents say about the Sullivan Reading Program:

Mrs. Joseph Mell, Parent, Palo Alto, Ca.: "Joe had two and a half sessions and the change is absolutely incredible. He has moved to a top reading group, he always gets 100 in his spelling tests, and can handle his social studies assignments which require reading with ease and confidence. But the best change of all is that he now enjoys reading. He even bought two books with his own money."

Mrs. William Weir, Parent, Novato, Ca.: "Brad's attitude toward learning has greatly improved as a result of your program. He seems to respond favorably to the individual attention that is your specialty."

Magazine Raid Ruling Reversed

A Marin Municipal Court decision suppressing evidence from a 1969 sex magazine raid in San Rafael has been reversed by the Appellate Division of Marin Superior Court.

In an order filed yesterday, three superior court judges reversed the decision of former Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court who ruled invalid a search warrant used for a raid on a San Rafael warehouse where 46 allegedly obscene magazines were confiscated Christmas Eve, 1969.

Goldstein had ruled that the search warrant issued by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of superior court was too broad and did not adequately specify the matter to be seized.

When he made that ruling last May, Goldstein also criticized Judge Gardiner for accompanying San Rafael police and district attorney's investigators on the raid.

Goldstein's decision was appealed by the district attorney's office and yesterday overturned by Superior Court Judges E. Warren McGuire, Thomas F. Keating and Henry J. Broderick, sitting as the court's appellate division.

The appeal decision readmits more than half the evidence in the case against Donald Calvin Warnecke, 39, of Corte Madera, president of Sands Oak Book Distributing Co. and the firm's manager, Eddie Louis Burleson, 31, of San Francisco.

Their case has been pending in municipal court awaiting the appeal decision. Defense attorneys have until Wednesday to ask for a rehearing on the appeal or the case will be returned to municipal court for further proceedings.

The raiding party on the warehouse at 62 Belvedere Street took only one sample of each magazine and left behind thousands of magazines ready for distribution.

The publications bore such titles as "Pussy Willow," "Pleasure Partners," "Raunchy" and "Bush Whackers" and sold for $3 to $5.

Oak Manor Annexation Hinges On Flood Funds

The outcome of proposals to annex Oak Manor to Fairfax may hinge on who would have to finance some $264,000 in flood control and drainage work for the area.

Councilman Frank J. Egger met with Oak Manor residents last night to outline pros and cons of the annexation in terms of taxes, services and other factors. C. F. (Curly) Stobbe, president of the Oak Manor Homeowners Association, said reaction among his neighbors was "very mixed."

Fairfax City Administrator Robert E. Crowe said today the Fairfax City Council may decide at its May 17 meeting whether to go ahead with annexation proposals, after obtaining more data on the drainage problem. Crowe said county flood control engineers have prepared a $264,000 plan to replace and enlarge the Oak Manor drainage system through Flood Control Zone 9-A, a subzone serving unincorporated portions of the Ross Valley.

"The city could not afford to do it," Crowe explained, if annexation meant that the county would no longer help on the project.

Stobbe said the Oak Manor homeowners would take no action until hearing from Fairfax officials.

Egger told the Oak Manor residents that, exclusive of the drainage problem, any additional taxes due to annexation would be almost exactly offset by savings in fire insurance bills. The residents would gain city police protection, fire services and street maintenance and lighting, Egger said.

A Shining Example, Texas-Style, Too

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—When a Texas governor leaves office, he literally locks the door and throws away the keys.

New locks are installed at once on all doors each time the administration changes. But even that security measure wasn't enough to satisfy the late W. Lee O'Daniel when he was governor from 1939 to 1941.

To protect his private office from outsiders, O'Daniel had an electric lock installed which he alone could operate from his desk.

Go Ahead Signal On Tot Lot

The San Marin Improvement Association decided last night to go ahead with development of a tot lot at Novato Creek Park even though the issue of an access road and parking lot at the park have not been settled.

The group voted to spend up to $3,000 for the playground, according to Mary Musante, press representative. She said that it is hoped the tot lot will be finished by July 1.

A committee was also appointed last night to work up an argument to be presented to the Novato City Council giving reasons why a variance should be granted eliminating off-street parking for the park.

The association opposes both the 20-space parking lot and access road into the park which have been approved by the city's park and recreation department. Mrs. Musante said that the association feels that if there is to be any road in the park, it should be a service road only and not open to the public.

Monagan Being Considered For Top UOP Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Republican leader Robert Monagan is under consideration for the presidency of the University of the Pacific in Stockton, it was reported today.

Monagan told members of his party that he was under consideration for the appointment during a closed meeting of Republicans involved in drawing strategy for the reapportionment this year of legislative and congressional districts, the San Jose Mercury reported.

The lawmaker from Tracy said he was among 80 candidates for the position. He said an offer of the job would be "intriguing."

Meters Painted By Petaluma Pranksters

Pranksters made life unsettling for downtown Petaluma shoppers yesterday when they spray-painted the windows of 60 city parking meters.

The city estimated damage to the meters, located in the vicinity of Kentucky and Keller streets, at $115. Police said the vandalism occurred Wednesday night or yesterday morning.

'Hard-Nosed' Policy Adopted On College Of Marin Construction

Marin Junior College District trustees last night, by a one-vote margin, refused to extend the time limit for construction of the nearly-completed Harlan and Science centers at the College of Marin after hearing reports of faulty workmanship.

The extension refusal, in effect only a technicality, was seen by trustees who supported it as a more "hard-nosed" policy than the board had taken in the past with the contractors, S. J. Amoroso Construction Co.

Planning Director Dale Fleming complained that he and the building inspector "repeatedly" had notified the contractor and the architect about the inferior quality of work done at the new Harlan Center, but it still had not been corrected.

The center was opened for limited use April 3. At that time, it was discovered that the walls were not soundproof due to an ill-fitting ceiling, Fleming said.

The contractor, who was expected to have the work completed April 3, asked the trustees for a 45-day extension on work at Harlan Center because fixed laboratory equipment was not available and a 73-day extension on the Science Center because of a strike.

Trustee Charles W. Gray, however, questioned the advantage and legality of extending a contract a month after the completion date had passed.

Donald K. Felt, another board member, suggested the board refuse to extend the contract dates to show them "we mean business." He was supported in the 4-3 vote by Gray, Harry J. Moore and President Elizabeth M. Deedy.

Trustee Theodore C. Wellman, who voted to extend the dates, said he was "reluctant to second guess the administration" and its handling of negotiations with the contractor.

Because the board can, at any time, extend the contract date to completion, the refusal was looked at as a technicality by the board. Meanwhile it will withhold 10 per cent of the construction cost until work is corrected.

The waterbeds were recovered the next day.

Check Passers Dent The Profits

By FRANK FARRARA

Novato supermarkets would have to gross $469,200 to recuperate the profits lost from bad checks passed in the city this year through April 21.

Detective Michael M. Manick of the Novato Police Department made this point yesterday to indicate the magnitude of the bad check problem.

Bad checks totaling $4,926 were passed from Jan. 1 through April 21, most of them at supermarkets and "this loss is right off the top," Manick told the Independent-Journal before yesterday's talk on the subject to the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

With supermarkets operating at about a one per cent profit margin, they would have to have $469,200 in sales to recover $4,926 in losses, he explained.

(There has been restitution of more than $500 and arrests made or warrants issued representing about $1,500, but Manick used the $4,926 total to illustrate his point.)

Manick urged that merchants institute tighter policies on check cashing, preferably as a group.

One bad check passer told Manick that he wouldn't even attempt to pass a check at a certain market because it was "tough," he said. If others were just as tough, it would cut losses, Manick predicted.

"I think it's important that merchants realize that check cashing is a courtesy, not a right a customer has. A lot are afraid to ask for identification, afraid it will result in a customer going to a competitor," he said.

Manick said merchants should be wary if the check casher is from out of town and the check from an out-of-town bank. "They cash a lot from Sonoma County and San Francisco," he said. "They should wonder why a guy would be buying groceries in Novato."

Bad check passers buy $3.75 in groceries and $25 in change," he said. "They don't want the loaf of bread and the bottle of milk. They want the cash."

Merchants shouldn't cash "two-party checks" — drawn by one person, cashed by another — including payroll checks because the passer isn't committing fraud, and police can't prosecute on a criminal basis, he said.

There should be a close check on identification, including a driver's license and major credit card, Manick advised. "A driver's license alone isn't the best, but it's better than nothing."

He also warned against cashing post-dated checks, with the comment that such a check was in effect a promissory note and police can't prosecute.

Merchants shouldn't hold bad checks for more than 30 days before turning them over to police, he said. "They hold them for up to six months, and by that time the people are gone. We have a warrant and no clue to their whereabouts."

Manick told wryly of notifying a local supermarket of a check passer, known to have insufficient funds, and yet "they cashed eight more in that market."

One protective method would be to cash checks covering only the amount of the purchase, another would be to have a system of taking the person's thumb print on the check, and a third to have a central check cashing area.

Manick suggested merchants as a group set up check cashing procedures and all adhere to it to reduce losses.

As for possibly losing a customer, he commented: "I don't resent being asked for identification. If a person is really resentful, I'd question his motives."

Bad check passers generally are "everyday nondescript persons" who operate on any day at any hour, and there isn't any bad check ring operating in Marin, he said.

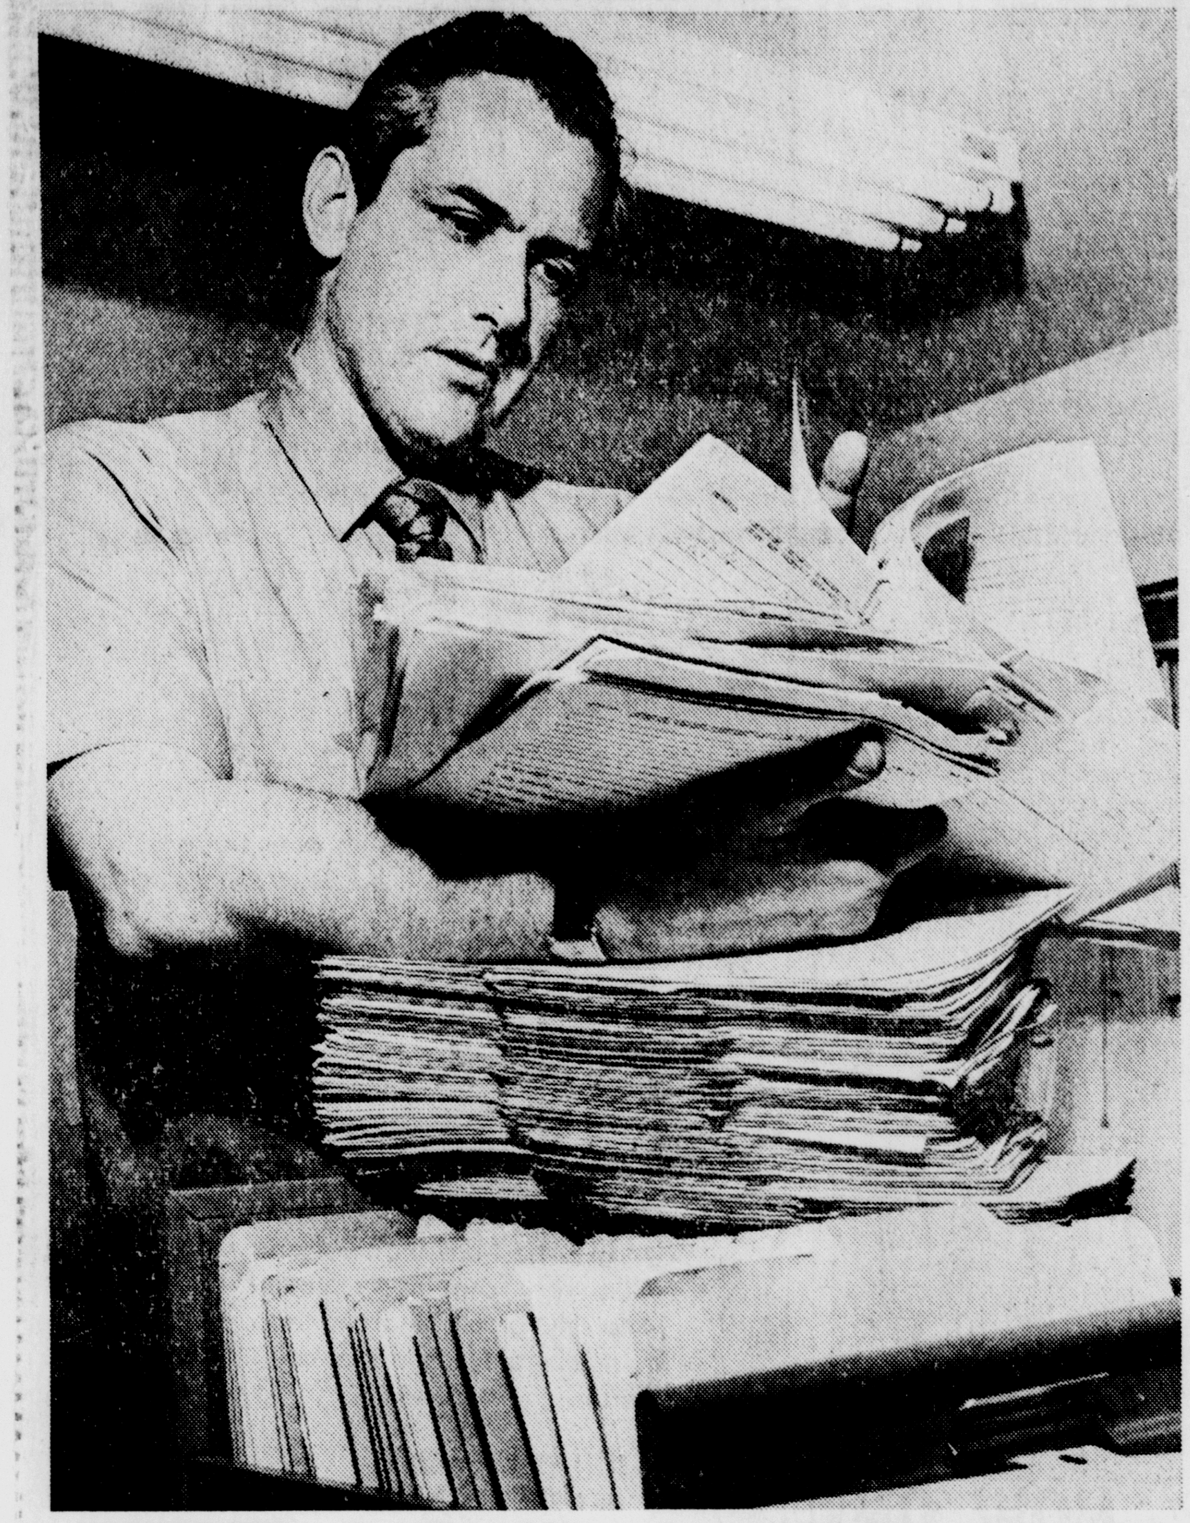
"Some are narcotics addicts," and some pass the checks to support themselves, he said.

He told of one check passer who "made $3,000 in three weeks in Marin," and of another who "took $800-plus out of Novato in three weeks."

One passer, using a temporary driver's license with a factitious name, opened a checking account of $50 at one bank and $50 at another, and passed $3,000 in checks.

The bad checks mainly are "personal checks with insufficient funds or account closed," Manick said.

Merchants should be more questioning, he contended and told of an incident where a 16-year-old girl passed a $100 "two-party" check, money she received for "an act of prostitution." The check was worthless.



BAD CHECKS — Det. Michael M. Manick of the Novato Police Department leafs through a batch of bad checks and hopes that merchants will tighten their check cashing policies.

Woman, 110, In Hospital For The First Time

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A 110-year-old woman, hospitalized for the first time after breaking her hip in a fall, is reported "making better progress than many patients half her age."

Mrs. Maria Olguin was hospitalized last week and hospital officials said Thursday she was "in remarkably fine condition and is making better progress than many patients half her age."

Mrs. Olguin, who speaks only Spanish, was born on a farm in the New Mexico territory and lived with her husband on farms in New Mexico and Texas.

Mrs. Olguin, who has 23 grandchildren, 50 great grandchildren and 14 great-great grandchildren, attributed her longevity to "a little something to drink, along with cottage cheese and strawberry jam before retiring."

10 Days Given In Boat Burning

Alfred Thomas Zimmer, 34, of San Francisco, has been sentenced to 10 days in Marin County Jail for setting his boat afire at Loch Lomond Yacht Harbor.

Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Municipal Court also placed Zimmer on probation for one year.

San Rafael police said Zimmer said he was angry at the boat he had just purchased when he threw a torch into it April 25.

Judge Menary also ordered Zimmer to make restitution for an undisclosed amount of damage to the pier at the yacht harbor.

One Day In Jail: Drunken Driving

Robert Eugene Pickens, 26, of San Rafael, has been sentenced to one day in jail and fined $200 for drunken driving and being in a place where marijuana was smoked.

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court also placed him on probation for one year.

Pickens originally was charged with possessing and being under the influence of marijuana, in addition to the drunken driving charge, but pleaded guilty to the reduced charge in March.

He was arrested Dec. 15 after he was seen driving erratically on Highway 101 in Mill Valley.

Mental Health Group Starts Member Drive

The Marin Association for Mental Health has launched its annual membership drive and fund appeal, stressing the need for expanded mental health programs by noting that the county has the second highest suicide rate in California — more than twice the national average.

Mrs. Axel W. Hoke, membership chairman, also cited Marin court reports that 40 per cent of felonies in the county are linked with drug abuse, including alcoholism.

"This indicates the constant need," she said, for mental health associations to educate the community in health priorities. The association's major goals for the coming year will be establishment of a neighborhood mental health clinic for Southern Marin and child day care centers in areas of need, Mrs. Hoke said. The association tries to serve mental health problems ranging from youngsters using drugs "to the alcoholic housewife to the desolate senior citizen," she said.

Membership dues range from $5 to $100 depending on the class. Donations may be sent to the Marin Association for Mental Health at 1368 Lincoln Avenue. San Rafael. Mrs. Hoke said the contributions are tax deductible.

New U.C. Boss Sees Biggest Problem—Money

BERKELEY (UPI)—Albert H. Bowker, the new chancellor of the University of California Berkeley campus, said today his biggest problem is going to be money.

"It is going to be difficult to maintain quality in a period of shrinking resources," Bowker said at a news conference during a two-day get-acquainted visit.

The 51-year-old educator heads the City College of New York and will take over at Berkeley Aug. 1 following the departure of Chancellor Roger Heyns.

"It is clear that public confidence needs to be restored," Bowker said, adding that he feels Berkeley "is a campus of great resources, faculty and students."

Bids For Repair Work Low

Cost of repairing a bombed courtroom in the Marin Hall of Justice will be much lower than the $140,000 estimated by the architect.

Of seven bids opened at the Civic Center yesterday, Mayta and Jensen, Inc. of San Francisco presented the lowest offer of $85,300 to repair the courtroom of Judge Joseph G. Wilson, demolished by a bomb blast on Oct. 8 last year. The bids ranged to a high of $134,000.

Mayta and Jensen also submitted the lowest offer of $61,750 to complete an unfinished courtroom immediately to the south of the damaged courtroom. Bids on this job ranged to a high of $95,100.

"The bidding was quite competitive, and we're pleased with the results," said architect Aaron G. Green. He plans to present the bids to the Marin County Board of Supervisors next Tuesday.

A series of bids to put finishing touches on the veterans memorial auditorium will also go to the supervisors next Tuesday.

Westmont Engineering Co. of Los Angeles submitted the low bid of $66,850 to build an acoustical shell behind the auditorium stage. Highest bid was $114,440.

Zappetini and son of San Rafael turned in the low bid of $6,865 for miscellaneous metal work, and Cimino Electric of San Anselmo the low bid of $2,433 for miscellaneous electrical work for the auditorium.

Cyclist Hurt In Accident

David W. Mathew, a student at San Francisco State College, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a strained left knee.

Antipollution Agency For Bay Is Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Citing the potential to reclaim 200 million gallons of water daily, a state agency urged the legislature Thursday to create a regional agency to clean up the polluted waters of San Francisco Bay.

The state Water Resources Control Board recommended that the legislature take action this year to establish a permanent agency empowered to plan, operate and finance antipollution programs.

In its report, the board noted that cities and industries are discharging an estimated 800 million gallons of wastewater into the bay daily.

"Accumulated over just one year this volume would cover the entire surface of the bay to a depth of over three feet," the board said.

In a cover letter to Gov. Ronald Reagan and the legislature, board chairman Kerry W. Mulligan said the Bay Area water system "continues to suffer marked deterioration in quality ... and an areawide approach is needed."

The report contained no figures on the possible cost of setting up and operating a new agency to attack the pollution problem.

Mulligan said the agency would have the authority "to plan, finance, build and operate necessary facilities to treat, reclaim, where possible, and dispose of municipal and industrial wastewaters originating in the Bay Area."

One of the first assignments that would be given to the agency would be to prepare and adopt a water resource management plan by 1973.

The board said that, if possible, the agency should be coordinated with, or included in, a multi-purpose governmental agency for the area.

The report contained two alternate proposals for dealing with pollution, although the board recommended adoption of the initial plan.

The alternatives were:

—Creation of a permanent agency by voluntary action of local pollution control agencies under the County Sanitation District law, which would require change by the legislature to permit the formation of a district in two or more counties.

—Creation of a temporary agency by voluntary action of pollution control agencies that would remain in operation until a permanent agency was established.

In urging acceptance of its recommendations, the board warned that governmental arrangements are lacking at present for developing and carrying out a plan for reclamation of wastewaters.

"The combined total of all reclamation efforts in the Bay Area amount to considerably less than 1 per cent of the daily flow from municipal and industrial charges," the board said.

It also called for retention of the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board to "continue its role of establishing objectives and requiring compliance by wastewater dischargers."

The board also recommended the agency be given authority to issue bonds and stressed that revenue to finance its operations "would be obtained primarily from sources other than property taxes."

Burglary Suspicion: 3 Arrested

Three Marin County youths were arrested today on suspicion of burglarizing autos in Novato and other Marin cities, Novato police reported.

Booked into Marin Juvenile Hall were Gary Stephen Mehrtens, 17, of 412 Jewell Street, San Rafael; David Jones Wendell, 17, of 115 Sequoia, San Anselmo, and Terry Mark Cooter, 16, of 131 Woodside Drive, San Anselmo.

Officers said they arrested the youths at 2:30 a.m. after they observed them acting suspiciously in an apartment house parking lot at 199 Plano del Sol.

It the back of the youths' station wagon, officers said, they found tape recorders and tapes believed stolen from five autos in San Anselmo, San Rafael and Novato.

They said a .22 caliber pistol also was found and was traced to an auto burglarized yesterday in San Anselmo.

Evers told officers he was visiting friends at 28 Oak Avenue when the burglary occurred.

Salaries Due Hub Council Discussion

The San Anselmo City Council, meeting in closed session Monday at 8 p.m., will discuss with its negotiators employee salary requests including a 7.5 per cent pay hike asked by police officers.

The officers' association, in an open letter, which will be distributed tomorrow at the San Anselmo Town Meeting and at shopping centers, also has called for an increase in uniform allowance, creation of longevity pay and a life insurance program.

Their salary proposal would mean about $16,000 added to the city fiscal 1971-72 budget. The current police payroll is about $210,000 not including fringe benefits.

The letter notes that officers do not receive life insurance coverage from the city and requests a $10,000 policy for each man.

The letter also states the department has lost seven men to other departments during the last two years. It lists as one reason that an officer reaches the maximum salary rate in three and a half years.

Without longevity pay, it says, patrolmen may be lured to other departments "eager to hire experienced officers."

These requests, along with one asking the uniform allowance be increased from $150 to $200, have been forwarded to the city council "where they were rejected . . ," the letter says.

On Tuesday, the officers plan to present their requests to the council in open session.

Armed Robbery Arrests Made

Four men and a woman were arrested at a Martinez home today in connection with a $7,000 armed robbery Monday in San Rafael.

Booked into Contra Costa County Jail were Judy Sherman, 23, Lowell M. Green, 21, Raymond L. Kennedy, 20, Edward W. Anderson, 20, all of Martinez and Donald E Crow, 36, of Concord.

They are charged with taking $4,000 in stereo equipment Monday evening from the apartment of James Emery Olah of 16 Ross Street, Apt. 3.

Police reported Olah was held at gunpoint after he let the men into his apartment to see the stereo equipment he had advertised in newspapers. Olah was bound with his hands and feet behind his back and a pillowcase over his head while two men wearing ski masks over their face ransacked his apartment for four hours, police said. Olah said his $3,000 car was also taken.

San Rafael police said Green and Kennedy were to be brought to Marin County Jail today on charges of armed robbery, auto theft, possession of stolen property and possession of a dangerous weapon.

Crow and Anderson, charged with the same offenses, await action on other charges, they reported. Crow is also charged with possession of a billy club and a loaded sawed off shotgun found by arresting officers in his car, police said. They said a bag of suspected marijuana was taken from Anderson.

Also arrested in the raid at the Martinez residence and charged with possession of marijuana were Gene E. Baugh, 27, Sharon L. Baugh, 17, and Bruce Villman, 47, all of Concord. Villman was later released pending a court appearance.

Martinez Police, the Contra Costa Vice Squad and San Rafael police detectives Charles S. Brobeck and Bart W. Stinson made the raid at 11:30 p.m. yesterday at the Martinez home on a tip received by Martinez police that the stolen car was in a garage at the residence. They reported making the drug arrests at that time.

At 1:30 a.m. today, police reported, a car with Green, Anderson, Miss Sherman and a 14-year-old juvenile inside arrived at the home and the three arrests were made without resistance. The juvenile was released.

Two other cars arrived at about 2 a.m., police reported. They said they found the billy club and sawed off shotgun on the back seat of Crow's vehicle.

Police reported they fought with Kennedy on the front lawn of the home and inside the home in a living-room before they were able to arrest him.

They reported recovering about $1,500 in stereo equipment and the car at the house.

New West Marin Court Clerk Picked

Nelda Oakley of Stinson Beach has been appointed clerk of the West Marin Justice Court, succeeding Stella Philipscheck of Inverness, who resigned.

Mrs. Oakley worked the past seven years in the Marin County sheriff's department, and in the Sausalito police department before that.

Mrs. Philipscheck had held the clerk's post since June 1966. According to Mrs. David R. Baty, wife of the court's judge, Mrs. Philipscheck no longer wished to work full time, but had no definite plans.

Judge Baty has closed his private law practice in San Rafael and, when not on the West Marin bench, spends much of his time on temporary appointments to other courts. He was hearing cases today in Concord Municipal Court in Contra Costa County, his wife said.

Closing Of Six Schools Ordered

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The city's Board of Education has ordered the closing of six schools that engineers say would be hazardous in an earthquake.

Although they will be open today, the schools are expected to close early next week.

They are Fairmont, Grant, Monroe, Argonne and Webster elementary schools and the main building at Polytechnic High School.

Board members also approved for the November ballot a $56 million bond issue to bring all 63 schools up to state standards. That move still needs approval by the Board of Supervisors.

House Costs Outpace Real Income

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Housing costs to owners and renters rose sharply in the last decade in Sonoma County, but the increase in real income didn't keep pace, according to a Sonoma County Planning Department report.

The report, submitted to the county planning commission yesterday, said rents rose 48.7 per cent and the cost of purchasing a single-family dwelling jumped 32.9 per cent. However, the report said, the county chamber of commerce placed the rise in real income over the past 10 years at only 19.4 per cent.

The figures were contained in the first of three documents aimed at providing the county with a so-called housing element to its general plan. While the first phase delved into general housing problems and goals, the other two reports will analyze demands more carefully and recommend changes to satisfy housing needs.

Yesterday's report, which was passed to the board of supervisors for a hearing Tuesday, also estimated as much as 25 per cent of county residents lived in housing that didn't really meet their needs and that a large influx of college students expected by 1980 would swell housing demands.

The first phase report must be approved by the supervisors in order that the county may continue to qualify for federal funds for general plan work.

Hub Fair Days Set For August 27, 28

The San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce yesterday set its Country Fair Days promotion for Aug. 27 and 28.

According to Ester Squire, chamber secretary, the annual chamber event was previously set for July but was changed because July is a popular vacation month.

Subdivision Dispute To Superior Court

Tiburon Planning Commissioner Allan N. Littman has taken his battle against subdivision of the long controversial Ralph C. Noah property in Tiburon to Marin Superior Court.

Littman, his wife, Caroline, who live at 100 Rolling Hills Road, and their neighbors, Herbert and Beverley Wenig of 65 Rolling Hills Road, have asked for a court order forcing the City of Tiburon to set aside its approval of a lot split and to hold a public hearing on the matter.

A petition filed in superior court maintains that the Littmans and Wenigs were denied equal protection under the law and due process when the city council refused to hold a public hearing on the lot split.

The petition repeats Littman's charge — made at a Tiburon council meeting April 26 — that the map for subdivision of Noah's property at 6 Rolling Hills Road, was signed by former Tiburon Planning Director Wayne E. Moody more than two weeks after Moody left office.

The superior court petition further asks that Noah's house be declared a nuisance and be made to conform to Tiburon zoning requirements. It seeks $10,000 damages from Tiburon, Noah and Tiburon City Engineer Ray M. Foreaker Jr. for "mental suffering and distress."

No hearing date on the petition has been set in superior court.

The Tiburon council approved the lot split April 20, and Noah plans to build another house on the split lot.

The house now on Noah's lot was attacked as a public nuisance in a petition filed three months ago. The city council has continued the matter over the months while conducting hearings on the charge.

Obstetricians Told Lean Days In The Future

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—America's obstetricians were told Thursday there may be unemployment in the profession in the years ahead.

For doctors who "have been shivering in pleasant horror" of ever-growing numbers of babies to deliver "it is time to get realistic," said Donald J. Bogue, director of the Community and Family Study Center in Chicago.

He addressed the final session of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists meeting.

The birth rate in the United States is declining so rapidly that the country will be at a "replacement" level in its population within 10 years, Bogue said.

Two ridiculous gimmicks of the 1940's.

Everyone laughed when they came out with the television.

A box that could show pictures from 3,000 miles away? Absurd.

But everyone really cracked up when we came out with the Volkswagen.

A car with its engine in the back? Its trunk in the front? And its radiator in neither the front nor the back?

It even looked like a joke.

But time marched on.

The television clicked.

The Volkswagen accelerated.

People liked the idea of a car that didn't drink gas like water. Or oil like water.

Or, for that matter, didn't even drink water.

Some strange people even liked the idea that it was strange looking.

In fact, Detroit car makers now like the idea of a VW so much that they decided to make their own.

But even with all those new small cars around, the fate of the bug is still secure.

This is the first year for all of the others.

We've had 23 years of re-runs.

Funds To Delay Bus Fleet

Operation of a new bus fleet by the Golden Gate Bridge District probably will be delayed by the prospect of federal funds.

The fleet, up to 132 new buses plus 20 leased from Greyhound Lines, is supposed to start operating by Dec. 1 of this year.

But a committee of district directors yesterday recommended seeking a 45-day delay in awarding the $5.8 million construction contract to General Motors Corp.

The finance-auditing committee made the recommendation after the district's Washington lobbyist said the Department of Transportation would decide by the end of this month whether the district could get capital grants.

The lobbyist, Richard J. Smart, repeated his predictions made last week that the district could get up to $20 million for its joint bus and ferry system, to cost a total of $30 million.

But the department would share only costs for which contracts still were pending, Smart said, thus the General Motors contract should be held up for the chance of qualifying for federal matching funds.

The GM bid, opened April 27, gave the district 30 days to act, but Bus Transit Mgr. Donald White said a 45-day extension probably could be secured from GM.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring could not estimate the effect of a 45-day delay on the start of bus operations. The effect would depend on what other production GM scheduled in the meantime, he said.

Old-Time Movies Set At Brown's Hall

Old-time movies will be shown at 7:30 p.m. May 15 and 28 at Brown's Hall in Mill Valley. The family theater parties will be sponsored by the Homestead Valley Community Association.

The first movie will be a Harold Lloyd film; the second, a Charlie Chase film. All ages are invited according to Nancy Steinkraus, chairman of the committee, who said there is a nominal fee for the showing.

Behr Describes Medi-Cal Plight

The horns of California's dilemma are "the fiscal bankruptcy of the state and the moral responsibility to support the truly needy," state Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, told the Marin Medical Society last night.

"Medi-Cal is a problem which is inextricably linked with welfare," which in turn "is inextricably linked with unemployment," said Behr. And both welfare and Medi-Cal are "open end programs with closed-end budgets."

Welfare and Medi-Cal costs have increased an average of 22 per cent a year for the last three years, he said, and will total $4.3 billion in the next fiscal year "if we don't do something about it."

The additional cost to counties is estimated at $115 million next year, said the senator.

He promptly qualified these figures, however, by saying that to get accurate figures on Medi-Cal costs is impossible because its "accounting system is simply incredibly inept."

Assembly Bill 949, embodying Gov. Ronald Reagan's program, is "an honest effort to control the rapid growth of the Medi-Cal program," he told the doctors.

The California Medical Association's own plan, which calls for a new 15-member Medi-Cal Authority and a prepayment plan operated by the association, will be carried by state Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Los Angeles, who has introduced a "spot bill" for that purpose. Behr did not say whether he favors the CMA approach over the governor's plan.

Federal legislation in the health care field also is of interest to the medical society, because of which a plan for a medical foundation that could qualify to provide service under any revision of the Medicare program "is No. 1 priority for this year," said Dr. C. Scott Strathairn, society president. He said a special membership meeting on the subject will be held sometime in June.

One Driver Hurt In Crash

One person was injured at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in a three-car accident at Fourth and H streets, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

Bonnie D. Costell, 24, of 20 Theresa Court, Novato, was treated at Marin General Hospital for neck and back strain.

She was the driver in a car involved in a collision with cars driven by Harold Chase, 18, of 541 Shasta Way, Mill Valley, and Harold P. Humphrey, 57, of 64 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo, according to police. All cars were east bound on Fourth, police reported.

Drunken Driving Up In W. Germany

BONN (UPI)—Traffic accidents increased in West Germany by an unusual 14.6 per cent during 1970, mainly as the result of excessive speeds and consumption of alcohol, transportation minister Georg Leber told parliament.

Leber told deputies about one-third of all fatal accidents could be traced directly to misuse of alcohol. For that reason, he recently started a national propaganda campaign to encourage anyone planning to go out on a party to take a taxi instead of his own car.

Prize Will Be Given For Best Article On VD

The Marin Pharmaceutical Association will give $50 in prize money for the best articles on venereal disease written by Marin youth.

Paul M. Cohen, chairman of the Marin Youth Commission, announced the contest at a meeting of the youth commission Tuesday night. He said interested persons should contact the youth commission office in Room 163 at the Hall of Justice.

The Marin Youth Commission also:

PAKISTAN — Announced that Laurie Packard and and Carol McClure will contact high schools for a Pakistan disaster relief fund raising drive.

DELINQUENCY — Invited youth applicants for two vacancies on the Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission.

SPECIAL MEETING — Decided to meet at 5:30 p.m. next Tuesday at Boitano restaurant in Corte Madera to continue discussing reorganization of the youth commission. Commissioners want more youth representation on the 11-member commission, and a bigger youth voice in choosing youth representatives.

New Protests Told But Probe Is Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Declaring that their "spring offensive" to shut down the nation's capital was just a "warmup," antiwar activists today began preparing a new round of protests this summer.

"If Richard Nixon thinks this week was hot," spokesman Rennie Davis said Thursday, "wait until next time; this was only a warmup."

Before the leaders of the May Day tribe and the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice met to plan a new round of activities, the justice department Thursday said it would empanel a grand jury to investigate a possible conspiracy to incite riots.

Deputy Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said the grand jury would be formed after Davis and John R. Froines appeared at a preliminary hearing May 12.

Davis, Froines and Abbie Hoffman, who was arrested in New York City, were the most frequent spokesmen for the 18 days of antiwar protests.

Hoffman said Thursday night in Newark, N.J., that the grand jury will indict up to 50 people.

Davis said demonstration leaders would reveal Saturday the preliminary plans for the summer protests —probably centered around July 4 —with final details to be worked out at a meeting in June, possibly at Madison, Wis.

The protesters, worn out by nearly 13,000 arrests and the maneuvers of 5,100 police and 10,000 federal troops, ended their efforts when a small band of demonstrators became lost in Rock Creek Park while trying to find the South Vietnamese Embassy. The final 4,000 troops left for their home bases.

Companion demonstrations that flared in at least eight cities and many college campuses Wednesday petered out except for isolated incidents at Boston, Madison, Wis., East Los Aangeles, Calif., and Eugene, Ore.

A quiet, three-hour standoff in Boston ended abruptly when police swept away 1,000 demonstrators in a charge with fists and clubs. About 50 students ended a two-day sit-in on the campus of Kent State University that forced officials to close a classroom- office building housing the ROTC.

Dr. Carl McIntire, a fundamentalist radio preacher, was broadcasting appeals for his supporters to join Saturday in a "Patriots' March for Victory." McIntire estimated a crowd of 100,000. Police said they were preparing for 25,000.

Meanwhile, a White House official says reports of innocent people being arrested along with antiwar demonstrators during the Washington protests were grossly exaggerated.

The official, who circulated both by automobile and helicopter throughtout the District of Columbia area during the height of the protests Monday and Tuesday, characterized the protests as widespread disobedience in which the demonstrators were setting fires, accosting women on the streets, and placing automobiles, bodies and other obstacles in traffic lanes.

He said President Nixon was "totally satisfied" with the way police and other law enforcement agencies reacted to the extraordinary circumstances.

Novato Break-In

A shack at Novato's Little League field was broken into last night and $6 in cash taken, police reported today.

Police, Dissidents Spar In Eugene

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Militant demonstrators protesting the war hurled rocks at police, smashed windows and burned barricades Thursday night and early today on the University of Oregon campus and in downtown Eugene.

Nearly 100 officers finally sealed off a four-block area and then swept through it. One of those arrested reportedly was a newspaper reporter.

The 750 demonstrators had marched off campus following an evening rally, lighted a bonfire with construction barricades and blocked traffic for 10 minutes on a major downtown street before police arrived.

The demonstrators then moved into the Eugene Mall area, where they tossed rocks through windows on two stores and a military recruiting center. Police dispersed the crowd with pepper-fog —a substance like tear gas.

As the crowd headed back toward campus, windows were smashed in two stores and a bank. Demonstrators gathered in front of the ROTC buildings, hurling rocks through several windows. They also smashed spotlights in front of the building and on two state police cars.

Police fired tear gas cannisters into the crowd, and rocks were hurled back at the 100 state and city policemen and sheriff's deputies.

The crowd then appeared to break up, but early today about 250 persons gathered again outside the ROTC building. When Police Chief Dale Allen, who was heckled in an earlier attempt to reason with the protesters, urged them to break up, several persons threw stones at him.

Sheriff's deputies wielding clubs immediately charged into the crowd and drove it several blocks down the street. Police told bystanders to disperse or they would be arrested.

Crowds of 75 to 150 persons staged a number of hit-and-run nuisance disturbances during the day. Police used tear gas and physical force to clear them out of a draft office and chase them away from the county courthouse. It was the second straight day of antiway demonstrations in the city and at the university, which has an enrollment of about 14,000.

There were 36 persons arrested and six injured before police announced that order had been restored. Four of those hurt were policemen and two were protestors.

Man, Daughter Hurt In Crash

A Tiburon man and his daughter have been treated at Marin General Hospital for injuries suffered in a two-car collision at Solano and Paradise drives in Tiburon.

Edward Gibson, 50, of F-41, Hilarita Housing, was treated for back sprain while his daughter, Natalie, 8, suffered a bruised forehead and lower back sprain.

Tiburon sheriff's deputies said Gibson's pickup truck collided with a car driven by Vicente Almirantearena, 28, of 27 Woodland Avenue, Apt. 4, San Rafael, at 6:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Keyholes Vandalized

Vandals poured liquid solder into the key holes at offices of Volunteer Bureau of Marin and Boy Scouts of America sometime during the night Wednesday, police reported. The offices are located at 725 A Street in San Rafael. Damage was estimated at about $25.

An Especially Big Mother's Day Sunday

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Mother's Day is an especially big day of the year for Mrs. Rita Davidson of Novato. Her family consists of 13 children and three grandchilren, and 10 of them will celebrate the day in her honor Sunday around the family table.

Now divorced, Mrs. Davidson is proud that her two eldest sons, both Army helicopter pilots, volunteered to serve in Vietnam. A married daughter living in Texas will also miss the family gathering.

From a military family, Rita was born in New York City, and when the WAVES were organized in 1942, she was one of the first to join. She was stationed in Oklahoma when she met her former husband, S/M Sgt. Frank L. Davidson, who was then serving in the Navy. When the Army Air Force was formed, Sergeant Davidson became a member of the Air-Sea Rescue Squadron.

Their first child was born in Kansas and Mrs. Davidson laughingly says the doctor told her then that she possibly would have no more children. She added that every child they had was planned.

The family moved to Novato in 1954 and bought their present home. Calling Novato home, they first lived here until Sergeant Davidson was transferred to Newfoundland in 1963.

At that time, the family included 12 children and a German shepherd dog.

THE FAMILY bought a van-type bus and headed across country. Rita Davidson related the stories about the gas station operator who couldn't believe that that many children could be filing out of the bus, the motel-hotel operator in Washington, D.C., who first said he couldn't accommodate them but had them drive behind the building and go in a back door when he found out that they had two children still in diapers, and the "wonderful" motel operator in Fallon, Nev., who said if they had the courage to travel cross-country with that many children would $15 be too much to charge for the family of 14?

The youngest child, Teresa, now 6 years old, was born in Newfoundland.

It was while they were in Newfoundland, that Jim paid his own way to New York and joined the Army. Mrs. Davidson related that the New York newspapers wanted to interview him because it was at the time of the first draftcard burnings, but he didn't want to take the time. She says he now feels perhaps he should have taken that time. Jim was in the Cambodian invasion and has received the Purple Heart, two Silver Stars, a Bronze Star, Distinguished Flying Cross and commendation medals.

Steve has also received the Distinguished Flying Cross, Bronze Star and commendation medals. Both of them have been shot down several times, their mother said.

"I'm very patriotic," Mrs. Davidson says, "and when the flag goes by, or I hear the 'Star Spangled Banner,' I get chills. I feel that it is a privilege to serve our country."

Does she worry about her sons being in the war zones? She quotes her son Jim as saying, "Pick up your paper and see the number of accidents on Highway 101. I could be driving down the highway and some drunken driver could get me. I'm doing something good for my country."

THE FAMILY came back to Novato in 1968, traveling by trailer. "It was wonderful, for the first time there were no children in diapers," Mrs. Davidson said.

Now living with her in the modest home in Novato, are nine of the children. Five of them are students at Our Lady of Loretto School. Teresa is 6; Barbara, 8; John, 9; Suzanne, 11, and Cynthia, 12.

Alan, 14, is a student at Sinaloa Junior High School and Dennis, 15, Kathleen, 17, and Rosemary, 18, attend San Marin High School.

Two of her daughters are married. Mrs. Dale Horn lives in Las Vegas and Mrs. Lawrence Frederick lives in nederland, Tex. Mrs. Frederick and her husband and daughter, 3-year-old Christine, are visiting Mrs. Davidson this week.

WITH THE large family and only one car, it takes two trips to get the family to Mass on Sunday. And Mrs. Davidson, who works with communications as a telephone operator at Hamilton Air Force Base, tries to arrange her time to participate in the youngsters' activities. John and Alan are both involved in Little League baseball and Dennis plays on the lacrosse team with the Novato Recreation Department.

Kathleen and Rosemary are both working part-time, Kathleen with the county library and Rosemary with the county clerk's office. She will be working fulltime this summer. Mrs. Davidson said she didn't know what they would do without the new Marin transit bus.

"Please tell people how much we appreciate it," she said.

Rosemary doesn't drive, she said, so it would be impossible for her to work without transportation. The bus stops in front of San Marin High School and she goes directly to work, Mrs. Davidson said.

This active, blue-eyed woman, who weighs not much more than 100 pounds, is recording secretary of the Novato Business and Professional Women's Club, a member of Our Lady of Loretto Parish Guild since 1958, vice regent of Catholic Daughters of America and a member of Marin Parents Without Partners.

Inventing A World For Children

TWO SMILING faces, one on a doll with a beanbag body and the other on a little girl, resulted in the doll being put on the market. The girl is one of several hundred children observed every day by employees of the world's largest toy company at its plant in Hawthorne.

By JOAN LISETOR

Unsuspecting little children play in a room unaware that a team of psychologists, engineers and other highly trained persons are studying their reactions to toys behind oneway glass. The children's acceptance or rejection of the toys play a part in shaping the course of world events according to the philosophies of Dale Franklin, the toy development advisor for the largest manufacturer of toys in the world.

"I'm the world's oldest paid kid," said youthful-looking Franklin, who has been with the Mattel toy company for six years, as he spread toys around the I-J Women's Section office.

He says that as many as 350 children a day play in the room at the plant in Hawthorne, at least two at a time, and the room is usually bare except for the toys.

"The children are observed visually and vocally," the Louisiana-born Franklin explains, "and often what we thought would happen doesn't."

The ideas for toys often come from outside sources, Franklin explains. The ideal for one of Mattel's hottest items at the moment, a top that whizzes without a string, "just came in a brown envelope from a guy in Missouri."

"Most new toys are a basic idea with something new added to it," says Franklin. "The kids of today are more sophisticated and not happy with just a string and a bag."

It is not just television that has made them that way, he says. He believes that commercials on television rather than make a child want more, make him more discriminatory.

Franklin, who says he often sees and hears 100 ideas for new toys in a day, believes in creative play, toys that make it fun to learn, but he also stresses that a child should have toys he can just sit and have fun with.

Being involved in the earliest development of a toy, Franklin must also decide if it can be made durably at a reasonable price.

"There is no more expensive toy than the one that is not played with — even if it only costs 50 cents," says Franklin.

His firm has at its disposal every conceivable type of scientinst, says Franklin, who liked mechanical toys as a child. From these highly skilled persons come a wide variety of toys, but each parent must know his own child and buy toys that suit him.

Some Tips For Your Baby-Sitter

If you are worried about leaving your child or children with a baby-sitter on the basis that the child may be injured and the baby-sitter may not know what to do, the Council on Family Health has some suggestions.

The council, a nonprofit organization sponsored as a public service by manufacturers of medicines, advises that you prepare a list of first aid tips and leave it near the telephone along with emergency telephone numbers, including that of the doctor.

If a child is injured and bleeding, the council suggests that a clean cloth immediately be pressed directly over the wound. Advise the sitter, the council says, to bear down firmly, not relieving the pressure even if the dressing gets saturated — simply add more layers of cloth for at least 10 minutes.

Mrs. Karlovic Is Tot School Head

MRS. MARTIN KARLOVIC
Heads Novato Nursery School

Mrs. Martin J. Karlovic of Novato has been elected President of the Novato Parents Nursery School.

Sandra Karlovic says the organization's purpose is "to provide an atmosphere in which a child is accepted for himself. It is a place where parents learn to understand how children really are and to help each child develop in his own way, gradually learning the elementary demands and pleasures of group living, she explains.

The club is sponsoring a booklet for families, "Fun Places for Marin Families," available from members and local bookstores. The club plans to form an alumni association requested by past members. Mrs. Raymond Johnston is chairman. Also planned by the association is a wine-tasting and auction in October, Mrs. Karlovic says.

MRS. KARLOVIC and her husband, a division engineer for the western division, Southern Pacific, are the parents of Stephen, 10; Karen, 9 and Katherine, 4. They have lived in Marin County two years.

The new president was born in Little Rock, Ark., and was graduated from Henderson State College in Arkansas, in home economics. She taught third, fifth and sixth grades in Dallas, Tex., and Pine Bluff, Ark.

She is a member of the American Association of University Women, and served as a vice president of the Mesquite Branch in Dallas, Tex. She is also a member of Friends of St. Anthony, St. Anthony of Padua Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, taught catechism for five years and served as CCD coordinator this year.

HER HOBBIES and interests include reading, consumer education and collecting railroad memorabilia — particularly lighting devices, antique oil-burning switch lamps and oil-burning drawbridge clearance lights. She has in her collection an arcade lamp from the Third and Townsend station in San Francisco, circa 1915.

"I also have an old cotton belt rule book which includes a rule prohibiting the wearing of red clothing," Mrs. Karlovic said.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Gift From A Man Overseas Just Doesn't Quite Ring True

DEAR HELEN:

I met a girl in my modeling class who had on a ring just like mine. I thought mine was unique as my boy friend in the Army said he'd had an old man carve it — and it meant undying love.

It turned out HER boy friend also sent her this ring and from the same place. So we checked names. You guessed it. Same guy!

I wrote and asked him how many other rings he'd distributed, and he was honest. He said fellows overseas are very lonely, so to keep girls writing they say some pretty affectionate things. And besides, you feel like you're "in love" with all of them, being so far away and never knowing when you may get killed.

Then he said I was Number 1, but he was writing to four other girls, and he doesn't expect any of us to stay home and wait, but he hopes I'll be the one who's waiting at the airport for him when he gets home.

Should I believe him; show his letter to the other girl so she'll butt out; ask him to give me the names of all four so we can start a fan club, or date other guys? — ONE FIFTH OF A GIRL FRIEND

DEAR ONE FIFTH:

"No" to the first three questions, "Yes" to the fourth. — H.

P.S. But keep writing to him!

DEAR HELEN:

I sure feel for that girl who said if you're honest with parents — it's your neck.

My father is a third degree man. He thinks he is being tactful, but he's pretty obvious when he starts out talking football to my boy friends and ends up asking them if they've ever had a ticket for speeding, and have they smoked marijuana?

Well, when a guy is up against this kind of thing, smart ones know there's only one safe way to go: Lie! Not that I'd date a real wild guy but, after all, they're human.

However, Bud, the fellow I like best, is Honest (capital H.) He said, "Sure, Mr. B. . . , I've tried pot, and I took some uppers once to get me through finals, but I didn't like them . . ."

Whammo! I am not allowed to date this great guy. My dad considers anyone a dope fiend if he's even smelled the stuff. Bud doesn't smoke but, like almost every other student, he's tried pot.

Parents are always feeling sorry for themselves because their children don't tell them the truth. How can you confide in someone who uses your words against you? — D.B.

DEAR D.:

Good question. And one many parents should heed!

Early on, children learn to avoid trouble at home by telling uptight adults only what they want to hear.

It's a wise parent who listens without condemnation. He may hear more than he really wants to know, but that knowledge shouldn't frighten him, if communication leads to mutual trust and respect.

P.S.: NOTE FOR MR. B.: Bud leveled with you and that's a big compliment. If you can't tell the difference between a "dope fiend" and a reformed experimenter, you'd better invite him back for some more "honesty" sessions. You need them! — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you are having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Not Protein Alone

Protein foods are important to help build body tissues and to repair and maintain them. But, like the other necessary nutrients, protein cannot function by itself. The body also needs, every day, nutrients from a wide variety of other foods such as fruits and vegetables, breads and cereals, and milk and dairy foods.

Vitamins provide nutrients but no energy. That's one reason it is necessary to eat well-balanced meals consisting of foods from all four food groups — milk, meat, vegetables and fruits, and breads and cereals.

"You'll know what toys to buy if you listen to what your child is saying," says Franklin. "If he is playing 'the mad scientist' it is obvious what type of toys he will enjoy, but if he is a passive child, not curious about what is inside, he will be happiest with toys that require no involvement. Let the child help buy his own toys.

"A child will simulate adult activities and play with replicas of the adult world in miniature. Toy trends are a reflection of the adult world."

As an example, he explains that the company that made erector sets began after the Depression when the country was beginning construction of new buildings. That company has since gone out of business, he said.

The current trend is educational and also a reflection of trends back to nature. Cuddling dolls are also making a comeback, he says.

Mattel has not made military toys in about 10 years, Franklin says, because the firm does not want to make toys that are injurious to children — or toys that will not sell.

What sells — and sells big — are Hot Wheels, model cars that run on plastic tracks. They sell, Franklin says, because children collect cars today as they always have.

"But today's child needs competition and interplay," he says.

With Hot Wheels he can either play alone or race a friend, he explains.

"Mattel's philosophy is that competition can be constructive and facing it in play situations makes it easier to face in real life," says Franklin. "Children need relaxation also, which is something parents sometimes forget."

Every toy that the firm puts on the market represents an input of hundreds of hours, Franklin says.

Why so much emphasis on toys?

"Nothing guarantees a frustrated adulthood more than a frustrated childhood," he says.

Newcomers Head Likes 'Exploring'

Judy Wilbur and her husband, a sales representative for Interlake, Inc., have lived in Sonoma County for 19 months. They have three sons, Christopher 9, David, 7, and Robert, 5.

Mrs. Wilbur says that the purpose of the Petaluma Newcomers Club is to welcome and bring together in friendly fellowship, women who are new to Petaluma and to stimulate their interest in the civic, moral and educational aspects of the community.

A variety of activities are planned for the coming year. Included are a candle shop and winery tour; a day at Candlestick Park, a day at the races at Golden Gate Fields, sponsorship of a local candidates night and an annual Christmas dinner dance.

A native of Salt Lake City, Utah, the new president is a graduate of Ogden High School and attended the University of Utah. Her other club memberships are Liberty Valley Women's Golf Association; Valley Little League Women's Auxiliary and the Petaluma Parents Cooperative Nursery School. Golf, bicycling and playing bridge are other interests.

Serving with Mrs. Wilbur on the board of directors are Mmes. James Pador, first vice president; Steven Webb, second vice president; Jackie Gates, recording secretary; Herbert Morris, corresponding secretary and David Weir, treasurer.

Society's Reversal Is Shown In A Saga Of Free Lemonade

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

The other day I observed a young man with long blond hair seated on the sidewalk at the intersection of a downtown street. He held a crayoned sign which read "free lemonade." Next to him on the ground was a gallon bottle of yellow liquid and a stack of paper cups.

More risible than the sight of this young man and his gift venture were the reactions of the passers-by. Many just smiled and shook their heads as if to say "Oh brother, what next?"

Comments varied as people turned down his offer and walked away.

"I wonder what's really in that bottle."

"He's probably flipped out on drugs and wants to 'turn on' the world — for free, no less!"

"He must be up to something!"

"Probably a nut house escapee."

"What's he doing down here?"

"Someone ought to call the police!"

"No way man!"

"Never poison me!"

Finally, I approached the young man and asked how his project was going and why he was giving away lemonade.

He answered that he simply wanted to give something to his fellow man and that he had purposely come to that section of the city because these were the people who needed to know that there were whites capable of "giving." Then he offered me a cup of his free drink.

Although I was somewhat sympathetic to his cause, if indeed, his mission was sincere, I had to admit that I did not have a taste for lemonade at that particular moment. Just like the majority of people observed, I was extremely skeptical.

It's interesting to note that there was a time when the word "free" (anything) would have emitted an immediate positive response. But, fortunately and/or unfortunately, most people, especially those with limited incomes have been "taken" so many times by the free come-on that they have swung to the other extreme and accepted the fact that in our society there is little or nothing that is actually free — you pay in one way or another.

Today the word "free" is almost an automatic turn off. No longer is it the enticement that it used to be. Even Madison Avenue has had to come up with some reverse psychology for selling goods. They now state that "It costs more because it does more" or "You get what you pay for."

Yes, the pendulum has swung to the other extreme. And even though there are many people who still would be very pleased to receive something for nothing (perhaps this is a part of our society's nature) most of us have become fairly calloused, and especially for consumer protection we have tended to rephrase an old saying — the best things in life are very probably not free."

Sculptor Cited For Unusual Head Gear

Sculptor Elaine Galen of Hampton, New Jersey, recently was cited for designing a "Jawbone Helmet" made out of stainless steel. The "adjustable sculpture" covers the entire face but for an eye slit and the jawbone.

Miss Galen, who received a Design in Steel Award, said the helmet was designed to be exhibited either as a static piece or worn. Wearing it, she said, —extends the aesthetic responses beyond seeing or touching.

Knits Taking Fresh Look

Fashion is on a big knit-kick this season, and the look comes up fresh and new and full of energy.

As softly shaped as the simple tank top, knits get new dimension with stripes, jacquard and herringbone patterns, and silky looks. Even space dyes show up in knits.

The ribs — from the skinniest to the newer spaced rib — are still being served up as the hottest fashion item for spring and summer.

The skinny rib turtletops, elongated vests, pants, skirts and swimsuits are seen everywhere.

The spaced rib skirt or dress appears, and has great impact teamed with ribs or smooth textures.

Smooth cotton knit tops are headed for popularity in shirt and crew neck styles. A long-sleeve, V-neck version is seen at night with skirts or pants.

Special features you'll enjoy:

The close of another school year is fast approaching. And that makes it a time when administrators, teachers, students, parents and the public all look back to assess educational programs. The Independent-Journal Marin Magazine joins that trend tomorrow with two special reports — a study of Belvedere's unusual St. Stephen's Parish Day School, written by Becky Matson with photographs by Margy Rutledge, and a feature on Tamalpais High School's training classes in food services and the clothing industry, text and photos by Gil Pearson.

Then, in its popular series of profiles of prominent personalities of the area, the Saturday supplement tomorrow goes outside the boundaries of Marin County to cover a Southern Sonoman. Reporter Bonnie Bard has written a study of Thomas H. McGrath, the new Sonoma State College president. And finally there is Editor Don Keown's story of octogenarian Frank G. Bauman of Corte Madera, who at 88 has two hobbies — fishing, which is not surprising, and embroidery, which is most unusual and surprising.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

South Just Too Hungry; Should Halt Heart Collecting Sooner

Many years ago I decided never to point out that a bridge hand resembles life itself. It sounds so pompous to say "In bridge, as in life. . ." So I won't say anything about all the trouble we take to do exactly the wrong thing. Not a word.

THE FINESSE

South won the first trick with the ten of hearts, drew three rounds of trumps and then carefully ran the rest of the hearts in order to discard the ten of clubs from his hand. South heaved a sigh of satisfaction since now his slam depended only on winning either of two finesses.

Declarer tried the diamond finesse first, losing to the king. West shrugged his shoulders helplessly and returned a diamond. South had to win with the ace of diamonds, overtaking dummy's jack.

South next entered dummy with a trump and tried the club finesse. This lost also, and South was down one. South was not bitter. "If it were raining good luck," he remarked amiably, "I'd be caught with only a sieve in my hand."

North had a different opinion. "If it were raining luck," he grumbled, "you'd be asleep. Just as you were on this hand."

ONE TOO MANY

South threw his slam away when he cashed one heart too many. He should stop after taking three rounds of hearts (and three rounds of trumps).

Declarer then leads a club from dummy and tries a finesse with the queen. West wins with the king but cannot make a safe return. Either a club or a diamond gives declarer a free finesse for his 12th trick. South can then get to dummy with a trump to discard his only loser on dummy's last heart.

At Term's End, Keys Tossed Out

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Jack Weeks of Dallas has an idea he says would keep the eyes of space travelers on Texas day and night.

Weeks wants to circle the state's borders with sodium vapor lights. Another kind of high visibility marker would be installed for daytime identification, then astronauts could watch Texas day and night.

School Bond Issue Gets Riles' Nod

OAKLAND (UPI)—State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles endorses a May 18 Oakland School District bond issue, the "Yes on A" campaign said today.

The $52 million in bonds would be used to replace or rebuild 39 schools which do not meet earthquake safety standards. The election is scheduled May 18.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, May 7, the 127th day of 1971 with 238 to follow.

The moon is between the first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars, Venus and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

In 1915 a German U-boat sank the British liner "Lusitania" off Ireland; 1,198 persons, including 124 Americans, were lost.

In 1945 Nazi Germany surrendered on the 2,075th day of World War II.

In 1954 French troops surrendered the fortress of Dienbienphu and withdrew from what is now Vietnam.

In 1968 Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama died of cancer at the age of 41.

A thought for the day: Aristotle said, "Even when laws have been written down, they ought not always to remain unaltered."

Nematodes—Costly Tiny Crop Killer

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Nematodes, normally invisible animals which are about one-hundredth of an inch long, cost U.S. crop and horticultural growers more than $1 billion each year, estimates a Michigan State University scientist.

"Much Michigan farm land has been mislabeled 'exhausted' or 'tired soil,' but nematodes were actually the cause of crop losses," says Dr. Charles Laughlin.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"A New Leaf" — A delightful comedy about a penniless middleaged playboy who is forced to acquire a rich wife quickly. His choice is a botonist who has the social graces of a country hick. He has devious plans to get control of her money and that is when the fun begins.

"Out-Of-Towners" — Refreshingly funny spoof on the big city life is glimpsed through hilarious misadventures of a small city businessman who takes his wife with him for his final job interview in New York City.

"Tora, Tora, Tora" — Impressive dramatization of the attack on Pearl Harbor, seen from both the American and Japanese point of view. Excellent cast, amazing photography, well worth seeing.

"Wild Child" — Excellent semidocumentary based on case history about the problems of teaching an 11-year-old boy to live with people after living as an animal in the forest of France.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Butch Cassidy and the Sun Dance Kid" — A deft sophisticated comedy about two bandits. Imaginative camera work, wonderful score, witty performances. Very violent ending.

"Lawrence of Arabia" — Reissue of magnificent production telling the story of T. E. Lawrence, an English soldier who led the revolt of Bedouins against the Turks during World War I.

"Little Big Man" — Excellent tragicomic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by a 121-year-old ex-gunfighter. Very violent and bloody but unusual and entertaining. Some sex.

"Love Story" — Film is pure romantic escapism and an old fashioned simple love story. Acting is exceptional and some tasteless language mars an otherwise beautiful portrayal.

"Patton" — Excellent characterization by George C. Scott who portrays an indomitable spirit that could achieve its destiny only in wartime. Strong film makes use of violence and profanity.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Alice's Restaurant" — Episodic treatment of true life happening in a commune. Tells of uninhibited sex life and indulgence in "pot" harming only themselves, yet searching for happiness.

"Derby" — A documentary aout the roller derby, one of the roughest professional sports. Film deals with personal lives of the men and women who participate. Rating is due to foul language and love scenes. (Boxoffice Magazine).

"Woodstock" — A three-hour documentary film record of the three-day rock musical held in August 1969 with an audience of 500,000 young people. Love making, nudity and foul language abundant.

ADULTS ONLY

"Diary of a Mad Housewife" — Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage in New York. A good comedy with sex and dialogue that is very frank.

"Gimme Shelter" — Documentary of the free concert in Altamont with the "Rolling Stones" and the murder that occurred when Hell's Angels were hired to police the affair. The language used, violence, nudity and sex shown will make some people wince.

"I Love My Wife" — Stylish comedy about an empty life, told in terms of sex. A doctor whose wife has grown fat and boring, satisfies his desires indiscriminately and answers to no one. Frank sex scenes and cursing.

"Loving" — Quiet desperation of suburban life is artfully explored in this story of a commercial artist living on the brink of disaster. A lewd escapade at a party brings matters to a shocking conclusion. Extremely frank language and sex scenes.

"M.A.S.H" — Nothing escapes the mockery of this ribald blood soaked comedy of wartime Korea. Several scenes are as gruesome as they are funny. Sex, nudity and cursing make this a very adult satire.

"Owl and the Pussycat" — Racy adult comedy about a prostitute and a shy author. Some shocking obscenities and sex scenes.

Williams Play Set At Tam High

An "environmental theater" production of Tennessee William's "Camino Real," with action taking place all around the audience, will be staged today and tomorrow and next Thursday through May 15 at Tamalpais High School.

Seating is limited to 70 because the audience will sit in a plaza in front of a Latin American hotel.

The cast and production crew, directed by Daniel E. Caldwell, will nearly match the audience in size — 65 students and four teachers are required.

Assisting Caldwell will be four theater professionals: sound technician Daniel Duggan, makeup expert Paul Willis, set designer Jack DeGovia and actor-director Drew Eshleman.

The Williams play, which takes place between the Hotel Siete Mares and a skid row flophouse and gypsy encampment, is full of strange characters — Don Quixote, Sancho Panza, Kilroy, Casanova and Spanish ladies, among others.

Union Construction Hourly Wages Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Bureau of Labor Statistics said today the average hourly wages of union construction workers in larger urban areas rose 12.3 per cent during the 12 months ended April 1.

The increase is about twice the rate President Nixon has set as his suggested limit on building trades pay hikes for this year in order to keep inflation down.

Mill Valley Board Fires Off Angry Letter On Development

The Mill Valley School District board has sent an angry letter to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission complaining that the district has not been consulted in planning a large housing development.

The 624-unit development, to be called Madera Del Presidio, will be built on 73 acres of unincorporated land south of the Koch Luggage plant in Corte Madera.

The land now is in the Mill Valley School District, but could be annexed to the Reed School District — and be served by the nearby Granada School — or to the Larkspur-Corte Madera School District.

Both the Reed and Mill Valley boards last month complained to the agency formation commission, which must approve annexations, saying they had not been informed that a project was planned.

The boards asked the commission to take no action on the application until they had a chance to study the development, but commissioners approved the annexation to Corte Madera April 14.

"Despite our letter of April 13," the board's latest letter said, "we have never received any reply of any sort. . .

"We are completely unable to understand why our request is being so totally disregarded. We believe that failure to deal with problems of school sites and school planning can only be harmful to future residents. . ." of the project.

The letter concludes by renewing the request that no further action be taken on the application until the board has had time to review the plans, "which no agency of local government has even had the courtesy to forward to us."

Warner Odenthal, of the Orinda development firm of E. C. Harter and Odenthal Investment Co., said yesterday his company went before the three school boards last week to explain the project, about three weeks after the boards complained they weren't being consulted.

Cattle rustling is reported in Virginia.

Sebastopol Pair Hurt In Accident

Two Sebastopol men were treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for injuries sustained in a Larkspur auto accident.

The hospital said Edward Harris, 21, was treated at 12:45 a.m. for a bruised forehead and his companion, David Dexter, 20, was treated for a scalp cut.

Larkspur police had no details of the accident.

Marin Dining And Wining

EARLY RESERVATIONS have been coming in at Marin restaurants for next Sunday dinners and it appears that the turn-out for Mother's Day this year will be another huge one.

Last year, Bernard's Executive Lounge in San Rafael had 94 advance reservations and then had to turn others down as saving table space was getting too complicated for the comparatively small and intimate dining room. The tally is mounting up for this year, too, so don't delay too long.

Chef Wally Price is preparing a special Mother's Day menu that features a complete turkey dinner at $3.95 and a complete roast beef dinner at $5.95. Service will be from 2 to 10 p.m.

ON THE OTHER SIDE of Fourth Street, Sal Iachino says he has already taken as many reservations for dinner at Romulus Restaurant as he can justify — so the best bet here now is to go there without one.

Service at Romulus will also start at 2 p.m. on Mother's Day. Special complete dinners in addition to the regular menu include roast chicken, fried prawns, roast leg of lamb, veal parmigiana, veal scallopini, top sirloin and prime rib. The chicken dinner is $3.50; prime rib and top sirloin dinners are $4.50. The rest are $3.95.

USUALLY CLOSED on Sundays, Lin Fa Gardens at Northgate will stay open this week for Mother's Day, serving a special dinner menu from 2 to 9 p.m. For one time only the following Monday will be a day of closing.

RUBINI'S in Fairfax starts its dinners Sunday at 4 p.m. with a special Mother's Day menu.

On display this month at Rubini's are paintings of Jean Vaccaro, who has exhibited here before, I believe, as well as at other places in Marin.

THE NEPTUNE FISH AND CHIPS restaurant at 175 Belvedere Street, San Rafael (in the Harbor Shopping Center) has been sold to Mrs. Velma Harden of Novato. Jerrold Hickok of Donald Geddes Realty handled the sale.

Mrs. Harden formerly managed the snack bar concession in the Marin County Disco stores and before that worked at Burge's Drive-In Restaurant at Igancio. She will keep the same name and is adding ham, turkey, hamburgers and some other items to the menu.

Hours are from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and she is also considering the idea of adding a breakfast menu.

THE LION'S SHARE on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile is featuring Jim Kweskin tonight and tomorrow night.

WHAT DO YOU CONSIDER an expensive dinner? $5? $6? $7? $10?

To an individual whose restaurant visits are very few and far between, it possibly comes as something of a shock to look at today's menu prices and compare them with their counterparts of the 40s, 50s and even the 60s.

But think things out. Aside from some value as a conversation topic, there is little to be gained by such comparisons in themselves. Today's dollar simply doesn't have the same purchasing power — anywhere you look. If any price comparisons are to be made on meals, they should also be accompanied by similar comparisons in food costs, and wages and overhead items. You can't justify one without the other.

To isolate one restaurant, let's take La Petite Auberge in San Rafael (which by no means is an isolated case). In our Dining and Wining Guide of 1962, its dinners were listed form $3 to $5 and a la carte $2.75 to $4.25. In our most recent dining guide of last February, complete dinners had moved up to $4.50 - $7 and a la carte to $3.75 - $6.

This represents an increase of 40 to 50 per cent in nine years.

Meanwhile, let's see what has happened to the food you buy in the market for home use. Take meat for instance — the most important item on restaurant menus. In May, 1962, lamb chops were being advertised rom 59 to 69 cents per pound. Today's advertised prices are $1.19 - $1.39 — up 100 per cent. T-bone steaks in 1962 were 89 - 99 cents per pound and today are advertised at $1.49 — up 65 per cent. Similarly, ground meat used to be 45 cents. Today the same thing is 89 cents or more — up 100 per cent. Round steak has gone up 75 per cent from 79 cents to $1.39 cents per pound; sirloin about 90 per cent, from 79 cents to $1.49 — and so on.

And by the way, what is your own income today, compared to your 1962 earnings?

Don't blame La Petite Auberge — or any other restaurant if menu prices go up again by the time our next dining guide is published. According to the Department of Agriculture, during 1971 food eaten away from home should increase in price at least another 2 or 3 per cent.

Stamp Rolls Taken

Two rolls of stamps, valued at $60, were taken in a burglary of an office at Three R. School, 3833 Redwood Highway, near San Rafael, last weekend, Marin County Sheriff's Office reported yesterday.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Seven Seas In Sausalito Ranks High With Seafood Gastronomes

Northern Californians have always enjoyed their seafood, and restaurants specializing in this fare that serve it fresh and in a manner to pique both appetite and imagination invariably do well in business at almost any location.

People will travel for miles for a good seafood menu.

One of the places that gets them from all directions is the Seven Seas in Sausalito. Several long years ago Paul and Della De Moss changed it from a bar to a restaurant, listing such delectibles as bouillabaise (still a big favorite here), cioppino, Bluepoint oysters, Cherrystone clams, lobster, crab, prawns, petrali sole, clam chowder and a few other such items — and they have been hopping ever since.

The menu has grown over the years. There is more variety now than in those early days, but this has been in keeping with its natural growth and increased popularity.

And in those first years I believe Paul used to do the cooking himself, and he's skilled at it. But for a long time the Seven Seas food preparation has been in the hands of professional chefs.

Most recent is Karl Scheuermann, who earlier in his profession was a pastry chef. This has been the experience of many a successful kitchen master who takes his work seriously. As I recall, he's picked up a few awards along the way in fancy desserts, ice carvings and in seafood preparations.

Incidentally, a great item added to the last menu is Hawaiian mahi-mahi, pan-broiled, served with rice, toasted almonds and pineapple garnish. I had never been particularly sold on mahi-mahi before, but I am now.

The Seven Seas is a cosmopolitan place — which speaks well for the operation in itself. It takes all kinds of people to make a place popular.

Compromise On Crossing To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly yesterday voted 55-7 approval to a compromise bill backed by Gov. Ronald Reagan to give residents in six San Francisco Bay Area counties a chance to vote on the proposed southern crossing bridge.

The measure by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, was sent to the Senate.

He reached a compromise with Reagan on the ballot measure after the governor vetoed an earlier bill requiring approval of the legislature before the bridge could be constructed.

The compromise places the question on the June 1971 ballot of whether to construct the bridge from San Francisco's India Basin to Alameda County.

The issue would be on the ballot in three counties which are in the Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) district—San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa—plus Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara.

The ballot question would read, "Shall the California Toll Bridge Authority be permitted to construct the southern crossing bridge without further specific approval by the California Legislature?"

Longtime Inmate Forges Check To Rejoin Friends

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—If Theodore Matousek is lucky, he won't have to worry about being evicted again for 20 years.

He had served 33 years for various offenses.

But freedom wasn't what he wanted, he told his parole officer several weeks ago. The parole officer said there was no way for Matousek to be sent back to prison unless he committed a crime.

So Matousek forged a $156 check.

A Common Pleas Court judge here Wednesday accepted Matousek's guilty plea, congratulated him on his 48th birthday that day and sentenced him to 1-20 years.

"His only real background, his only friends, are in prisons," explained his attorney, R. Kemp Lindsey.

"It certainly doesn't speak too highly of our 'correctional system' when something like this happens."

Plea To Transfer Fairs To Finance Department Is Made

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature were urged yesterday to transfer responsibility for fiscal supervision of the state's 76 local fairs to the state Department of Finance from the Department of Agriculture.

The recommendation headed a long list of suggestions by the economy-minded, bipartisan state Little Hoover Commission for making fairs more efficient and economical.

The commission, which suggested and then discarded a controversial proposal that the fairs be consolidated and merged, submitted its recommendations in a 129-page report to the governor and lawmakers.

The commission asserted that both the state Departments of Finance and Agriculture and the legislature itself doesn't now review fair programs "in any meaningful sense."

"Since the state's budgetary authority resides in the Department of Finance, it is logical that its budgetary expertise is in the budget division of that department," the commission said.

It recommended that the responsibility for fiscal supervision of the fairs be removed from the fairs and exposition division of the Department of Agriculture and given to the Finance Department.

The board, formally called the Commission on California State Government Organization and Economy, also recommended that a state subsidy to fairs set by statute be repealed and replaced with a criteria that would determine the actual needs of individual fairs.

Seventy-one fairs including Marin and Sonoma receive an automatic annual appropriation of $65,000 while five others receive a smaller subsidy.

The report said some fair managers have been ordered by their boards to seek the maximum $65,000 "even if it is not justified.

"The commission seriously questions whether these statutory appropriations, without annual justification of need, are still appropriate."

Each year the Los Angeles County Fair receives $250,000 from the state; the Grand National Livestock Show $250,000; the Great Western Livestock Show $125,000; the National Orange Show $150,000; and the Cloverdale Citrus Fair $30,000.

The commission also recommended that local fairs be given an incentive to increase use of their facilities offseason. It suggested tying state matching funds to the amount of year-round use a fair facility is given.

Additionally, the report suggested that fairs charge an "appropriate" admission fee as a condition of receiving state aid. Currently 10 of the 76 fairs operate a "free gate."

Quake Relief Logjam Broken

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Small Business Administrator Thomas S. Kleppe said yesterday that the agency has broken a logjan of applications for emergency loans to repair homes and businesses damaged in the Los Angeles earthquake of Feb. 9.

Kleppe told reporters that 8,628 loans totaling $41,375,875 had been approved and that additional loan applications were being processed at the rate of 200 a day.

The SBA head said applications were coming in at the average rate of 170 a day and that it was still assumed the total would reach the $240 million estimated earlier by the Office of Emergency Preparedness.

RAP SESSION

Bircher Sees Federal Plot For Dictatorship

By M. STREET BROOKS
(11th in a series of 24 raps)

Activities of young radicals are being financed by the federal government in a clever plot to win support for an eventual dictatorship, according to a John Birch Society member from Greenbrae.

Hugh O. Pessner, 54, owner of West Coast Timber Products in San Rafael, said radicals are being taught by a growing number of Communist professors on campuses throughout the country.

Pessner and his wife, Luella, and three children live at 90 Corte de Sabla in Greenbrae.

Despite his suspicion of the government and having been defeated in races for a state Senate seat and the Marin Junior College, District board, he believes one can 'work within the system" to reverse "growing federal control."

"My basic viewpoint gives you nothing without first taking something — either your money or your liberty."

He said the government is funding the "revolution," often using poverty funds, as a clever method to win support for a dictatorship among members of the "silent majority."

"I believe that much of this OEO (Office of Economic Opportunity) funding is going to finance the revolution," he said. "The OEO provided shuttle buses to take people to the demonstration for Angela Davis at the Hall of Justice.

HUGH O. PESSNER
"Youth seeks change, for better, is betrayed by conspirators" (Independent-Journal photo

"Why were these buses being used? I think the taxpayers should be up in arms. They shouldn't allow their money to be used this way.

"We are financing the irresponsible everywhere."

Pessner said students are being indoctrinated more often today into "concepts of Socialism and Communism."

"There's no question," Pessner said, "more Communists are teaching today. Many of them are second generation Communists or Socialists.

"Leaders gather around them a nucleus of students interested in change because they (students) know something is wrong. They (students) want to make the world better, but they don't know what to do about it so they engage in violent activity.

They are being manipulated by forces wanting to instill collectivism.".

He said that violent student activities are "bringing about a dictatorship."

The federal government is helping to finance violent student activities, he said, in order to justify total federal control.

"The so-called silent majority is screaming for law and order and they ask for and are willing to give more control to the federal government.

"The students are the catalyst for the dictatorship — call it anything you want — but it is a small obligarchy controlling everyone with the excuse that 'We have to restore law and order.'"

According to Pessner, there is no gap between generations. The gap is between individuals, he said.

Pessner said he had Socialist teachers while a junior college student in Southern California. He later graduated from Oregon State University.

"Work through the system," Pessner urged. "There is always room for constructive change."

Plea To Cut Expenses In Sausalito

A proposal which could be unprecedented in government finance was made last night by a Sausalito city councilman.

Councilman Wyman Hicks, chairman of the city's finance committee suggested Sausalito cut — by one-third — its proposed $1,763,622 budget for 1971-72.

While admitting that some city services would be curtailed by his proposed reductions, Hicks said he felt the city could "operate very well on a whole lot less money. "For a city of 6,000 persons, we have too many employees, too many vehicles, too much of everything," he said.

The suggestion drew immediate fire from two councilmen, Robin Sweeny and Alexander R. Imlay and some support form Councilmen Earl F. Dunphy and Stephen A. Fraser. Although the council took no action on the unusual request, its members agreed to search for ways of cutting expenditures.

"I have spent three years struggling to improve services to my community," Mrs. Sweeny said. "Now our people are accustomed to the quality of services we have; I don't think they are going to accept this."

Imlay called the proposal "reverse thinking." We should first decide what kinds of services we want to provide," he said, "then find out if we have enough money to take care of what we want."

"I think we are spending way over our heads," said Frazer. "We have overextended our income from visitors; we squeeze them dry, then spend every penny of that money.'' He thought the city had "too many policemen (22 men) and spend too much on roads and not enough on other resident needs. "I voted for two foot patrolmen last year," Fraser said, "but now I think that was a mistake.

He said the city depended too heavily on its revenues derived from tourism, "a very uncertain income." He suggested the budget go back to city department heads who would be asked to make across-the-board cuts.

Both Hicks and Dunphy admitted the only way to reduce the budget substantially would be to cut city personnel. Sausalito currently has 74 employees, with 75 proposed for next year.

But they stressed they were not suggesting wholesale dismissal of personnel, but rather reductions through attrition. "If someone leaves, we should give serious thought to not filling that position," Dunphy said.

Mrs. Hicks asked what Hicks and Fraser proposed to do with the money the city would save through the significant budget cuts they envisioned. Fraser replied the city could use the funds for a new library or a youth center or to begin implementation of the park plaza plan which the council approved recently. "We could even reduce taxes," Hicks added.

Imlay questioned whether the council was "in a position to evaluate what cutting allocations to particular departments will do to this town" and rejected what he termed "the meat cleaver approach to budget cuts."

Fraser said he thought the savings would reduce the city's tourist industry and help to reemphasize the residential character of Sausalito. "Some of us wanted to take our Parking Lot No. 1 and make that area an open space park, but we couldn't afford to lose the revenue," he said.

Later the council gave tentative approval to a $373,098 budget for the police department, a budget relatively unchanged from last year's $372,332 expenditure. Also approved was a $259,317 fire department budget, down about 5 per cent from last year's $274,945 figure.

The Sausalito City Council also:

PUBLIC DRINKING — Introduced an ordinance which would make drinking alcoholic beverages in public an infraction, a lesser offense than a misdemeanor — the charge now lodged against Sausalito's public drinkers.

PARKING FEES — Heard first reading of an ordinance raising on-street meter rates from 20 to 40 cents an hour and adding meters on Bridgeway as far north as Locust Street. Meters on Caledonia Street, which the city plans as a resident serving commercial area, will remain at 5 cents an hour.

LOT RENTALS — Introduced an ordinance to raise monthly rental rates for 45 spaces in Municipal Lot. No. 4 from $10 to $15.

PARKING — Heard first reading on an ordinance changing parking at the intersection of Park Avenue and El Portal from diagonal to parallel parking.

Split Widens Over Plans To Raze Unsafe Church Sanctuary

By DAVID DIETZ

Dissident congregation members apparently won grudging headway last night in their bid to gain reconsideration of plans to raze the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael.

Despite repeated assurances by lay leaders that the 74-year-old church cannot be restored and a new one must be built, opponents made it clear that a planned fund drive for a new edifice lacked widespread support among the congregation.

A new structure has been estimated to cost about $280,000.

Although Richard A. Clarke, a member of the ruling session, conceded the fund drive had been stalled by the protest, there was no indication of the next move. The session, which has final say on church policy, is to meet Tuesday.

Construction of a new sanctuary was ratified overwhelmingly by the congregation in January, based on a recommendation by the session. A protest movement to reverse the session's endorsement was begun almost at once, however.

The discussion last night, before an aggrieved and divided congregation, was the last of two called by the session in the hope it could convince church members that restoration is not possible because of the brittleness of the stone wall of the sanctuary.

But opponents of demolition, backed by petitions containing 275 signatures, outnumbered backers of the session. Canoles Hall, which has been used for Sunday services since the sanctuary was closed last fall, held a near-capacity audience.

And as opposing speakers exchanged views, the prayer hall often was filled with applause or muffled jeering. The outbreaks worried some congregation members.

"We're going through difficult times right now,'' said Walter Zurcher, a session member. "Applauding hurts me. I hope we behave in a Christian-like manner..."

Most of the meeting was consumed by attempts to undermine the opinions of engineers and architects who have differed on whether the sanctuary can be saved.

On one hand, church architect Donald L. Hardison, supported by consultants, has concluded that the sandstone used to build the sanctuary is unsafe and would collapse in an earthquake. Architect Howard Johnson of Mill Valley and his advisers, on the other hand, say the church can be saved by attaching a new interior wall to the outside stone face by means of dowels.

(Johnson's part in the controversy had led to filing of a censure action by Hardison with the American Institute of Architects.)

Members of the session repeatedly insisted they had hoped to be able to restore the church, but a stream of reports on the instability of the rock convinced them otherwise.

"No one started with the concept of whitewashing a point of veiw," said Clarke, who also is chairman of the session's long range planning committee. "The only prejudice we started with was that we wanted to save the building."

"We would have been happy to be wrong," he ended to applause.

Johnson's supporters, including former session member Robert Lloyd, said Hardison's team had failed to consult with Johnson's about the interior wall technique after the latter's plan became known. The opposition countered that Johnson's group had not tested the stone, as the Hardison group had done.

Hardison and his consultants have concluded the rock would crumble if shot with dowels. One of Johnson's consultants has estimated the technique would cost about the same as building a new sanctuary.

Church member Roger Davidson, also to applause, called for tests of Johnson's plan by a "disinterested party."

John M. MacPhail Jr., a spokesman for the dissidents, presented the petitions. "We have been called undercover and out of order," he said, "but we feel we have acted responsibly."

John Groom New Mayor Of Cotati

John L. Groom was elected last night as mayor of Cotati by his colleagues on the city council.

Groom, who is in the trucking business, has been on the council three years.

In other business, the council adopted an ordinance requiring developers to pay fees for park and recreation purposes, approved a higher residential zoning for five lots in the Casa Bonita Subdivision at West Sierra and Valparaiso avenues and looked on as the local American Legion group presented a service recognition plaque to the city's police department.

Fire Budget In First Round Nod

A preliminary budget of $175,000 for 1971-72, an increase of $20,000 over this year's $155,000 budget, was adopted last night by directors of the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District.

Directors declared, however, that they will not raise the tax rate, which stands at 73 cents per $100 assessed valuation this year, but would cut the spending program if a tax increase looks likely.

Fire Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. said the board expects the difference between this year's and next year's budget will be made up from income from new construction and an increase in assessed valuation.

The budget includes $140,000 for salaries, $30,000 for maintenance and $5,000 for capital outlay. Of the total, $165,000 will come from property taxes and $10,000 from fees collected from the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in lieu of taxes.

In other business, directors voted to make application to join the State Retirement Program. Heynen said the changeover from the present private retirement fund to the state agency will cost the district about $11,000 per year.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT NOTICE OF INTENT TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ADMINISTRATION CAPITAL GRANT PROJECT OF GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District intends to hold a public hearing on its Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project, adopted April 9, 1971, at 10:30 a.m. on the 21st day of May, 1971 in the Board Room, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, California.

The intent to hold said public hearing is given and this notice is published pursuant to the requirements of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the United States. The purpose of a public hearing would be to consider the District's Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project adopted by the District on April 9, 1971, proposing to purchase six (6) 165 foot, 25 knot, gas turbine-powered, aluminum hull ferryboats, and sufficient land, floats, piers, boarding floats, and necessary dredging and breakwater to develop ferry terminals in the Corte Madera/Larkspur area, Sausalito, and San Francisco, and also service floats, warehouse and shops for vessel maintenance.

The estimated cost is $18,956,000, which will be financed by a 66-⅔% Federal Capital Grant of $12,637,000 under Section 3 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended in 1970, and the remaining 33-⅓%, in the amount of $6,319,000, by the District from monies reserved from Bridge revenues, in accordance with State Assembly Bill 584.

No families or businesses will be displaced by the project. No significant adverse environmental effects are anticipated as a result of the project. The project conforms to the proposed comprehensive land use and transportation planning program of the urban area and is under review of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The project is to expand the present Sausalito/San Francisco ferry service operated by the District and to provide service between Corte Madera/Larkspur and San Francisco. The service was designed to compliment and coordinate with the automobile and bus transit systems in the area. No aspect of the project will adversely raise any significant economic, social or environmental conditions.

The District will make available to the public in the office of the District Secretary, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, on a reasonable basis its preliminary application, draft environmental statement, and its transit development program to the extent developed at this time, and of which this project is a part.

All Federal, State or local agencies with jurisdiction by law, or special expertise, and authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards, have been notified of the application, will be provided a copy of the draft environmental statement upon request, and are invited to participate in, or supply, statements for the public hearing. A list of such Federal agencies and their areas of environmental concern was obtained from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

All persons and official bodies, and other organizations interested in appearing at a hearing will be heard at such time.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT NOTICE OF INTENT TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ADMINISTRATION CAPITAL GRANT PROJECT OF GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District intends to hold a public hearing on its Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project, adopted April 9, 1971, at 10:00 AM on the 21st day of May, 1971 in the Board Room, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, California.

The intent to hold said public hearing is given and this notice is published pursuant to the requirements of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the United States. The purpose of a public hearing would be to consider the District's Urban Mass Transportation Capital Grant Project adopted by the District on April 9, 1971, proposing to purchase between 112 and 152 transit and suburban type motor coaches, equipped with Environmental Improvement Package, radio, air conditioning, and fare collection boxes, approximately ten (10) acres of land in Marin County for a central bus storage and service area and administrative offices, land improvements, buildings and equipment necessary for bus servicing and maintenance and administrative offices, six (6) automobiles and three (3) trucks, including a recovery vehicle, all equipped with radios, a radio base station, and one bus washing unit. In addition, the District proposes to purchase and develop two parcels approximately two acres each, as satellite bus stations in the Novato and Santa Rosa areas.

The estimated cost is $9,464,000, which will be financed by a 66-⅔% Federal Capital Grant of $6,309,000 under Section 3 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended in 1970, and the remaining 33-⅓%, in the amount of $3,155,000, by the District from monies reserved from Bridge revenues in accordance with State Assembly Bill 584.

It is intended by the District and Greyhound Lines-West, present operator in the counties, that the Golden Gate Transit system will replace the present Greyhound operation between the counties of Sonoma, Marin and San Francisco, and within the counties of Marin and Sonoma. It is also the intent of both organizations that present Greyhound employees whose work will in effect be transferred to the District will be given the option and first choice of working for the District.

The project conforms to the proposed comprehensive land use and transportation planning program of the urban area and has been approved by the Association of Bay Area Governments. The project is to replace the existing transit system with an all-new system, with a service designed explicitly to meet the present needs of the residents and workers of the three counties. The resulting improved service will have positive effects on economic, social and environmental conditions.

The District will make available to the public in the office of the District Secretary, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, on a reasonable basis its preliminary application, draft environmental statement, and its transit development program to the extent developed at this time, and of which this project is a part.

All Federal, State or local agencies with jurisdiction by law, or special expertise, and authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards, have been notified of the application, will be provided a copy of the draft environmental statement upon request, and are invited to participate in, or supply, statements for the public hearing. A list of such Federal agencies and their areas of environmental concern was obtained from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

All persons and official bodies, and other organizations interested in appearing at a hearing will be heard at such time.

For Gottlieb, Bowling Runs In The Family

Sports of all sorts . . .

Bowling seems to run in the family of San Rafael's Paul Gottlieb. Paul, you will remember, recently was inducted into the Marin Bowling Hall of Fame for his long and outstanding record on local lanes.

Now, along comes his grandson, Tom Graham of the Graham Lumber Co., who has etched his name in the local kegling record books by winning last week's "170 Classic," a tournament for 170 and under average bowlers. Tom's older brother, Steve, also was a qualifier for the tournament. Chips off the old block.

FIGURE SKATING aficionados will be interested to know that San Rafael's Juli McKinstry will be one of the stars in the St. Moritz Ice Skating Club's "Late, Late Show" scheduled May 14, 15 and 16 at Berkeley Iceland. The theatrical production will feature more than 100 outstanding skaters and our own little Miss McKinstry ranks right up there with the best of them as she is the current Pacific Coast Senior Ladies champion.

THREE OUTSTANDING physical educators will be honored next Wednesday at the fourth annual Marin Unit, California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation banquet at Nave Lanes, Ignacio.

Angelo Colombo, Coordinator of Elementary Education for the San Rafael City Schools, will be cited as Marin's Outstanding Physical Educator. In addition, George Gustafson of Tamalpais High School and Fred Hines, recently retired from the San Rafael High faculty, will be presented awards after a combined 60 years of serving youth in Marin. The banquet is open to the public and will start at 7 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

SPEAKING OF good sports, five Marin County athletes did themselves well in last week-ends California Wheelchair Games at Palo Alto.

Josephine Hendricks of Novato, a victim of polio, placed first in her division in bowling in her first year as a competitor; Russ Bohlke of Larkspur also won his bowling division, bettering the Games record by 44 pins, and added a second in table tennis and thirds in the javelin, 40-yard dash (or roll) and slalom; Wayne Colgate of San Rafael picked up a fourth in the 40-yard dash and slalom, also competing in table tennis; Terry Henne of Novato placed fourth in the 100-yard dash and competed in bowling and was delighted when she appeared on a TV newscast Sunday night; and Walter Hughes of Kentfield competed in bowling and javelin.

SPEAKING OF mothers, all moms will be admitted free to Sunday's Northern California Car Show at Drake High School, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., because it happens to be Mother's Day. Sponsored by the Drake Scholarship Foundation, the show will feature more than 120 vehicles of all sizes, shapes and forms — antiques, hot-rods, racers, radio-controlled model boats, motorcycles, etc.

FENCING, ANYONE? Two Marin fencers won honors last weekend in the Northern California intercollegiate epee championships at San Francisco City College: Rob McCormick of Mill Valley, a junior at U.C. Davis, took the gold medal while Peter Ashley of Greenbrae, a sophomore at U.C. Santa Cruz, copped a silver medal. They're sharpies, if you get the point.

VICTOR CARTER of the San Rafael Travel Service left yesterday for London to work out an itinerary for a European golf and horse racing tour tentatively scheduled for next fall. Carter's three-week trip will take him to the top golf courses, horse breeding farms and race tracks in England, France, Ireland and Scotland.

Basketball Merger Closest Point Yet

NEW YORK (UPI) —The National Basketball Association appeared today at its closest point of a merger with the American Basketball Association since consolidation talks began in August, 1969.

A merger committee chaired by Abe Pollin, Baltimore Bullet owner, reported to the NBA Board of Governors Thursday and after a seven-hour session the league decided to recess until 10 a.m. today.

Pollin's committee broke for dinner Thursday night and then reconvened to go over the fine points of the proposed merger that failed to gain the three-quarter majority necessary for passage.

"The board is willing to hear everything we have to submit concerning a merger," Pollin said. "If they weren't, they could have voted it down in 20 minutes. As long as we keep talking, there's progress. I feel the situation is encouraging."

The ABA's Board of Trustees held a separate meeting Thursday and will meet again today. It's primarily a waiting game for the ABA. The league has voted unanimously for a merger and now the owners are simply waiting for the NBA to make up its mind.

Both merger committees have maintained contact during the last four weeks when talks began again in earnest. The current money war over the signing of top college players has made the situation uncomfortable, financially, for most clubs in both leagues.

When the ABA first approached the NBA on a merger two years ago, the older league expressed a willingness to discuss the proposal. However, talks broke off after the Carolina Cougars signed Philadelphia's Billy Cunningham to a contract.

Net Tourney In Tiburon

Most of the top-ranked players in Northern California will compete in the Bay Counties Invitational Tennis Tournament at the Tiburon Peninsula Club this weekend and May 15-16.

This marks the fifth year the prestigious tournament will be held in Tiburon and it is open to the public.

Among the Marin County stars scheduled to compete are Larry Axtell and Barry MacKay of Ross, Andy Moffat of Mill Valley and Jennifer Gobershock, Leslie Airola, Mike Hook and Bill Kinser of Tiburon.

It's Windy Day Of Texas Golf

DALLAS (UPI)—When those old fashioned Texas winds start to blow like they did during Thursday's opening round of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic, a person the size of slight Jerry McGee sometimes needs something to hang on to.

McGee had a four-under-par 66 and a two-stroke lead over the field to hang on to going into today's second round of the $125,000 event, but he must also go out and face those fickel winds which killed many a round and stirred up a tornado watch during Thursday's play.

And if he survives the wind he must then face the pressure from a host of the game's greatest names who are lined up right behind him.

Lee Trevino, who said he had to struggle through some bad advice from his caddy, was among those two shots behind at 68 along with Gay Brewer, Bob Stone, Ted Hayes, John Schlee and Ed Sneed—who used to be McGee's golfing teammate at Ohio State.

The group at one-under 69 was led by defending champion Jack Nicklaus and included Chi Chi Rodriguez, Bob Charles, Masters champ Charles Coody, Gene Littler, Homero Blancas, Hugh Royer and Frank Beard, who won last week in New Orleans.

Arnold Palmer bogeyed three of the first five holes, but fought the afternoon winds to come in at even-par 70 along with a host of others.

The smallish, slender (he weighs only 145 pounds) McGee put his 33-33—66 on the board early Thursday, and then the winds began to kick up to 33 miles an hour over the 7,031 yard, par 35-35—70 Preston Trail Golf Club layout.

"I see the winds have picked up," said McGee after his score was posted. "Hee, hee, hee."

McGee still had some frightening moments, however, as dark clouds bearing heavy rains and potential twisters moved toward the course. Turbulent weather could have washed out the day's scores, but the storm moved away.

McGee got going Thursday by making "my first putt in four weeks," on the 12th hole (the third he played). That one was 30 feet long and he followed it with birdie putts of four feet on the 17th hole, five feet on the second and 10 feet on the sixth.

"I played real well for me," he said. "I've never been an exempt player (by being among the top 60 players on the tour) and I think I have a chance this year."

Trevino, playing in front of his home town friends, got into contention with an eagle at the par-5 fifth, but from there on ran into trouble with some bad advice from his caddy.

"You walk the course again tonight," Trevino said after the caddy's advice on yardage cost him one bogey in the late stages.

Trevino took advantage of the relative morning calm to post his score, as did four of the six 68 shooters.

Nicklaus said that any starting round in the 60s—he had a 69—was a good start "on a course as hard as this one."

Palmer led his legions through darkening skies late in the day and had to feel good considering his poor start.

"The wind made it pretty tough," Palmer said. "I guess it made this course play as tough as I've ever seen it."

PREP TENNIS

Narrow Decision For Redwood

Redwood High School's Gary Walter recovered from a two-month bout with mononucleosis just in time as far as the Giant tennis team is concerned, as he led Redwood to a narrow 3-2 victory over Marin Catholic in Larkspur yesterday.

The win for the Giants keeps their 47 game Marin County Athletic League win streak alive, raising Redwood's 1971 MCAL mark to 10-0.

In other league matches, Drake trounced San Rafael 5-0, Novato defeated San Marin 4-1, while Tam pounded Terra Linda 5-0.

Walter, currently playing No. 3 singles while recovering from his illness, disposed of Marin Catholic, Tom Jasek, 6-0, 6-1, as the Giants recovered from two Wildcat victories in No.'s 1 and 2 singles in recording the 3-2 triumph.

Tomorrow, Drake's Jerry Suyderhoud will represent the MCAL in the North Coast Section Tournament in Castro Valley. The MCAL's doubles representatives will be Bill Kinser and John Beritzhoff of Marin Catholic.

POWER MATCHUP

Giants Vs. The Braves

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — After a night of partying, Willie Mays and Hank Aaron settle down tonight to a weekend of baseball at Candlestick Park.

The game's two mightiest home run hitters behind Babe Ruth will try to outdo each other in a four-game series capped by a Sunday doubleheader.

Mays has 633 career home runs and Aaron 603. However, this year Aaron has an 11-5 edge over Mays in the longest hit department.

Things were all buddy-buddy between the two sluggers Thursday night at Mays's 40th birthday bash before nearly 1,000 persons atop Nob Hill. Aaron dropped in to wish Willie happy birthday and good luck on trying to catch the Babe.

Mays sat out the two games against Pittsburgh this week because of tendonitis in his right shoulder. It pains him to swing a bat and throw a ball. But with the extra few days of rest and a shot of cortisone, Willie hopes to be in the starting lineup tonight.

The Giants could use Willie's bat. He is currently hitting a solid .368, tops on the team.

Righthander Gaylord Perry (3-1) goes for the Giants against lefty George Stone of the Braves. Stone is without a decision so far this season.

The Giants took three straight from the Braves at Atlanta last week. In one of those games, Aaron hit his 600th home run but Mays won the contest with a hit in the late innings.

No doubt elder statesman Mays will continue to try to upstage that 37-year-old frisky kid outfielder from Atlanta.

Segui To Pitch For A's Tonight

BALTIMORE (UPI) —Righthander Diego Segui may need an armed guard when he enters Memorial Stadium tonight to face the Baltimore Orioles.

Back on April 27, a Segui pitch got away from him and hit Orioles outfielder Frank Robinson on the wrist. He was sidelined for nearly a week.

A couple of innings later, Segui thumped Brooks Robinson in the small of the back. The Orioles happened to win that game and split a four-game series at Oakland.

Now the A's are riding the crest of the American League West with a 19-11 record and three-game bulge over runner-sup Kansas City and California. Baltimore, meanwhile, finds itself in the unfamiliar position of chasing Boston for the lead in the AL East.

The Orioles closed to within half a game of the Red Sox by vanquishing the Angels in a doubleheader Thursday evening.

Segui, now 3-2, will be opposed by crafty lefty Mike Cuellar (2-0) tonight. The teams also play Saturday night and Sunday afternoon at Memorial Stadium.

The A's still haven't heard from the Cleveland Indians on that six-player offer for ace-lefthander Sam McDowell. So presumably the deal fell through.

After Baltimore, the A's play two games at Cleveland and five at Kansas City before returning home May 18.

SERIES MOVES TO CANADA

Black Hawks In Commanding Lead

CHICAGO (UPI)—The second game of the Chicago Black Hawks-Montreal Canadiens playoff series for the Stanley cup last night was misnamed. It should have been called Lou Angotti night.

The little Black Hawk center, usually a bench warmer who gets a minimum amount of ice time, set up Chico Maki's game-tieing goal for the Hawks in the second period.

Then, for an encore, he got two unassisted goals in the final 13 minutes of the game, one of them the winning goal and the other an insurance marker for the Black Hawks in a 5-3 victory.

The win gave the Black Hawks, champions of the National Hockey League's Western Division, a 2-0 lead in games in the best-of-seven series for hockey's most valued trophy.

Now the Hawks must try to improve their margin on Montreal ice in games Sunday afternoon on national television and Tuesday night.

Angotti, a well-travelled player who always seems to come back to the Hawks, said "I'm not used to playing regular, so when I go on the ice, I don't feel that I have to pace myself. I can go and play all out. I know if I play a couple of shifts, I'm going to sit out two."

Thus Angotti, going all out in his brief stints, can behave like a pesky flea to the Black Hawk opponents. That was his performance last night.

"Lou cut across the blue line and cut over in front of me," Maki said of his own tieing goal. "(Ken) Dryden got a piece of the shot on his glove. Lou screened it and if he'd had the full view, I'm sure he would have got it."

Coach Al MacNeil of the Canadiens was not nearly as well pleased, either with Angotti's goals or the Canadiens' play.

"I don't think that we played at our best. I don't want to take anything away from Chicago but I know we can play better and we'll be ready at home."

Both teams suffered injury in the game, but the Hawks were hit more seriously. Chicago defenseman Pat Stapleton had to be helped from the ice in the second period when an accidental slash by Rejean Houle's skate cut his right cheek almost from his temple to his mouth.

Stapleton was removed to a hospital for examination, stitching and treatment and Reay was uncertain whether he could play Sunday. Stapleton has spent more time on the ice in the playoffs than any other Hawk player.

Montreal's goalie Dryden suffered a cut on his chin which required "four or five stitches" when he was struck on the face mask by Dennis Hull's blistering slap shot with less than three minutes in the game. But MacNeil figured Dryden could play Sunday.

Santa Rosa Nine Edges Marin, 2-1

Three consecutive ninth inning hits by Santa Rosa Junior College batsmen brought the curtain down on the College of Marin baseball team yesterday, as the Tars dropped a tough 2-1 decision to the Bear Cubs in Kentfield. It was the Tars' fourth straight Camino Norte Conference loss.

A single, a triple and a double by the first three Santa Rosa hitters in the ninth was enough to overcome a 1-0 lead Marin's Dennis Bueler had held since the fourth.

The Tars got their run on Ken Robie's walk and stolen base, a bunt single, and an infield out by Rafael Gallardo, who picked up the RBI.

Marin failed on two other great chances to sew the game up, once after a no-out triple by Gallardo, and again in the ninth on another base hit by Gallardo and a sacrifice bunt which moved him to second. Dee Federick then knocked a safety to short left, but Gallardo was unable to score on the play. Two more strikeouts ended the Tars' threat.

INDY BARRIER

Donohue Nears 180 MPH Mark

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The 180-miles-per-hour barrier may be cracked even before the 55th running of the Indianapolis 500-mile race May 29.

Mark Donohue, the graduate mechanical engineer who also races for a living, toured the track at nearly 178 m.p.h. Thursday afternoon and then departed for Lime Rock, Comm., to practice for the opening Trans-Am road event this weekend.

The 34-year-old Media, Pa., speedster has been the hare all other drivers have been chasing since the Indianapolis Motor Speedway opened last Saturday. Thursday he drove his McLaren racer through the 175 m.p.h. barrier with a resounding 177.901 lap around the 2 1-2-mile "Indy" oval.

Although Donohue was not alone in going over 170 m.p.h. in the rain-shortened practice period, everybody else was behind him, never ahread.

Peter Revson of New York City—in another McLaren—posted a 171.690 while Mike Mosley of Brownsburg, Ind., was a tick faster at 171.756. Also, after shaking out the bugs, defending "500" champ Al Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., cruised to a 170.616 during his first day on the track this month.

All the times were unofficial, only times in qualifications and the race can count for official records.

Donohue ran a series of laps over 170 with the quick time jammed in the middle. He was also timed on the electronic equipment at 174.995, 176.609, and 175.816.

Twenty-seven cars made appearances in the four-hour period after the track was officially opened at 1:58 p.m. EST following a morning rain. Of those running, 11 were on the oval for the first time.

Mrs. Perez' Favorite Shot Nets Second Ace

Mrs. Wesley Perez of Mill Valley just loves the third hole at the Las Gallinas golf course north of San Rafael.

Last June, using a nine-iron, Mrs. Perez scored a hole-in-one on the 65-yard long hole. Yesterday, playing in a qualifying tournament for the women's folf club's spring tournament, she repeated the feat with the same iron on the same hole. Witnesses yesterday were Mesdames Richard Campana and Jack Mueller of San Rafael.

Also yesterday, Mrs. Richard Krugman with a 70-17—53 won low net honors while Mrs. Albert Huggard with a 64 had low gross in qualifying.

Results:

Class A — Mesdames Bo Johnson, 66-9—57; Ned DiGrazia, 70-12—58; Albert Huggard, 64-5—59; Mrs. Wesley Perez, 70-11—59.

Class B — Mmes. Albert Wong, 69-17—52; Ted Jones, 74-18—56.

Mrs. Maurice Antoine downed Mrs. E. W. Knutson 4 and 2 in the Second Flight while Mrs. Ed Worley beat Mrs. A. G. Lindauer 4 and 3 in the Third Flight.

Consolation honors went to Mrs. R. R. Andrews with a net score of 98-31—67. A hole-in-one contest was won by Mrs. R. L. Mault who placed her tee shot 8 feet, 11 inches from the cup.

Ashe Wins His Match

ROME (UPI)—Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va. overwhelmed Roger Taylor of Britain, 6-3, 6-2 to move into the fourth round of the $50,000 Italian Tennis championships Friday.

After Thursday's matches, Australians John Newcombe and Rod Laver seemed to be headed for a major confrontation as both cruised to easy victories.

Newcombe routed Bob Lutz of Los Angeles 6-3, 6-1 and Laver, playing carefully to avoid damaging his injured back, whipped Italy's Ezio DiMatteo 6-4, 6-1.

Four-Length Victory

ALBANY (UPI) —Blazing Skies ($4.00) lived up to its name Thursday in sprinting to a four-length victory over Scoundrels Captive in the featured Metropolitan Club of Oakland Purse at Golden Gate Fields.

HOW SWEET IT IS — San Francisco Giants outfielder Willie Mays samples a piece of the huge, six-foot high birthday cake during his party last night at the Fairmont Hotel. The cake was festooned with baseballs and bat and topped by the number 40, Willie's age. Many of baseball's greats attended the party.

A YOUNG 40

Happy Birthday Willie

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — About 700 friends of Willie Mays honored the San Francisco Giants superstar on his 40th birthday Tuesday night and the guest of honor nearly broke down in tears.

The San Francisco-Oakland Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America sponsored the birthday party at a posh midtown hotel with proceeds with going to an underprivileged boys club in San Francisco.

Baseball Commission Bowie Kuhn, San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, National League President Charles S. (Chub) Feeney and Hank Aaron, the Atlanta Braves star, were among the notables who attended the gala affair.

Mays, baseball's second greatest homerun hitter of all time, sat a few steps in back of the dais out of sight of most of the crowd as speaker after speaker showered him with accolades. From time to time, he daubed at his eyes.

The three-hour program concluded with Mays speaking to the crowd and the sometimes bashful star said "all I've ever done is tried my best. America must be a beautiful country when someone like me can have the opportunity to do what everyone here this night has said."

Dobson Finds Winning For Orioles Is Not Easy

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Since Dobson won 14 games for the cellar-dwelling Padres last year, the Baltimore Orioles were touting him as their newest possible 20-game winner when they obtained him in a winter deal.

But Dobson just managed to even his record at 2-2 Thursday night with a nine-hitter as the Orioles swept a doubleheader from the California Angels by identical 3-1 scores. Dave McNally, now 5-1, pitched a four-hitter in the opener.

Dobson, who was 3-3 at San Diego at this point last season, said, "I could have had a few more wins this season but I don't want to sound like I'm complaining. My goal is pitching well enough to win. The rest will take of itself."

Dave Johnson, the leading Oriole hitter at .333, agrees. "Dobson should be at least 4-1. He pitched as good a game as you can pitch against Oakland but lost to Vida Blue 1-0."

With Paul Blair, Boog Powell, Brooks Robinson and Merv Rettenmund all hitting under .250, the Oriole pitching has been carrying the club. "Our starters are doing it for us," catcher Ellie Hendricks said. "It's a good thing because we're not hitting as a team. My average is down to .153 and I'm a worrier to begin with. I even worry when I'm going good."

Dobson, McNally, Jim Palmer (5-0) and Mike Cuellar (2-0) have accounted for 14 of the Orioles' 16 victories. Despite their "woes", the O's are only a half-game behind Boston and their 16-9 mark is almost identical to the 16-8 record they had last May 6 when they had a 1-2 game lead.

Baltimore got only 11 hits in the doubleheader but they squeezed out two runs in the fifth inning of the first game and the sixth inning of the second. Run-scoring singles by Brooks Robinson and Johnson decided the first game and Hendricks' sacrifice fly and Dobson's run-scoring single won the second.

In the other American League games, Minnesota topped New York 5-3 and Boston routed Chicago 10-1.

In the only two National League games, Houston beat Montreal 5-2 and Los Angeles topped Cincinnati 5-2. The Chicago at New York and St. Louis at Philadelphia games were rained out.

The two rainouts set up an interesting pitching match because now Tom Seaver will face Bob Gibson tonight for the second time in two weeks when St. Louis is at New York. Gibson was off his form and was routed 12-2 when Seaver pitched a seven-hitter on April 26. But Gibson will have his chance for revenge tonight.

Rico Petrocelli drove in three runs as the Red Sox routed the White Sox behind the seven-hit pitching of Gary Peters. Only 511 fans showed up for the game in Chicago which was rescheduled for Thursday after being rained out Wednesday night. The White Sox made six errors in the rout.

Minnesota rallied for three runs in the eighth to beat Mel Stottlemyre and New York. After Cesar Tovar tied the game with a single, Stottlemyre walked two batters —one intentionally —to load the bases and then gave up a two-run single just past second base to Steve Braun that Horace Clarke couldn't handle.

Jim Wynn drove in two runs with a single and a double to hand unbeaten Larry Dierker his fifth victory as Houston beat Montreal. Dierker went seven innings and was lifted after giving up a leadoff single in the eighth. Denny Lemaster and Fred Gladding finished up.

Wes Parker's run-scoring single started a four-run fourth inning that carried Los Angeles past Cincinnati. Jim Lefebvre's run-scoring double, Bill Grabarkewitz' run-scoring single and a sacrifice fly by winning pitcher Claude Osteen completed the rally. Cincinnati's Bobby Tolan injured his leg while running in the outfield before the game. He's been sidelined by an Achilles tendon injury and will return to Cincinnati for further treatment.

FISH AND GAME

Breaking The Rules Can Cost Anglers

By AL GIDDINGS

Last year throughout California, Department of Fish and Game Wardens made 15,888 arrests. The fines totaled $508,738 which averages out to about $30 per arrest.

Recent cases in Marin County resulted in fines of $25 in five "two rod" cases and $20, $10 and $5 fines in three others of the same violation. Fines for no licenses, resulted in one of $25, two of $20, one of $10 and two persons received suspended sentences. Two people were fined $10 each for littering the bay waters with beer cans, and one person paid $30 for six salmon (three over the limit).

Statewide, the greatest number of arrests were made for angling without a license (6,599). Having a loaded gun in a car (1,282) and angling with more than one line were the next two violations most cited. Some people elected to take "jail time" instead of paying the fine. Jail days served amounted to 1,581.

Seven hunting licenses were revoked by the courts and seven hunting licenses were ordered suspended. Three angling licenses were revoked by the court, and five angling licenses were suspended.

Reserve game wardens throughout the state made 1,346 patrols. Ninety-four arrests were made by reserve wardens along with 1,332 assists. They used their personal vehicle for 58,273 miles of travel and worked 12,533 hours. All of this was on their own time without any type of financial compensation.

Regular state game wardens or wildlife protection officers also filed 105 complaints on either penal or other code sections, 37 on city or county ordinances, and turned over 498 cases for other agencies to file. Ninety-five of these involved felony charges. Half the money from all fish and game fines goes into the State Fish and Game preservation fund, the other half goes to the county in which the arrest has been made to be used in conservation work. In Marin County the Board of Supervisors acts as custodians of these funds. They have been used in the last three or four years to help finance the Boyd Junior Museum in San Rafael.

STRIPED BASS fishing in San Pablo still slow. I tried it with San Knoles up by Corrigidor. Total catch: Two limits of flounders (10 each). Flounders have a limit of 10 now under the "fin fish" regulations in the new fishing laws.

Sam gave it a second try, catching 10 more flounders and five king fish. All told over both days, there were only 12 boats in the entire bay! But cheer up, the bass will be down in the next two weeks from the Delta. Ray Lencie hit three big ones at the Richmond Bridge trolling, but couldn't connect again even though he tried it three straight days after that.

Salmon fishing is still tops. It gets rough, but if you can pick a good day, it's tops.

Shad fishing just starting to percolate in most of the regular spots. Get your gear ready!

PHOENIX, Lagunitas and Bon Tempe reservoirs and Rodeo Lagoon, all in Marin County, were scheduled to get plants of rainbow trout this week.

Softball Victory For Two Turtles

Ray Lotz pitched a four-hitter and Bill Valentine contributed two hits as they led the Two Turtles team to a 6-3 victory over Jacobsen Machine Shop last night in the San Rafael Softball League at Albert Park.

In the second game of a doubleheader, the Doves downed Fairfax Shell 4-2. John Burris was the winning pitcher and the Doves scored their winning runs on hits by Burris, Bob Kempf and Mike Davisson and a sacrifice by Jim Kreischer. Gary Springman had two hits for Fairfax.

PREP GOLF

Terra Linda Surprises Tamalpais

There's a saying among Marin County Athletic League golf coaches that the only things that are inevitable are death, taxes, and the Tamalpais High School Golf team winning its matches on its home course, Mill Valley Municipal.

But yesterday, the latter was proven wrong as Terra Linda High School soundly dumped the Indians, 180-188, on the formerly hallowed acres in the hills of Southern Marin.

In other MCAL golf matches, the two teams tied for second won easily, with San Rafael taking a 198-226 decision over Drake at San Geronimo, and Novato taking a 198-226 decision over Drake at San Geronimo, and Novato winning over San Marin, 214-222 at Indian Valley.

The MCAL race is now slightly more clearcut, with Terra Linda leading the pack with a 9-1 mark, and San Rafael and Novato are second at 7-2, both with easy makeup matches to play. Tamalpais, by virtue of its loss yesterday, is eliminated from title consideration.

Medalist and key figure in the Terra Linda victory was Art Cudworth, who shot a splendid 34 on the Mill Valley layout. Accoridng to Tam coach Paul Wata, this is only the fifth time in 13 years the Indians have been beaten on their home course.

Maggard To Coach U.S. Team

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—California track coach Dave Maggard was selected Thursday to coach the U.S. men's team in the Russian-American-World All-Stars triangular meet July 2-3.

Stan Wright, the chairman of the U.S. National Track and Field Committee, made the announcement. The meet will be held at the University of California's Edwards Stadium.

Wright said Maggard was elected by a vote of the national committee.

"Many of the members are collegiate coaches so you can say he was chosen by his peers throughout the nation," Wright said.

Maggard, 31, will be the youngest man ever to coach a U.S. international track and field team, and Wright said he thought he may be the youngest to ever coach any international team.

As an athlete, Maggard is the fifth longest shot putter in world track history with an all-time best of 67 4 1-4. He still holds the California school record in the shot put and was a member of the 1968 U.S. Olympic team.

Sam Snead Will Miss U.S. Open

Snead, the veteran golf pro who has won every major golf title with the exception of the U.S. Open, won't get a chance this year. The three-time Masters and PGA champion, who has entered every U.S. Open since 1937, missed the deadline and failed to file an entry this year.

Under U.S. Golf Association regulations, it is impossible for Snead to enter once the deadline has passed. Other name players have had their entries arrive after the deadline and have not been permitted to play.

Snead was stunned when he learned the date had passed. "In the past, they have always sent me a slip, but this time I never got one," he said. "I was going to play again and I'm going to try to reach the U.S. Golf Association people right away."

Snead, now 58, has won $472,590 on the PGA tour during his long career but has gained only $5,240 this year. His best finish was 25th in the National Airlines Open at Miami.

A record 4,335 entries were received by the USGA for the Open, scheduled for June 17-20 at Merion, Pa. Only 35 are exempt from qualifying so the remaining 4,300 will have to compete in local and sectional eliminations to determine the remaining 115 slots. Among those who must qualify this year are Masters champion Charles Coody, Doug Sanders, Chi Chi Rodriguez and George Archer.

WEST COAST RELAYS

Meet Records Expected

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI)—The record book for the 44th annual West Coast Relays may have to be rewritten this weekend.

Relays director Cornelius "Dutch" Warmerdam says many meet records from the elementary school through the college and open division will be under attack from the more than 1,800 athletes drawn from throughout the United States. Several American and world records also may fall.

The world record of over 18 feet for the pole vault is definitely threatened with former world record holder Bob Seagren leading several 17-foot-plus vaulters. Starting height is set for 16 feet.

Olympians Jay Sylvester, with a 224-5 world best in the discus, and sprinter Lee Evans, with a 43.8 world record in the 400 meters, should be easy winners.

Both Houston track coach John Morris and Villanova mentor Jumbo Elliot say their squads will crack the world standard of 9:33 for the distance medley. Houston has already run a 9:37.8 this season.

University of Texas distance man Kerry Pearce, with an indoor best of 8:20.6, will be shooting for the world outdoor two-mile mark of 8:19.6. He will face American record holder George Young, 8:22.0, and Frank Shorter of the Florida Track Club.

Half a dozen sub-four-minute milers will compete in the open invitational mile run and several 9.3 sprinters are entered in the 100-yard dash.

Two Fresno high schoolers are expected to provide the most excitement in the prep ranks with a concerted effort on the national prep triple jump record.

David Tucker of San Joaquin Memorial High School, the current national record holder at a phenomenal 52 6 1-4, will be pressured by crosstown rival Randy Williams of Edison High who formerly held the U.S. record with a best of 50 11 3-4.

The elementary and high school competition got underway this afternoon with the college and open division continuing through Saturday evening.

The relays, which have never been rained out, were canceled last year for the first time in history.

Gov. Ronald Reagan ordered the state college facilities (including the relays site) closed following the statewide campus disruptions over the Cambodian invasion.

Giants Have Much More Than Luck

Tito Fuentes summed it up best. "When you're going good even mistakes turn out good," he said after bunting with two out in the 11th inning of a 1-1 tie ball game and the winning run on second.

Fortunately, Fuentes' bunt rolled foul. A moment later he lined a single to center and his Giant teammate on second base raced home with the winning run that beat Houston's Astros 2-1 in Candlestick April 14.

"EVERYTHING the Giants are doing is turning out right for them," said Harry Walker after his Astros lost another extra inning game the following day to a 10th inning pinch home run by Fran Healy, the rookie's first major league home run in his first time at bat in the National League.

"Everything the Giants are doing now is turning out right for them," said Leo Durocher after his Cubs lost four straight in Candlestick following departure of the Astros. Healy went 4-for-4, including his second homer and four RBIs, in the final game of the Cub series because Dick Dietz was resting.

THEN THE Giants went on the road and won seven of nine games, the first two of which were 2-0 shutouts by Steve Stone and Ron Bryant in Pittsburgh and Art Routzong, front office official of the Pirates, said: "If the Giants continue to get pitching like that nobody is going to stop them."

Routzong's observation was, at least, different from the theme of everything-is-turning-out-right-now for the Giants.

But when the Giants visited Atlanta and swept a three-game series from the Braves, including one game in which George Foster went 4-for-4 when Willie Mays was resting, Luman Harris said: "Everything the Giants are doing now is turning out right for them."

AND WHEN the Giants moved on to Cincinnati to take two out of three from the Reds, Sparky Anderson came up with a verbatim repetition of the comments made by his three fellow National League managers — Walker, Durocher and Harris.

Of course, all of the managers were right. However, the Giants didn't do it all during the first month of the 1971 baseball season by luck. The fact is they have a pretty good ball club with unusual team balance in age and youth, pitching and defense, singles and home run hitters.

THE POTENTIAL of the Giants was there for everyone to see during spring training, particularly the great promise displayed in exhibition games by four rookies — Stone, Foster, Chris Speier and Jimmy Rosario — all of whom have performed handsomely in the games that count.

The outstanding relief of pitching of Jerry Johnson shouldn't surprise anyone who followed the spring training exhibitioners. Johnson merely is continuing to do in the games that count what he did all spring. In 21 exhibition innings eight games, Johnson was 2-0 allowing only two runs for a 0.86 ERA. In 19 innings of 11 games that count, Johnson is 3-0 plus two saves, allowing only one run for a 0.47 ERA. He was the bullpen ace during spring training. He still is.

Terra Linda Star Heads Marin Swim Delegation

Thom Guthrie of Terra Linda High School, who picked up two first places while breaking a league record in the Marin County athletic league championships last Saturday, leads Marin County varsity qualifying to the North Coast Section (NCS) division II meet tomorrow at College of Marin.

Guthrie, seeded second and third in his two sprint specialties, the 50 and 100-yard freestyle events will be going against the NCS's premier sprinter, Tony Patch of Acalanes of Lafayette in the 9 a.m. meet.

Redwood High School's Paul Cane and Brian Hennessy are seeded third in their events, Cane in the 200 individual medley behind Antioch's Dennis Boyd, and Hennessy behind John Collier of Piner (Santa Rosa) in the 100 butterfly.

These two Giant aces, in addition to swimming legs on Redwood's 4th place 400 free relay, will swim another individual event also — Cane, seeded in the 100 breast, and Hennessy ranked in the top 10 in the 200 free.

In varsity diving, Novato's John Summerfield is certain to place in the top three this weekend.

Terra Linda's 400 freestyle relay team, anchored by Guthrie, has the fastest qualifying time in the Division.

In Class B, Rick DeMont has everything his way, seeded first in both of his distance freestyle races. DeMont, who set two league marks last week, is listed 12 seconds under the Class B meet record in the 400.

Marin County swimmers are sitting pretty in the B 100 Breaststroke and 100 I.M., with Trojan Keith Strange and Giant Spencer Eldred listed 1-2 in each event.

Curtis Chinn of San Rafael ranks high in the freestyle sprints, with a fifth place seeding in the 50 and sixth place in the 100.

Jeff Grant, also of Terra Linda, is ranked third in the 50 fly.

In the relays, the Trojans, potential team champions in Class B, are the dominating team of the MCAL, with a second place medley seed and a fourth place freestyle listing.

Meet Director Chuch Metz expects about half of the division records to fall Saturday, and adds that Marin County teams, especially Terra Linda and Redwood, will fare very well this year.

Admission for the meet is $1 for adults, and 50 cents for children, with ample parking available at the college.

The wrist must remain firm throughout the delivery. Try to imagine your thumb being perpendicular to a line running parallel to the floor. Alcindor Wanted To Beat Knicks

NEW YORK (UPI) —Lew Alcindor today owns a new car he can barely squeeze into and a basketball crown he might feel doesn't quite fit.

Alcindor took possession Thursday of the automobile awarded by Sport Magazine for being named the Most Valuable Player in the National Basketball Association championship series with the Baltimore Bullets.

"I would have liked to have played and beaten the Knicks," Alcindor said, implying that the four-game sweep of the Bullets was too easy and New York, as defending champion, would have provided tougher opposition. "It would have eliminated all doubts."

Flanked by his 6-foot-3 father, Ferdinand Alcindor, and his 6-foot tall mother, Lew departed from his usual aloof posture and talked about his inner feelings at the award's presentation.

"Everybody has an obligation to his community," Alcindor said, "and it's hard on a lot of guys to fulfill them because they can't get away from their everyday jobs. I'm in a different position, but I'm still searching."

Alcindor leaves for Africa next month on a three-week State Department- sponsored tour that will take him to Algeria, Mali, Nigeria, Kenya, Tanzania and Somalia. Milwaukee Bucks coach Larry Costello and teammate Oscar Robertson will accompany him on the good-will trip that will stress the fundamentals of basketball.

"In a lot of ways, it's like going home," Alcindor explained as his reason for making the trip. "I want to see what the people are like and what they do, even though I feel closer to the West Indies, where my folks are from."

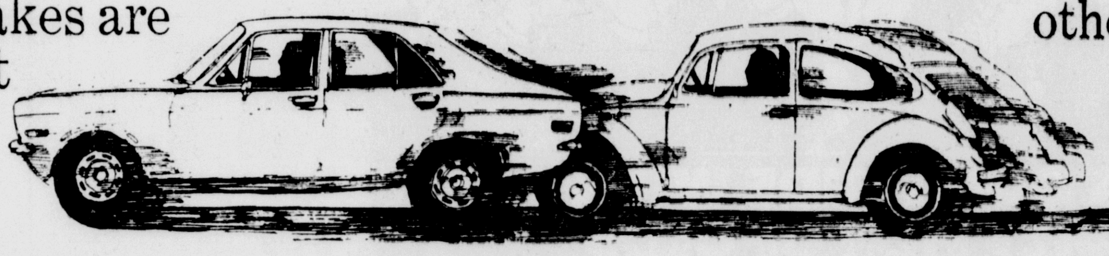
PLYMOUTH CRICKET.
THE UNBEATABLE BUG.

Here are just a few of the things you get with the Cricket, that you don't get with the other bug:

First, more power. 70 horsepower is standard. (Guess who only gives you 60.)

Front power disc brakes are standard on Cricket. (Not V W.) When a car can go like Cricket, it's good to know you can get sure-footed stops.



17% more horsepower than the other bug.

Cricket's only 54.6 inches high. VW. is 59.1 inches high. Cricket's lower profile gives you a sleek, modern look.

Radial ply tires are standard.

And isn't that the way you really want a car?

Cricket has a longer wheelbase than VW. (98 vs. 94.5 inches.) This means a smoother ride.

Radial-ply tires are standard equipment on the Cricket. The other bug still has the other type.

And Cricket is a better looking bug. With roomy, four-door comfort and a big trunk.

The list can go on and on.

We'd like to show you everything that makes the Cricket unbeatable. Including a price that won't bug you. Available at selected Chrysler-Plymouth dealers.' $1965.*

Investment Goal Needs Redirection

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q I hold Columbia Gas at a profit. I want to sell and buy another utility — Brooklyn Union Gas — for a better return. We are in our 40's and 50's and have children ages 10 and 13.—M. A.

A If you take the profit in Columbia Gas and buy Brooklyn Union you will increase your annual return by about $75. However, looking at the fundamentals of these situations, by doing this you will be forfeiting some growth. Columbia Gas has a 10-year record of consistent sales and earnings growth; Brooklyn Union does not. Columbia Gas shares have appreciated roughly 42 per cent since May, 1970; Brooklyn Union shares have moved generally sideways.

In your situation, you would be wiser to consider a stock with an established growth record and above-average appreciation potential such as Reynolds Industries or Squibb Beech-Nut.

Q I expect to retire early because of a disability, although my youngest child will be only 13. I have 1300 shares of Scudder-Duo Vest preferred and would like your opinion on the safety and advisability of this issue.—F. T.

A Your shares guarantee a minimum dividend of 64 cents a share — a generous current return of 7.1 per cent. Unpaid dividends are cumulative; and at present, arrearages have been reduced to 18 cents a share with further reductions expected. While as a preferred shareholder you cannot participate in asset growth, you can benefit from increased dividend distributions.

Being a closed-end investment company, shares trade on the basis of supply and demand. Thus discounts and premiums from net asset value can develop. The capital shares recently traded at a 19.9 per cent discount, but the preferred, supported by the dividend income, is only narrowly discounted.

Scudder, after two years, has been granted SEC approval to buy back equal amounts of both classes of stock. This should work to your advantage by reducing the discrepancy between the supply of and demand for these shares. Taking into consideration your investment needs, I see no reason to disturb your holdings.

'Uneasy' Market In An Early Slide

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices dropped in active trading throughout the morning today as additional unpleasant economic news made its influence felt in an "uneasy" stock market.

Declining issues held a 906 to 243 lead over advances among the 1,478 issues on the tape shortly before noon. The Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 selected blue chips slid more than four points.

The Labor Department announced Friday that unemployment in April rose to 6.1 per cent and that the jobless rate among black Americans reached a seven-year high. On Thursday the government reported wholesale prices jumped in April, an indication to some that Washington is losing ground in the battle against inflation.

Gulf State Utilities and the American Broadcasting Companies, each dropping 1-4, led the active list. Other active issues losing fractions included the Southern Co., Chrysler, Gulf Oil, Southern California Edison, American Telephone and Telegraph, and Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

Oils were mixed, with Superior Oil gaining 2 while Atlantic Richfield, Standard of Californa and Getty each lost more than a point.

Airlines led by Delta off 1 3-4 were generally lower. Motors, rails and chemicals generally eased.

National General warrants at 7 3-8 off 3-8 on volume of 29,500 was a busy issue on the American Stock Exchange. Prices on the American Exchange moved lower in active trading.

Government Is Firm On Pollution Target

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government told automakers Thursday that it would fully enforce standards intended to eliminate nearly all exhaust pollutants by 1976 even if cars must cost more and run less efficiently.

William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, also served notice that the EPA would not invoke its power to postpone the deadline for one year unless all manufacturers fail to meet. If only one firm succeeds, he said, "all applications for suspension will be denied."

Spokesmen for several major automakers and Ruckelshaus outlined their positions at the start of EPA hearings on progress by the industry toward reaching the standards set last year by Congress. They require that carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon emissions be cut by 90 per cent on 1975 models, based on current levels, and that nitrogen oxide be reduced by the same amount on 1976 models.

Government authorities have estimated that automobile exhausts are responsible for about 50 per cent of the nation's air pollution. Ruckelshaus said the tough standards would have to be met and enforced or else the car "will remain a major threat to our public health."

Two manufacturers, Ford and Volkswagen, expressed strong doubts about their ability to comply with the standards and argued that acceptable antipollution devices might force motorists to pay 30 per cent for gasoline.

American Motors voiced even more pessimism. "There is virtually no possibility that production devices can be available to meet the 1975-1976 emissions standards as they are currently proposed," said John F. Adamson, the firm's vice president for engineering and research.

Ruckelshaus acknowledged that "the low emission car of the future may be a more expensive car" and that it might not operate like present models.

"But this is a price that may be necessary ...," he said. "The law itself does not permit traditional conceptions of satisfactory vehicle driving performance to stand in the way of whatever changes in vehicle design and power systems are needed to control emissions, the same is true with regard to vehicle costs."

Under questioning, officials of all three firms testified that new types of engines—gas turbines, steam or electric motors—absolutely could not be made available in time for 1975 or 1976 model production.

H. L. Misch, Ford vice president for engineering and manufacturing, and Herbert Heitland, director of emission research for Volkswagen, appeared with Adamson of American Motors on the first of two days of hearings by the EPA. Representatives of Chrysler and General Motors were to testify today.

Wholesale Prices Pushed Upward .3% Last Month

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Higher charges for industrial products, led by sharp advances for metal products and building materials, pushed up wholesale prices by three tenths of one per cent in April, the government said yesterday.

Farm products held steady and prices of processed foods and feeds declined by 0.2 per cent, but that was less than usual for April.

The over-all wholesale price increase last month was higher than the 0.2 per cent rise in March, but well far under increases of 0.9 per cent in February and 0.7 per cent in January.

After seasonal adjustment, the April increase was 0.5 per cent compared with 0.3 per cent in March.

Wholesale prices at the end of April were 3.1 per cent above a year earlier. The index stood at 113.3, meaning that goods which cost $10 at wholesale in 1967 cost $11.33 in April.

The report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Labor Department indicated there was no lessening in the persistent inflation that the Nixon administration has been battling to conquer. Wholesale price increases normally show up later in consumer prices.

However, the consumer finished goods component of the index showed no change during April, although after seasonal adjustment there was a 0.4 per cent increase.

Hopeful Report By Standard Oil

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Board Chairman O.N. Miller of Standard Oil Company of California said yesterday the firm is hopeful of a favorable earnings trend for 1971.

Miller, speaking before the annual stockholders meeting, said earnings were not expected for the total year to be as high as the 16 per cent net income gain in 1971's first quarter.

Miller said recent oil price settlements with Persian Gulf countries and Libya were being generally reflected in higher crude and product prices in consuming areas abroad. He added that if this trend continued it would not appreciably affect the company's earnings.

"I believe we can expect more harmony and stability in our relations with these counties than we have experienced for some time," he said, adding that the settlements were "highly important to the entire Free World, in the light of the dependency on this area as a major source of energy."

Steel Imports Up At Record Rate

WASHINGTON — (BW) — Records fell as steel imports rose in March, American Iron & Steel Institute (AISI) has reported.

Government-supplied data showed that 1,254,000 tons of foreign steel entered the United States during the month, a new March record. As a result, the import total for the first three months of 1971 was 3,788,000 tons. This is the most steel ever imported during the first quarter of any year.

Pulp Workers Get C-Z Offer

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The bargaining committee of the Association of Western Pulp & Paper Workers Thursday was offered a new two-year contract proposal by Crown Zellerbach.

The company estimated the total cost of the final offer for settlement at $1.07 per hour. The offering includes a general wage increase of 6¾ per cent the first year and 7 per cent the second year.

Crown Zellerbach began bargaining talks with the AWPPW on March 22. The negotiations between the company and the union involve seven mills, six in Washington and Oregon, and the company's Antioch mill in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Paper Exports

NEW YORK (UPI)—Industry exports of paper and board in 1971 are expected to rise by 5 per cent to 3 million tons, valued at $580 million, A. B. Dick Company reports. Imports are seen rising by 2 per cent to 7.7 million tons, valued at $1.1 billion.

For Law And Order: Mayor Joe Alioto

San Francisco's Mayor Joseph Alioto came out foursquare this week against demonstrations which interfere with the freedom of people to go about their daily business in his city.

He called for prosecution "to the fullest extent of the law" of anyone arrested for violations during Wednesday's attempt to disrupt the financial district by an outfit calling itself the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice.

SAN FRANCISCO, declared Mayor Joe in a telegram from Washington, D.C., where he was attending a conference, has a tradition "that dissent must be non-violent and kept within the provisions of the law."

"It has further been our policy that those who foster violence or break the laws will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of those laws and all requests for amnesty will be denied."

He continued:

"Our definition of violence includes the physical obstruction of any street, sidewalk or public entrance to a building."

THE SAN FRANCISCO mayor thereby put himself unequivocally in agreement with those who believe that laws are enacted for the protection of the citizen from harassment, threats or violence as he goes about his daily tasks.

This right of everyone to follow his peaceful pursuits in peace is, of course, fundamental to an orderly society. But quite a few people seem to have forgotten it.

IN FACT, Mayor Joe himself forgot it temporarily a few months ago.

On Feb. 3, he appeared at a rally outside the Marin County Civic Center with Leon Olson and Donald Abrams of the San Francisco Typographical Union and Jack Goldberger of the Teamsters Union.

The occasion for the rally was the appearance by the three union officials to start serving 15-day jail sentences imposed by Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court.

Judge Keating imposed the sentences for contempt of his injunction of Jan. 28, 1970, forbidding violence in connection with a strike of the typographical union against the Independent-Journal.

On Feb. 14, 1970, Olson, Abrams and Goldberger helped direct a demonstration around the I-J plant in downtown San Rafael in which, not only were streets, sidewalks and public entrances to a building blocked, but almost every window in the I-J Building was broken, a truck was burned, and assorted other violence occurred.

BUT WHEN HE APPEARED at the Civic Center with the three, Mayor Joe declared: "I think the jailing of responsible labor leaders ought to have gone out with high-button shoes."

That might be interpreted as a plea for amnesty — such a plea as, in the case of Wednesday's protesters in San Francisco, Mayor Joe insisted "will be denied."

We're pleased to see the San Francisco mayor now so forthrightly opposed to disturbance of the peace of his city. We reject the suggestion that Mayor Joe's present stance is taken because he does not feel the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice could benefit him politically as much as — say, the labor unions. Such a suggestion is outrageous!

Drops of Dew

These early May mornings the grass and trees in Marin are heavy with dew.

For many years we thought dew was water in one of its purest forms. These days it is no longer true in many parts of the country. Oxides of sulphur and nitrogen, as well as ammonia gases, in air pollution foul even the dew drops.

Fortunately, the situation in Marin has not progressed that far — at least, not yet.

Why Not Let The Voters Decide School Vs. Welfare Priority?

By RUS WALTON

Many school districts in California need more money to keep up with inflation and other increasing costs and demands.

Some high school districts, for example, have had to cut back to five-period days and eliminate or curtail extra-curricular activities. So, lots of kids are getting out of school earlier these days and, instead of playing baseball or the saxophone in the school band, they're playing around on street corners with little to do.

Yet, year after year voters turn down school tax increases and bonds. In a way you can't really blame them.

IF THE TAXPAYER had the same opportunity to vote on taxes for welfare — if he could vote for more money for schools or more money for welfare — it might be a different story. The schools might get more money.

What is needed is a constitutional amendment which would require that before county supervisors could increase the welfare budget, or increase county taxes for welfare programs, they would have to get the approval of the voters.

How about this: "No county shall increase taxation for the purpose of funding increased expenditures for public assistance programs without such being presented as an increase in the tax rate and such increase being approved by a majority of the electorate in that county."

Such a proposal would never get through the existing legislature. But, if it ever got on the ballot, it would pass in a breeze.

A SIMILAR SITUATION exists at the state level. Year after year welfare expenditures increase — about 20 per cent annually. One of the funds being held back because of this is the one for the state aid to local schools.

The Reagan administration has tried to bring the state's share of school support up to the 50-50 ratio but increasing costs in welfare and Medi-Cal make this impossible.

There is a way: let the people decide just how much of their state tax money they want to spend on welfare and Medi-Cal. Heresy? Unconstitutional? What the heck, it's their money!

AS A MATTER OF FACT maybe that constitutional amendment on welfare spending and taxes should come in two parts — one part requiring voter approval at the county level, and this:

"It is the stated policy of the people of California that in any fiscal year not more than 30 per cent of the total general revenues shall be expended for public assistance programs, and the state legislature shall make annual appropriations not to exceed that amount for such purpose."

Some lady down in Los Angeles got one million signatures on petitions demanding that something be done to cut the costs of welfare. If she really wanted to make an impact, she could get those million signatures on petitions to help qualify such a constitutional amendment for the ballot next year.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Many Aided Search For Dog In Novato

We would like to thank the wonderful people of Novato who helped in the search for a dog which bit our son Dan on April 28. The Novato school students, our good neighbors, the Marin Humane Society, and above all, three police officers of the Novato Police Department. We did not have the honor of meeting all three. We met Officer Don Dequine who was with Dan Saturday when the dog was located and identified. We are equally thankful to all three officers. Their concern and diligence was exceptional. It is a good feeling to know that you are living in a city with police of this caliber, and neighbors so anxious to help.

Misunderstanding Over Billing By Doctor

A month ago you published my letter regarding billings received from Marin General Hospital and a local physician for treatment afforded my son during the oil-spill clean up. I had understood the shots had been given by volunteers, and the material for the shots was to be paid for by Standard Oil.

As is usually the case in situations like this, the real problem was a communications gap — on both sides. There was no billing by doctor or hospital for the tetanus shot. The entire billing related to the poison oak, the circumstances of which were not clear to the doctor. If my letter raised questions over the ethics of the hospital or the physician, I wish to dispel them now.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

May 7, 1961

President John F. Kennedy said he planned to follow up the first successful U.S. space flight with a request to Congress for more money for the space program.

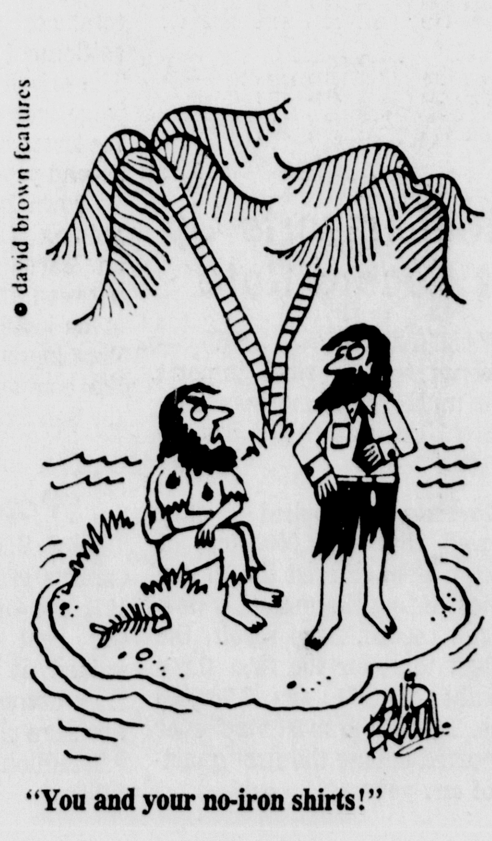
20 YEARS AGO

May 7, 1951

Most of southern Marin was without electric power for two hours after a plane piloted by a Glendale man crashed through power lines near San Rafael.

Delinquent taxes on the Marin County assessment role amounted to only a little over two per cent, County Tax Collector M. F. Donohue announced.



"You and your no-iron shirts!"

Suggestion Scorned When Offered Free

In Nvember, 1964, I wrote a letter to Mr. T. D. Hardcastle, who was then one of the directors of the Golden Gate Bridge District, my idea of a simple barbed wire suicide barrier, enclosing a sketch of same.

I then received a letter Nov. 24 from Mr. Arthur C. Jenkins, bridge engineer, stating that he had received my letter and sketch from Mr. Hardcastle. There the matter stayed.

My suggestion was to weld T-iron bar extensions up four feet on the rail support posts, with the top 12 inches bent inboard at a 30-degree angle. Then thread barbed wire strands a foot apart through these extension bars. This would be installed both on the east and west railings.

This type of installation was placed on a high bridge over a street in Portland, which had a bad record of suicides. After this barbed wire barrier was installed the suicide rate dropped practically to zero.

On Oct. 29, 1970, the firm of Anschen and Allen were given $5,000 to come up with the designs for a suicide barrier on the Golden Gate Bridge.

According to the I-J of May 1, the firm came up with proposals figuring the cost about $4 million to $750,000 . . .

The bridge directors would rather hire a high-priced structural engineering firm and spend a few million dollars rather than get the same results with a barbed wire barrier.

Teacher Speaks Up To Support Toliver

As a teacher in the Sausalito School District for six years, I feel it necessary to write a letter in support of James T. Toliver, with whom I worked at Martin Luther King School. Although I have not been involved this school year, I feel the four years I worked with Mr. Toliver gave me ample background to comment on his professionalism.

I have always found Mr. Toliver to be extremely cooperative and supportive of the staff, especially in the areas of discipline and interpersonal interactions with the students. It seemed to me that he was often able to prevent student-teacher problems from erupting into major crises. He was effective both in the roles of teacher and special assistant to the staff.

I find it very difficult to understand the charges brought against Mr. Toliver in an effort to fire him. I view him as an essential staff member. Without his service I do not feel Martin Luther King School would have been able to run effectively.

Informing Public Assists Red Cross

I wish to express my sincere appreciation for your help in our public information campaign during March, Red Cross Month. Our efforts to keep the people of Marin informed of Red Cross activity were substantially furthered by the Independent-Journal's comprehensive coverage of our first aid, earthquake relief and fund-raising activities. The features on the school health program and two of our youth volunteers did much to portray the image of a changing Red Cross and the exciting opportunities for volunteers.

Your editorial support was especially appreciated at a time when money is short and fund campaigns are arousing such controversy. . . .

Our goal to serve and involve the total community of Marin depends on the active support of the local information media. We appreciate your cooperation and are encouraged by your endorsement of our services.

Nixon's Actions In Vietnam Help A Formidable Opponent

WASHINGTON — More politicians are beginning to see Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington as a serious contender for the Democratic presidential nomination.

So is Senator Jackson.

He is stepping-up his speaking and he is shortly going to New Hampshire to feel out his prospects for an early primary test.

My information is that President Nixon himself views Jackson as a formidable opponent — and yet only Nixon can produce the circumstances which could bring Jackson decisively to the fore by the time of the Democratic convention.

Here are the reasons:

THERE ARE TWO conditions necessary to give Senator Jackson a chance of getting the nomination. The U.S. will have to be out of Vietnam by late summer in 1972 and it will have to be evident that Vietnam will not be a significant issue in the campaign.

Only President Nixon can bring these conditions into being. In my judgment he is already in the process of doing so.

Thus Nixon will be producing the circumstances which could pit him against the Democratic candidate he believes most difficult to defeat.

ON GROUNDS of both politics and policy, the President has no alternative.

He believes he is turning over the defense of South Vietnam to the South Vietnamese in a way and at a pace in the best interest of the United States and of peace in Southeast Asia. The timetable for completion of this withdrawal is next fall. The plan is ahead of schedule and will probably be speeded up.

Nixon knows that in order to have a fairly even chance of winning himself in '72, Vietnam must be decisively diffused as a political issue.

Just as this will strengthen Nixon in his campaign for re-election, it will also strengthen Jackson in any campaign for the nomination.

It will help Jackson:

Because removing Vietnam as an issue will mute his former hawkishness.

Because it will wipe out some of the basis of the opposition of the Democratic left to his candidacy.

Because it will enable him to focus on his own outstanding liberal record on domestic issues.

ONE OF THE ARGUMENTS most often advanced against Senator Jackson is that his nomination would offer voters no adequate alternative to Nixon, that they're too much alike. This is certainly the view of most of the Democratic presidential aspirants and many on the political left.

But the arguments against Jackson on this score can also with equal validity be put in reverse. Why should those who want to vote against Nixon on the ground he is not handling urgent domestic matters effectively be forced to vote for a Democratic candidate whose foreign policy they deeply disapprove? The Republican Party faced exactly this dilemma in 1952. It really wanted to nominate Robert A. Taft but in the end it rejected his isolationism and chose General Eisenhower even though Eisenhower's foreign policy would be parallel to that of Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.

At the moment the semi-isolationist stance of most Democratic leaders seems quite popular, but it may not remain so. In another year most voters in both parties may want to return to a bipartisan foreign policy resting on the full awareness that the United States must share large responsibilities in keeping the peace.

A Nixon-Jackson contest would put the highest priority on dealing with domestic affairs — which is what the liberals say they want.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Armies Of The Righteous Just Not Numerous Enough

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON —The old technique of ignoring a bore in hopes he'll go away doesn't work with bores of deep faith and righteous conviction. This is especially true of those who feel they are called from on high to offer a public testament against evil.

Admittedly, nobody tried ignoring the professedly antiwar battalions that encamped here during the past couple of weeks. Theirs was the most publicized encampment since — no, not since anything. They set an all-time record for column inches and broadcast minutes, despite the ineffectiveness of their efforts to close down the federal government. But then the hard core of the campers turned out to have more faith in all-night rock than anything else.

IT IS THEIR SPIRITUAL opposites who have been ignored lately —the pro-war, antirock, church-going, close-shaven legions of the evangelistic right. And they are appropriately furious about it. Instead of going away, they are coming to town this week end, under the leadership of none other than the Rev. Carl McIntire.

His Patriots March for Victory is scheduled to step off smartly from the Washington Monument grounds at noon Saturday, and whatever else the patriots may be wrong about, they are right in their advance predictions that the newspaper reporters and television cameramen will stay home in battalions instead of covering their demonstrations.

To be sure, there are some good reasons for this. In his full-page newspaper advertisements drumming up marchers, Dr. McIntire suggests that his supporters "watch the press. Contrast the manner in which the press reports the April 24 march for the so-called peace groups and the May 8 march for victory." In a radio broadcast, the medium in which he is most at home and free-wheeling, he maintained that "the other side has the blessing of Hanoi and the blessing of the press."

FROM THE PRESS' OWN point of view, you would hear reporters explaining that they had their share of tear gas and broken heads last week end and city editors complaining that they had already exceeded their budgets for staff overtime for this quarter. Thus neither has any enthusiasm for overcovering a demonstration which vows in advance to be orderly and which is sure to be made up of more hard-hats and American Legion-types than braless college girls and pot-powered musicians.

Not that that effectively answers McIntire's assertions. It confirms them to a degree, makes clear that unwashed demonstrators threatening upheaval automatically outrank peacful pro-war marchers in the opinion of most people paid to make news judgments. Of course McIntire was implyinG more than that; he meant to charge up his followers with the belief that the media discriminate because media people have more sympathy for the Viet Cong flag than the red-white-and-blue, more for the uglies in second-hand fatigues than for the middle Americans in Sunday suits and overseas caps. There is an occasional smidgen of truth in that generality, too.

But the single aspect of the past week's disturbances that makes them of more legitimate news value is something McIntire could not afford to mention. It is the simple fact that his gathering is not going to approach the earlier demonstrations in sheer size.

GRANTED, THE PREACHER is doing his blessedest to turn out a crowd. He did a marathon broadcast to raise funds from the folks out there in Radioland, and the folks out there are calling to tell him about the buses they had chartered and where people could board them for the Saturday round-trip to Washington. Between phone calls the Rev. Dr. would sprinkle in editorial comment about the nature of the opposition.

He bemoaned the "terrible desecration and sacrilege" of the hordes that preceded him in the capital. "But that crowd will all be gone and we can go in and clean up the town, that's what it'll amount to." A caller asked if he thought they should come in early and fumigate — "there might be some lice left" — and the preacher enjoyed that.

"'Shame on them folks, shame on them!" he declared. "In the name of peace they're tearing the peace to pieces." But don't worry, he promised — "We're going to have more there than the hippies had."

Well, that was just whistling in the ether. They're not going to have that many, and that is the best reason, among many others, why the pro-war demonstrators should stay at home, too. Once they show up in their relatively few thousands, by contrast they provide one more item of evidence for the depressing thesis that the uglies shall inherit the earth.

Students Neglect To Use Learning Process In School

By MIKE METTEER
San Marin High School

As students, we at San Marin High School have failed in what are supposed to be our most essential lessons. Hopefully students should be inquisitive, questioning and critical, and should be able to form logical conclusions from their inquiries. We should be able to base our decisions for action from these conclusions.

With these skills students should be able to function successfully within their environment. Unfortunately, as I stated before, we students have failed, or else we have overlooked our most immediate and obvious environment: the school system.

TO EXPLAIN this conviction, I shall begin by noting specifically how we students have failed and then attempt to analyze why we have failed.

To begin with, I stated that students should be inquisitive and so on. How else should we learn? Schools have fulfilled some basis for questioning, that we may enlarge and deepen our curiosity. But schools have gone beyond this and have assumed the authority and responsibility of deciding what we will learn, how we will learn it, and when we will learn it. Perhaps a more accurate substitute term for learning would be "taught" or "inoculated with". Who gave the schools, administrators, and teachers this privilege? Obviously no one gave it to them, they captured it; and no one questioned their right to shape our minds as they pleased. Some people may react to this statement as if it were emotional rhetoric. Assuming that most teachers want students to be as perceptive as possible, how can they account for the fact that until recently no students questioned their position, their subject matter, or their teaching methods? Could it be that we are grateful for and comfortable with the teacher's position above us? I don't think so.

The high probability is that school has gradually destroyed much of our curiosity and that many teachers have bored us nearly to submission with their subject matter and methods.

As a last resort we gather together our bruised curiosity, our hibernating creativity, and use our youthful energy to limp out of school searching for the combination with which we might unlock our minds. Fortunately most students find some way to partially escape these ill effects, but very few come out unhurt.

Students are able to daydream, draw, talk with friends, play games and devise many many other amusements to save themselves from boredom. However this approach is not satisfactory; it usually makes teachers mad and inspires them to work harder, on you!

LET US SHOW teachers and administrators what fine educational habits we've developed. Let us question the way in which the school is organized, the amount of time we have to be there for instance. Let us question policy and regulations, why is there no officially sanctioned area for smoking? Why must attendance be as rigidly monitored? Let us question teachers and curriculum, why must they brandish the flaming grade over heads? Why can we not have more say as to what we are to study?

If we students could simply get-it-together we would probably find that no rule, regulation or policy is so sacred as to be able to govern us. In fact we would probably find that the answer to the questions is that as the vital element in the school we have not questioned. We are citizens in a democracy, at least so we've been taught. Democracy demands constant watchfulness, criticism and participation from its members. How can we become valuable members of our democratic society (an objective of education) if we haven't had any practical experience with democracy? This is seldom provided by most student governments.

Before students can form some logical conclusions on which to base decisions for action we must begin to question immediately and on a large scale. Of course we should not question arbitrarily or without convictions but can at least keep teachers on their toes. Our silence is our crime and failure and I am as guilty as anyone.

The choice is ours, we can to a large extent determine the quality of our education, and obtain our rights as citizens of this great democracy. We students seem to have forgotten one simple fact: Nobody can run the school without us.

Should City Buy Wooded Lot For Benefit Of Its Neighbors?

A group of Sausalito residents living in the vicinity of Cazneau Avenue has asked the city council to help save a wooded lot on the street which is slated for development.

The residents feel the two-thirds acre parcel should remain an open space park. They have no wish to see houses bloom on the land, fondly known as "the Glen."

They have suggested the city might help in purchase of the property, either by donating part of the $70,000 purchase price or establishing a city-side assessment district to finance the cost.

THE RESIDENTS' WISH to preserve a little open space in Sausalito's hill area (where open land is rapidly diminishing) is admirable. But the methods they are recommending to achieve their goal appear questionable.

Should those living in Sausalito's Old Town or Marinship areas pay for what will be a neighborhood park? It seems unlikely that people from all over the city will travel to Cazneau Avenue to use the small wooded area.

While such a park may increase property values on the street and its environs ("three bedroom home, close to park"), it will do nothing along that line for persons who live in other areas.

And should the city put out taxpayers' money to buy the glen when it is already heavily committed to build on the waterfront property which it acquired through voter approval of a $560,000 bond issue?

IF THE CITY council would like to encourage development of neighborhood parks, perhaps it could make a token contribution to the project. Or the council could support attempts to find funds from the government or from private foundations.

But, if residents in the surrounding area genuinely want the glen to be retained in its natural state, they should be willing to pay the cost of preservation since they will be the chief beneficiaries.

If the city decides to pay a substantial part of the cost of the glen or form a city-wide assessment district, what is to stop other groups throughout Sausalito from demanding that other lots be saved in their neighborhoods?

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Genuine Fusselman Watch Has Built-In Memory Bank

Anent the front-page yarn in the I-J about Doug Maloney, the county counsel, giving Alan Bruce a "Bill Fusselman watch." It was a going away gift and when Bruce put it on his wrist he quipped, "Wonder if it runs backward?"

I know you will join me in understanding why this wondered Bruce. It's quite natural that he wouldn't want any more wrong-way devices attached to his record here. "Ferheavensake" no! You know what? I think there was a big Freudian hangup on Doug's part when he gave Bruce the watch.

For several years Bruce wouldn't let the county counsel, along with other department heads, report to the board of supervisors direct, if he could help it. It was evident that the county counsel resented the administrator acting as legal adviser. Action brought reaction and Doug seemed to be moving more and more into the field of administrating officer. He also asserted his right to be the legal entity. What better revenge than to give Bruce something that would annoy him?

Now respecting the watch: I hold the basic patents on it and if that watch was an authentic one, it will not be required to run backwards, as it has a built-in memory bank with a quick return. It also would have an outlet for hooking it up with a transcriber.

LAST WEEK I sent in 50 per cent more copy than normal and they ran out of space. So they had to drop several lines, resulting in strange syntax. The lines left out simply addressed the board and admonished them to take it easy.

When Supervisors Bud Baar, John McInnis and Michael Wornum voted on Tuesday to open up the recruitment to fill the administrative position, there was hopeful evidence that at least three supervisors had been getting the message from the folks who pay the bill.

McInnis was quoted thusly: "The county has reached a point of real contention about whether there should even be an administrator. I've received calls to abolish the office." He agreed with other supervisors that the idea was "unthinkable." That would be unthinkable to the board members.

SINECURE (Random House Dictionary—College Edition) — "An office or position requiring little or no work, esp. on yielding profitable returns."

Fourteen years have gone by, with ever-mounting unnecessary costs together with more and more abdication on the part of the several boards of supervisors — abdication of not only those things scooped up by the administrator, but others.

You may recall that in this column on Feb. 26 I quoted from a conversation with a friend of mine who is a close observer of the local government scene: "They (the supervisors) are paid $12,000 a year and the people expect them to earn it. They are not being paid to just look handsome at the board meetings while they intone questionable pearls of wisdom supplied by the staff."

Well, that's "30" for today, my friends.

Drainage Cost Split Session Set

Ross Valley Flood Control board members and Town of Ross officials will meet with Army Corps of Engineers representatives at 2 p.m. Monday at corps district headquarters in San Francisco to see if the Army will pick up part of the $350,000 tab for drainage improvements in Ross.

The flood control zone's budget next fiscal year hinges on whether or not the Army will be willing to pay, and if so, how much.

Although they have indicated they would like to see the Army pick up the entire bill, board chairman Neil R. Brixon and county flood control engineer Charles Murphy said yesterday that no specific amount would be mentioned at this preliminary meeting.

They said the purpose of the meeting is to determine Army willingness to assist.

The discussions will center on drainage improvements at the Ross Common and on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. The projects tie into the corps of engineers' flood control work on the Corte Madera Creek.

A choice between three budget proposals will be determined by the outcome of meetings with the engineers.

The first proposal — based on total Army assumption of the two improvement projects — calls for no tax rate and would use reserves to finance operational cost of $24,100 during the coming fiscal year.

A second choice calls for a tax rate of 25 cents and would raise $270,000 of which $215,000 would be designated for drainage work with the remaining $135,000 to be budgeted in the following year.

A final choice would levy a 27-cent tax rate and raise the total amount needed for drainage improvement and include use of reserves. The latter choices, according to Murphy, are in case the Army refuses to pay for the Ross projects.

Youth Bound Over On Charge

A 20-year-old Petaluma youth has been bound over to Sonoma County Superior Court for allegedly possessing pills and a blanket that had been stolen from an auto.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon, acting after a preliminary hearing in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court, ordered William Ray Baxman of 808 Keokuk Street to appear in Superior Court in Santa Rosa Wednesday.

Baxman is accused of possession of stolen property and dangerous drugs. He was arrested April 25 while hiding in bushes on Keokuk Street, Petaluma, with items taken from an auto that was parked nearby.

A NICE young couple wanted a decorator chair but they wanted it in a black, green and white print. We ordered it for them. When it came they refused to buy it. The boss said "That's Funny", That's what they ordered and wanted.
It's a fine long wearing fabric and a very comfortable chair - so now you can have this chair for only $77.00 It was $179.95

IT REMINDED us of a couple of sofas back in the corner of the store that most people wouldn't want in a living room. One of our salesmen said "Nobody wants them". The buyer said, "That's funny". One is covered in a heavy Vectra plaid with loose pillow backs. Another sofa is covered in an orange and green quilted fabric. An individualist with gumption to be different will like one. One was $379.95 NOW $239.95. The other was $299.95 NOW $179.95. Terrific buys for a couple of individualists.

THAT started us going through Young Bros. Furniture stores and our warehouses. Our buyer looked sheepish when we found a Spanish 7 piece set that has stuck with us like glue. It is an oval table with 3 leaves, 4 side chairs and 2 arm chairs in a rich and warm pecan wood. Was $475.00 NOW A MEASLY - $349.95. Another Spanish set with large trestle table with three 12" leaves, 4 side chairs and 2 arm chairs, carved back chairs with green velvet seats and a beautiful china. Original price $775.00 NOW $599.95.

YOU KNOW your taste. Your neighbor knows hers. What you don't want, she's happy to pay. $89.95 for a glass top cocktail table with a beautiful gold iron base that's worth $119.95 . . . or a beautiful tilt down desk from Drexel in a rich pecan wood for ONLY $250.00. Was $500.00 . . . or beautiful decorator chairs with skirt and reversible seat cushions in three colors. Original price $129.95. NOW $65.00

WE WERE selecting recliners to mark down. A woman said, "Is that recliner on sale? I want two." We said, "You can have three. We can't understand why this big, man-size recliner with deep down comfort hasn't sold." She said, "That's funny. It's just what my husband and I want. Sorry, we only need two." She got hers. There's one in black and white tweed with Vinyl trim that was $109.95. Another carload purchase at $75.00. We found some other Vinyl recliners that adjust to 3 positions. These were very relaxing at $89.95. You can rob us of one for $59.95.

IT'S FUNNY how you get attached to a piece of furniture. We've had a sleep-sofa that's been ours too long. It seats three - will sleep two on a wide mattress. Looks smart in a rich brown tweed. It's been hanging around at $249.95. IT'S YOURS FOR $175.00. More old friends are corner groups - 2 boxes - 2 mattresses - 2 coverletts - 2 bolsters and a corner table with Formica top. Three colors to choose from. Each make twin beds, and were $239.95. HAVE A 9 PC. SET FOR ONLY $179.95.

TASTE is funny. We thought a dinette with walnut tone Formica 35 x 47 x 71 table and 8 chairs with green tone on tone Vinyl was a smart 9 pc. set for $199.95. It can tickle your taste buds for ONLY $119.95. Another oddball is a round Kroehler game table only with Formica top. Worth $149.95 NOW $75.00. If it sounds dull spark it with a red swivel bean bag $119.95. NOW $59.95. We have a wild collection of pictures, plaques and mirrors were $19.95 to $179.95. NOW 30% OFF. Lamps that started out as matched pairs are singles and UP TO 40% OFF the usual $39.95 to $99.95.

SOME WOMEN have funny ideas about appliances. They think they should be WHITE. That's why a Philco 15 cubic foot custom deluxe refrigerator worth $319.95 is a super-buy at $259.95 - if you like green or copper. If you won't settle for anything but GOLD we've got a General Electric No-Frost 16 cu. ft. refrigerator-freezer, with bottom freezer that was $359.95. IT'S A DAZZLING BARGAIN AT $288. We think women are funny; but some of our warehouse men are hilarious. Imagine a 11 cu. ft. refrigerator that regularly sells for $199.95 for only $139.95 in green. The Simmons sleep sets they covered up have quilt top mattress and box spring. Each 2 pc. set should have sold for $129.95. FOR $88, A SET is the best buy since hay was 27¢ a bale.

ALMOST FORGOT to mention an RCA stereo console. A husband said, "We'll buy". His wife vetoed him. The man had 'sound' judgment. This set has 50 watts with 100 peak watts and 6 speakers in a rich Spanish oak wood. Well worth $499.95. HAVE IT FOR $349.95. You can listen to it stretched out on a Kroehler sofa and love seat in a rich gold and beige quilted fabric marked down from $520.00 to $399.95 FOR BOTH PIECES.

THERE ARE TOO MANY bargains at Young Bros. to mention here. Come, see them Saturday. You'll find them wearing big tags with small prices. Come prepared to save money as easy as picking greenbacks off a tree. Grab off some bargains this Saturday at Young Bros. You won't think the savings of 30% to 50% are "funny".
